JOSEPH X. SHAFER

Joseph X. "Hike" Shafer, 74, Daguscahonda, Pa., died Wednesday, Jan. 23, 2002, at Bay Medical Center in Panama City, Fla.

Born Oct. 1, 1927, in Meyersdale, Pa., he was a son of the late Charles and Helen Pratt Shafer. He was also preceded in death by a brother, Charles Shafer.

He had been a resident of Daguscahonda for many years. He was a member of the Faith United Church of Christ and the VFW. He was employed at Quality Components, served in the U.S. Navy, and was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Helen Jordon Shafer; four children, Sharon Park and Gloria Decker, Ridgway, Pa., Betty Jo Casper, Kersey, Pa., and Charles Shafer, at home; three sisters, Virginia Schroyer, Verna Schroyer, and Mary Rodeheaver, all of Mtn. Lake Park; one brother, James Shafer, Mtn. Lake Park; two granddaughters; and one great-granddaughter.

A funeral service was held at the Faith United Church, with Ron Burkett officiating. Interment was in Parklawn Memorial Gardens.

Memorial donations may be made to the Ridgway Community Nurses, American Cancer Society, or the American Heart Association.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of the Meehan-Shilk Funeral Home.

DERRICK J. VENNE

Derrick J. "Frenchie" Venne, 79, Plattsburgh, N.Y., died Thursday, Feb. 7, 2002, at his home after a brief illness.

Born April 11, 1922, in Plattsburgh, he was a son of Derrick J. Venne and Lillian Fountain Venne. Following the death of his parents, he and his siblings were raised by their maternal grandparents, Joseph and Jenny Bourassa Fountain. He was also preceded in death by three sisters, Genevieve Venne Laundrie, Geraldine Venne Bedard, and Lillian Venne Rabideau; and one brother, Robert Venne.

He was a long-time summer resident of Deep Creek Lake. He graduated from Mount Assumption Institute in 1942, and enlisted in the Air Force during World War II, serving as a crew chief for B-17 bombers stationed in England.

He and his longtime business partner, Norman McCracken, were antique dealers with French's Antique Shops located in Arizona, Florida, Mississippi, and Deep Creek Lake. Prior to becoming an antique dealer, he was the proprietor of the Highway Restaurant along Route 9 South in Plattsburgh, and French's Restaurant in Phoenix, Ariz.

Surviving are his children, Ricky, John, and Cindy; four sisters, Honey Venne Light, Plattsburgh, Albina Venne Lysaght, Florida, Ramona Venne Heruska, Texas, and Theresa Venne, Champlain, N.Y.; and two grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Brown Funeral Home, Plattsburgh. A private service was held on Sunday, Feb. 10.

Interment was in the Spring in St. Peter's Cemetery.

HELEN M. CALLIS

Helen M. Callis, 63, Oakland, died Tuesday, Feb. 12, 2002, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born July 4, 1938, in Bayard, W.Va., she was a daughter of the late Gorman M. and Edna V. (Davis) Cullers.

She is survived by her husband, James L. Callis; one daughter, Rita M. Lambka, Kitzmiller; two sons, Dr. Stewart J. Callis and Robert G. Callis, both of Oakland; four sisters, Janet M. Barr, Petersburg, W.Va., Marian L. Moreland, Lanham, Bonnie J. Harsh, Aurora, W.Va., and Betty L. Bolyard, Eglon, W.Va.; three brothers, Roger L. Cullers, Scherr, W.Va., Harry R. Cullers, Reading, Mass., and Melvin G. Cullers, Aurora; and three grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, today, Thursday, Feb. 14, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. A service will be held at the funeral home on Friday, at 2 p.m., with the Rev. Samuel Calhoun officiating.

Interment will be in the Maysville Cemetery, Maysville, W.Va.

BOARD RECOGNIZES YOUNG ARTIST — Krystle Housley, sophomore at Southern High School, was recently recognized by the Garrett County Board of Education for designing the 2001 Christmas card, which was sent to employees and other organizations this past December. "Although it was a difficult choice to select one card from the many exceptional designs which were submitted, Ms. Housley's card depicted the hope for peace which is especially significant following the tragedy of Sept. 11, 2001," said Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent. The card, which was framed and presented to Housley, depicted a dove with "Peace Around the World" written in three different languages. She is the daughter of Donald Jr. and Elaine Hinebaugh, Oakland. Pictured above, from the left, are Dr. Teets, Camilla Rawe, board president; Housley; and Cindy Ringler, art teacher at Southern High.

In Memory of Our Parents
Orval & Ruth Rounds

God looked around His garden and found an empty place.
He then looked down upon His earth and saw your loving face.

He put His arms around you and lifted you to rest.
His garden must be beautiful, He always takes the best.

He knew that you were suffering, He knew you were in pain,
And knew that you would never get well on earth again.

He saw your path was difficult, He closed your tired eyes.
He whispered to you "Peace be Thine" and gave you wings to fly.

When we saw you sleeping so calm and free of pain,
We would not wish you back to earth to suffer once again.

You've left us precious memories, your love will be our guide,
You live on through your children, you're always by our side.

It broke our hearts to lose you, but you did not go alone
For part of us went with you on the day God called you home.

You Will Always be Missed and Loved,

Delores, David, Wayne, Family and Friends

COLLATERAL DAMAGE

Rated R - Running Time: 1:55 - Released 2/8/02

Collateral Damage is the film that was originally scheduled for release last September, but was posponed because of the Sept. 11 attack, since its subject matter deals with a major terrorist bombing of large U.S. cities. I assumed at the time that the producers feared the subject would hit too close to home in the wake of the attack. Now I realize the reason it was held back is because it would have been a classic case of adding insult to injury: the injury of the terrorism would be compounded by this insult to our collective intelligence.

Written by erstwhile editor Ronald Roose and brothers David & Peter Griffiths, none of whom have enough writing experience to mention, and directed by Andrew Davis, this film trivializes the events of 9/11 by portraying all parties—terrorists, Americans, perpetrators, victims—as complete idiots. (Not to mention audience members.) Rule of thumb: if Arnold Schwarzenegger is the smartest person in a movie, you've got problems. But it doesn't deal with cave-dwelling Muslims from the Middle East, it concerns Colombian guerillas. After a terrorist bombing at the Colombian consulate kills his wife and young son, L.A. fireman Gordon Brewer (Schwarzenegger) swears revenge. While the CIA-Latin American unit, headed by Agent Peter Brandt (Elias Koteas), wants to lead an attack against the perpetrators, the U.S. government decides to let the incident pass, so as not to endanger peace talks with the Colombian government. So Brewer naturally decides to do what we all would do in such a situation: go to Colombia and take out the guerrilas single-handedly. Traveling to the hostile country and entering several heavily restricted, guerilla-controlled areas using only his MacGyver-like ingenuity and his huge, well-oiled muscles, he infiltrates the compound of "The Wolf"—the perpetrator of the L.A. bombing, played by Cliff Curtis—where he learns of a plan for a much bigger attack.

Heading up the supporting cast of this intelligence-challenged blow-up fest is pouty-lipped Italian actress Francesca Neri (who looks just about as out of place among terrorists as Mary McDonnell did among the Indians in Dances With Wolves). Neri plays The Wolf's wife (I guess she would be "The Bitch"), who at first seems to be friendly toward Brewer, but whose allegiance is suddenly and stupidly shifted. Also present are John Leguizamo as a drug lord with aspirations of being a rap star, and John Turturro as a Canadian mechanic who prides himself on committing crude public sex acts. But the star of the show is of course Schwarzenegger, who somehow, inexplicably, keeps signing on to these patently stupid action movies, consistently perpetuating his reputation for playing burly, booby action figures with intuition bordering on clairvoyance and single-mindedly heroic sensibilities. Please don't keep paying to get into movies like this, folks. You'll just encourage him. ★½

BIG FAT LIAR

Rated PG - Running Time: 1:28 - Released 2/8/02

About ten years ago, Jim Carrey would have starred in this movie. But Carrey's moved on to more cerebral parts, and besides, he's already done the "liar" thing. So instead we have long-time second banana Paul Giamatti in his first starring role. Giamatti, most recently seen (but not necessarily recognized) in last summer's Planet Of The Apes, jumps into this role as if he's trying to impersonate a Mask-era Carrey, with whom he's appeared in both The Truman Show and Man On The Moon, jumping screaming, mugging, and generally overexerting himself for a thankless role in a well-meaning but brain-dead film which will disappear like clouds in yesterday's coffee. Whatever that means.

Also starring in this film, and probably more likely to attract members of its pre-teen target audience, are Malcolm In The Middle's Frankie Muniz, carving out a respectable niche for himself despite the fact that I've yet to see him play anything but a clever, charming kid, and Amanda Bynes, fresh-faced star of such Nickelodeon sketch-comedy TV shows as All That and her own Amanda Show, in her first feature film role. At the helm is TV director Shawn Levy, whose workmanlike treatment matches the bland script of Dan Schneider and Brian Robbins, longtime partners on various kid-friendlv, mind-numbing Nickelodeon projects like those mentioned. These guys have perfected a formula for creating what kids like, and they're milling movies and TV shows just as fast as they can get them out, quality and integrity be damned.

Muniz plays clever and charming 14-year-old Jason Shepherd, whose tendency toward lying extends from his home life, where he tells his parents he ate his oatmeal, to school, where he invents increasingly elaborate excuses for why he didn't finish his homework. But when he meets conceited, self-serving movie producer Marty Wolf (Giamatti), and accidentally leaves his English essay in Wolf's possession, his life changes. Although his parents don't believe that his paper was stolen, it turns up as Wolf's next blockbuster movie, Big Fat Liar. Deciding the only way to regain his parents' respect is to prove the story is his, Jason plans to travel to Hollywood with his best friend and accomplice Kaylee (Bynes), and confront the producer face to face. When Wolf refuses to own up to the theft, Jason and Kaylee are forced to declare war, pulling countless juvenile pranks, including tainting his pool water with blue dye, super-gluing his earphone to his head, and rigging his car to do all sorts of inappropriate and not particularly funny things. Eventually, because Wolf is such a jerk to everyone he knows, they are able to enlist the help of his personal assistant (Amanda Detmer), his chauffeur (Jason Shepherd), and former Family Matters star Jaleel White (you know, Urkel?), to bring him down.

If this film's producers are pandering to the lowest common denominator, at least they know how to pick the cast to do it. Giamatti's embarrasing exuberance is matched by Muniz's patented charm, and the location (backstage at Universal Studios) provides a fun setting for the substance-free festivities. Bynes has certainly proven her versatility in her TV experience (she's like a 15-year-old Carol Burnett), although her role doesn't call for her to do much other than look pretty and appeal to the boys in the audience who have reached puberty. Beyond that, there are several Nickelodeon cameos and a sugary-sweet, lesson-learned resolution. What more could you want? Quality? Well, you're aiming too high ★★ square-foot exemption pertained only to frostline footers.

Building Code

A public hearing was held two weeks ago to allow comment on a draft of the proposed code before its adoption. During the hearing, Jerry Plauger, Deer Park, suggested the new ordinance allow for the construction of accessory buildings up to 600 square feet without permits or inspections, as Allegany County's code states.

Bill Schefft, building code official, pointed out that Garrett gets more snow than Allegany County and, for safety's sake, needed a tougher standard.

Nelson suggested at the adoption this week that the county keep the 150 square-foot standard to avoid confusion. "We should be consistent," he said. "Everybody is familiar with that number." He indicated that, though the standard is not as tough as the IBC suggests, it has not caused problems in the past and would allow more flexibility to the code.

Following the hearing, the proposed ordinance was left open for further public comment. The commissioners said, however, they had received no opposition to the adoption. "To date, I haven't found a contractor against it," said Commissioner Fred Holliday about the 150-square-foot standard.

Commissioner Wendell Beitzel suggested, however, that the IBC's 400-square-foot exemption for frostline footers be completely eliminated to avoid problems with building additions. "If you have to get a permit for an addition to a house, you need to meet all requirements anyway, including footers," he explained. The reduction of the exemption to zero in the new code would leave no loophole for people looking for shortcuts in the permitting process, he said.

Officials with Planning and Zoning also recommended, due to the county's climate, that walls or portions of walls touching earth, such as crawl spaces, be required to be waterproofed and damp-proofed. The reasoning behind the new requirement is to increase the life of buildings, said Jim Torrington, permits and inspection coordinator.

No changes to procedures, inspection schedules, or fees have been made in the new ordinance. Contractors may order copies of the new code, which will be available in March, from the Planning and Zoning Office, said Torrington.

Speed Limits

and Md. Rt. 546 (Finzel Rd.) from Interstate 68 to the Pennsylvania state line.

The SHA studies were made at the request of the Garrett County Traffic Advisory Committee, which expressed concern that the speed limits had originally been posted lower than reasonable. Traffic studies were conducted under free-flowing traffic conditions at each location, and the SHA presented its study findings and recommendations to the Traffic Advisory Committee and the county commissioners for approval.

The changes will be made official at the time signing is upgraded to display the new 45 mph speed limit along the affected portions of Hutton, Bittinger, and Finzel roads. The traveling public is advised to remain alert for these changes when approaching these roadways, and should be aware that police agencies will be performing selective enforcement in these areas.

For further information about the speed limit changes, persons may call the SHA District 6 Traffic Office at 301-729-8400.

December Students Of The Month Honored At NHS

Northern High School recently named the Students of the Month for December. This award is presented to those students who perform well in academics, athletics, and extracurricular activities, as well as display a positive attitude in their work and toward others. Those honored for December were Heather Lander, Tiffany Yoder, Andrew Frantz, and Ashley Robinson.

This program is supported by M&T Bank and Railey Realty.

Heather Lander, a junior, resides in Accident with her parents, George and Joyce Lander. She is currently participating in basketball, is on the volleyball and tennis teams, and is a member of the Girls' Varsity Club.

She is president and treasurer of her church youth group. Lander has assisted with the blind skier program for the past two years and plans to continue. She enjoys reading and running and has been presented with many awards, including Minds in Motion.

Tiffany Yoder, daughter of Lori Butler and Roman Yoder Jr., Grantsville, received the Student of the Month award on behalf of the freshmen class. She likes to bike, ski, swim, and run. She has participated in several sports, including soccer and basketball.

She also serves on the student council as a freshmen representative. This year she has also received the Minds in Motion award.

Sophomore Andrew Frantz enjoys hunting, riding four-wheelers, and being outdoors. He is the son of Betty and Darrell Frantz, Friendsville. He has participated in both varsity football and basketball.

Frantz attends Blooming Rose United Methodist Church and has received the Student of the Month award in previous years.

Homecoming Queen 2001 Ashley Robinson is the daughter of Randy and Linda Robinson, Friendsville. She is a member of the girls' varsity tennis team and has served as a student athletic trainer for four years.

Robinson is also a member of the STEAM team and the Calculus Club. She enjoys playing piano and is a member of the Selbysport United Methodist Church. She has previously been awarded Student of the Month and is a Minds in Motion recipient.

Keyser Man's Case Placed On Stet Docket

A case involving an alleged driving under the influence charge against James Robert Freeman, 36, Keyser, was placed on the stet docket by agreement of the Garrett County state's attorney and the defendant. The ease was heard in Garrett County Circuit Court last week. The stet docket causes the case to be in an inactive status for up to three years and indicates the state does not desire to prosecute at this time.

In reporting this disposition to the court, State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch, indicated her decision was based on discussions with the officers and the facts of the ease.

Freeman was arrested in August by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after he was reportedly stopped for an equipment violation and was found to have consumed alcohol. Based on Freeman's performance on field sobriety tests, the officers developed probable cause and arrested Freeman, said the state's attorney.

Teachers Sought To Take Part In PAWS Project

Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety Inc. (PAWS) is seeking the participation of local teachers in the group's "Adopt a Classroom Project." Twenty Garrett County elementary school teachers who are interested in incorporating humane education materials into their regular classroom curriculum are needed for the project. PAWS will provide those teachers with a free year's subscription to the KIND News, a monthly publication of the Humane Society of the United States.

KIND News focuses on teaching children to treat each other, animals, and the environment responsibly, with kindness, respect, and compassion, according to Annette Robinson, president of PAWS.

Each subscription will provide the classroom with 24 copies of the KIND News monthly. It will also include a monthly teacher's guide and a copy of the KIND Teacher resource magazine. PAWS volunteers will be available to assist teachers receiving the publication, and may be called upon to provide talks and programs to supplement the topics covered.

The deadline for participation in the program is June 1, in order to allow enough time to process the subscriptions to begin in September. Any teacher interested in participating in the project may call 301-334-2699. Samples of the magazines and more information are available from PAWS volunteers.

Written correspondence may be sent to: Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety Inc., P.O. Box 745, McHenry, MD 21541.

"PAWSITIVELY PETS" EVENTS SLATED AT OUR TOWN — Our Town Theatre (OTT) will be the site of two fund-raising activities over the next three weeks to benefit Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety Inc. (PAWS). A "PAWSitively Pets" Coffee House will be held at OTT on Sunday, Feb. 17, from 7 to 10 p.m. Food and entertainment will be provided, with readings and music centered around the love of pets. A variety of post-valentine items for pets will be available. Admission charge for this family event is $3 per person, with children 5 and under free. The second fund-raiser will be "PAWS for Lunch at the OTT" on three Fridays: Feb. 15 and 22, and March 1, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The lunch fare, available to eat in or carry out, will be soups donated by area restaurants, breads, and beverages. The cost of the meal is $3. Homemade baked goods may be purchased for an additional charge. Soup selections for Feb. 15 will be Will O' the Wisp's New England clam chowder and five-onion soup courtesy of Pappy's Place. On Feb. 22, options will be chili from the Deep Creek Brewing Company and Maryland crab soup from McHenry's BumBle Q's Restaurant. For March 1, the fare will be cream of crab soup donated by Annie's Kitchen in Accident and Italian wedding soup from Leone's at Silvertree. Proceeds from both events will benefit the "PAWS Adopt a Classroom Project." See separate story. Pictured above from left are OTT board member Lynn McDaniel, PAWS member Sheila Hughes, and PAWS board member Caroline Robison with her rescued Newfoundland, Apache.

Love Is...

Editor's note: Second-grade students of Lynne Elmlinger Broad Ford Elementary School were given a Valentine's Day assignment to complete the following: "Love is..." Because today is Valentine's Day, we decided to share some of their responses.

"...my Mommy and Daddy hugging me good night and kissing me."
Destiney Hoye

"...when my brother says he's sorry."
Blake Dever

"...when my Grandpap died and my sister said, 'It is okay.'"
Holly Mayle

"...when my parents say I did good on my report card."
Jena Hardesty

"...Jesus, my Mom kissing me at night, and my dog sleeping with me."
Matt Fike

"...picking up a friend who's hurt."
Matthew Roy

"...my Mom coming in to help with a party."
Amorette Hughes

"...my dog giving me a kiss when my Grandpop died, my brother saying he loves me, and my Mom playing catch with me."
J.T. Collins

"...when my Mom comes to sit beside me when I feel sappy."
Andy Rodcheaver

"...my family spending time with me."
Patricia Sherrard

"...everybody being nice to me."

GCMH Program To Cover Diet, Heart Health

Wendy Wakefield, director of Dietary Services at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, will present "Heart Healthy Eating," set for 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 19, in the hospital's Community Services Center. This Senior Wellness Program is offered free of charge.

Wakefield's presentation will address how to use proper diet and nutrition to control cholesterol and improve heart health. "It is estimated that one out of every eight Americans have high cholesterol, and half of those persons are unaware of a problem," said GCMH Wellness coordinator Deana Clester. "The best weapon against cholesterol is prevention."

For additional information, or to register for the program, persons may call Clester at 301-533-4295.

High School Counselors Set Evening Hours

Garrett County high schools are providing after-school hours for parents and students to meet with counselors to better address scheduling issues, post-graduation planning, and individual counseling needs.

A Northern High School counselor will be available the first and third Tuesday of each month from 3:30 until 7:30 p.m., from now until June 4.

A Southern High School counselor will be available the first, second, and third Thursday of each month from 3:30 until 7:30 p.m., from now until June 6.

The after-school opportunities provide time for students and their parents/guardians to discuss high school scheduling concerns, review college scholarship materials and availability, gather financial aid information, and conduct career and college searches.

Periodically, college and the armed forces representatives will be available to discuss programs and opportunities.

Persons are asked to contact the guidance office at each school for more specific details or to schedule an appointment, which is strongly recommended.

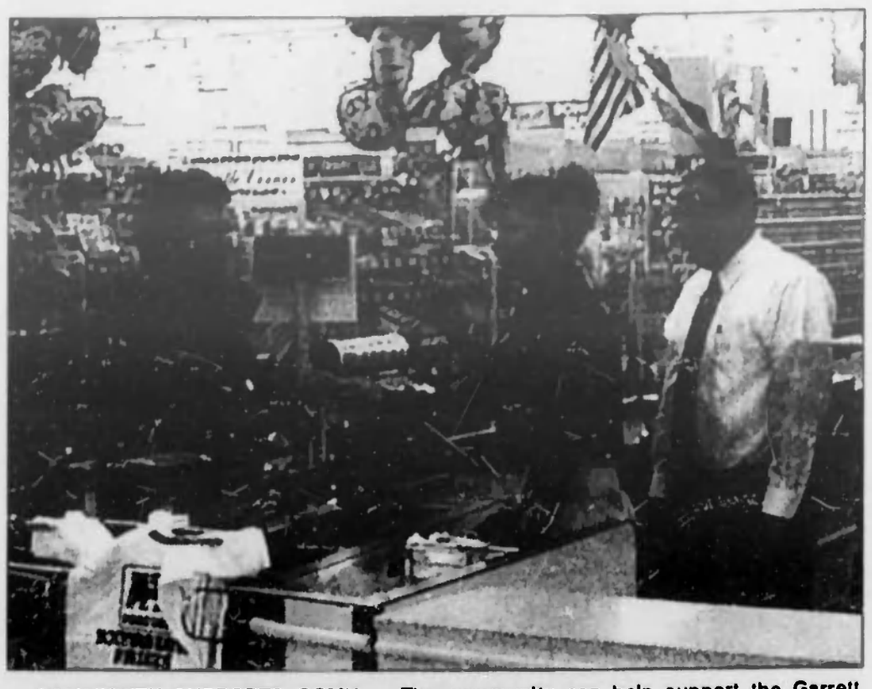
Garrett Habitat Chapter Hosts Annual Meeting

The Garrett County Affiliate of Habitat for Humanity held its annual meeting recently at Uno's restaurant. Jeanne Blasher, executive director of the local Habitat chapter, and Bob Huebner, board president, presided at the meeting.

The proceedings included the naming of six new board members, Fred Washburn, Offutt Johnson, Dr. Kenneth Mankamyer, Greg Mortimer, and Bill Nemith. The board also re-elected its current officers to new terms. They are: Huebner, president; Scott Winters, vice president; Frank Custer, treasurer, and Shirley Brandes, secretary.

Eligibility requirements for Habitat assistance are as follows: Applicants must be occupying sub-standard housing; be willing to contribute "sweat-equity" to the construction of their home; and demonstrate the ability to pay back the interest-free loan. Habitat homes are funded by all Garrett County Habitat homeowners with each mortgage payment they make, as well as private donations and volunteer support.

"Habitat for Humanity is an international organization, served by local affiliates, with a mission of helping to provide safe, adequate housing for those in need," Blasher said. "Volunteers and contributions are always welcome." For further information, or to volunteer or make a donation, persons may contact the local Habitat office through the Garrett County Community Action Committee at 301-334-9431.



COMMUNITY SUPPORTS GCMH — The community can help support the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation by joining Food Lion's "Lion Shop & Share 2002" program. "Shoppers with an MVP card now have an easy, convenient way to raise money for the GCMH Foundation," said Louise Conjura, GCMH foundation chairman. A portion of each registered program participant's total grocery bill will be donated to the non-profit organization of his/her choice. "This is a simple way for our community to help support the hospital's foundation," said Conjura. "Food Lion knows it is important to be involved in the local communities in which it serves, and Lion Shop & Share is our way of helping our community grow and prosper," said Dave Thomas, store manager. Once registered, participants will be supporting the GCMH Foudantion while shopping at any Food Lion store. To participate in the program, MVP members may log on to www.foodlion.com or call 1-800-210-9569. Pictured above using her MVP card is Conjura, with Marty Friend, Food Lion employee, and Thomas.

Airport Plan

ahead with this as a priority project. This is vitally needed by the county." Beitzel pointed out that because of the September 11 crisis, perhaps it would be to the FAA's advantage if the county's airport were expanded. The airport could be utilized in an emergency if needed.

Waibel said the FAA had indicated that this project was "one of their top priorities." The commissioners will write a letter to the FAA declaring their support for the project.

URS has also been assessing the airport's impact on the environment, as required by the FAA. A noise exposure assessment has been completed. "We're a third of the way through the assessment process," Waibel said.

The next phase of the project, however, requires that five properties directly across from the runway, along Bumble Bee Road, be purchased and checked for hazardous waste. The FAA requires a protection zone near airports; therefore, the houses are not compatible with airway use, said Waibel. Relocation assistance for the homeowners will be available, he added. The owners will be officially notified about their properties, though they have known about the possible purchase for some time, said Beitzel.

A yearlong wildlife hazards assessment also needs to be conducted at the site by a USDA agent, said Waibel. Funding for an 8 foot high fence around the airport may be available from the FAA, Waibel added, to discourage wildlife from venturing onto the runways. He said the airport did not qualify for security fencing funds, since the site is not rated as a high-security area.

"To develop the runway, there will be a fair amount of tree clearing," said Waibel about another phase of the environmental assessment. "The reforestation issue may take a little time." Local Department of Natural Resources officials will be helping with a forest-stand characterization study of the site and working closely on the project, he said.

Work on the airport project could begin in 2003 and completed as early as 2006.

Sarah Fike Becomes Bride Of Andy Layman In June Ceremony

Sarah Elizabeth Fike and Anthony (Andy) Wayne Layman were married on June 16, 2001, at Broadford Park in Oakland.

The bride is the daughter of Carl and Patricia (Suzie) Fike, Oakland. She is a 1997 graduate of Southern High School and received her degree in biochemistry in 2001 from Western Maryland College, Westminster.

The groom is the son of Gary Layman and Kay Theriot, both of Grantsville. He is a 1995 graduate of Northern High School and received his degree in psychology in 2000 from Frostburg State University.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an A-line satin gown with an embossed chiffon overlay. Her elbow-length veil was handmade and trimmed in satin ribbon by the bride. She carried a round bouquet of yellow roses.

Serving as bridesmaids were friends of the bride, Misty Rodeheaver, Dana Fraser, Lori Hansch, and Emily Knight. The bridesmaids wore full-length light blue dresses made by Shirley Snyder, and they carried tied bouquets of yellow roses and daisies. Serving as best man was John Hughes, cousin of the groom, and serving as groomsmen were Brandon (Joe) Layman and Jeremy Layman, brothers of the groom, and Jared Fike, brother of the bride. The flower girl was Emma Fike, cousin of the bride. Guests were greeted by cousin of the bride, Kara Paugh. Favors were distributed by Tiara Friend, cousin of the bride.

Officiating the ceremony was the couple's pastor, Mel Menker of Oak Park Church of the Brethren. Maggie Suess, friend of the bride, provided a scriptural reading, and David K. Martin, vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Household of Faith." Jan Florists, Oakland, provided flowers.

Tim Jeffreys, friend of the bride and groom, provided video services for the couple.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at Broadford Park, catered by Bob Moriarity. Rita Savage, Swanton, made the wedding cake.

The couple honeymooned at the Disney World Resort in Orlando, Fla. They now reside in Roanoke, Va. Sarah is enrolled in the College of Health Sciences' Physician Assistant Program, and Andy is employed as an investment representative with Edward Jones Investments.

Ms. Huse To Wed Mr. Wilson

Ralph Roger Shrupp, Greensburg, Pa., and Loretta Darlene Kee, Mtn. Lake Park, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter Tamala Christine Huse of Swanton to James Randy Wilson. The prospective groom is the son of Riley Matthew Wilson of Swanton and the late Charlotte Ann Wilson.

The wedding is slated for Saturday, June 15, at 1 p.m. at the Mount Zion Methodist Church in Swanton. Though invitations will be sent, all family and friends are invited to attend.

Miss Brewer And Mr. Bittinger Exchange Vows In August Ceremony

Beth Lynn Brewer and Michael Wayne Bittinger were united in marriage at 2 p.m. on Aug. 4, 2001, at Elm Grove Christian Church, Wheeling, W.Va., with Roger A. Murfin officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Gerald and Linda Brewer, Wheeling. She is a 1999 graduate of Wheeling Park High School and a 2001 graduate of Alderson-Broaddus College with an associate degree in natural science. She will return to Alderson-Broaddus College this fall to study for a master's degree in medical science.

The groom is the son of Wayne and Marilyn Bittinger, Oakland. He is a 1998 graduate of Southern High School, and is attending Alderson-Broaddus College with a double major in business management and marketing.

Bethany Crouch was maid of honor, and Dan Ramsey served as best man.

Other attendants were Amanda Eskew, Rachel Kelley, Christopher Bittinger (brother of the groom), and Michael Kelly.

A reception was held at Triadelphia Community Center.

After returning from a wedding trip, the couple now reside in Philippi, W.Va.

Stemple's Rams Cap 22-0 Regular Season By Skinning 'Cats, Downing Determined Beall

The Southern High School girls' varsity basketball squad signed, sealed, and delivered a perfect regular season in no uncertain terms last night by crushing Beall, their closest competitors in western Maryland, by a 73-47 tally. The Rams' 22nd straight win came on the heels of Monday's 42-point demolition of Westmar, as SHS ran away with a 62-20 win in front of a delighted Oakland Senior Night crowd.

"In my 32 years of coaching I've never been close to anything like this," a proud Southern head coach Don Stemple said of his squad's accomplishment last night. "All day yesterday I tried to keep telling myself it was just another game, but the closer we got to game time the more nervous I got. Now it's a fantastic feeling to be 22-0."

Stemple has longtime playmaking guard Ashley Liller and a superbly balanced and hardworking supporting cast to thank for the Rams' successes so far, for they've risen to every challenge he's put before them.

"Every year Coach Stemple gives us a sheet of paper with goals on it, and an undefeated season is always on it," Liller stated. "It's always possible, but I think this year we felt it was more realistic. It feels great to get to the top of the mountain, and makes you feel all the hours of practice paid off."

Liller put a lock on repeating as Area Player of the Year this week by leading SHS to its runaway wins. The senior guard scored 26 points last night against Beall on the heels of Monday's 21-point performance against Westmar. Her 23-point per game average assures her of the area scoring crown, and her 490-point season tally is nearly 100 points ahead of runner-up Julie Cessna of Frankfort.

Playing on their home floor last night, Beall's Mountaineers were determined to play the part of spoiler for the Rams. The hosts brought the area's third-place ranking into the contest, and a 15-5 record, by far the closest an Allegany/Garrett squad had come to Southern's mark.

The Rams surged out to a 21-11 first-quarter lead with the help of nine Beall turnover, and were up 36-26 at the half. Beall refused to give up without a fight, however, as the Mounties clawed their way back into contention in the third quarter by putting the clamps on Southern's scoring. At the 1:45 mark Beall senior Angie Johnson hit a field to cut the Rams' lead to 42-37.

SHS's balance turned the tide before Beall's wave could crest, however, as sophomore forward Becca Flanagan stepped up to convert a clutch three-point play before sinking a field goal as the stanza drew to a close. On top 47-39 at the opening of the fourth quarter, the Rams got a quick jumper from senior forward Jennifer Bosley to take their lead to 10 points and gain some breathing room.

Then it was Liller's turn to pick up the reins, and #21 put on a clinic by contributing nine straight points. She started the flurry by connecting on two jump shots from the corner, then took an inbounds pass and hit a three-pointer from the top of the key before sinking a pair of free throws to give Southern a 58-43 advantage with less than five minutes to play. The Rams continued rolling from there to a 26-point victory.

"I think the big point in the game was when Ashley took charge and made several shots in a row for us early in the fourth quarter," Stemple observed. "Beall was playing so well, we just couldn't shake them. The score was not indicative of the type of game it was, because they were really prepared for us."

Liller's team-high 26 points, second to only Johnson's excellent 29-point performance for the hosts, came on nine field goals, one a three-pointer, and seven successful free throws out of 10 attempts. Flanagan contributed 16 points by hitting all six of her field-goal tries and four of her five foul shots, and Bosley and sophomore guard Robbin Gregg each had 10 points.

Justine Pagenhardt, who rounds out the Rams' potent three-guard scheme, had nine points and nailed three free throws out of four attempts, clinching the area's foul shooting percentage crown with an .870 percentage for the season. Bosley connected on all four of her free throws to boost her foul shooting percentage to .810, fourth best in the area.

Southern dominated under the basket, as Flanagan hauled down 11 rebounds to net a double-double and lead SHS to a 32-22 rebounding advantage, while Pagenhardt grabbed six rebounds of her own. The Rams' pressing defense led to 30 Beall turnovers, 10 of which came in SHS's big fourth quarter. Many of those Mountie miscues resulted in runaway lay-ups for the Rams' fast-breaking offense, a trademark of this year's speedy Southern squad.

The junior varsity contest that preceded the varsity showdown gave the Rams an inkling of Beall's hopes for the night. Southern's JVs had to work hard for the four-point, 42-38 win, as Kayla Nazelrod, Mandy King, and Lori Fox netted 10 points each for the Rams. Corrie Felker led all scorers with 12 points for the Mountaineers.

SHS had cruised into last night's contest in Frostburg after Ram seniors Liller and Bosley had said farewell to their regular season homecourt crowd in fine style Monday night. Southern shot out to a 14-2 first-quarter lead, was up 26-12 at the half, and sailed into the final period firmly in control with a 47-18 advantage.

The Senior Night festivities were marked by Liller's game-high 21 points, one more than the Wildcat team, on seven field goals and a seven for ten tally from the foul line. Pagenhardt contributed 13 points, Flanagan had 10, and Gregg 8. Bosley had seven points, including the night's lone three-point bucket, and turned in her standard excellent defensive performance. Natalie Sloan paced Westmar with 11 points.

The Ram jayvees won their contest by a handy 36-21 margin. Nazelrod led SHS with eight points, while the Wildcats' Megan Patton recorded 12.

After putting last night's celebrations aside, Stemple went on to note that with the regular campaign etched in the record books, his team now has to buckle down and go after their Holy Grail — the Maryland 1A state title. The Rams have earned the top seed in the West Region playoff tourney, which gets under way next Friday, Feb. 22. The drawing for match-ups of the opening round will take place this coming Sunday evening.

It should be pointed out that the Rams are not the first Garrett County consolidated high school team to record a perfect regular season, as predicted in this newspaper last week. An anonymous letter received in this office points out that the Northern High girls' squad of the 1972-73 campaign won all six of its outings.

Rec. League Play Features Pair Of Tight Thrillers

Two of the three contests in the Recreational Basketball League went down to the wire Sunday, as Patterson Boat Company nipped Monumental Insurance 54-53, and Quality Machine edged Mettiki Coal 45-42. The third battle resulted in an 82-73 Markwood Citgo win over Garrett Mine Supply.

Patterson Boat's victory resulted from a balanced offensive effort paced by Dave Bender and Mike Fazenbaker, both of whom netted 10 points. Monumental Insurance was led by Billy Braithwaite's 22 points, while Jeff Tuel contributed 18. Quality Machine got 18 points from Joe Refosco and 13 from Oliver Jones en route to its win, while Mettiki was paced by Gary Newcomb's 14 points. Paul Lewis took league-high scoring honors for the day, as his 27-point tally sparked Markwood's nine-point triumph. Teammate Rick Selders contributed 20 points, while Garrett Mine's Jon Price and Doug Copeland recorded 24 and 22 points, respectively.

Recreational League match-ups of this coming Sunday feature Patterson Boat vs. Quality Machine in the first game, followed by a Markwood's vs. Mettiki showdown in Game 2, and a nightcap contest pitting Monumental Insurance vs. Garrett Mine.

Southern High's Meyers Commits To Catamounts

Three-sport standout Bryson Meyers, a senior at Southern High School, intends to continue his academic and athletic career following his graduation this spring, as he has signed a letter of intent with Potomac State College. The 6-4, 190-pound Meyers has committed to the PSC baseball program.

Meyers has been an outstanding left-handed pitcher for Ram coach Jim Bosley, finishing last season with a 7-1 personal record and an ERA of .84. He pitched 50 innings in the 2001 season, gave up only 34 hits and nine walks, and he struck out 55 batters. He was named to the All-Area second team.

He is currently among the leaders on Coach Tom Bosley's top-ranked varsity basketball team at Southern, and received various post-season honors as a tight end on the 2001 varsity football team, coached by Fred Gregg, even though it was his first year of playing varsity football. He has also been a member of the SHS golf team.

"Bryson is a very good athlete," stated Doug Little, head coach of the PSC Catamounts. "He will be a great addition to our pitching staff."

Meyers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kim Meyers.

Rams Win Three More, Capture WMIL Title

It was another huge week on the basketball court for the Southern High School varsity boys and their coach, Tom Bosley, as the Rams won three more games and in the process captured the 2001-02 Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship with a perfect 10-0 mark, stretched their current win streak to 14 straight games, extended their home-game WMIL win streak to 31, upped their overall record to 17-3, handed Coach Bosley his 250th (and 251st) win as their mentor, and probably solidified another All-Area title.

The Rams' victims this past week included the visiting Tucker County Mountain Lions, whom they defeated Friday, 63-50; the area's second-ranked team Fort Hill, who were sent back to Cumberland with a 60-49 loss on Tuesday; and cross-county rivals, the Northern Huskies, who hosted the Rams last night in a make-up contest and were topped, 59-46.

The Rams took the lead early against Tucker County on Friday and never gave it up, posting advantages of 18-8, 30-23, and 43-32 at the quarters. Dennis Tressler led three Rams in double figures with 15 points, with nine of his being recorded in 10 attempts from the foul line. Chad Panther was right behind with 14 points, and also had six rebounds, five assists, and four steals. Bryson Meyers scored a dozen points, nine of which were recorded in the first quarter.

The Rams were edged in field goals by a 20-19 margin, but converted a sizzling 88% of their free throws (22 of 25), while the Lions made good on 4 of 4 opportunities. Fifteen of Southern's points in the fourth quarter were scored on 18 foul shots.

"As a team the Rams lead the area in free-throw shooting with 70% effectiveness.

Pacing Tucker County offensively with a game-high 21 points was Tony Cook. Dave Gasell added 10 points, and Adam Wilfong led the team in rebounds with seven.

Tucker County	8	23	32	50
Southern	18	30	43	63

The Southern junior varsity edged the Tucker County jayvees in the preliminary game, 58-53, in overtime. Corey Tressler, who led the Rams with 25 points, hit a three-pointer at the buzzer to send the contest into extra minutes. Anthony Ablonczy also reached double figures for Southern with 12 points, and Adam Helmick led the Mountain Lions with 14 points.

The WMIL championship was on the line Tuesday night when Fort Hill came to town, as the Sentinels were 15-3 overall and 6-2 in league games. But the Rams, unlike in their first meeting with the Sentinels that went into overtime, scored 14 of the first 18 points of the game this time, and held the lead the rest of the way.

After spotting Fort Hill a 4-0 lead in the first minute, the Rams went on a 14-point run and held a 19-6 advantage by the end of the first quarter. The Sentinels won the second quarter and cut Southern's lead to four points, 30-26, by intermission.

Fort Hill then scored six of the first eight points of the third period to cut Southern's lead to two, 34-32, but Bryson Meyers put the next five points on the board with a three-pointer and a two-point shot to put the Rams' advantage back to seven. Fort Hill could get no closer than six points, and the Rams led by as many as 13 (58-45) with just 1:30 to play.

The Sentinels were well prepared to shut off the inside game of Dennis Tressler, but that freed up Meyers, who responded with one of the best efforts of his career. He finished with a season-high 18 points and 12 rebounds, with nine points and seven boards being recorded in the fourth quarter.

"Bryson played very well, partly because Fort Hill did such a good defensive job against Dennis (Tressler)," Coach Bosley said. "At halftime we decided to get the ball to Bryson since they weren't doubling up on him, and he did a great job."

The performance of the guard tandem of Chad Panther and Ricky Reams was another key to Southern's win, as Panther recorded 16 points and eight assists, and Reams finished with 10 points, seven assists, and four steals.

"Chad and Ricky are very unselfish players, possibly the best guard tandem we've ever had," Bosley said. "They are among a strong group of seniors who are fundamentally sound and have the experience to respond to just about everything any team tries against us."

The Rams had one of their better shooting nights of the season, hitting 26 of 50 attempts (52%), while the Sentinels connected on 20 of 59 shots (34%).

Zack Alkire led the Sentinels in scoring with 12 points, while Josh Repac recorded 11 points and six rebounds. Repac came into the contest averaging just under 20 points per outing. Nick Mazzone pulled down a team-high eight rebounds to go with his nine points, and Robert Grapes had seven rebounds. Fort Hill finished with a 35-33 edge in rebounding.

For the second time in as many starts, the Southern junior varsity found itself in an overtime game and emerged with a victory, 35-31. Cory Bosley and Derek Steffan led the Ram jayvees (11-5) with 10 and nine points, respectively, and Antoine Kyler paced Fort Hill (15-6) with nine.

The Panther-Reams tandem combined for 33 points against the Northern Huskies last night, with Panther netting 21 and Reams contributing 12. Also reaching double figures was J.B. Murphy with 15 points, which included nine on three three-pointers.

The Huskies played well against the heavily favored Rams and stayed within an arm's length most of the evening. Southern held a 12-8 advantage at the end of the first quarter, was on top by seven, 28-21, and took a 41-30 advantage into the final stanza.

The Ram defense successfully contained the Huskies' leading scorer, Jason Rice, allowing him only one field goal, a three-pointer, for the evening. Josh Swandol led Northern's offensive effort with 13 points, Aaron Mitchell connected for 10, and Rice finished with nine, going 6-for-7 at the foul line.

The Huskies fell to 6-14 overall and 1-8 in WMIL games.

The Southern junior varsity coasted to a 66-31 victory in the preliminary game behind a 21-point performance by Anthony Ablonczy. Cory Bosley and Derek Steffan also reached double figures with 16 and 13 points, respectively. Leading Northern was Eric Johnson with eight points.

The win upped Coach Jim Bosley's team's record to 12-5.

The Rams will conclude their regular season with two more home games, this Friday against Keyser and next Tuesday against Petersburg. The Southern junior varsity will also play a make-up game next Thursday at Tucker County, with tip-off set for 7 p.m.

The Huskies will host Beall Friday and will conclude their regular season at Hancock on Tuesday.

Sauder Among FSU Relay Runners-Up

Beth Sauder, a standout runner for Southern High School and now a sophomore at Frostburg State University, is a member of the FSU women's 4X400 relay team which placed second in the Denison University Big Red Invitational, held Saturday in Granville, Ohio.

Sauder and her teammates, Lynnea Finch, Mysel Abrokwo, and Maria Ferguson, recorded a season-best time of 4:15.87.

Sauder, a daughter of Steve and Anna Sauder, Mtn. Lake Park, was an All-State cross country runner for Southern and also a standout distance runner on the SHS track team.

A BALLET MOVE? That's what one might think Southern High School's J.B. Murphy (#25) is demonstrating in the photo at left under the hoop last night at Northern High School, but he was actually in the process of recording two of his 15 points for the evening, while Northern's Jensen Long (#44) was attempting to impede his efforts. Above, Josh Swandol, who led the Huskies' scoring effort with 13 points, successfully grabs a loose ball. Also identifiable in the photo, from left, are Northern's Aaron Mitchell (#11), end Southern's Ricky Reams (#11), Bryson Meyers, Chad Panther (#10), and Dennis Tressler (#33). Panther had a game-high 21 points for the Rams, who won the game, 59-46, to complete a perfect 10-0 sweep in Western Maryland Interscholastic League competition. It was also the Rams' 14th straight victory. See story for details. Photos by John McEwen.

Northern Bags Elks; Falls To Union, Spartans, Rams

The Northern High School boys' varsity basketball squad took to the court four times this week, starting off with a 70-60 win at Salisbury last Thursday before dropping three straight. Union took a 61-51 victory over the Huskies Friday, Bishop Walsh came out on top of Tuesday's hard-fought 59-46 battle, and last night the Southern Rams dropped NHS by the same score, 59-46. (See separate story.) The action gives NHS a 6-14 record heading into the final week of regular season play.

Thursday night's contest at Salisbury was more like a war movie than a basketball game, as the two squads launched salvo after salvo from three-point land. The Elks connected on nine three-pointers to NHS's eight, as the Huskies' Jason Rice sank five treys and Aaron Mitchell hit three.

The pitched battle was hard-fought throughout, as the Huskies' narrow 16-15 first-quarter lead swung to a 38-32 Salisbury advantage by the half. The Elks took a 50-47 lead into the final stanza, but Northern put together a 23-10 run over the last eight minutes to claim the win.

Rice paced all scorers with 21 points for the Huskies, Mitchell netted 15 points, and Alston contributed 11 before going out with five fouls. Shawn Haines's 20 points led Salisbury, and teammate Dexter Winkler had 16.

Northern's junior varsity fell in a close contest, 46-41.

The Huskies' Friday road trip to Mt. Storm resulted in a 10-point loss at the hands of a balanced Union unit. NHS fell behind 16-9 after one quarter, and was down 30-17 at the half, before mounting a third quarter comeback that narrowed the gap to nine points at 43-34.

Rice led the Huskies with 14 points on five field goals, three of which were three-pointers. Alston contributed 12 points and Landon Southerly had 11. The Tigers' Mike Davis paced all scorers with 22 points, Dewaine Jones had 16, and Eric Tasker netted 15.

Union took the JV game 37-27 as Kenny Braithwaite scored 12 points for the hosts. Billy Jones recorded 11 points to lead the Huskies.

The lead seesawed back and forth during Tuesday night's outing at Bishop Walsh before the hosts pulled away in the final stanza. The Huskies jumped out to an 8-0 lead in the first quarter, then the Spartans reeled off 12 unanswered points to take a four-point advantage going into the second period. BW took a narrow 24-22 lead as the halftime buzzer sounded by connecting on a Hail Mary from halfcourt. Northern put on a clinic in the third quarter to go up 37-33, but a 26-9 Spartan fourth quarter gave the hosts the win.

Lakers Top Anne Arundel, Frederick; Fall To Essex

The Garrett Community College Lakers recorded a pair of JUCO victories this past week, including a major win over powerful Frederick Community College, but then stumbled last night against Essex CC. The Lakers recorded a 94-82 win over Anne Arundel in Arnold on Saturday, topped host Frederick on Monday in a make-up contest, 77-73, and fell to host Essex last night, 67-63. The results left the Lakers with an 18-6 record.

Kortaa Hall demonstrated once again in Saturday's victory over Anne Arundel CC why he is among the top handful of scorers in the entire JUCO Conference, as he ripped the nets for 38 points. His performance included nine three-point buckets, which matched his career high, plus a team-high seven rebounds, three steals, two assists, and one block. The 6-3 sophomore guard also committed only one turnover.

"They simply couldn't do anything to stop Kortaa," stated Coach Gibson. "He had a super all-around game."

The first half was close, and ended with the Lakers up by only a point, 41-40. Garrett expanded its lead to five points early in the second half, and then Hall erupted for three straight three-point buckets with about 12 minutes remaining to give the Lakers a double-figure lead the rest of the game.

The Lakers actually won the game with 13 three-point buckets and via their performance at the free-throw line, from which they converted 24 of 31 attempts. The upset-minded Pioneers (3-18) led in baskets, 34-24, but had just five three-pointers and were 10-for-15 at the line.

Garrett's Darvus Gray was perfect at the free throw line, hitting all eight of his attempts, and he finished with 16 points. Also reaching double figures were Duke Cooper and Jontae Harrington with 11 points each.

Cooper also recorded nine assists, and Harrington and Darren Stackhouse each grabbed six rebounds.

"Antuon Townsend, Darren Stackhouse, and Andrew Wass came off the bench late in the first half and really gave us a boost," Gibson said. "That gave us a lift going in at halftime, and we knew that we would be able to wear them down in the second half.

"They are a solid, all-around team, but they don't have any depth," Gibson noted.

The Pioneers were led in scoring by Ellis Champion and Greg Sullivan, who netted 27 and 24 points, respectively. Darcy Adetchimti finished with 13.

A crucial steal by Townsend with just over two seconds to play iced the Lakers' big victory over the Cougars of Frederick CC on Monday. Frederick came into the game ranked eighth in the nation in the NJCAA Division II poll.

The Lakers led by six points at halftime, 40-34, and were up by five, 75-70, with less than a minute to play in the game. A three-point play by Frederick's Mark Falcone made it 75-73, and a charge called against the Lakers on their next possession gave the Cougars an opportunity to either tie or win the contest. However, Townsend stole the ball with 2.1 seconds remaining, was fouled immediately, and hit both of his free throws to seal the win for the Lakers.

Hall again paced Garrett's offensive attack with 22 points, while Harrington finished with 17, Sam Brown netted 14, and Duke Cooper hit 10. Darren Stackhouse had a team-high seven rebounds and five steals, and Cooper also dished out four assists. Townsend chipped in with nine points.

The Cougars, who are now 12-4 in the JUCO standings, were led in scoring by Falcone with 17 points, Ellis Hopkins with 15, and Armand Ross with 14 points. Falcone and Ross also each pulled down nine rebounds.

Ross came into the game averaging 20 points and nearly 11 rebounds per outing.

As is often the case after recording a big victory, the Lakers came out flat last night against Essex, and they stayed that way throughout the game, allowing the home team to pull off the four-point offset.

Essex took the lead early and was on top by a dozen, 38-26, at intermission. The Lakers lost the game at the free-throw line, from which they had but four shots in the entire game. GCC finished with a 24-22 edge in field goals, but hit 3 of 4 at the charity stripe, while Essex made good on 18 of 24.

Andre Frazier had little trouble with the Laker defense, as he led Essex with a game-high 27 points. James Wiggins had a double-double night with 17 points and 18 rebounds, and Kelvin Reese contributed 11 points, eight assists, and four steals.

Duke Cooper paced GCC with 18 points, 12 rebounds, seven assists, and a block. Kortaa Hall finished with 14 points and four steals, and Jontae Harrington chipped in with 11 points.

"We were flat, we missed a lot of easy shots, and we turned the ball over," Gibson said.

The Lakers will end their regular season this Saturday when they host Catonsville.

Lakers Downed By Allegheny; Bounce Back To Crush Howard

The women's basketball team of Garrett Community College split a pair of outings this week, falling to CCAC Allegheny Monday by a 72-46 margin, then rebounding in a big way last night to thump Howard 86-48. Southern High School alumna Charlena Reeves turned in a big night last night to lead the Lakers to the convincing victory. The result of a scheduled road trip to Catonsville Friday were not reported.

Monday night's McHenry match-up with Allegheny turned into a runaway win for the visitors, as Allegheny jumped out to a 43-25 halftime lead. Garrett rebounded somewhat in the second half by limiting Allegheny to a 29-21 tally for the stanza, but it was too little, too late.

GCC's top scorer was Christi Edgell, who netted 12 points on four field goals, three from three-point range, and one free throw. Juakeena Bell connected for 11 points, Donna Lyles hauled down seven rebounds, and Charlena Reeves dished out four assists. Lia Wyland led all scorers with 16 points for the visitors.

Garrett pulled the welcome mat out from under visiting Howard's feet at the opening tipoff, and never let the guests back into the contest. GCC ran up a 45-30 halftime lead en route to its 32-point romp that took its record to 11-12.

Reeves played like a Laker possessed, netting 17 points on seven field goals and three free throws, while also grabbing eight steals. Edgell hit a trio of three-pointers on her way to 12 points, Bell and Crystal Kimble contributed 10 points, and Miller had 9, including two three-point buckets. Lyles pulled down nine rebounds and Angel Kendal handed out six assists. Howard's Billian had 15 points for the guests.

The Lakers are slated to travel to Cecil on Saturday, then will host the Maryland JUCO Women's Tournament next Thursday, Feb. 21, through the following Sunday.

Budget Balancing Act May Mean Higher Auto Insurance Rates

by Kathleen Johnston Jarboe
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Gov. Parris N. Glendening may be using an improper fund transfer to balance the state's 2003 budget, and draining it could mean an increase in car insurance rates for every driver in Maryland.

The governor's budget proposal targets $70 million in surplus funds from the Maryland Automobile Insurance Fund, a state agency that insures individuals who can't get car insurance from private companies and that assists pedestrians hit by uninsured drivers. Although the surplus now is around $125 million, rates increase for everyone when it dips below the level required to guarantee payment of accident claims, said James L. Stoop, a budget analyst studying the matter for the General Assembly.

That level could be reached as soon as the end of this year, Stoop said. Although the trigger amount is about $55 million — derived from a fraction of the average of three year's premiums — agency losses and increased applicants could mean the floor is reached quickly. When it is reached, Stoop said the state insurance company taps two revenue sources: It charges private insurers a fee that is passed to regular policyholders, and its own insurance rates go up.

"It's a tax increase," said Delegate John R. Leopold, R-Anne Arundel, a member of the Appropriations Committee.

"It puts us in the position of a tax collector," said Lars Kristiansen, a Nationwide Insurance lobbyist.

Past assessments to replenish the fund ranged from $3 to $5 tacked onto drivers' insurance bills. Assessments occurred often during the 1970s and 1980s, with the last one in 1989.

MAIF policy holders — the poor, young, and individuals with bad driving records, those least able to afford an increase — would face even greater premium increases, Kristiansen said. Estimates put those hikes at $20 to $30 to help cover the cost of losing the surplus.

The agency's annual rates now range from $533 for an Eastern Shore driver with a clean driving record to $3,377 for a Baltimore driver with a very bad driving record.

The surplus has helped rates remain steady since officials used its investment income to cover costs.

Using the fund is poor public policy, Kristiansen said. MAIF is working well — there has been no assessment for 12 years and it doesn't cost anyone or the state money — and, he said, "we're cutting its throat."

Money had to come from somewhere, the administration said.

"Any amount of minor discomfort will pale in comparison to what it would have meant to find alternative cuts in this austere budget," said Neil Bergsman, Glendening budget director.

MAIF's was one of $461.5 million in program surpluses targeted by Glendening to plug a nearly $1 billion spending gap in his 2003 budget proposal. His budget would transfer $20 million from MAIF's uninsured driver fund and $50 million from its insured fund into a general account available to pay a wide range of government bills.

The propriety of the transfer is also in question. Since the insured fund money comes from Maryland drivers, not state revenue, it can't be used for state purposes, according to a 1973 attorney general opinion.

It's not the state's money, said Stoop.

But Bergsman said the administration's principal counsel and MAIF attorneys worked together to assure the transfer was legal. The transfer would actually be a loan from the fund of $50 million to be repaid at a rate of $10 million a year from 2004 to 2008.

MAIF officials weren't happy, Bergsman said, but the lawyers had come to an agreement.

MAIF executive director David Trageser declined to comment.

Critics of the plan say there is no requirement for the next governor — Glendening is in the last of his term-limited eight years — to add the repayment to his or her future budget proposals, and there is no stipulation to pay back the lost investment income.

"It is not a borrowing. It is a taking," Kristiansen said. He estimated MAIF would lose $11.75 million in potential income from the swap. Insurance companies could consider legal action if the proposal was adopted, he added.

"SOUP AND STORIES" — Another "Soup and Story" Night will be held at The Lodge at Savage River Inn, McHenry, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 19. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Dove Center and the American Association of University Women (AAUW) Scholarship Fund. Shown above, left, are Gail N. Herman, Swanton, telling a story, while musician Sally Stephenson of Frostburg listens at last week's Soup and Story Night. For more information and reservations, persons may call the Savage River Lodge at 301-689-3200.

Funding Dilemma

and those making the decisions are not aware of these individuals' needs.

"We know these people. We're with them all the time. It's terrible when we have to make the choice to cut their services when we know they need them," she said. The director noted that often the services are provided anyway, and the Lighthouse "just eats the cost."

This echoes the situation across the state, where many clinics are deeply in debt because of the absorption of unpaid services. Directors have to make painful decisions about just how much their clinics can withstand, and this often does in fact leave people "out in the cold."

Among the many services offered by the state's mental health clinics is the fact that they regularly take in patients who would otherwise end up in emergency rooms and/or state hospitals. The preventive measures taken by facilities such as Lighthouse have proven to prevent costly hospital visits and stays.

The CBII report maintains that the average cost per person served by community clinics is about $16,729 per year. The average cost to serve that person in a state hospital is $180,000.

Brooke Schneider, director of the Garrett County Health Department Mental Health Services, said his agency has also been affected by the recent changes in authorization, although not as severely as reported by Lighthouse.

"The changes have not affected our services in the same dramatic way as Lighthouse, but they have certainly made our business more difficult," Schneider said. "We end up spending more time and money in satisfying the requirements of the authorization process, which does make life more difficult for us, but not unmanageable."

In fact Schneider said the mental health services clinic has had a notable increase in clients over the past few years, which does reflect the state's attempt to allow for more accessibility of services to mentally ailing people. He said in 2001, his clinic served a record 801 clients, up from the year 2000's 500 clients and 1999's 400. He said the state is "much more responsive to the need for services," but there is simply not enough money to allow for all requests for service. "We definitely have all had to change the way in which we do business."

Apparently the situation is slightly different for Lighthouse, as it is an independent organization. They also both stressed that it provides a unique and valuable service to the Garrett County community.

"There's no question about that," Schneider said, who noted that Lighthouse provides transportation for several individuals served at the health department clinic.

Over the past few years, Lighthouse has been forced to decrease its services to the consumers in a variety of ways. Short field trips to state parks or shopping malls were at one time regular activities. Now field trips are too costly and have been pared down dramatically. Adams-Noroski also feels her staff is suffering because of management's inability to increase salaries.

"We have cut our employees' hours back again and again, and we can only offer benefits to our full-time staff," she said. "If we can't pay our staff what they deserve, we will lose good people. We don't want to lose anyone. They are a hard-working, dedicated crew."

Lighthouse employs 60 people, with 20 full-time employees. The facility maintains one car, four minivans, and two 15-passenger vans. Thousands of miles are logged each month, as Lighthouse makes a daily circuit to pick up consumers at their homes across the county, and then takes them all back in the afternoon. They take them to appointments and on short excursions as well.

"I can't say enough about how much Lighthouse has helped my father," said one woman, who asked not to be identified. Her father resides with her family, which includes her husband and their two children. "I love my dad, and I'm fine with him in our home, but for three days a week, I know he is in a safe place where he doesn't just sit around all afternoon. And that gives me a break, too.

"Lighthouse is not like a nursing home, and they don't 'babysit' the people who come here," she said. "They respect them. I know Dad is cared for, and while he is not severely mentally ill, he does struggle with depression and anxiety. Lighthouse helps him with that. He enjoys the company of other consumers, and he loves to go on the short trips, although a lot of them have been discontinued. The van comes to pick him up at the same time each morning, and he is usually very willing to go. Lighthouse fills a void for us that we could not find in any other facility, and, we looked all over the place."

Several consumers agreed to be interviewed for this report, with all of them expressing their fears if Lighthouse closed. One young man, nervous and shy but obviously intelligent, said he relies heavily on his time allotments at Lighthouse.

"If I didn't have Lighthouse, I don't know if I'd be alive or not," he said.

One step toward some relief for the state's mental health system was taken yesterday by the Maryland Senate, which passed a bill that would change the reimbursement method and thereby increase payments to local clinics. Governor Parris Glendening has also requested about $21 million in state funding to help relieve the situation, but this money would not be allotted until the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1. In the meantime, deficits will continue.

Locally, people can help the situation by volunteering at Lighthouse or any other mental health facility.

"People out there don't want to come near us in here," said one woman consumer, "because they think they're going to catch what we have. You can't catch it. We're not contagious. And we didn't ask to be born with these problems. We're just doing our best to get through life, and Lighthouse helps us do that."

For information on volunteering at Lighthouse, persons may call 301-334-9126.

Adorable Adoptables

LOOKING FOR A VALENTINE — Spaid is a 12-week-old terrier mix who is looking for someone to love this Valentine's Day week. The sweet, shy puppy is available for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, which is located along Oakland Sang Run Road just north of the Oakland Country Club. The shelter is open from 8 a.m to 4 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, with extended hours to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Potential valentines may call the shelter at 301-334-3553 and ask for Candy. (No kidding.)

kies' offense with 16 points on six field goals and three free throws, and forward Josh Swandol contributed 13 points on five field goals and three free throws. BW's Jayme Bradley led all scorers with 24 points.

Northern's JV fell 55-31 as the Spartans' Chris Hendershot scored 16 points. Erie Johnson had eight for NHS.

The Huskies host Beall tomorrow night in a 6 p.m. JV contest and a 7:30 p.m. varsity battle that will be their last regular season outing on their home floor. The regular season comes to an end Tuesday on Hancock's homecourt.

Tomorrow's contest will be marked by farewells to departing seniors Jensen Long, Josh Swandol, Ethan DeVore, Jared Resh, and Anthony Little. Senior cheerleaders Coty Warn, Amber Weimer, and Brooke Butler, who will be on the road to Atlantic City to lead the Maryland State Champion NHS Cheer Squad into the national competition this Saturday, bade farewell to the Igloo last night.

Area high school basketball fans should note that the drawing for seeds and first-round match-ups for the Class 1A Region Playoffs will take place this coming Sunday evening.

A MAN OF FAILURES

Years ago, someone cataloged the following failures:

- Failed in business, '31
- Defeated for legislature, '32
- Failed in business again, '34
- Sweetheart died, '35
- Suffered nervous breakdown, '36
- Defeated for speaker, '38
- Defeated for elector, '40
- Defeated for Congress, '48
- Defeated for Senate, '55
- Defeated for Vice President, '56
- Defeated for Senate, '58
- Elected for President of the United States, '60

This man of failure?

Abraham Lincoln

Failures do not make A FAILURE, but rather CAN MAKE the person. Failures hurt, but they do not stop God. He has a way of taking the tangled failures of persons' lives and weaving a tapestry that not only helps, but becomes a "thing of beauty and joy forever."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

HIDE & SEEK

February 17, 2002

Background Scripture: Jonah 1 through 2; Nahum 3.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 40:1-8.

I trust that none of you have ever been swallowed by a "great fish"——nor even a whale. Therefore, you probably think that Jonah has nothing to do with you. But it does!

Notice, I said it was "the story of Jonah," not "Jonah and the whale." The "great fish" is really a minor walk-on character: ironic because the "whale" seems to get all the attention. For many the acid test is whether or not you believe Jonah was actually swallowed by a "a great fish." (The writer says nothing about a 'whale'). It is not essential to the point of the story, for this is about a man whom God called for a task, but who did his best to run away from both the task and God..

So, this is where I— and maybe you—come in. Like Jonah, there have been times when God has placed on my heart the need to do something specific for him and I have tried to run away. He has shown me a need and I have pretended he was showing me what someone else was supposed to do.

Why do we try to run away from God? For some it is fear of what it will cost us. That might have been some of Jonah's motivation as it has been mine from time to time. But I believe that Jonah's tried to run away from God because, knowing God as he did, he realized that he would want repentance from the people of Nineveh, so that he could forgive them. Instead of a great condemnation, God would probably pull off another great salvation. What Jonah wanted was condemnation.

What Jonah Wanted

Jonah is a most interesting man. He believes in God—no doubt about that. He even understands God's forgiving nature. Later, when he is on the ship and it is in peril of sinking. Jonah is very honest in confessing: "Take me up and throw me into the sea; then the ship will quiet down for you" (1:12). All things considered. Jonah is an upstanding man,. but, although he believes in God and understands his nature, he simply doesn't like God's plan. Seeing Nineveh forgiven is not what he wants.

We, too, may believe in God, understand his call pretty well, but not approve of what he wants us to do or be. Like Jonah, we want condemnation for others, not forgiveness. What's the point of being "a good guy" if everyone one else can become good guys, too? We very well know God's stand on the poor and powerless, but think our own views are more realistic. We know how he handles adulterers and other blatant sinners, but these are not our ways. We know Jesus said "I was in prison and you did not visit me," but we don't think those people have any claim on us.

The only thing that has really changed since Jonah's day is that we believe we can hide in plain sight. We don't have to run off to sea. We can hide right here in the midst of everyday life. That's what it is for some of us, a daily ritual of hiding from God and his commands. So, don't spend too much time agonizing over the "great fish"; rather think about the ways in which you continue to try to hide from God and what he wants of you.

Were Are You Hiding?

Jonah learned the hard way that we cannot hide from God. He went as far as he could, but God followed him wherever he went. He saw through each of Jonah's evasions— just as he sees through ours. The point here is not what God wanted of Jonah, but of what he wants from you. and me.

So Jonah believed in God, understood his nature and said all the right things. but what he lacked was monumental—he didn't like God's plan. He didn't want to forgive sinners or save cities. He wanted punishment and destruction for the heathen.

Jonah 3 opens with these words: "Then the word of the Lord came to Jonah the second time, saying, 'Arise, go to Nineveh..'" (3:1,2). Very often I find that the "second word of the Lord" to me is virtually the same as the first, that what he wants of me is, not something brand new, but that to which he has been calling me in the past. He still waits for me to stop playing 'hide-and-seek.'

Constipation - A Common Problem

Constipation is defined as low stool frequency - less than 2 bowel movements per week, or having difficulty passing stools because of hardened feces and/or the need to strain. Surveys show that up to 15% of the U.S. population has constipation from time to time. Women report having constipation more often than do men. In women the chance of becoming constipated rises sharply during pregnancy and in all of us as we age.

Increasing intake of dietary fiber and water can help prevent constipation. The stool softener docusate allows hardened stools to pass easily and often is recommended for persons of all ages. Yet, docusate tends to have less benefit in elderly adults who are not very mobile. Docusate may be given with a stimulant such as bisacodyl for severe constipation such as that which may occur when taking narcotic pain relievers. Magnesium hydroxide (milk of magnesia) can gently relieve constipation by drawing water into the intestines and moistening stools. However, magnesium-containing products may not be advisable in persons who have decreased kidney function. Mineral oil is seldom used because it can interfere with the absorption of oil soluble vitamins.

"Walk For Hospice" Slated For April 20

This year's "Walk For Hospice" will be held Saturday, April 20, at the Garrett 8 Cinemas, Deep Creek Lake. Registration will begin at 9 a.m., with the walk starting at 10 a.m. The event will be broadcast live by Terry King on WKHJ radio station.

Individuals or teams of two to six members may participate. Prizes will be awarded to the top two teams and the top three individuals who raise the most money for Hospice on the day of the walk. The top team prize is a limo trip (donated by Markwood Limo) to Uno Restaurant for dinner (donated by Uno's) for the team members. The second place team will receive a bus trip to Hershey Park, via Shaffer Tours and Charters.

The top individual fundraiser will have first pick of either a computer, camcorder, or a mountain bike. The second place individual will get second choice of the prizes, and the third place individual will get the remaining prize.

Hospice will also be giving out many door prizes for the walkers who participate in the drawings. Additionally, each participant will receive a T-shirt, votive candle and holder, bottled water, food, and more, according to a spokesperson for the event.

The Garrett County Sport Aerobics Team with Brenda Brosnihan will perform at 9:30 a.m., and Hospice clown Freda Quintero will be doing face painting during the event.

For more information or to receive a registration form, persons may call the Hospice office at 301-334-5151 or in the Grantsville area at 1-800-521-5252.

On Dean's List

Three area students were recently named to the 2001 fall semester dean's list at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W.Va.

Named to the list were Matthew J. Bachtel, senior, Eglon, W.Va., who majors in international studies; Ann E. Sebold, senior, McHenry, elementary education; and Justin B. DiSimone, Oakland, computer science.

Students on the dean's list have achieved a 3.5 or higher grade point average for the semester while carrying at least 12 credit semester hours.

Citizen Review Panel Sets Child Issues Meeting

The Local Citizen Review Panel (LCRP) will hold an open meeting from 9 to 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 26, at the Garrett County Department of Social Services, located at 12578 Garrett Hwy., Oakland. The local LCRP members have been appointed by the Garrett County commissioners.

Instituted to provide oversight for the child protection system in Maryland, LCRPs advise the State Citizens' Review Board for Children and the State Council on Child Abuse and Neglect on the effectiveness of state and local agencies in fulfilling their child protection responsibilities. The LCRP conducts ongoing local system reviews and individual case reviews.

"LCRPs offer the community a real opportunity to strengthen its care of children and youth," a spokesperson said. "LCRP members include individuals with interest and expertise in the prevention and treatment of child abuse and neglect."

WEPCO Slates Annual Dinner Meeting, Dance

The WEPCO Federal Credit Union has set its annual dinner meeting and dance for Saturday, March 2, at the Westernport American Legion Victory Post. A baked steak dinner will be served at 6 p.m., followed by a brief business meeting at 7:30 p.m. and a door prize giveaway. The grand prize this year is a 20-inch RCA color television. The evening will conclude with a dance, which will feature a live performance by the band Rampage.

Tickets are $7.50 per person for both members and non-members, and are available through Monday, Feb. 28, at the WEPCO branches in Oakland, Bloomington, and Keyser. For more information, persons may contact the Oakland branch at 301-334-1431; the Bloomington branch at 301-359-3081 or 1-800-292-8139; or the Keyser branch at 304-788-5305.

Frosh Members Of Southern Council Named

The freshman representatives for Southern High School student council are Sheena Collins, Shar Hollingsworth, Jasmine Scheffel, Jadyn Swerbinsky, and Ashley Stuck. They were elected by the incoming freshman class last May.

Sheena Collins of Oakland is a junior varsity cheerleader and serves on the School Improvement Team. She plans to attend college. Collins is the daughter of John and Edna Cooper.

Shar Hollingsworth is the daughter of Jeanne Gilbert and Scott Hollingsworth, Oakland. She is a member of the girls' soccer team and participated in the Success Night at Southern Middle School. Hollingsworth plans to attend college to become a physical therapist.

Jasmine Scheffel is a member of the girls' soccer, basketball, and track teams. She also serves on the Accreditation for Growth Planning Team. Scheffel is an active member of the St. Mark's Lutheran Church Youth Group. She plans to attend college to become a basketball coach or a radio/TV announcer. She is the daughter of George and Anita Scheffel, Oakland.

Jadyn Swerbinsky is the daughter of Joseph and Debra Swerbinsky of Mtn. Lake Park. She has been selected as Student of the Month and participated in Success Night at Southern Middle School. She is also a member of the girls' soccer team. Swerbinsly plans to attend Penn State University.

Ashley Stuck is a member of the girls' soccer team. She also participated in Success Night at Southern Middle School. Stuck's future goal is to obtain straight A's in high school. She is the daughter of David and Ann Stuck, Swanton.

Job Applications Workshop Slated For February 26

The Maryland Job Service in Oakland will conduct a free workshop, "Completing Effective Job Applications," on Tuesday, Feb. 26, from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. A program of the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation (DLLR), the Maryland Job Service is offering this workshop for job seekers in the Garrett County area.

The workshop will provide information to job seekers that will enable them to complete the best application for potential employers. Presenters will offer tips on completing an application most effectively (what employers look for), and how applicants may avoid stumbling block questions.

The workshop is open to everyone. Interested individuals are urged to reserve their place by calling the Maryland Job Service by 4 p.m. Monday, Feb. 25, as seating is limited. Persons may call the Maryland Job Service at 301-334-3972 or 301-245-4137.

GCC Slates County Job Fair

The Garrett County Job Fair will be held on Saturday, April 6, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. in the Garrett Community College gymnasium. The GC Job Fair is an opportunity for employers to recruit full-time, part-time, and seasonal employees. More than 40 employers participated in last year's fair, which offered employment in retail, hospitality, banking, construction, manufacturing, food service, human services, recreation, and other areas, according to a spokesperson for the event.

Individuals who will be seeking employment at the job fair are encouraged to prepare their résumés and update their interview skills now. For assistance in these preparations, persons may visit the Career Services Office at GCC.

Information packets will soon be mailed to employers who participated in previous job fairs. Employers who did not participate in past fairs and would also like information about the event may call Stacie Upole at 301-387-3132 or Julie Yoder at 301-387-3101.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q. I inherited three pieces of Rookwood pottery. I believe they were originally purchased during the 1930s. I would like to find out more about both the company and current market values. — Susan in Denver

A. Maria Longworth Nichols Storer was the daughter of a wealthy family, and she founded the company in 1879. She set up a studio in an abandoned schoolhouse near Cincinnati, where she began experimenting with clay and glazes. Eventually, she added artisans and artists of note to her staff and expanded the company's output to include teapots, lamps, vases and bowls in various colors.

Although Rookwood pottery can be found in hundreds of glazes, most pieces were produced from a selection of eight basic colors: Iris, Sea Green, Mat, Vallum, Cameo, Dull, Standard and Aerial Blue. Each piece of Rookwood is carefully marked with the famous reversed "R" conjoined with the "P" Flames and later Roman numerals were used to date each piece of Rookwood.

Rookwood pottery is extremely popular with collectors. Recent eBay auction results have included a pocket vase in the Iris glaze ($950); a Cameo teapot ($2,500); an Aerial Blue plate ($3,000); and a wall plaque ($150).

The American Art Pottery Association is one of the better clubs for collectors. Its address is P.O. Box 834, Westport, MA 02790.

Digging for Gold

Q. We have a large yard that backs up to an empty field. Rabbits from the field come into our yard quite often. Of course, our dogs, ages 11 and 6, cannot wait to go outside and eat rabbit droppings. The problem is that they dig all over in search of these droppings. I have only once seen one of the dogs digging, and I did reprimand her. How can I stop the digging?

A. When my editor (a pet owner) read your letter, he chuckled and said, "Pave the entire yard."

Of course, he was joking, but it did illustrate a point: Getting your dogs to stop "digging for gold" will be difficult.

Digging is a natural instinct in dogs, as is sniffing at or eating animal droppings (which provide a wealth of information to your pet on what exactly is coming into the yard). Completely preventing both activities is almost impossible and may frustrate both dogs; however, easing their desire to dig up the yard is possible.

First, you'll have to stop the rabbits from coming into the yard. This is easier said than done, since rabbits will dig under fencing to get at a treat. Talk with wildlife specialists in your area (from the zoo, the vet's office, animal control or local trappers) about the best way to do this.

Remove all droppings from the yard each week so that the dogs have less "treasure" to find.

Redirect your pets' attention from digging by providing more toys for them to play with. A treat ball can give them a different (and healthier) reward as they roll it along the ground. Isolate sections of the yard where rabbit droppings are most common so the dogs can't dig there.

Keep a close eye on your dogs' activities outside. When you catch your dog digging in the yard, reprimand it right away and lead it away from the area. Then, spend some constructive time with him or her — reinforcing basic commands, teaching a new trick or playing fetch. Your dogs will eventually associate the back yard with playtime rather than digging time.

In the back are Fred Gregg, business partner of the month, representing the Renaissance Learning Center; James Carpenter, vocational; Krystal James, social studies; and Andrea Ryan, math. See story for more details.

SHS Names January Students Of The Month

Southern High School recently announced the January Students of the Month. The recipients are Brittni Brown, science; James Carpenter, vocational; Krystal James, social studies; Shawn Lewis, math; Sarah McWilliams, English; Andrea Ryan, math; and Justine Pagenhardt, computer education.

Brittni Brown, a junior, is the daughter of James and Karen Brown. She is involved in the opening and closing meetings for VICA, and she has earned the A/B honor roll for the first and second semester. She attends Kurtz Chapel Methodist Church, and plans to attend cuhnary school either in Pittsburgh or Ohio.

James Carpenter, a senior, has earned the honors of Who's Who Among American High School Students, Minds in Motion, and honor roll. He has participated in soccer for the past four years, and plays indoor soccer and is on the swim team. He is the son of Harry and Karen Carpenter, and plans to attend Virginia Tech in the fall.

Sophomore Krystal James is the daughter of Larry and Marsha James. She is in the marching band and has earned Marching Minds and United States National Band awards. She has also earned distinguished honor roll and Who's Who Among American High School Students. James attends Mt. Top Christian Assembly and is a member of the youth group. She has also volunteered to help the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department with different tasks. She plans to go to college and study architecture.

Shawn Lewis has received an award for maintaining above average grades by achieving an 80% in every class. He is involved in activities with his uncle, such as skiing, swimming, and the Special Olympics. He plans to continue his education and training with Appalachian Crossroads. He is the son of Shawn and Cynthia Lewis.

Senior Sarah McWilliams is the daughter of Rod McWilliams and Terri Winters. She was named the art student of the month and named on the honor roll in eleventh grade. She volunteers at the Yough Glades school library. She plans to attend Garrett Community College in the fall.

Andrea Ryan, a sophomore, is a member of the volleyball team. She has earned distinguished honor roll twice and regular honor roll once and has also received the Minds in Motion award. Ryan attends the Grace Bible Church in Accident. She hopes to attend West Virginia University. She wants to major in mathematics and plans to have a career as a geometry teacher. She is the daughter of Jeff and Alma Ryan.

Sophomore Justine Pagenhardt is the daughter of Monty and Nancy Pagenhardt. She is a member of the varsity basketball team aud the track and field team. She has received distinguished honor roll mention and Minds in Motion award. She is currently taking honors courses, and plans to attend a four-year college and major in a form of engineering.

The business partner for January was the Renaissance Center, represented by Fred Gregg.

Friendsville Man Handed Jail Term For Possession

A Friendsville man was handed a 7-day jail term after he pleaded guilty to drug possession during a recent Garrett County District Court criminal hearing.

Harvey Joe Dilley Jr., 23, entered guilty pleas to charges of possession of marijuana and driving on a suspended license filed in October by the Maryland State Police. He received a 30-day sentence from Judge Ralph Burnett, who suspended all but seven days of that term.

Dilley had been arrested after a traffic stop in Friendsville when a search located a smoking bowl in his pocket that contained burnt marijuana residue. Additional charges of possession of drug paraphernalia and various traffic offenses were not prosecuted by the State's Attorney's Office.

In other District Court news, a West Virginia man was sentenced after he pleaded guilty to marijuana possession. David Carl Lower, 43, Mt. Storm, was handed a 30-day sentence, all but four days of which was suspended, fined $100, placed on six months of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service. Additional charges of possession of Valium without a prescription and possession of Valium with intent to distribute were not prosecuted.

Lower's October arrest by Garrett County sheriff's deputies came after he was found sleeping behind the wheel of a vehicle parked in the lot of the old Treasure Island store. After the odor of burnt marijuana was noted coming from the car, and a canine scan indicated the presence of a drug, a bag of marijuana and a bag of suspected Valium in pill and powder form were located.

Donald Lee Gray, 30, Grafton, W.Va., pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a 30-day sentence with all but two days suspended, and was fined $155, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

State troopers jailed Gray after a vehicle he was riding in was stopped along I-68. A passenger in the vehicle, Gray volunteered that he had a marijuana smoking pipe located in his luggage. The pipe was recovered and found to be bearing burnt marijuana residue.

Sean Henry McGinnis, 21, Grafton, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a 30-day sentence, all but two days of which was suspended, fined $155, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

State troopers arrested McGinnis in April during the course of a traffic stop along Interstate 68. After the odor of burnt marijuana was noted, state troopers found a smoking pipe containing burnt marijuana residue found on the floor of the back seat. McGinnis was seated in that location at the time the car was stopped.

Virgil Jackson Metz, 26, Wellsburg, W.Va., who was driving the vehicle in which McGinnis was a passenger, pleaded guilty to Diazepam and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $50, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Metz voluntarily turned over several items of suspected contraband to the state troopers at the time of the traffic stop, including an unlabeled prescription bottle containing two Diazepam pills. Additional charges of removing a prescription label and possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia were not prosecuted.

Jay Michael Lucas, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a 30-day sentence with all but two days suspended, was placed on one year of supervised probation, and was ordered to complete 80 hours of community service. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Lucas following a December traffic stop on Gorman Road. After a canine scan indicated the presence of drugs, a search revealed that Lucas was carrying a bag of marijuana, a smoking pipe bearing residue, and a small set of scales.

Robert Harvey Speicher, 26, Summerfield, N.C., who pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace, was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, a $150 fine, one year of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service. Additional charges of indecent exposure, fourth degree burglary, and failure to obey a lawful order were not prosecuted.

Speicher had been arrested in December by state troopers summoned to the scene of a disturbance outside an Accident-area residence. An intoxicated Speicher had allegedly tried to enter a home, then urinated on the porch in view of the residents and police. He had no connection to the residents.

Aaron Jerome Sigley, 25, Fairmont, W.Va., pleaded guilty to possessing and driving on a suspended license and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $150, placed on six months of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Sigley's September arrest by state troopers came after a traffic stop in the Accident area, when a search revealed two suspected burnt marijuana roaches and a homemade smoking device. Additional charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, as well as several assorted traffic charges, were not prosecuted.

Judy R. Keplinger, 22, Fairmont, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), along with a 30-day suspended sentence, a $100 fine, six months' supervised probation, and 20 hours of community service. An October traffic stop by sheriff's deputies resulted in Keplinger voluntarily turning over a bag of marijuana she had been carrying in her pocket.

Joan Susan Benny, 32, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., pleaded guilty to second degree assault and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $50, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. Additional charges of disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace, harassment, and telephone misuse were not prosecuted.

The charges stemmed

SHS ENGLISH STUDENTS VISIT HOSPITALIZED VETS — In cooperation with the Oakland Elks Lodge, Robin Spiker's English II Honors and English III classes took part in a service activity recently through the Feb. 10-16 "National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans Week." These students wrote poetry and made valentines with patriotic themes for veterans who reside at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, and the nursing home at the Martinsburg (W.Va.) Veterans Hospital. Over 150 valentines were delivered to Cuppett-Weeks administrator James Cuppett, who also serves as the director of Veterans Affairs for the West District of the Elks Lodge, for delivery to the appropriate destinations in time for Valentine's Day. Pictured above are some of Spiker's students and two of the veterans who reside at Cuppett-Weeks. Shown in the front row, from the left, are veterans Dewey Keller and Stanley Savage. In the middle row are Laura Hinebaugh, Jessica Fitzwater, Brittni Brown, Kara Peugh, and Laura Bonner. In the back row are Eli Green, Jared Reckert, Mandy King, Russell Gift, and Russell Patterson.

In Memory of my Special Valentine,
Harold Lipscomb

Valentine's day was always our special day, now it's just a memory of all the Valentine's days we had together There will be no cards, candy or flowers this year, because you are in heaven and I am here alone.

So, I will take a red rose and place it on your grave and tell you how much I miss and love you. Some day we will spend Valentine's day together again. Until that day, my heart is breaking and the tears are flowing.

Your Loving Valentine,
Garnet (Boots)

Hospital Chapel Dedicated; More Chaplains Sought

The new chapel at Garrett County Memorial Hospital was dedicated recently. Funded through donations to the GCMH Foundation, the chapel, located on the third floor near the medical/surgical unit, is open for patients, families, guests, physicians, volunteers, and hospital staff members to visit at any time. The chapel was designed by local craftsman Ray Myers of McHenry, who also handcrafted its woodwork and furniture.

The hospital's Chaplaincy Program provides a "chaplain of the day," available to all persons on the hospital campus. The program's officers are Rev. Roland Nairn III, president; Rev. Donald Parson, vice president; and Rev. Charles Teets, scheduler. Additional participating chaplains are Rev. William Anderson, Rev. Cindy Ackerman, Rev. William Connelly, Rev. Gregory Cummings, Rev. John Crowe, Rev. Arthur Evans, Rev. John Grant, Rev. Mark Hickman, Rev. William Lee, Rev. Russell Liller, Rev. Mel Menker, Rev. Leslie Moats, seminarian L. Keith Pittsnogle, Rev. NEW HOSPITAL CHAPEL DEDICATED — Comforting the sick extends beyond physical illness, and also beyond the patient to encompass family members, visitors, and caregivers. The new chapel at Garrett County Memorial Hospital provides a place of solace and calm to those in need. Located on the third floor of the hospital near the medical/surgical unit, the new chapel was dedicated recently during a ceremony led by Rev. Roland Nairn III, president of the GCMH Chaplaincy Program. Fellow Chaplaincy Program member Rev. John Grant provided a scripture reading and led those on hand for the dedication in prayer. "This chapel is an important part of Garrett County Memorial Hospital because we not only provide physical care for our patients, but also support the spiritual aspect in the healing process," commented Donald Battista, GCMH president and CEO. Pictured above at the dedication, from the left, are Ray Myers, who designed the chapel and handcrafted its woodwork and furnishings, and Rev. Nairn and Battista. Myers, a McHenry resident, is shown below pointing out some of the detailed woodwork he produced for one of the chapel's pews.

Applications For ACT Exam Being Accepted

College-bound high school students can take the ACT Assessment on Saturday, April 6, the next nationwide test date. The registration postmark deadline is Friday, March 1, while the deadline for late registration is Friday, March 15 (an additional fee is required for late registration).

The ACT Assessment is an achievement test in English, reading, math, and science designed to measure what students have learned in high school and the skills required for success in college. It is not an aptitude test. Some students find it more comfortable than an aptitude test because it reflects their high school curriculum. The ACT was taken by students nearly 2 million times last year.

ACT scores are accepted by virtually all colleges and universities in the nation, including all Ivy League schools. Colleges use ACT scores, along with a student's high school GPA, the type of college-prep courses taken, and other information to help determine admissions and the appropriate course placement for new students.

Students who have already taken the ACT can take it again and try for a higher score. Juniors can use their scores to examine academic weaknesses, then plan to take courses to correct those weaknesses and retake the exam as seniors. Students who take the exam more than once can report only their highest composite score to prospective colleges if they choose.

For more information on the ACT, including fees, registration forms, and test locations, students may contact their high school guidance counselor or register on-line through ACT's web site at www.act.org. The web site also has helpful information, sample tests, and the opportunity to order test prep materials.

Oakland Man Exonerated Of Assault Charge

An Oakland man was deemed not guilty of second degree assault during a recent Garrett County District Court proceeding.

David Francis Moon, 45, had been charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies following a domestic-related incident at his home. He was accused of striking his daughter while he and his wife were arguing.

At the time he was charged, and during the subsequent court hearing, Moon admitted that he had struck the alleged victim, but it was accidental and occurred as he was motioning with his arms to make a point. Judge Ralph Burnett accepted the explanation and exonerated Moon of the charge.

COVE

The Cove Kids 4-H club held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening. The club wished Craig Funk a happy 7th birthday, which was February 10. Jason Doerr read the history of Cupid, Michelie Bender read the history of Valentine's Day, Rachel Margroff gave a presentation on Abraham Lincoln, and Matthew Margroff gave a presentation on George Washington. Valentine's Day crafts were finished and games were played. A holiday snack followed the meeting. The club will also be having a sled-riding party on March 3 at the home or Jason Doerr. The club's next meeting will be on March 12.

Mrs. Sadie Marie Fint, Aurora, W.Va., was a Friday visitor of Mrs. Alfreda Friend. Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Alfreda Friend were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson and Elmer Hanft.

Clise Receives Alpha Alpha Teaching Grant

Members of the Alpha Alpha (Garrett County) chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International recently presented Linda S. Clise with a teaching recruitment grant. The award is given annually by the organization to a promising future teacher.

Clise, a junior and educational professions major at Frostburg State University, has a 4.0 grade point average. An Allegany County native, she graduated cum laude from Allegany Community College in 1986. She now resides in Garrett County with her husband Jim and sons Matthew, Michael, and Mark.

Clise also received the two-year FSU Academic Excellence Award and was selected by the Maryland State Scholarship Administration to participate in the HOPE teaching scholarship program. "The HOPE scholarship program reflects the state's hope to keep the 'best of the best' in Maryland to teach our children," said a spokesperson for Alpha Alpha.

The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International is a professional honorary organization of women educators. The society promotes professional and personal growth of its members and excellence in education. Established in 1929, the society has attained major objectives in improving opportunities for qualified women employed at every level of education, as well as in advancing the status of women educators.

Membership is by invitation and is extended to those women educators whose distinguished contributions and achievements in the field of education and to their communities are identified as outstanding, said the spokesperson.

RECEIVES GRANT - Linda Clise (right) recently received a teaching recruitment grant from the Alpha Alpha (Garrett County) chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International. The award is given annually to a promising future teacher. Clise is an educational professions major at Frostburg State University. Applicants For After-School Program Sought

The Loch Lynn After-School Program, sponsored by Garrett County Community Action and the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families, is currently accepting applications for students in third to fifth grades who live in the Mtn. Lake Park and Loch Lynn areas.

The program offers tutoring, mentoring, and recreational activities, Monday through Friday, from 3:15 until 6 p.m. Students attending the program participate in various activities, including bowling, swimming, going to the theater, and assisting with the local soup kitchen. The students are rewarded for regular attendance, homework completion, active participation in all aspects of the program, and various other activities.

The program is staffed by Mendy Paugh, coordinator; Patricia Falkner and Kathy Kerr, program aides; and Kelly DeWitt, AmeriCorps coordinator. The program is located at the Loch Lynn Community Building at 302 Roanoke Avenue.

For further information or registration forms, parents may stop by the center during program hours, by calling 301-334-0723, or by calling Linda Green, program director, at 301-334-9431.

Eastern Star Meeting Held

Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, met Feb. 5 at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple. Worthy Matron Bette L. Welch and Worthy Patron David L. Hall presided.

The Worthy Matron's opening thought was "Love." She read from the 13th chapter of I Corinthians. The Worthy Matron welcomed guests Dottie Csamer, Grand Esther of the Grand Chapter of Maryland, and Patti Knepp, Deputy Grand Lecturer of the Grand Chapter of Maryland, who was making an official visit.

She also welcomed Richard Csamer, Past Patron, Grand Representative to West Virginia; and David Hall, Past Patron, Grand Representative to Missouri. Visitors included Judith Hall, Past Matron of McKinley Chapter No. 12, Cumberland; David Knepp, Past Patron of Mountain Chapter #15, Frostburg; and Robert Ross, Walter Chapter #43, Davis and Thomas, W.Va. The Worthy Matron also welcomed officers and members.

Officers for the year 2002-2003 were elected. They are Worthy Matron-elect, Nancy Harsh; Worthy Patron-elect, Theodore Raynovich; Associate Matron-elect, Juanita Bosley; Conductress-elect, Cheryl Miller; Associate Conductress-elect, Charee Reckner; secretary-elect, Laura Fridinger; and treasurer-elect, Richard Csamer.

The Worthy Matron reported on a successful Rainbow Tea which was held on Sunday, Jan. 27. Tiffany Kiser, Grand Worthy Advisor, and other Grand officers participated in a program for three potential applicants. Oakland Chapter and Oakland Lodge both noted they were pleased, and both Orders look forward to the return of the Rainbow Chapter to Oakland, according to a spokesperson.

A program, "Gardening God's Way," was held in honor of the Deputy Grand Lecturer, and a Valentine program, "God, Will You Be My Valentine," was also presented for the members.

Nancy Harsh won the prize for successfully answering the educational Eastern Star question. The Worthy Matron's closing thought was "Laughter."

The Worthy Matron thanked her substitutes, Lillian Reckner, organist, and the refreshment committee of Betty Foy, Past Matron, and Reckner, Past Matron. The Worthy Matron announced that practice for installation of officers will be Saturday, Feb. 23, at 2 p.m.

The next meeting will be Feb. 19. The Worthy Matron will give her annual report, and there will be a drawing for an Order of the Eastern Star afghan. Members and guests must be present to win. The meeting is open to all Eastern Star members.

Children's Dental Health Month

by Dr. William Savage

February is Children's Dental Heahh Month. As a dentist practicing here in Garrett County, I'd like to take this opportunity to remind our young parents of the special dental needs of their infants and newborn children.

New parents may not realize the importance of caring for their infant's primary teeth. However, the Allegany-Garrett Dental Society cautions parents that serious tooth decay may develop by the child's first birthday. Even though the child's primary teeth will eventually be replaced with permanent ones, the primary teeth are critical for proper chewing, speaking, and appearance. They also reserve space in the jaw for permanent teeth.

Baby bottle tooth decay is a condition that can destroy the primary teeth of an infant or young child. It can develop when a baby frequently receives a bottle of milk, formula, fruit juice, or sweetened liquids as a pacifier or comforter. It may result when the child is allowed to fall asleep with a bottle during naps or at bedtime. Prolonged demand breastfeeding may also cause this condition. Although the teeth most likely to be damaged are the upper front teeth, other teeth may also be affected. Approximately 5-10 percent of the first graders in Allegany County have evidence of baby bottle tooth decay.

Bacteria are present in a thin film of plaque that constantly forms on the teeth. The bacteria in plaque can use sugars as a food and energy source, which allow the bacteria to produce acids that attack tooth enamel. Each time an infant or child drinks a liquid containing sugars, acids attack the teeth for at least 20 minutes. Tooth decay results from these repeated attacks.

All types of sugars, including those found in bottle and breast milk, formula, fruit juice, and sweetened liquids, can cause plaque bacteria to produce decay-causing acids. How often a child receives a bottle containing these liquids and for how long a time the child's teeth are exposed to decay-causing acids are two important factors determining the progress of baby bottle tooth decay.

The Allegany-Garrett Dental Society and the Upper Potomac Dental Hygienists' Society advise parents that they can help protect their babies' teeth in these ways:

- After each feeding, wipe the child's teeth and gums with a damp washcloth or gauze pad to remove plaque. Begin brushing your child's teeth as soon as the first teeth erupt (around 6 months). Continue cleaning and massaging gums in all other areas that remain toothless. Flossing should begin when all primary teeth have erupted, usually by age 2 to 2½ years.
- Never allow your child to fall asleep with a bottle of milk, formula, fruit juice, or sweetened liquid.
- If your child needs a comforter between regular feedings, at night, or during naps, only fill a nursing bottle with cool water or give the child a clean pacifier recommended by your dentist or pediatrician. Never give a child a pacifier dipped in any sweet liquid.
- Avoid filling a nursing bottle with liquids such as sugar water, sweetened gelatin, or soft drinks.
- Make sure your child gets the fluoride needed for decay resistant teeth. Water supplies in Allegany County are not fluoridated, which contributes to the high number of cases of baby bottle tooth decay locally. Ask your dentist or pediatrician for recommended methods for obtaining the proper amount of fluoride.
- Schedule regular dental check-ups by the child's first birthday.

For more information, persons may call the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7660.

Salisbury VFD Slates 'Dinner

An "all-you-can-eat" roast beef dinner has been set for 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 24, at the Salisbury (Pa.) fire hall, located along Ord Street. Proceeds will benefit the Salisbury VFD and Ambulance Association.

The menu will consist of roast beef, mashed potatoes and gravy, noodles, vegetables, cole slaw choice of beverage, and dessert. The cost is $6 for adults, $3 for children under 12, and children under 5 eat for no charge. Takeouts will be available.

Town Hall

ACCIDENT

The annual Town Convention was held on Tuesday, Feb. 5, at the Accident Town Hall. Rev. William Carlson was nominated to serve as convention chairman. Edward J. Golden and David P. Hook were nominated to run for council at the town election to be held on Tuesday, March 5. The polls will be open from 4 until 8 p.m. at the town hall. Absentee ballots may be requested by calling the Accident Town Hall office at 301-746-6346, on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Any resident of Accident who is registered to vote in Garrett County is eligible to vote in the town election.

The February town council meeting was held on Tuesday, Feb. 5.

- Garrett County commissioner Fred Holliday and county administrator Monty Pagenhardt were present to discuss the Garrett County Tax Differential. The town council decided not to ask for the tax differential; however, the council would like the county's help to clean along Accident-Friendsville Road and Accident-Bittinger Road once spring has arrived. The county offered to help with letters of support while Accident is applying for funding to fix the town's Inflow and Infiltration (I&I) problem.
- Phil Simmons from Thrasher Engineering came to the meeting to give the town the Amended Engineering Agreement.
- The mayor and town council will attend a meeting in Hagerstown on Feb. 22 to discuss the consent order with Maryland Department of Environment.
- The council discussed and approved having the county planning and zoning office administer and enforce the county code in the town of Accident. The county is presently updating the current building code.

The next town meeting will be held Monday, March 4.

Bone Loss Often Not Detected In Women

According to the results of a new study in the Journal of the American Medical Association, almost 20 million women in the US (including nearly half of those past menopause) have thin bones but are unaware of the condition. Researchers using a bone imaging technique evaluated over 200,000 healthy women 50 years of age or older. They found that 7% already has osteoporosis, and another 40% of women had low bone mineral density scores. These women were followed for a year. The rate of broken bones among women with a low bone density score was nearly twice that of women with normal bone density scores. The rate of broken bones among the group of women found to have osteoporosis was 4 times that of women with healthy bone tissues. This study underscores the need for preventative measures such as exercise, a diet rich in calcium and vitamin D, and certain prescription medicines.

4-H Club News

RED HOUSE
by Michelle Holler, reporter

The February meeting held Feb. 6 at St. John's Lutheran Church was called to order by President Aliza Green. Kerri Skipper led the pledges.

The members discussed Achievement Night. We were told what to bring and to be at Southern High School at 4:30 p.m. to set up tables. Daniel, Rachel, and Jordan Skipper will be doing public speaking.

The club awarded Nikki Moreland a $20 gift certificate for being a graduating senior.

Other club officers serving this year besides President Green are: Steve Knepp, vice president; Stacy Holler, secretary; Eli Green, treasurer; Michelle Holler, reporter; Stephanie Brenneman, photographer; and Cassie Cussins, scrapbook.

After the meeting, Richard McCrobie discussed the quality assurance program for livestock animals.

The next meeting will be held March 6 at the church, beginning at 7 p.m. The Fitzwaters and Brennemans will provide the snack. All visitors are welcome to attend.

NORTH GLADE
by Samantha Gibson reporter

The North Glade 4-H Club held its first meeting of 2002 on Thursday, Jan. 17, with 12 members in attendance plus club leader Debbie Friend. The meeting began with members turning in their record books and planning for 2002. A monthly outline was drawn up with a project or event planned for each month, plus snacks and drinks, and a parent leader was also assigned for each month.

The re-enrollment and election of 2002 officers took place. The new officers are Cody Gilpin and Caitlyn Brown, co-presidents; Josh Winegardner and Lee Custer, co-vice presidents; Emily Lipscomb and Rachael Winegardner, co-secretaries; Jessie Woods, treasurer; Samantha Gibson and Rebecca Winegardner, co-reporters; and Michael McConnell and Derek Gilpin, County Council representatives. The Clover group members are Abby Buckley, Todd Custer, and Lindsay Lipscomb, and the Clovers' leader is Kelly Buckley.

The next meeting of the North Glade 4-H Club is set for 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 21, at the Swanton Community Center. Members should be prepared to give their speeches at this meeting, as seniors should plan on a 5-6 minute presentation, while juniors should plan on a 3-5 minute speech. Also during the meeting, Debbie Friend will meet with club officers in small groups to explain the responsibilities of their respective positions.

COUNTRY KIDS
by Sarah Rexroad reporter

The Country Kids 4-H Club began its January meeting with the installation of new officers.

The new officers for 2002 are: Nathaniel Harris, president; Bret DeWitt, vice president; Josh Harris, secretary; Vanessa Logan, treasurer; Sarah Rexroad, reporter; and Derek DeWitt, photographer. The installation of officers was completed with the club members reciting the 4-H pledge led by president Nathaniel Harris.

Bret DeWitt reported on the Officer Training Workshop, and Sharon Harvey reported on the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Record books for 2001 were collected, and the upcoming Ski Day was discussed.

The members were reminded that speeches and radio spots will be given at the February meeting. The radio spots are to be 30 seconds long, and the prepared speeches are to be 3-5 minutes long.

The club discussed plans for the upcoming year, including a hoagie sale, ice skating and swimming, Achievement Night, and cemetery clean-up.

An Animal Ethics Workshop will be held from 8 to 9 p.m. at the March meeting. It is mandatory that all members with animal projects attend this workshop.

The next meeting will be held February 19 at 7 p.m. at the Deer Park Community Building.

Handed Jail Term

from Benny's October arrest by sheriff's deputies, after she had gone to another woman's Friendsville apartment and struck her after repeatedly calling and threatening the victim via the telephone.

Cinderella Mae Wilburn, 41, Grantsville was handed a stet ruling in connection with a second degree assault charge. State troopers had jailed her in November in the wake of a domestic altercation at her home. Wilburn, reportedly intoxicated at the time of the incident and her arrest, had allegedly struck a third party who had intervened in verbal dispute she was having with another woman. Wilburn was ordered to complete 20 hours of community service.

A charge of violation of an ex parte order was placed onto the stet docket in the case of Randall Dean Dumire, 41, Friendsville, with the stipulation that Dumire complete 20 hours of community service. Dumire's August arrest by state troopers came after he had allegedly been following his wife and inquiring of her neighbors about her activities. The police officer observed Dumire's van leaving the parking lot of the woman's apartment building as he arrived on the scene.

Scot William Dale Kelley, 20, Oakland, was not prosecuted on charges of possession of LSD and cocaine, and possession of LSD and cocaine with intent to distribute. Sheriff's deputies had arrested Kelley in October following the completion of a Narcotics Task Force Investigation, during which he allegedly sold drugs to a confidential informant while both were under surveillance.

Jessica Renee Lyons, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted on a marijuana possession charge filed by sheriff's deputies after a plastic wrapper containing suspected marijuana was found in the car she was riding in. Judy Keplinger (see above) was also a passenger in the vehicle, and neither she, the driver, nor Lyons claimed ownership of the plastic wrapper.

DWIs/DUIs

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving while under the influence (DUI) cases were heard by Judge Burnett in District Court recently.

James Alan Dunne, 29, Fla., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a 60-day sentence, half of which was suspended, fined $400, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Norris Wayne Rush, 46, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 30-day sentence, all but seven days of which was suspended, fined $300, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Ronald Andrew McRobie, 27, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 60-day sentence, all but seven days of which was suspended, fined $455, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Chad Linwood Bryan, 35, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $455, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 60 hours of community service.

Rebecca Sue Kisner, 32, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $300, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Michael Lawrence Miller, 28, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, a $300 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service.

Douglas William Dennis, 23, Pa., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, a $300 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service.

Bryson Steven Paugh, 19, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, a $300 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service.

David Loren Bittinger, 29, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, a $300 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service.

Dwight Howard Clary, 23, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, a $300 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service.

Harry Lee Beckman Sr., 43, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, a $300 fine, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

George Webster Ball, 55, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $300, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation.

Reid Melancthon Cross, 36, Friendsville, was found in violation of his DWI probation, and a two-day jail term was reimposed and the probation period was continued.

Gary Dale Hardesty Sr., 45, Md., was found in violation of his DWI probation, and a nine-month suspended term was added to his sentence and his probation period was extended for two years.

Robert Mark Tressler, 47, Md., was not prosecuted on a DUI charge.

Schoolbus Violations

Maryland residents Rosalind J. Eggleston-Wiseman, 61, and Emily Thayer Hadel, 19, both pleaded guilty to passing a stopped schoolbus operating its flashing red lights. Each woman was fined $100 and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

National Child Passenger Safety Week; Safety Seat Check Slated

In observance of National Child Passenger Safety Week, a free child safety seat check will be held in the parking lot of McDonald's in Oakland on Saturday, Feb.16, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Anyone with children from infant through 12 years old is invited to come and have trained child safety seat technicians make sure their children are riding as safely as possible.

Trained personnel will check child safety seats to make sure they are correct for the child's size and age, they have not been recalled, and they are properly installed. The seat check is being sponsored by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, in cooperation with the Garrett County Health Department.

Child safety advocates across the nation make a special effort during Child Passenger Safety Week to remind parents and caregivers that all children should be placed in child safety seats, booster seats, or seat belts — every time they ride in a car or truck.

"Great progress has been made in increasing the use of child safety seats and booster seats, which has decreased deaths among children in car and truck crashes," said Diane Lee, Highway Safety coordinator at the Health Department. "But much more remains to be done because motor vehicle crashes are still the leading cause of death for children ages 4 to 14," she said. "Although child safety seat usage has increased, it is important to make sure they are being used correctly. At local seat checks we have found that 9 out of 10 seats we check can have some kind of correction made to make them safer."

To keep kids as safe as possible, experts recommend children 12 and younger be buckled up in the back seat. The front seat is a more dangerous spot. Front air bags deployed in even minor fender-benders have seriously hurt and even killed some children, according to Lee.

Properly fitted and installed child safety seats are the next step in protection. They reduce fatal injury by 71 percent for infants and by 54 percent for toddlers (1-4 years old). Making sure the seat is installed correctly also increases safety, added Lee.

"When placing a child safety seat or booster seat in your car or truck, be sure to read the instructions so you install and use the seat correctly," Lee said. "Also, look at your vehicle's owner's manual to see what it says about installing and using child safety seats and booster seats."

Children, as they grow, should progress through three types of child safety seats before using the seat belt alone: from rear-facing seats to forward-facing seats to booster seats. Infants should always be placed in rear-facing seats until they are at least 1 year old and 20 pounds. Children between 20 and 40 pounds should be placed in forward-facing safety seats.

When a child outgrows his or her forward-facing safety seat, use a booster seat until your child is at least 8 years old or over 4 feet 9 inches tall, said the safety coordinator. "This is the step that many parents skip, and it can be a tragic mistake," she said. "Seat belts alone are made for adults. A booster seat raises a child up so the seat belt fits better, preventing ejection."

Children who have outgrown booster seats should use seat belts, preferably a lap and shoulder belt combination. Studies show that small children who are placed in seat belts rather than child safety seats or booster seats are 3.5 times more likely to be significantly injured in a crash. They are four times more likely to receive a significant head injury. Unrestrained children are also three times more likely to be injured than those who are restrained, according to Lee.

For more information about the seat check, or about child safety seats in general, persons may call the Health Department's Kids In Safety Seats (KISS) Program at 301-334-7730 or by e-mail at dlee@dhmh.state.md.us. Rental seats are available through the KISS program on a sliding fee scale, based on income.

A Place to Rest

God looked down on your body,
So tired from hanging on,
From a life that was overwhelming you,
And wanted back his son.
So he took away the air you breathe,
And gave you what was best,
A place to be at peace,
A final place to rest.

BOWL FOR KIDS' SAKE BENEFIT SET — The annual Big Brothers Big Sisters Bowl for Kids' Sake fund-raiser is slated for Saturday, March 23, at Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland. Pledge sheets are being sent to all former pledge-raising bowlers, and anyone interested in joining in the charity fun can contact BBBS at 301-334-3591 or 1-800-400-0735. Pictured above, current BBBS board member Tim Watson and former board member Dana McCauley spread the [amplified] word that the Bowl for Kids' Sake benefit is just a few weeks away. "It's not just about bowling," BBBS coordinator JoAnn Fletcher commented. "It's about having fun to help kids — getting together with three of your classmates, friends, co-workers, or family to have fun, and maybe winning or earning a prize. You're not only having fun, you're helping local kids. Caring, responsible adult mentors have been proven time and time again to make a difference in the lives of children."

McHenry MSP Barrack Notes Jan. Activity

The Maryland State Police Barrack W, located in McHenry, has released its police activity summary for the month of January.

The personnel assigned to the local barrack reportedly handled a total of 1,594 calls for service. They were responsible for the arrests of 31 adults on criminal charges, eight of which were drug-related.

Troopers charged 11 suspects on driving while under the influence charges. Twenty-five motor vehicle accidents were investigated, none of which resulted in a fatality.

A total of 414 citations were issued for speeding, and additional 370 warnings were issued to speeding drivers. Troopers issued 153 seat belt citations, and two citations for non-use or improper use of child safety seat restraints.

Troopers responded to three domestic violence-related cases, and closing each with a referral.

To contact the local MSP barrack for general information or to request non-emergency police assistance, persons may call 301-387-1101: All emergencies should be reported by dialing 9-1-1.

"Daffodil Days" Set To Benefit Cancer Society

The American Cancer Society, which has helped dramatically reduce the incidence and mortality of cancer during the last decade, will continue its efforts to reduce the cancer burden this winter. The society's Mid-Atlantic Division will sponsor its 24th annual "Daffodil Days" campaign to raise funds for its programs of research, public education, and patient services.

Fresh cut daffodils ($6 donation per bunch of 10) or potted bulbs ($8.50 donation per pot) may be purchased, with all proceeds benefiting the American Cancer Society. Orders must be received by Friday, Feb. 22, and the flowers will be delivered the week of March 12-16. Persons wanting more information may call the ACS at 1-800-287-2317.

Cancer rates have fallen dramatically in the last 10 years, and recent advancements in research bring the hope that cancer incidence and mortality will continue to decline, according to a spokesperson for the ACS. The American Cancer Society, which contributes more funds to cancer research than any other non-government entity, currently has more than $18 million invested in research projects through its Mid-Atlantic Division.

The organization has also placed an increased emphasis on public education, bringing the positive message of a smoke-free and exercise-filled lifestyle to school districts across the Mid-Atlantic region, according to the spokesperson.

WASHINGTON — His eyes gleamed as he walked into the room.

Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, R-Frederick — who claims to be the first owner in both Maryland and Congress of Toyota's hybrid electric car, the Prius — looked like he had met the next addition to his alternative-fuel fleet in a cavernous Senate hearing room.

Bartlett, the chairman of the Energy Subcommittee of the House Science Committee, had come to get a first look at the Segway Human Transporter scooter with about 20 other lawmakers, staffers, and Commerce Department officials.

He was the quickest learner of about 15 who ventured onto the scooter.

"It's easier than learning to ride a bike," the 75-year-old Bartlett said of the two-wheeled scooter. "It's effortless...for those who have walking problems."

Bartlett walked right up to the single-axle, 5-foot-high device. Inventor Dean Kamen held the handlebar steady as Bartlett stepped on and grasped the motorcycle-style grips in both hands. The over-sized wheels did not move as Kamen explained that to go forward Bartlett only had to lean forward.

While most lurched forward and backward, going just a few feet in either direction, Bartlett got the machine going at a steady clip, and then accelerated as he began a tour of the room's perimeter.

He got going so fast that the crowd, half of whom appeared to be in their 20s, turned to watch him. "He's cookin'," said one, as Bartlett seemed close to achieving the scooter's 12 mph top speed in the Russell Senate Caucus Room.

At that point, Kamen stopped Bartlett from running into a podium by reaching out and grabbing the congressman's arm. Bartlett then bravely rocked back and forth on the device while chatting with its inventor.

After another spin around the room, Bartlett preferred to gaze admiringly at the scooter rather than answer a reporter's questions.

He could not speculate how the Segway might figure into future Energy Committee initiatives or which fleet buyers in Maryland — or anywhere — might buy the high-tech, electric scooter with its 10 on-board computers and gyroscopes.

Bartlett did, however, predict the product would be very popular for those who could afford it. The manufacturer says it expects to be able to bring the price for individual Segways down to about $3,000 in a year, but for now the scooters are selling for $8,000 to $10,000, if sold as part of a fleet.

Bloomington Firefighters Mark 64 Years Of Volunteer Service

The Bloomington Volunteer Fire Department marked its 64th anniversary recently with a dinner and dance at the Bloomington fire hall. Garrett County commissioner Ernest Gregg was the guest speaker for the anniversary program, and Westvaco public relations director Patsy Koontz served as mistress of ceremonies. Rev. Don Nelson, pastor of the Bloomington United Methodist Church, gave the invocation and benediction.

Bloomington VFD chief Leon Marple bestowed a number of honors during the course of the evening. The Bloomington VFD Firefighter of the Year award went to Shane Bosley, a 13-year member of the company, who was also awarded a certificate for responding to the most fire calls, 122, and a plaque for accumulating the most points over the year.

The Fireman of the Years honor went to Don Bland in a special presentation by Bloomington VFD president Dave Brenneman.

Gregg commended the Bloomington firefighters for their work and presented an update of the activities of the county government. Noting that the Garrett County Roads Department maintains and plows 720 miles of county roads, Gregg expressed his appreciation to Bruce Dellinger of Here to Help, who handles the snow removal efforts in the town of Bloomington.

Gregg, along fellow commissioners Fred Holliday and Wendell Beitzel, presented a check for $20,146.77 fire tax revenue check. Also presenting checks to the VFD were representatives of WEPCO, the Bloomington Awareness Group, and the Bloomington VFD Ladies' Auxiliary.

State Senator John Hafer and Delegate George Edwards were also on hand for the event, during which they updated the gathering on various issues concerning local fire departments and rescue squads.

Marple noted that the company has raised $80,000 toward the purchase of a new tank truck by sponsoring a variety of fund-raisers, including dinners, soup sales, and gun raffles. The state has approved funds in the first step toward the purchase of the new truck.

Marple noted that in addition to Bosley, others who accumulated high numbers of responses this past year included Tristan McCrobie, Jarrett Zais, Denny Wolfe, Paul Wilson, Ricky White, Danny Bever, Kathy Bever, Don Harvey, Randy Fazenbaker, and Kristy Bever.

Fazenbaker and Brenneman, both of whom have completed 25 years of volunteer service, were awarded life memberships. Also on hand were the Bloomington VFD's two remaining charter members, Charles Pattison and Kenny Kooken.

The Chief's Award went to Kathy Bever, and certificates were presented to Lana Bittinger, Koontz, Bland, and Brenda Sgaggero, as well as the Ladies' Auxiliary, and the mutual aid companies of Luke, Potomac, Tri-Towns, Barton, Elk Garden, Kitzmiller, and Tri-Towns Rescue.

Marple also noted that he has served 27 years as chief so he gave his wife Jean the "Chiefs Wife Award" for putting up with him all these years. A certificate of recognition from the company was presented to Marple by President Dave Brenneman.

Koontz thanked all the firefighters on behalf of Westvaco for their work on controlling the woods fire in Westernport on Westvaco property.

Jim Raley, president of the Garrett County Firemen's Association, installed the Bloomington VFD's new officers, who are: Dave Brenneman, president; Bruce Dellinger, vice president; Shari Bever, recording secretary; Kristy Bever, financial secretary; Kathy Bever, treasurer; Gerald Abernathy Jr., sergeant-at-arms; and Tristan McCrobie, board of directors administrative officer.

Among other guests present were Joe LaRue, Elizabeth Bryan, Rodney Bowser, Pat Bowser, Wayne Rounds, Tim Dayton, Bill Lainberson, Dan Burdock, Robert Pattison, Bill Hood, Jean Braithwaite, Annie Dellinger, Allen Elliott, Lana Bittinger, Rick Wilson, Tini and Tammy Kady, John Blair, and Bill and Frannie Welsh.

BLOOMINGTON VFD MARKS MILESTONE — The Bloomington Volunteer Fire Department celebrated its 64 years of service to its community recently with a gathering at the Bloomington fire hall that drew a number of VFD members and area dignitaries. Shown above, seated from the right, are Tristan McCrobie, administrative officer; David Brenneman, president; Shari Bever, recording secretary; and Kristy Bever, financial secretary. Standing are Jeff Beard; Gerald Abernathy Jr., sergeant at arms; Leon Marple, chief; Bruce Dellingar, vice president; Kathy Bever, treasurer; Danny Beaver; and Shane Boxley, Firefighter of the Year. Shown below are Marple and Brenneman as they receive a fire tax installment check from county commissioners Ernest Gregg and Fred Holliday. Pictured at the bottom are Marple with two charter members of the Bloomington VFD, Kenny Kooken and Charles Pattison. Photos by Annie Dellinger.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

It finally happened — I can't seem to think of a single thing to write about today. But my mother encouraged me and told me to get started. So here goes.

The Bittinger 4-H Club will not meet tonight (Monday) again since school has been called off due to winter weather, returning again with a vengeance. Here on the farm that western wind just blasted away all day. I was pretty sure that the stretch of road on Rock Lodge Road at the Jimmy Glotfelty farm would be blown shut, but when I talked to my mother, she said she had been out and it was open, with no problem with drifting. Actually the roads were in good shape. In spite of a patchy blue sky and occasional sunshine, it is no doubt that it is now mid-winter. Snow, sleet, and rain don't seem to keep my mother in if she has important errands to run. So guess it was one of those times this morning.

As far as the other end of Bittinger, according to Gary Buckel it wasn't too bad at the store, with just the same gusty weather. He said things were quiet at the store and the only news he had was that his in-laws, the Griffiths from Friendsville, were Sunday luncheon guests of Sharon and him. Gary was feeling under the weather with a cold or sinus infection. It is hard to tell the difference at times. At this end of Bittinger the Southerly family were pretty miserable with stomach flu.

It is a real shame that the 4-H meeting is canceled this evening after a stressful weekend of trying to get the girls to finish their 4-H speeches. Now that we are finally ready we will have to wait for the next meeting. Another project that was hanging over their heads is finished.

The girls, along with the youth group from the Bittinger Lutheran Parish, will be on duty tomorrow night at the Shrove Tuesday pancake dinner at the Bittinger fire hall, which is a traditional pre-Lent affair. There was an interesting article in last week's Republican about Shrove Tuesday.

I had a brain storm while I was chatting with Gary Buckel. I was fortunate to sell a gorgeous painting of Brenneman's Grove in full autumn glory last week to an out-of-town stranger. Unfortunately, not many people from Bittinger have seen the picture, and I thought it would be fun to put a painting in Buckel's Store, changing it every few weeks, and maybe one of my nature dolls to give local people a chance to see some of my art. So sometime this weekend I will drop off at Gary's Store another version of the picture of Brenneman's Grove. I hope y'all will drop by and see it.

Evidently the Glotfelty kids are just fine, as my girls just got a call from them to come down and join them in playing olympic games. They are pretty much limited to cross-country skiing or luging on just a plain old sled. I am sure the ponds aren't frozen enough to do any ice skating. The Sussman team has some serious doubt about the snow conditions for skiing, but captain Robbie of the Glotfelty team reported better skiing conditions in the field. My team got dressed in their winter sport attire and headed out to join their cousins.

The weather and snow conditions are always unpredictable for winter sport competition. Even the Winter Olympics sometimes hit a snag with bad weather conditions. I guess we will just wait and see what happens today. I do know one thing, our dogs are very unhappy to be left behind, but they insist on getting in front of the skiers and the sleds. The kids should try to train the dogs to pull their sleds, which would be possible with our dogs and the Bass kids' dogs. I am afraid the Glotfelty dogs are a bit too small, as I doubt they can see over the drifts. Boo and Emily are busy with their routine when my girls go out to do winter sports without them. They jump up and down and breathe heavily in my face. They absolutely ignore me when I tell them, "No, you can't go along. The girls don't want you out with them." They can't believe they are not needed or wanted, as they believe it is their job to guard and protect their girls, especially when they go out in dangerous weather. If they could talk they would say to me, "What if they get lost in the snow or fall down and get hurt; what will keep them warm without us?" I hope they soon settle down and go lie down and be quiet.

As soon as I got up to cross the room, Boo almost knocked me down, so I finally let them outside to follow the girls. After all, I know that I wish many times I could go with the girls when they leave with their father. But I still have the girls' dogs to let in and out. Two hours later they are still not home. I thought that I would have a day with them, but of course I can't compete with playing in the snow.

When the girls got home they said they did have pretend olympic games in the snow, which included skiing and tubing. They did not have family teams, but mixed up all the cousins in teams. They had fun, even though the snow was not too great and having to contend with four dogs.

Jimmy and Dale Glotfelty did their consins' duty last Sunday morning when they picked up their cousin, Hamill Glotfelty, from Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland following his surgery there. Hamill is recovering in his apartment in Oakland.

The last real winter fun I had before I got sick was when Peat Bog Lake was frozen over and I rushed home from teaching at the college to put on my ice skates to do some skating. I was joined by a couple of out-of-town friends who did some cross country skiing on the lake. The ice was as smooth as satin, with a slight covering of snow. Occasionally you could hear a deep groaning, not like the "Big Monster," but the kind you hear when the ice shifts. Skiing was pretty safe since the length of skis distributed weight over a large area, and you had a handy rescue stick if you did break through.

Ferne Beachy and Sally Poholsky visited Lottie Brenneman on Tuesday of last week. Although they found Lottie in a wheelchair, she is in good spirits.

I finally got some winter birds at my bird feeder. Today is the first time that I have seen any birds at it for months. I still cannot tell the difference between the house and purple finch. Anyway, one of those two species was at the feeder. It was a small, pinkish-purplish bird.

Shrove Tuesday this week will be followed with the Ash Wednesday service at Emmanuel Lutheran Church. Next week's Wednesday night service will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Accident (ELCA). I used to be jealous of the Catholic kids who came to school after Ash Wednesday with ashes on their forehead. Since I won't be able to make it to church Wednesday night, I guess I will have to do it at home myself. I doubt if it is right to do it yourself, so I probably will remove it right away.

I have two or three excuses why I haven't gotten down to see Lottie as of yet. I wanted to take one of my dolls that Lottie would like. Then I planned to make her a big batch of seven-bean soup, but that still is not finished. In fact, I still don't even have the beans soaked. When I go anywhere in the day, I always drive with my lights on since statistics show you are less likely to have an accident with them on. But I am not so good at turning them off when I get home in the daytime. Although my car has all kinds of idiot alarms and buzzers on it, it rarely buzzes when I leave my lights on, and then my battery is dead the next time I want to leave. If I don't buckle up, yes; if I leave my keys in the car, yes; but leave my lights on, no.

GRANTSVILLE OUTREACH CENTER HOSTS CHAMBER EVENT — A festive evening brought members of the business community together recently when the Grantsville Outreach Center hosted a Garrett County Chamber of Commerce "Business After Hours." The event featured tours of the new facility in Grantsville, which houses offices of the Garrett County Health Department, Garrett Community College, and the Garrett County Department of Social Services. "The turnout was spectacular, and I enjoyed the opportunity to network with the members of chamber," said Grantsville Center coordinator Terry Beachy. "Chamber members always tell us how much they enjoy these social events, and it is always satisfying to see new in-county business ties being initiated," said chamber president Ken Wiehnick. Pictured at the Outreach center, from the left, are Carol Newman of Newman Funeral Homes; Paula and Matthew Brown of Walnut Ridge Bed and Breakfast; Debbie Klotz of Spinning Wheel Antiques and Dreemweavers; and Wayne Gillespie of Haley Farms Bed and Breakfast. Partially obstructed are Joyce Seuder of the Salem Children's Trust; Kevin O'Connor of M&T Bank; and Lynn Newman of Newman Funeral Homes. The chamber co-hosts "Business After Hours" events throughout the year at varying geographic locations. These casual gatherings are planned by the chamber to encourage countywide business networking. The next Business After Hours will be held at The Republican in Oakland on Tuesday, March 19.

SWANTON NEWS

The regular meeting of the Swanton Community Center Inc. will be held Monday, Feb. 18, at 7:30 in the community center. Swanton residents are invited to attend.

GIRL SCOUT COOKIES

Monday, Feb. 18, is the delivery date for Girl Scout cookies. Cookies may still be purchased by contacting a local Girl Scout or leader Rita Savage at 301-387-6686.

SENIOR MEALS

There were 27 hot meals served Monday. With inclement weather, Bonita and Donna make the decision to cancel dinners at the Swanton Center. At the Mary Browning Center, the rule of thumb for weather closing is, if the courthouse closes, hot meals are also canceled.

Health nurse Sandy Sulton is rescheduled for Feb. 19 to provide blood pressure checks.

OTTERBEIN CHURCH

An Ash Wednesday service was held this week. Pastor Ball will hold Wednesday evening Lenten services at 7 p.m. each week. Communion will be served during the Maundy Thursday service in Holy Week.

The February church business meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 19, at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary.

VALENTINE DINNER

A Valentine Sweetheart Dinner will be served this Saturday, Feb. 16, at 5 p.m. at the Swanton Community Center. The dinner will be served buffet-style. There will also be valentine games and sweetheart music. The cost is $5 plus two guests per couple. Persons may contact Carol Sweitzer at 301-387-6864 for tickets. The dinner is sponsored by the Committee on Outreach.

PERSONALS

Betty Wildesen's daughters-in-law, Chris and Sheila Wildesen, traveled to Nashville for the birth of Betty's great-granddaughter, Emily Ann Wilhelm. Emily was born Feb. 5, 2002, weighing 8 lbs. 13 ozs. to Tara Lynn and Barry Wilhelm. Her grandparents are Chris and Harold Wildesen of Crellin.

Bob and Kim Sweitzer with daughters Shayna and Mandy traveled Feb. 8 and 9 to the Ramada Inn in Philadelphia for the sport-aerobic championships. Shayna is a member of the training team of Brenda's Body Shop's sportaerobic team. They gave an exhibition performance in the opening show of the competitions on both Friday and Saturday. Each of the 11 girls (ages 6-11 yrs.) were asked to give their names and where they were from. Shayna is the granddaughter of Den and Alverta Sweitzer, and the great-granddaughter of Glenna Sweitzer.

The family of Kim and Tim Rush of White Church Road were Sunday visitors of their grandmother, Helen Winters. Their daughter, Lyndsie Rush, was named to the SHS Student Council as one of the five junior class representatives. This is Lyndsie's second year on the council. She is also vice president of the Garrett County Association of Student Councils.

Jim and Sandy Browning were lunch guests of Ray and Carol Sweitzer on Monday, Feb. 4.

Meredith and Maxine Ball traveled to Charlestown, W.Va., Tuesday, Feb. 5, with friends from Flatwoods, W.Va. They saw the Ann Murray concert in the municipal auditorium.

Lunch guests of Orval and Mareva Teets were Bob and Fannie Rizer of Savage River Road on Wednesday, Feb. 6.

Ray and Carol Sweitzer had Friday evening dinner with her son and his wife, Jim and Sandy Browning, at their home in Kitzmiller. Jim and Sandy's daughter Erin and son Jim and Stephannie were also there for dinner. After-dinner guests were Jimmy Jr., Angela, Hailey, and Sandy Browning.

Saturday evening guests of Ray and Carol Sweitzer were Jim Miller and Marty Duncan of Frostburg, along with their friends, Richard and Darlene Higson, also of Frostburg. They enjoyed an evening of gospel music.

John and Betty George joined Barbara and Ron Miller Saturday evening for a spaghetti dinner at the Eastern Garrett fire hall in Finzel.

David and Mary Wilson and daughter Joni traveled to Graham, N.C., this past weekend to visit their daughter Addy and her husband, Kit Norman. Kit's mother Becky and his grandmother, Treva Garrison of Reidsville, had Friday dinner with them. On the return trip, they had Sunday supper with their daughter Holly in Harrisonburg, Va.

Sunday visitors of Betty Wildesen were her son and grandson, Darrell and Justin Wildesen, Richmond Va.

Marla Bodiford of Cincinnati spent Thursday through Sunday with her parents, Meredith and Maxine Ball, Pine Hill Road. Meredith and Maxine's son and his family, Mike, Franci, and Michael Ball, Fairfield, Pa., also spent the weekend with them. They celebrated Franci's birthday (Feb. 13).

Are Your Feed Bunks Fresh?

Would you eat at your feed-bunk? Are your cows eating fresh feed every bite they consume? If you answered no to either of these questions, then you need to evaluate your feed bunk management.

This is not a chore that only needs done in the summer. This is something that needs to be done regularly if you are going to keep dry matter intakes at the maximum level. You need to keep the bunks dry and clean of all foreign matter. Are you feeding 5% over what the milking cows are eating? If so, you need to sweep the bunks before each feeding and feed it to another group of animals. This will keep feed fresh for the milk cows at all times.

One way to keep the feed fresh and the bunks smelling clean is to sprinkle some sodium bicarbonate down the bunk. This will freshen-up and dry out the bunk. Be sure to clean all debris from the bunks before spreading the bicarbonate. If your bunks are fresh the cows will be more likely to have a higher dry matter intake thus increasing milk production.

Maryland Cattle Industry Convention

The Maryland Cattle Industry Convention will take place on March 1 and 2, 2002 at the Four Points Sheraton Hotel, Hagerstown, MD. This two-day convention is packed full of interesting and educational activities. The keynote speaker is Drew Kershen, Professor of Law, Oklahoma University. He will address the exciting and controversial topic of Genetically Modified Organisms in our food supply. Reservations are due by February 22; therefore, if you're interested in attending one or two days contact my office for additional information (301-334-69-60).

Addresses

Several people who were at the crop workshop last week asked for the addresses of our State Government Representatives. They are as follows: Senator John J. Hafer, 406 James Senate Office Building, Annapolis, MD 21401; Delegate George C. Edwards, 320 Lowe House Office Building, Annapolis, MD 21401.

Computer Classes

I still have openings for the Microsoft Excel computer Class on February 19 and 26. The Quicken class is filled.

Workshop For Writers Being Planned At GCC

The second annual "Write Away" writers conference has been slated for Saturday, May 11, at Garrett Community College. In response to requests from last year's participants, the upcoming conference will have two consecutive sessions in the morning and two in the afternoon so that each participant will be able to attend all four sessions.

"We received numerous comments and suggestions about the schedule because people wanted to attend every session," conference co-coordinator Joan Crawford said. "Now they will be able to. Persons planning to attend both morning and afternoon sessions should bring a brown bag lunch."

The individual sessions already confirmed for this year's conference will be fiction writing, poetry writing, and publicity writing. A session on writing and illustrating children's books is likely to be slated as well. The presenters who have already agreed to participate are GCC English professor Dr. Greg Jenkins, local poet and poetry teacher Debra Wolf, and Garrett County Chamber of Commerce publicist Peggy Santamaria.

Once the time schedule for these sessions has been published, persons will be able to register for "Write Away" at the Continuing Education office of the college. As with last year's conference, all GCC students and high school students will be admitted free of charge, while others will pay a $10 registration fee. Persons interested in further information may call Writer's Conference co-coordinator Carol Dearden at 301-387-3086.

REL Book Club Sets Discussion Of Sci-Fi Classic

The Ruth Enlow Library Book Club for adults will hold its next book discussion at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 25, in the Oakland library. The book selection for this event is the award-winning science fiction novel Ender's Game by Orson Scott Card.

A synopsis of the book's plot is as follows:

Twice devastated by an alien race, Earth establishes a school to train children in the art of battle strategies. As the best of the best, young Ender Wiggin is forced to undergo isolation, physical and emotional hardship, and separation from all he has loved. Ender struggles to maintain his humanity as the adult teachers, rivals with his fellow students, and the influence of the aliens all threaten to destroy him. Desperate to remain a decent human being, he sees himself slowly transforming into the same kind of monster as the alien invaders he is fighting.

"This winner of both the Hugo and the Nebula Award is an intriguing look into the strategic minds of children," commented library associate Keela Pfaff. Readers who have never tried science fiction before or have tried science fiction and did not care for it should give Ender's Game a try. Unlike most science fiction, it does not weigh you down with a lot of "techno-babble." Rather, it is the psychological motivation and strategic planning behind every character's move that holds the readers' interest."

This book club for adults is funded in part by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library and meets at 6:30 p.m. the fourth Monday of each month in the Oakland library. Participants choose the book selections and lead the discussions on a volunteer basis. For further information, persons may consult the library.

THE MOUNTAIN ANTHEMS MIXED CHORUS, under the direction of Menno Beachy, will perform at Maple Glen Mennonite Church, near Grantsville, on Sunday, Feb. 24, at 7:30 p.m. The chorus was formed about 40 years ago. The approximately 50 singers of this a cappella group are residents of the Alleghany Mountains of western Maryland and Pennsylvania. The chorus not only performs gospel music but also ministers in churches, prisons, and many other gatherings. Over the years, the chorus has performed in 21 states, Washington, D.C., and Canada. The group has also produced 18 recordings, which will be available at the concert. The Maple Glen Mennonite Church is located one mile north of Grantsville along Dorsey Hotel Rd. next to the Goodwill Mennonite Home and Retirement Village. The public is invited to attend.

Breath Boom Scheduled By FSU Theatre

Breath Boom, a play by Cumberland native and former Frostburg State University student Kia Corthron, will be presented at FSU on Friday, March 1, Saturday, March 2, Thursday, March 7, Friday, March 8, and Saturday, March 9, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Centre's F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre. A matinee performance is set for Saturday, March 2, at 2 p.m.

Written for the Royal Court Theatre in London, Breath Boom is based on extensive research on the lives of young women and street violence. The plot revolves around Prix, a female gang member from New York who escapes her hardened life with dreams of creating the perfect fireworks display. "Corthron presents an accurate look at this slice of life, complete with the tough and sometimes poetic language used by the individuals experiencing it," stated an FSU spokesperson.

The New York Times calls the play a "strong piece of writing from a gifted playwright."

Corthron will be in residence at FSU during the week of Feb. 18-22 to sit in on rehearsals and work with the actors.

Ticket prices are $3 for students and $7 for the general public. For reservations and information, persons may call the Department of Theatre at 301-687-4145 Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The annual performing arts program of the Garrett County Arts Council at Garrett Community College

Sat. evening, Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m. FREE!!!

Competing For Internship With Royal Academy

High school oboist and former Oakland resident Rachel Hixon has been accepted into an upcoming weekend music program that could lead to an offer of a summer internship at the Royal Academy of Music in London. Hixon, currently a resident of Cleveland, Tenn., is the daughter of former Oakland residents Yolanda and Rev. Galen Hixon, and the granddaughter of Irene and Rev. Gail Hixon of the Swallow Falls area.

Hixon will be taking part in the London Symphony Master Class program that will take place at Middle Tennessee State University, Nashville, over a weekend in April. That program, which draws young musicians from across the state, will culminate in the selection of two performers of each symphony instrument for a one-month study program with the Royal Academy of Music.

Hixon began studying the oboe as a seventh grader at Southern Middle School under the direction of former SMS music teacher Marge Clever. Currently a junior at Cleveland High School, where she plays the oboe for the school concert band and serves as drum major the marching band, Hixon has earned numerous honors in Tennessee for her musical accomplishments. Some of these include being named first chair with the All State Orchestra, the All East Band and Orchestra, and the Governor's School of the Arts Orchestra.

In addition to her high school band membership, Hixon performs as first chair oboe for the Chattanooga Youth Symphony, as well as with the Lee University Orchestra, the Southern Adventist University Orchestra, and the First Baptist Church Orchestra.

GARRETT GALAXY, the annual free performing arts program of the Garrett County Arts Council, will showcase the talents of local musicians on stage at Garrett Community College on Saturday evening, Feb. 23. Lynne Barnes, above, will lead off the program with a performance on Celtic harp at 7:30 p.m. Other scheduled performances include blues guitar with Richard Kusy, bluegrass fiddle with Ellinor Benedict, gospel music with the Remleys, and country music with Bill, Lisa, and Steve. "Garrett Galaxy is designed to chase away any lingering traces of winter blues," said an Arts Council spokesman. "We invite families and friends to join us in this free community celebration of local performing arts." Additional information is available from the GCAC at 301-334-6580.

AURORA/EGLON

LENTEN SERVICES

Lenten services in Union District begin this Wednesday evening at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, with the Rev. Mary Conley bringing the message. Time of services each week is 7:30 p.m.

On February 20, services will be held at Maple Spring, and on Feb. 27 at the Aurora United Methodist Church. Mt. Grove will host the March 6 services followed by Brookside on March 13, and Maple Grove Assembly will be host to the March 20 services.

The Easter drama will be presented both March 24 and March 27 at Maple Spring, and St. Paul's Lutheran in Aurora will play host to the Easter Sunrise Service at 6:30 a.m. All are invited to attend each or any of these events.

AURORA VFD DONATIONS

The Aurora VFD extends appreciation to the following who have made recent contributions: Maple Grove Assembly of God Church, Richard Lee and Betty Blamble in memory of Hazel Blamble, George A. and Helen Lipscomb, Nancy Wiles in memory of Myrtle Forman, Margie Dunham, and Sheila Meiman.

PERSONAL MENTION

A Valentine celebration took the form of a spaghetti dinner followed by entertainment, recreation, and door prizes on Sunday, Feb. 10, at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren.

Ressie and Bill Conrad of Aurora attended funeral services in Wellsburg Saturday for Ressie's sister, Lorene Williams, who died there Jan. 30. Her ashes were taken to Burnsville for interment.

Larry and Mary White visited Feb. 3 with Mary's mother, Virginia Bolyard, at Eglon. Mrs. Bolyard has repeatedly been having problems with her vision and has been undergoing tests to determine a diagnosis of her problem.

Mrs. Louella Fike of Aurora received word that her grandson, Jason Highberger of Charleston, S.C., underwent gall bladder surgery there on Feb. 4. On Feb. 5 her son, Gary Fike, Terra Alta, underwent surgery at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Jessie Winters of Eglon underwent out-patient treatment last week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Jackie and Alma Snyder of Aurora visited Sunday at Crellin with their niece and family, Gloria and Jeff Uphold and sons, and while there, Ben's visiting cousin slipped on the floor and broke his wrist.

A Sunday dinner at the home of Bruce and Mary Teets Eglon on Feb. 10 was in celebration of their daughters' birthdays, Tracy's on Feb. 10 and Melinda's on Feb. 12. Guests included Jesse and Elsie Hersh of Silver Knob Road.

Homer Shillingburg of Aurora died Feb. 9 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient for the past week.

Mrs. Martha Holsopple of Red House was a Garrett County Memorial Hospital patient last week.

Aurora VFD To Serve Breakfast

An "all-you-can-eat" breakfast will be served this Sunday, Feb. 17, at the Aurora fire hall. Serving will be from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m., and the menu will include buckwheat cakes, pancakes, sausage, scrambled eggs, bacon, home fries, and sausage gravy and biscuits. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children age 12 and under.

The breakfast is being sponsored by the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department. The fire hall is located along U.S. Rt. 50 just east of Aurora.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Jeffrey S. Whitehair has joined the United States Army under the Delayed Entry Program. The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay entering active duty for up to one year.

The enlistment gives the new soldier the option to learn a new skill, travel, and become eligible to receive as much as $50,000 toward a college education. After completion of basic military training, soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career job specialty.

Whitehair, a 2000 graduate of Preston High School, Kingwood, will report to Fort Leonard Wood, Waynesville, Mo., for basic training. He is the son of Kim D. and John K. Whitehair, Terra Alta.

YMCA Seeking Staffers For Camp Horseshoe

College age students are being sought to serve as summer staffer members at YMCA Camp Horseshoe, located in St. George, Tucker County. The Summer of Service camp season includes teen leadership-service camps, a teen entrepreneurship week, an Adventure Camp for 7- to 12-year-olds, five Youth Opportunity Camps for low-income boys and girls, and residential camps for children with cancer and hemophilia.

"Horseshoe is a special experience for both campers and staff," said YMCA's service learning director Lois Lipscomb. "Summer staff gain valuable work experience, make differences for good in the lives of children and teens, and everyone returns home as better prepared citizens ready to build better futures for all."

Camp Horseshoe summer staff receive a weekly stipend and may earn an AmeriCorps education award to assist with college expenses. Internship credit is also available. Further information on Camp Horseshoe s Summer of Service is available by phone at 304-478-2481 or mail at Camp Horseshoe, Rt. 2, Box 138, St. George, WV 26287.

ASSIGNEES' SALE OF VALUABLE FEE-SIMPLE DWELLING THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON BEING KNOWN AS 623 E. HIGH STREET OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD 21550

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a Mortgage from Lana L. Keiser, dated November 5, 1998, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber No. 755, folio 879 and duly assigned for the purpose of foreclosure, default having occurred in said Mortgage, the undersigned Assignees will offer for sale at public auction

AT THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, AT THE COURTHOUSE DOOR, OAKLAND, ON MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 2002 AT 1:00 O'CLOCK P.M.

ALL THAT PROPERTY DESCRIBED as follows:

All that certain property situated in Oakland in the County of Garrett, and State of Maryland and being described in a deed dated 7/24/93 and recorded 7/26/93, among the Land Records of the County and State set forth above, and referenced as follow: 608/742. Being more fully described as follows: Parcel 787, Block 7, Oakland, Map 111.

The property is improved by a dwelling and is in fee-simple.

Terms of Sale: The Assignees reserve the unqualified right to withdraw the premises at any time before sale. If any dispute arises among the bidders, the Assignees shall have the sole and final discretion either to determine the successful bidder or to reoffer and resell the premises.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, and encumbrances of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty as to the description of the improvements. The Assignees do not guarantee or covenant to deliver or in any way obtain possession of the premises for any purchaser.

A deposit of $6,500 in cash, certified check or some other form of exchange acceptable to the Assignees, will be required from the purchaser at the time of sale. The balance of the purchase price, together with interest on such balance at the rate of 9.99% per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement, must be paid in cash at settlement which shall be held within ten (10) days following final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, unless said period is extended by the Assignees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest.

All state and local ad valorem real estate taxes, other public charges, regular and special assessments and the like shall be adjusted to the date of the foreclosure sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. Ground rent, if any, shall also be adjusted to date of sale. The purchaser shall pay all state and local transfer taxes, including the Agricultural Transfer Tax, if any, recordation taxes and fees, title examination costs, attorneys' fees, conveyancing fees, notary fees and all other incidental settlement costs.

If the purchaser defaults, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to them, the Assignees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the premises at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. If the Assignees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. The purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss for the property immediately after the sale.

GARRETT COUNTY GOVERNMENT 51-2t
POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT
JOB TITLE: Planner II - Garrett County Planning & Zoning Office

DEFINITION:
This administrative position will have direct responsibilities for implementation of various codes, ordinances, and programs for the county. The position also involves administration of the functions of the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals in relation to cases filed with the Zoning Board and administration of the Program Open Space funding for Garrett County.

EXAMPLES OF WORK: (Examples are illustrative only)
Review applications for building/zoning permits in relation to countywide/Deep Creek Lake and municipal requirements; schedule and conduct public hearings of the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals. Prepare legal opinions and permits in relation to these cases; provide reliable information about the County and Planning program to the general public and to County, State, and Federal agencies; and various duties as assigned by Planning Director.

REQUIRED KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS, AND ABILITIES:
Position requires competency and detailed knowledge of principles and practices of zoning ordinances, comprehensive development plans and related State laws. The understanding of State Programs and the administrative procedures as they pertain to these programs; understanding of local laws and the ability to implement and enforce these laws including Building Code, Livability Code, Plumbing Code, and Floodplain Ordinance; ability to meet with the public and conduct zoning hearings; ability to conduct zoning inspections, livability code inspections; good communication skills, both oral and written.

EDUCATION and/or EXPERIENCE:
Bachelor's Degree in Planning or related field plus two years of recent experience in dealing with the public; or specific knowledge of principles and practices or zoning laws and comprehensive plan strategies plus 3 years' experience with another planning agency or related technical field.

SALARY AND BENEFIT INCLUDED:
This is a Classified Service position. A competitive salary and traditional County employee benefit package is included.

APPLICATION PROCESS:
A Garrett County Government application along with letter of interest, resumé, and salary history is required. Qualified individuals may apply by forwarding all documentation to the Garrett County Office of Human Resources. 203 South Fourth Street, Room 208, Oakland, MD 21550. Applications are available at this address or will be mailed by calling 301-334-8975. Deadline for application is March 1, 2002.

* Garrett County Government is an EOE. Qualified applicants are considered without regard to race, color, creed, religion, gender, national origin, age, marital status, or the presence of a non-job related medical condition or handicap.

PLUMBING & HEATING

How To Buy An Outdoor Furnace

1. Read the warranty. Will the dealer give you a copy to look at? Know what you're buying.
2. Look in a new furnace, not a used one. See what you're buying. Is it designed well to save on wood and coal?
3. How many years has the furnace been manufactured?
4. 20 year warranty? What does it cover?
5. Shop the Internet for furnaces and warranties. If warranty isn't listed, they don't want you to know. Look Out!

F.R. Baker Fills Treasurer Post

Floyd R. Baker was recently elected treasurer of the Garrett County Democratic Central Committee. Thomas J. Pratt declined re-election as treasurer, but will remain a member of the committee.

The following officers were also re-elected during the meeting as well: Thomas E. Bratten Jr., chair; Rosalee Finch, vice chair; and Doris J. Goldsborough, secretary. Sandra L. Bello is the committee's other member.

During each year of its four-year term, the committee holds an election of officers. The re-elected officers will serve their concluding terms, which end after the September primary election this year.

Baker is also vice president of the Garrett County Democratic Club.

Microsoft Word Course Scheduled

The Small Business Development Center at Garrett Community College will offer a five-hour course on Microsoft Word on Friday, March 1. The class will start at 9 a.m. and run until 3 p.m., with a one-hour lunch break.

Students will learn electronic word processing and the basic elements of the Word program. The instructor is Alice Bosley, a former programmer for Gateway systems. For more information or to register, persons may call Sue at 301-387-3089 or Cathy at 301-387-3080.

Tax Preparation Offered Free

Free preparation of individual federal and state income tax returns is again offered this year by IRS certified volunteers. Free electronic filing is also available for persons interested in rapid processing of their returns by the IRS and state comptroller.

Returns are prepared at the Mary Browning Center, 104 East Center Street, Oakland, from noon to 4 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and 5 to 7 p.m. on Wednesday evenings. No appointment is required, and taxpayers may have their returns completed while they wait or leave them for processing and pickup during the next tax preparation day. Taxpayers are asked to bring their last year's returns with them.

The program is organized by AARP, under contract with the IRS, and sponsored by Garrett County Community Action.

Registration For Preschoolers Slated For April

The Garrett County Board of Education announces that the annual comprehensive preschool registration program will be held again this year. This program is for all children entering kindergarten or first grade for the first time in September.

This registration program, which will be held in all elementary schools during April, has been developed to help identify strengths and needs of children and to identify early any problems that may interfere with a successful start in school, according to a board spokesperson.

Parents must register any child who will be 5 years old by December 31, 2002. The law allows exemptions to the school attendance requirements as follows: permits compliance through the home school instruction regulation; grants a one-year immaturity waiver if the parent or guardian makes a written request to the local school system; and allows a 5-year-old to be enrolled in one of three alternative program settings — a full-time licensed child care center, a full-time registered family day care home, or part time in a Head Start 5-year-old program.

Parents of children who meet the above qualifications are asked to fill out the registration blank at the end of this article and mail it to the designated address. All parents registering children for school will receive a registration appointment. However, parents who choose to use one of the exemptions from the required 5-year-old attendance must request the appropriate exemption form from the Department of Pupil Services at 301-334-8939.

State regulations require parents to provide evidence of birth (their child's birth certificate), an official immunization record, and documented proof of current residency. Documents accepted by the state of Maryland as proof of residency include: deed/mortgage agreement, current property tax bill, current rental lease or agreement, or current utility bill with applicant's name and address. In addition, parents must complete an Affidavit of Disclosure to verify the residency of the student. Social Security cards are also requested at registration.

As a part of the comprehensive registration program, each child registering for school will receive a general health interview and dental screening. Immunizations, if needed, will be administered on site by the Garrett County Health Department nurses free of charge.

KINDERGARTEN REGISTRATION
GARRETT COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

If you have a child who is not already enrolled in school, but is ready and/or required to attend school during the 2002-03 school year, please fill in the following information and mail it to the Garrett County Public Schools. Upon receipt of the following form, the Office of Pupil Services will contact you to schedule an appointment for you and your child.

"NOTHING TO IT" said Jim Kesselring (with teeth tightly clenched) yesterday afternoon when he dunked himself in the frigid waters of Deep Creek Lake. For the second year in a row Kesselring had collected pledges and intended to participate in the annual Deep Creek Dunk (set for this Saturday) to benefit Maryland Special Winter Olympics, but for the second year in a row his schedule suddenly forced him to be out of town on the day of the dunk. "Last year I just gave my pledges to someone else," he said. "But this year I decided that I just had to uphold my end of the deal to the people who pledged to me again, and do the dunk myself." His pledges this year total close to $1,000. Among those on hand to witness and "verify" Kesselring's dip in the lake were his wife Ellen, Lt. Randy Resh of the Maryland State Police, and John McEwen, photographer for The Republican. All are invited to attend this Saturday's official dunk at the beach of Uno Restaurant and Honi Honi Bar, with the fun set to get under way during the morning hours. The actual dunk will be at 2 p.m. sharp. See story for details.

Md. House Panel Amends, Approves Bear Hunt Bill

The Maryland House Environmental Matters Committee has approved House Bill 10, the black bear hunting proposal authored by Del. George Edwards, although Edwards said that major revisions made to the bill have significantly altered its original intent. The bill was approved by a 13-8 vote. The panel also approved a proposal to increase the number of days firearms hunters can pursue whitetail deer. (See below.)

The "significantly amended" bear management measure now proposes issuing a kill permit to a landowner who can demonstrate that a nuisance bear is causing damage to property or is posing a threat to the safety of humans, livestock, or pets. The original bill was designed to provide for a lottery system that would provide for a limited, but specific, bear hunting season intended to manage the bear population in western Maryland.

The legislation differs from current policy in that a bear kill permit holder would not have to be under direct threat from a nuisance bear at the time of a shooting. Once the proven threat from a bear has been established by the Department of Natural Resources based on past incidents on the property, the permit would be issued to allow the bruin to be shot on sight. Landowners, or a residential or agricultural lessee, who secure a bear kill permit would be able to shoot the bear themselves. A landowner would be allowed to designate another person to kill the bear.

Although Edwards said that he was not satisfied with the change, he did see it as a small step toward political recognition that the increasing bear population is posing problems in the region, which has been a major hurdle in the past.

TAKING TOP HONORS — Jessie Ralley took the top honors in the varsity individual category recently at the Eastern Open Can-American Sportaerobic Championships in Philadelphia. She was in first place following the preliminary round and through a consistent performance in the final round earned a gold medal. "I was very nervous at finals," she said. "It can be very difficult mentally when you are in first place going into finals. You feel like you have to hold on, and it's hard not to be cautious." Three other gold medals were also won by the team. The team is now qualified to compete in the World Aerobic Championships this August in Miami. The world championships are expected to attract nearly 500 athletes from 30 countries. See more photos in this section.

Accidental Fire Destroys House In Finzel Area

A fire believed to have been caused by a problem with a woodstove flue destroyed a manufactured house in the Finzel area last Thursday afternoon.

Volunteers from Eastern Garrett, Frostburg, Shaft, Salisbury (Pa.), Grantsville, and Clarysville fire departments were summoned to the home of Dale and Heidi Shadel, 300 West Finzel Road, at 2:40 p.m. While firefighters were able to save a number of the family's belongings, including a piano and their pet cat and dog, the house was deemed a total loss. Deputy State Fire Marshal Steve Wendling estimated to loss to be $150,000.

Wendling said that Mrs. Shadel and the couple's two sons, Jonathan, 11, and Andrew, 9, were at home at the time, and heard a crackling noise above the fireplace which accommodated the woodstove. Mrs. Shadel said that she then saw more smoke than usual coming from the chimney. She tried

Hearings Set For GCMH Bond, GCC Unrestricted Grant Bills

Hearings will be held next week by the House Appropriations Committee and the Senate Budget and Taxation Committee concerning funding for Garrett County Memorial Hospital and Garrett Community College. The bills were introduced to the Maryland General Assembly by local legislators.

District 1-A Delegate George Edwards has introduced a bill requesting Garrett County be allowed to create a local debt on behalf of the county's hospital. The House Appropriations Committee will hold a public hearing on House Bill 1232 in Annapolis on Wednesday, Feb. 27, in the Lowe House Office Building, Room 130, at 11 a.m.

HB 1232 would authorize and empower the commissioners, "from time to time, to borrow not more than $7.5 million in order to assist in the financing of the cost of hospital improvements at Garrett County Memorial Hospital," according to the Assembly's web site.

Ground is expected to be broken this summer at the hospital for a major expansion/renovation project. The project will include construction of a new emergency department, modernization of the helipad, expansion of the same-day surgery unit, renovation of the lobby and admissions area, and expansion of the laboratory and radiology department.

"The additional space and improvements are necessary for our hospital to continue adequately serving the health care needs of area residents and visitors," said Donald Battista, president and CEO of GCMH. "These changes will help us meet the challenges of adding increasingly complex medical technology."

Partial funding for the project will also come from the GCMH Foundation, which is currently conducting a capital campaign. Construction should be completed by the spring of 2004, according to Battista. The last major expansion project at the hospital took

Blaze Destroys Oakland Area House Tuesday

A faulty oil furnace is believed to be the cause of a fire that destroyed a wood-frame house in the Oakland area early Tuesday morning.

Firefighters from the Oakland, Deer Park, Deep Creek, Gorman, and Terra Alta fire departments were called at 12:58 a.m. to respond to the residence of Wm. Benjamin DeBerry, located along DeBerry Lane off U.S. Rt. 219 about two miles north of Oakland. The structure was fully engulfed in flames when the first fire units arrived.

The fire was brought under control in about 35 minutes, but according to John Feather, deputy chief of the Oakland VFD, the fire was difficult to fully extinguish because of tin sheeting that was placed over top wood planks during renovations of the house over the years. Feather said that the area of ignition was beside the oil furnace.

An adjacent house also sustained minor damage from the flames.

No one was in the house at the time of the fire. Oakland firefighter Justin Hinebaugh sustained an ankle injury when a pipe tower for a CB radio antenna fell over and struck him. He was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad, where he was treated and released.

Fire units remained on the scene for three hours. Also responding were units from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and Maryland State Police.

Garrett CC Proposes Name Change To "Garrett College"

Garrett Community College is petitioning the Maryland Higher Education Commission (MHEC) for approval to change its name to "Garrett College." If approved, the change would go into effect as the college completes its 30th academic year this May.

College president Dr. Steve Herman cited the geographical location of the college as he submitted the request to MHEC. "Because of the proximity to West Virginia and Pennsylvania, GCC has served students from these states, and in that sense has functioned as a regional college," he said. "With the relatively sparse population of Garrett County (30,000), the declining number of high school graduates, and the trend of out-migration in the 22-45-year-old group, GCC needs to strengthen its image as a regional institution."

The four signature programs — Agricultural Management (with emphasis on alternative agriculture), Adventure Sports (unique in the United States), Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology (unique in the four-state region), and Juvenile Justice (unique in Maryland) — have attracted students from other Maryland counties and other states. "These students pay higher tuition to attend GCC. A college credential from "Garrett College" would enhance career opportunities in the national marketplace and give added value to Garrett's degree for all its students," stated Herman.

"The socio-economic structure of Garrett County and low median household income coupled with the need for the college to raise tuition have made affordability an issue for some local residents. Revenue gained from increased out-of-state enrollment will help the college hold the line on tuition and support educational services for the local population," the college president said.

Herman's request affirms GCC's primary mission of serving the higher education needs of Garrett County residents, and is described as reflecting its historical legacy as a local collegiate institution.

"As GCC completes its 30th anniversary year of service to Garrett County, we want to look ahead to an even brighter future in the next 30 years," Herman said. "I am very appreciative of the pride and support that Garrett Countians have given their college. The proposed new name pre-

Hundreds Plan To Plunge Into Icy Deep Creek

Hundreds of brave souls are planning to plunge into the arctic water of Deep Creek Lake at 2 p.m. this Saturday, Feb. 23, as part of the fourth annual Maryland State Police Deep Creek Dunk benefiting Special Olympics Maryland.

The dunk is the third and final event in the Winter Water Series, which has raised nearly $1.5 million since 1997. The third annual St. Mary's Splash at Point Lookout Park had 250 participants and raised $51,000, while the Polar Bear Plunge at Sandy Point State Park involved 1,860 "polar bears" and raised $401,000. Special Olympics Maryland expects 350 dunkers to help raise $75,000 for the upcoming event on the beach at Uno Restaurant and Honi Honi Bar.

With a minimum pledge of $50, participants will receive an official dunk sweat-

Buyers Being Sought For Local WWII History Book

The book is ready for publishing; now all that is needed are buyers.

For the past three years nearly 200 students of Southern High School, under the direction of local educator Matt Novak, have been conducting interviews of approximately 100 World War II veterans and others who lived during that era. Those interviews have now been compiled, and the 320-page book is ready to be sent to the publisher.

The Garrett County Historical Society has agreed to finance the publishing of 500 copies of the book, but only if Novak is able to secure at least 350 committed buyers.

"I'm confident that I have at least 200 buyers already, so we are more than halfway there," Novak said. "The historical society will take a vote at its March 10 meeting on whether or not to proceed with the project, so my time is limited."

Novak was quick to point out that he understood the society's position on the project. "They are a non-profit organization that has many great projects they want to finance, and they have been 'stuck' before with book projects," he said, "so I fully understand their concern that we have enough committed buyers of the book to at least break even on the project."

Novak, who has spent thousands of hours on the project and a considerable

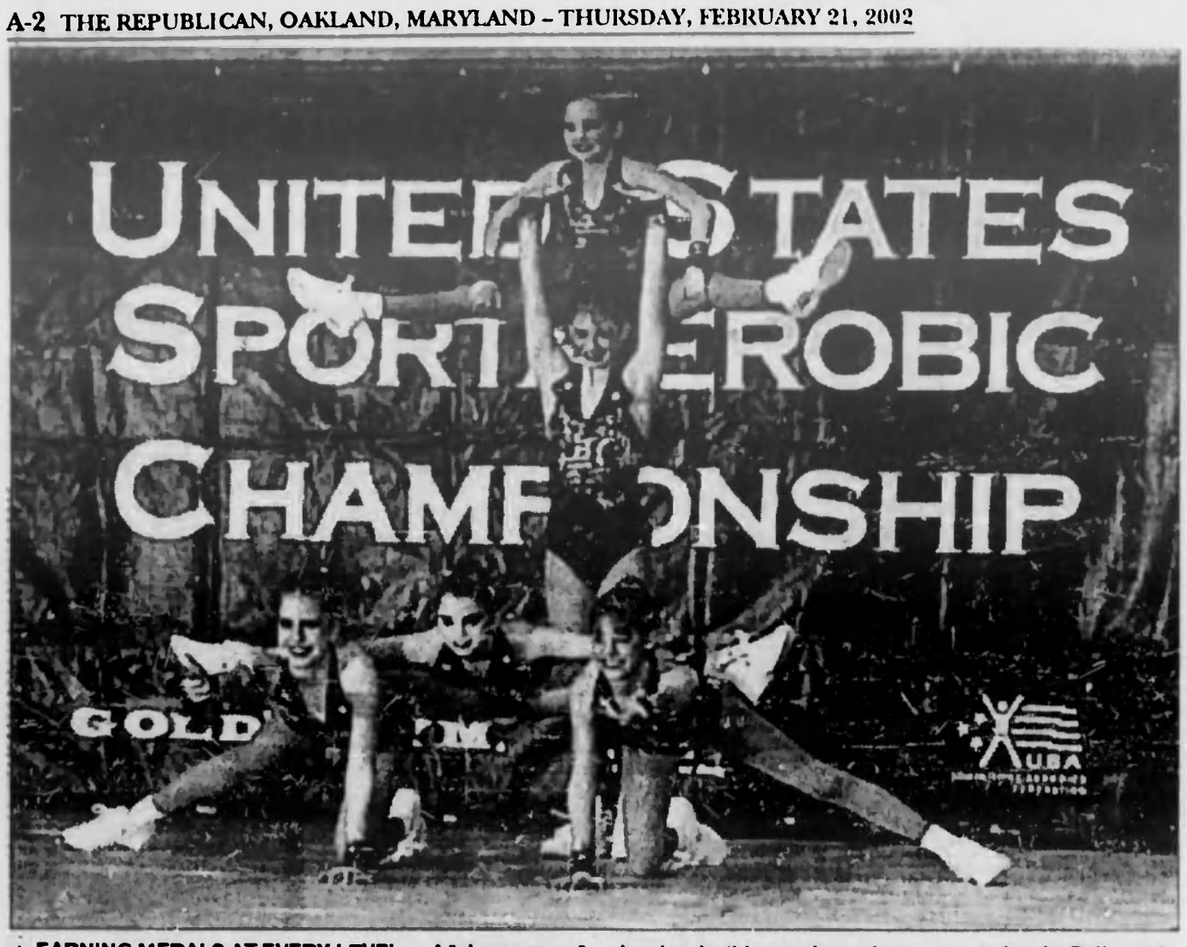
AG HALL OF FAME INDUCTS MASONS — Charles and Lorraine Mason Jr. of CH-LO-MA Farms were recently inducted into the Governor's Agriculture Hall of Fame during the Maryland Agriculture Dinner, sponsored by the Maryland Agriculture Council Inc. Organized in 1991, the Hall of Fame honors agricultural leaders who exemplify high standards of achievement and commitment to the industry and their communities. The Masons have operated their 225-acre dairy farm for 44 years, featuring registered Holstein dairy cattle. Charter president of the former Oakland Junior Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Mason also served for 11 years on the Farm Credit board of directors and as superintendent of the tractor pull for the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Board. He has also served for nine years as director on the county Ag Land Preservation Committee. Other boards on which he has served are the Mountain County Milk Haulers Association and the Dairy Farmers of America. Mrs. Mason is a past member of the Garrett County Farm Bureau Women's Committee and is currently serving as secretary of Hospice of Garrett County and as a deaconess for Faith Evangelical Free Church. The role of the Maryland Agriculture Council is to educate the public on the importance of agriculture. Its activities include fairs, displays, a newsletter, a grant program, and the annual Agriculture Hall of Fame. With the addition of the Masons, there are now a total of 24 families in the Hall of Fame, which is located at the Maryland Department of Agriculture in Annapolis. Oren and Fannie Bender, inducted in 1994, are the only other Garrett County family to be named to the Hall of Fame.



EARNING MEDALS AT EVERY LEVEL — A "clean sweep" was made by members of the Garrett County Sportaerobic Team recently when they competed in Philadelphia and came home with a medal from every level of competition. The team is now preparing for the International competition, and are studying tapes of the Hungarian athletes who dominated the championships last year. The junior varsity team, pictured above, performed a routine to "Living In America" and won the gold medal. Team members are Kira Farley, Kelsey Jones, Rachel Margroff, Kelly Taylor, and Jessica Warnick. Another gold medal was awarded to the junior trio of Paige Carr, Kallie Shotwell, and Abby Wildasen, pictured below. Junior team members Morgan Brosnihen, Jennifer Feaster, Alayna Gaither, Brittany Harvey, Grace Herpel, and Anne Keefer gave a "commanding" performance to win the gold medal in the team event. "We are so pleased with the performances of our junior members," said Coach Brenda Brosnihen. "Most of the team are returning from last year and the experience is definitely showing in this year's performances." Jassia Railey, who won the gold medal in the varsity individual, is pictured on the front page. Teammate Alissa Garland, pictured on bottom, won the silver medal. "Alissa gave two outstanding performances following a three week layoff recuperating from mono," Brosnihan said. "It was wonderful to have both girls from our team win the top two spots and qualify for the world championships." The Eastern Open event was one of three competitions held to qualify athletes for the 2002 United States Team. Along with U.S. competitors, this competition included athletes from Canada. The Garrett County team is now qualified to compete in Miami. This will be the team's fourth trip to the World Championships since 1990. The team members will have a food booth set up at WinterBlast at the Wisp on March 1, 2, and 3 to help raise money to defray the travel expenses. Persons wanting more information on the team may visit the web site at www.sporteerobics.org.

A SWEEPING VICTORY FOR SPORTAEROBICS — The Garrett County Sportaerobic Team from Brenda's Body Shop recently competed in the Eastern Open Can-American Sportaeorbic Championships in Philadelphia. The team swept the event winning gold medals in four different categories and one silver. Also traveling with the competition team was the newly developed training team The Everready's. This was their first experience at a sportaerobic event. Members of the entire team are pictured above. Sitting, from the left, are Abbi Smith, Shayna Sweitzer, Kaitlyn Swift, Maddy Whittemore, Erin Beller, Micaela Beckman, Olivia Gaither, Regina Crosco, Chelsea Crosco, Kelly Bean, and Kody Fike. In the middle row are Grace Herpel, Alayna Gaither, Jennifer Feaster, Morgen Brosnihan, Anna Keefer, Brittany Harvey, Samantha Taylor, Abby Wildesen, Kallie Shotwell, and Paige Carr. In the back are Amy Sutton, Jessia Railey, Alissa Garland, Kira Farley, Kelsey Jones, Kelly Taylor, Rachel Margroff, Jessica Warnick, and Brenda Brosnihan.

Oakland Man's Case Placed On Stet Docket

Drug charges, including possession with intent to distribute marijuana and possession of marijuana, against Roy Norman Cheshire, 21, Oakland, were placed on the stet docket in Garrett County Circuit Court last week. The stet docket is an inactive status that requires the defendant to fulfill certain conditions or the case will proceed to prosecution.

Cheshire was arrested last May by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, who stopped the vehicle in which the defendant and two others were traveling after traffic violations were observed. A scan by drug-detection dog "Tara" reportedly revealed the presence of a controlled dangerous substance, and marijuana was subsequently found in the car and on the persons.

Woman Given One Year For Endangerment

An Oakland woman was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court last week by Judge Jim Sherbin to one year in the Garrett County Jail for a reckless endangerment charge. Marilyn Marie Storey, 47, had pleaded guilty to the charge in October at her trial. Sentencing was postponed, however, until a pre-sentence investigation was completed and a report was issued.

Storey was charged by Oakland City Police last May with reckless endangerment, as well as attempted first-degree homicide and first- and second- degree assault. These remaining charges were dismissed after her plea. The defendant allegedly had a confrontation with her spouse, Timothy Storey, in the parking lot of the Oakland Elks Lodge. After an exchange of words, Mrs. Storey reportedly used her Jeep to bump into Mr. Storey's motorcycle, which was parked at the establishment. Mrs. Storey then reportedly pulled from the parking lot, but backed up, entered into the parking area again, and drove toward Mr. Storey, who jumped over a guardrail to avoid being struck.

In explaining her decision not to pursue the more serious charges, State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch said, "Mr. Storey suffered serious injuries in a motorcycle accident last summer. After his release from the hospital, they reconciled, and Mr. Storey had indicated his intention to assert his spousal privilege not to testify. There were witnesses to some of the events in the parking lot, but the whole picture could not have been presented to a judge or jury without his testimony."

Thayer Welch added, however, that she felt "compelled to proceed with a resolution that required Storey to accept responsibility for her actions and the potential harm she could have caused. When Judge Sherbin called this conduct 'intolerable' and imposed his sentence, he was absolutely on target."

Deputies Arrest Many Motorists On DUI Charges

Numerous motorists were arrested on drunk driving charges this past weekend, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Jack Alfred Kight Jr., 24, Oakland, was arrested on Friday around 12:30 a.m. along Oakland Drive, and was charged with many offenses. He faces charges of driving under the influence (DUI), failure to drive right of center, failure to display license on demand, giving a false and fictitious name to a police officer, and making a false statement to a police officer.

He is currently being held in the Garrett County Jail on $5,000 bond.

The driver of a 2001 Hyundai also faces numerous charges after her vehicle was stopped early Saturday morning along Route 135 just west of Sand Flat Road.

Linda Susan Quinn, 45, Sykesville, was placed under arrest and was charged with DUI, driving while impaired (DWI), failure to drive right of center, negligent driving, and resisting arrest.

She was released from jail after posting $500 bond.

Earlier that same night, Johnny Lee Tasker, 40, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested after deputies made a traffic stop along George Washington Highway just west of Alt House Hill Road.

He was arrested and charged with DUI and failure to drive right of center.

Tasker was released from jail after posting $500 bond, according to a jail spokesperson.

In another incident, Tammy Lane Legeer-Thrift, 36, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested and charged with DUI after a traffic stop along Wheeling Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park early Sunday morning.

She was released on her own recognizance that same night after signing the citations, police said.

Deputies also responded to a domestic disturbance at a residence along Hamilton Way early Friday morning.

Harold Ernest Dillsworth Jr., 37, Oakland, was arrested and charged with second-degree assault.

He was released from the jail on $600 bond.

Maryland State Police also assisted at the scene.

Two Injured When Vehicle Strikes Tree

A single-vehicle accident along Friendsville Road Friday morning injured two Preston County residents, one seriously, when their sport utility vehicle ran into a tree along Friendsville Road. Maryland State Police troopers assigned to the McHenry barrack investigated the mishap.

At approximately 9:37 a.m. a 1999 Suzuki Grand Vitara operated by Jennifer Sue Rosenberger, 20, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., was traveling north along Friendsville Road when it crossed completely through the oncoming lane and struck a tree south of Bishoff Road. The driver later told police that she had blacked out while behind the wheel.

A passenger, Phillip Anthony Phillips Jr., 23, also of Bruceton Mills, was severely injured and was flown by MSP helicopter Trooper 5 to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was hospitalized for several days. Rosenberger was transported by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Cumberland Memorial, where she was treated and released. A 2-month-old child riding in the vehicle was not injured. The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

State troopers declined to press charges against the driver.

Bartlett Slates Local Meetings

Sixth District Maryland Congressman Roscoe G. Bartlett will conduct open-door and town hall meetings Monday, Feb. 25, at the Ruth Enlow Library along Second Street in Oakland.

Open-door meetings will be conducted from 1 until 5 p.m. The meetings provide an opportunity for constituents to meet with the congressman "one-on-one" to discuss problems they are having with the federal government. To reduce the amount of waiting time, persons are asked to call 1-800-889-3012 to schedule an appointment.

The town hall meeting provides group discussions with Bartlett regarding current legislative or national issues. The meeting will be held from 6:30 until 8 p.m.

Oakland Man Faces Child Abuse Charge

An Oakland man was arrested by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation yesterday on charges of child abuse and assault.

Robert Dale Dixon, 49, faces charges of two counts of child abuse and second degree assault, and one count each of first degree assault and reckless endangerment. He was arrested at his residence yesterday after a joint investigation by the GBI and Child Protective Services. A complaint had been received regarding obvious physical injuries to a 12-year-old victim, injuries the authorities allege were caused by the suspect.

Dixon remains incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail on a $25,000 bond set by a District Court commissioner.

Special Olympics Winter Games Slated To Begin

More than 200 athletes from the state of Maryland will compete Sunday through Thursday when the Special Olympics Maryland Winter Games get under way at the Wisp Ski Resort.

Timed to launch immediately following the closing ceremonies of the XIX Olympic Winter Games in Salt Lake City, the Special Olympics athletes will compete in alpine, modified alpine, and cross-county skiing competitions. The athletes will be supported by more than 150 coaches and volunteers.

Festivities begin Sunday evening with a parade of athletes and opening ceremonies, followed by a torch lighting ceremony at the base of the mountain. The bulk of the competition takes place between 10:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 24, with the final round slated for Tuesday morning finishing around noon. The competition concludes with the closing ceremony at 1 p.m.

"We are constantly amazed by the abilities, the sheer courage and determination of our athletes," said Dr. Patricia Krebs, president and CEO of Special Olympics Maryland. "These individuals provide the sort of inspiration that shows exactly what can — and does — happen when athletes, coaches, volunteers, and donors all pull together to inspire greatness."

Special Olympics is an international year-round program of sports training and competition for individuals with mental retardation. More than 160-plus countries train and compete in 25 Olympic-type summer and winter sports. Founded in 1968 by Eunice Kennedy Shriver, Special Olympics helps people with mental retardation develop fitness, demonstrate courage, and "inspire greatness."

Pa. Man Faces Weapons, DUI, Other Charges

A Pennsylvania man was arrested on a variety of charges Sunday afternoon when Maryland State Police troopers apprehended him at an Accident area residence during the course of a family dispute.

The incident began at approximately 1:20 p.m., according to the police report, when the wife of Robert Harbaugh, 50, Confluence, went to a Sam Friend Road residence and attempted to take her 2-year-old granddaughter from the girl's mother. State troopers were summoned to the scene, but the woman departed prior to their arrival.

At approximately 2:10 p.m. Harbaugh arrived at the residence, reportedly in a highly intoxicated state. He was taken into custody by state troopers, who discovered a loaded .22 caliber revolver and a 12 gauge shotgun inside his vehicle. Further investigation revealed that his license was suspended.

Harbaugh was jailed on charges of possession of concealed deadly weapons, trespassing, driving while under the influence, and driving on a suspended license. He was subsequently released from the Garrett County Jail when he posted a $5,000 bond as set by a District Court commissioner.

Bald Tires Help Contribute To Crash Yesterday

A local woman suffered minor injuries yesterday afternoon when she lost control of her car just east of Accident and struck a set of mailboxes and a phone box along the road. Maryland State Police troopers cited bald tires as a contributing factor in the mishap, and in reporting that charges are pending also noted that she was not wearing her seatbelt.

Tonya Lee Redman, 27, Accident, was traveling south on Accident Bittinger Road at 2:45 p.m. when she rounded the bend at Fratz Road at the old Fratz store. Her 1989 Plymouth Reliant K car went into a skid on loose surface material, and she fishtailed into the mailboxes and phone box.

Redman was transported by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released. The Accident Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

State troopers reported that the vehicle's rear tires were worn past acceptable tread depth.

GC Construction Increasing; New Inspector Needed

Jim Torrington, Planning and Zoning's coordinator of permits and inspections, reported to the Garrett County commissioners this week that construction in the county continues to increase, necessitating the need for another building inspector. The county currently has only one inspector.

The coordinator gave a year-end report on the number of permits issued and inspections made in 2001 and compared those figures with 2000's data. He noted that, in all categories, the number of permits were "way up." The total number of permit applications in 2000 was 764. Last year, there were 802 applications. Inspections also increased. The total number of building inspections — which included footer, foundation, framing, final, and insulation — last year was 2,391. In 2000, 1,814 inspections were made in the county. Torrington noted that during the summer months, his office sometimes had to handle up to 25 inspections a day.

"It's just too much for one person," said John Nelson, director of Planning and Zoning. He added that things could be missed in the overload of work. Torrington also pointed out that an inspector could easily "burn out," due to the heavy workload.

"We need to make decisions," said Commissioner Ernie Gregg. The commissioner asked Torrington and Nelson if it was time for the county to hire another building inspector. The commissioner pointed out that the county was having to pay for a lot of overtime anyway.

Nelson said his department would be requesting funding for an additional inspector. The staff member's "sole job," he added, would be making inspections. The director will meet tomorrow, Feb. 22, with Finance Department staff members and Monty Pagenhardt, county administrator, to review his preliminary capital budget requests for fiscal year 2003.

Sheriff's Office Progressing With Burglary Cases

Members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office reported to the county commissioners this week that they were making progress on numerous outstanding burglary cases. "We're starting to close several cases," said Sheriff Dick Sanders.

Sanders said that numerous breaking and entering cases had occurred throughout the county — from Accident to Red House — since the year 2000. The office has now closed 28 of the 53 reported cases, all with the same M.O. (modus operandi), he said. The sheriff noted that one particular church in Mountain Lake Park alone had been broken into four times.

Five local individuals have been arrested so far for their alleged involvement in several cases. Most of the suspects are in their late teens to early 20s, Sanders said, adding that they have all gone through the juvenile justice system. "We were fortunate to get some breaks in these cases," he said. Garrett Bureau of Investigation and the Narcotics Task Force had developed the leads and were handling the cases, he added.

Last month, Melvin Lee Minnick, 23, Oakland, and Roy William Coleman Jr., 33, Terra Alta, W.Va., were arrested and charged in connection with three residential burglaries in the Yough Mtn. Resort. Both individuals are free on bond pending trial.

This month, Brian Moats, 18, of Aurora, W.Va., and Brandon Ford, 20, and James Reed, 20, both of Oakland, were arrested in connection with 25 burglaries of businesses and churches in the Oakland and Accident areas. Moats and Ford are still incarcerated, while Reed is free on bond pending trial.

The sheriff indicated that he was confident that the remainder of the cases would soon be solved.

"'Mountaintop' is one of only a handful of similar events in the country, in that it's not affiliated with any church and is for both men and women of all ages," said Robinson. "Our goal is to provide an atmosphere away from the rush and strain of life, where folks can be challenged to grow spiritually." Nearly 3,000 people have participated in this event since its founding. It has been described as "the spiritual highlight of my year" and "life-changing" by former attendees.

A Fun Ride...

For anyone who gets any enjoyment out of athletics, either by partieipating in them or just watching them, the past couple weeks have been a fun ride. As of last night, the United States had amassed 26 medals in the 2002 Winter Olympic Games, exaetly double the number of total medals that had ever been won in any previous winter games by American athletes.

Locally, we again take great delight in extending our congratulations to the young athletes from Brenda's Body Shop, who captured numerous medals in the recent United States Sportaerobic Championships. What an amazing accomplishment for these ladies from "li'l ol' Garrett County" in being the best, or among the top few, in their sport in the entire country! Brenda Brosnihan continues to be sueh an asset to the community as she helps our girls achieve beyond all expectations.

Kudos also to Southern High School girls' basketball coach Don Stemple and his team for completing a perfeet, 22-0 regular season, and to boys' varsity coach Tom Bosley and squad for 16 straight victories and a 19-3 mark. We wish them, and the various teams of Northern High School, the best of luck in the playoffs.

The medals, the first places, and the perfect seasons are great, but of course there are other more important, more lasting virtues to be gained by participating in athletics. The sense of accomplishment, humerous health benefits, learning teamwork and self discipline, learning how to lose, and just having a blast are some of them. The quality of life is enriched, and the length of life is usually inereased, if it includes some kind of regular athletic activity.

Another winter olympic games, the Maryland Winter Special Olympics, will be opened this Sunday and continue for several days at the Wisp Mountain Resort in MeHenry. This is an outstanding program that provides opportunity for some of our most special citizens to gain the aforementioned advantages of participating in athletics.

There are many ways for local people to support the Special Olympics, one of which is serving as a volunteer at the games and another is making a monetary donation. Those who choose the latter might want to contribute via a pledge to one who has agreed to dunk himself in Deep Creek Lake (no athletie ability required) this Saturday. The Deep Creek Dunk has become one of the most successful fundraising activities in the county, as it has generated tens of thousands of dollars for this wortny cause. It's also a lot of fun, so "come on down."

Let the games begin...let the games continue.

GOING SOUTH, MEETING THE MOUSE
by Mary Sincell McEwen
CONCLUSION:
Goodbye, Mickey — It's Been So Real

Hang on now — we're almost finished. We're on our last real day in Disney World and here's the situation: Number 1, we're exhausted. Number 2, Michael is getting sicker with what I suspect is strep throat. Number 3, we're still thrilled to be in the land of Disney magic, but [see Number 1].

It was surprising to actually be on the last day of our trip, and I was sad that this major event in our lives was nearly over. But we still had our last day, and we decided to spend it at Disney-MGM Studios. We were without one of our party, though. Mom was ready for a day of rest. She opted to hang out at the hotel Friday, reading and relaxing. I couldn't blame her, and if I were the grandma, I might've done the same. But I'm the mama and therefore required to go, if only to continue worrying about Michael and his terribly sore throat. By Friday, the glands in his neck resembled marbles — shooters, in fact. There was a definite rash on his face and neck, and his eyes looked sick. I know that look, so I commeneed to fretting right away. Back to the buses we went, and off to MGM.

This final park was just as slick and amazing as the rest of the Disney universe, with incredible attractions. I especially liked at the Muppet stuff, being a lifelong fan of Kermit et al. The Muppet show was 3-D again, and by this time we were old hands at not grabbing out in the air at things not really there. We all loved the Star Tours ride, which put us in Luke Skywalker's Starspeeder and hurtled us down into that cavern on the Deathstar. John and I are Star Wars children anyway, having been the perfect age of 14 when that first movie came out, so we were thrilled right along with the boys.

We went inside the Honey I Shrunk The Kids Movie Set Playground and set the boys free inside this madhouse of people. They couldn't really get out without passing us, but it was literally wall-to-wall kids and I was antsy the whole time. The playground is a re-creation of the backyard in the movie, so everything is huge. The grass is two stories high, an enormous can of Play Doh is in the middle, and there's a sliding board in the shape of a film canister. Yes, it was neat, but maddening, and I realized I was reaching my saturation point for artistic stimulation. And Michael. What to do with Michael?

Finally I used our cell phone to call the Garrett Medical Group, if you can believe that. I was standing on the New York City-like street at MGM talking to the receptionist. I told her about my kid, and she says to me, "Well, if it were my son, I'd take him to a clinic right away." Well, duh. That's all it took. After the trip through the MGM back lot, Michael and I made our exit, leaving John, Rob, and Alex at the park. Mom had found out that there was indeed a clinic and transportation to it, of course — why would I ever have thought otherwise? So sweet little Michael and I were whisked away by van to the clinic, where another man was getting an X-ray of his ribs after falling on his suitcase. That must be what those doctors see all the time. "Uh, I closed my finger in my shaving kit." "I twisted my neck on Space Mountain." Actually our physician said he mostly treats tourist children with earaches and sore throats. We felt right at home. And I was right — he had strep. Yay for Zythromax.

The following morning we took some last long walks around our beautiful hotel grounds, which were just alive with every kind of bird you can imagine, and then we traveled to the Kissimmee train station. There we had an hour to wait, so Mom and the two youngers stayed at the station (to "save our place," Alex said) while John and Rob and I walked around town. We ended up at Augie's Village Deli, where the owner gave us free soup and encouraged us to try his "spiedie" sandwich, which he also informed us was the subject of a TV news spot on New Year's Day. He had a video of it. He and his wife were so nice and we felt so comfortable there — and the spiedie was delicious. I told Rob that this was the best part about traveling — meeting people, seeing their kindnesses, and realizing that we humans have far more in common than not. I really believe that most people are good, and I felt that keenly on this trip. Perhaps a residual affect of Sept. 11, it seemed to me that people were somehow kinder to each other. There were folks from all over the world there, and we all smiled and patted each other's kids' heads. We were connected, I think, in that we were traveling despite the terrorism, and we would take care of each other if need be. It was a sense of camaraderie that was very real. It felt good.

We boarded our train, which was a mere 40 minutes late, and were tickled with our sleeper car rooms. We had three little rooms for two people each. Everything was miniature — a little sink, a tiny movie screen, a tiny table in the middle of two facing seats — even a little potty of our own in each cubicle. William was our porter. Throughout our trip, he maintained a posture of pure boredom, and I'm pretty sure was of the opinion that children should be transported in the baggage car. But he faithfully answered every bell we rang, including the series by the boys who thought it was amusing to see his languid face appear at the door. (We made them stop that.) At night, William fixed our beds, which were made from the two chairs in the cubicles. We all six slept well, occasionally waking up to see the world speeding past the window right at our faces. We highly recommend the sleeper car mode of travel.

Poor William. The only time I saw him smile was when we got off the train. Go figure. Soon we were back in our van, headed home. While the train trip was easy this time, the drive was treacherous. An ice and snow storm started just as we left Washington, and it was over six tense, tiring hours before we pulled into our driveway. Good grief. Hard to get down there and hard to get back, but what wonderful fun in between.

So there you have it, whether you wanted it or not. Thanks for all the support for this silly series. It absolutely made my day when people said they looked forward to reading it. We miss Mickey, but it sure is fine to be home.

Letters to the Editor

To the editor:

In response to the distressed letter writer who recently claimed that a local bear was "murdered," I feel obligated to set the record straight.

The "murdered" bear in question was a fugitive from justice when it was shot. It had escaped from the Super Max bear den at the National Zoo, where it was serving a life sentence without parole for three counts of lamb slaughter.

The bear had been convicted by a jury of its peers, including a polar bear, a grizzly bear, and a teddy bear. Psychiatrists testified that the bear was a sociopath — an extreme danger to livestock, apiaries, family pets, children; in fact, just about anything except "rebar" buried in hardened concrete.

I attempted to get a comment on this subject from a local bear. His response was, "Most city dwellers can't discriminate between Winnie the Pooh and an actual black bear, even if you dropped a black bear on them from a Medevac helicopter hovering 50 feet overhead."

I hope this information affords some hope and peace to the disturbed letter writer, but if not, perhaps a massive dose of Xanax will do the trick. And let me point out that law-abiding bears could not be in a safer environment than Garrett County, where residents are required by law to do nothing but stand aside while a bear crashes their crops, destroys barn doors, or trashes parked cars.

I don't claim any of the above meets the standard of common sense, but currently, logic is outlawed in Maryland, thank you very much, Mr. Steve Bittner, who, in addition to trying to persuade us hillbillies that we should rejoice for the chance to "co-habitate" with bears, is severely allergic to sense of any type. Please pray for him.

To the Editor:

The first campaign of the war for the Maryland State House began recently with the "Battle of the Budget," the governor firing the opening shots by proposing theft of $5,000,000 from the Emergency Medical Services fund to help balance the budget for FY 2003. It was this same fund, a very short time ago, that according to this same Administration would be on the ropes if motorists did not ante up another three bucks on each vehicle license.

Senator John Hafer and Delegate George Edwards have risen to defend this fund, which is vital to the sparsely populated areas of Allegany and Garrett counties. They also cite that it is dangerous to reduce such funding at the very time we are confronted by the threat of more terrorist activity, when the need for homeland defense has never been greater. Petitions and an 800 number are available to express your feelings. The number is 1-800-492-7122, ext. 3565 or 3435. Do it now!

Since the law demands that the budget be balanced, it is clear that the governor must seek money where he can. As time passes, he is sure to do the same with other funding that is of great value to the most western counties. Most of us could ask him a very serious question. What happened to the huge surplus he bragged about not long ago? How did we go from prince to pauper in such a short time, from the days when the money was literally rolling in so quickly it could not be counted?

As we ponder these questions, we should remember that many politicians will spend every dime that they can get their hands on, apparently without much thought for tomorrow. It is time for Allegany and Garrett counties to rise up in righteous anger, to sign the petitions and to complain loudly and long over the 800 number provided. Though we may be in difficult times, essential services, especially in the field of health, should never be neglected by government, whose primary responsibility is to protect the people.

To the Editor:

The Glendening-Townsend administration intends to leave Maryland much the same way the governor left Prince George s County.

In 1992, prior to becoming governor, Glendening enhanced the pension pay by millions of dollars for some Prince George's County employees including him. Now, Giendening and Townsend are at it again. Two bills, House Bill 258 and House Bill 259, under consideration in the General Assembly would increase pension benefits not only for Giendening, but also for all living former governors. The bills also increase lifetime pension benefits provided to the surviving spouse of a former governor.

The governor's pension plan is funded fully with taxpayers' dollars. The pension plan receives no contribution from the governor.

It's ironic that the Glendening-Townsend administration is attempting to fatten its own pensions at the same time that it is refusing to fully fund the pension plans of state employees and teachers.

Sincerely,
Jim Ports Jr.
Delegate

View from My Window
by Jeffrey Wilson

OF WASHINGTON, LINCOLN, AND GEORGE W.

"The past is not the future," as one of my late neighbors used to say. The challenge we are about to encounter is never quite like the one we have encountered before. At the same time, the lessons we have learned in the past should be applicable to the future — that is, if we actually learned any lessons.

President Bush has, since September 11, defined us Americans as good people and our enemies as evil people. In his state of the union address, he coined a phrase as regrettable as it was memorable, "an axis of evil."

Even when three nations aspiring to be empires — Germany, Italy, and Japan — thought of themselves as an axis on which they hoped the world would turn, the Allies constituted a mixed group. The Allies included Stalinist Soviet Union, an evil empire, though, with all due respect to President Reagan, not the evil empire.

Our relationship with the former Soviet Union provides a particularly apt example of the political gymnastics necessary when the former head of the KGB — secret police and spy bureau in the old "evil empire" — is now a man we can trust. What does President Bush mean by "trust" if Putin disagrees with Bush about something as fundamentally obvious to our president as the evil nature of Iraq?

President Bush, and perhaps even more importantly, his speech writers, ought to read the addresses of Washington and Lincoln. There are two, especially, that warrant regular reading: Washington's farewell address and Lincoln's second inaugural address.

George Washington is called the father of our country because of his leadership, first as general of the Revolutionary Army and second as first president of the United States. The union of the states was more an idea than a reality in 1789 when Washington became president. His conduct in office, and his voluntary leaving it after two terms, did much to create a real union, a sense of identity as Americans.

A year before the end of his second term he announced to the nation that he removed himself from consideration for a third term. His farewell address was the vehicle for his announcement.

There was the North against the South, the West against the East, the French party against the English party, Federalist against Republican. In many ways, the United States of America hovered over civil war until we finally plunged into one in 1861. Washington both exuded and recommended calm.

The address is completely without rancor. How easy it would have been to have made some group the enemy: the British, from whom we had won our independence; the French, whom some thought were following our example and others thought were destroying civilization, or some party or section in America. Instead of condemning any person or group, Washington demonstrated what it means to father a nation.

When President Lincoln delivered his second inaugural address, the union was on the verge of victory over the Confederacy. Rather than deliver a triumphalist diatribe, Lincoln sought to reconcile the nation. In acknowledging the judgment of Almighty God for the sin of slavery, he reckoned that judgment was upon the entire nation, North and South alike.

As President Lincoln looked to the end of the war, he urged his countrymen to unite in healing.

"With malice toward none;" he concluded, "with charity toward all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in;..." What was that work that they were in, killing their enemies, the evil-doers? No, the work that concerned Lincoln was "to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan — to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations."

That is how a president addressed the nation at the end of the most bitter contest we have yet endured.

Does any president think himself greater than Washington or Lincoln? They showed how to prepare for peace even while waging war, rather than preparing for war while making peace. The past is not the future. In the future the American president must think of the world as past presidents thought of our nation. We need a president who knows how to father a world.

Fire Destroys

to extinguish the fire with a garden hose and a fire extinguisher, but to no avail. She then called 911 for assistance.

Jesse Opel, chief of the Eastern Garrett VFD, said that firefighters were also able to save a lot of furniture, clothing, and dishes, besides the family pets and the piano. The items were placed in a tractor-trailer provided by Hill Top Fruit Market. The Shadel family members are staying with relatives in the area.

By Friday Wendling had determined that the fire was caused by an improperly installed woodstove. He said that the family had insurance on the house and contents.

Also responding to the scene were ambulances from Northern Rescue Squad and Frostburg. There were no injuries reported.

GCA Council Funding Available For Garrett Arts

The Garrett County Arts Council (GCAC) is currently accepting applications from nonprofit organizations requesting funding support for arts programs and projects planned for public presentation in Garrett County after July 1. The annual application deadline for GCAC grant assistance in amounts of $500 or more is March 21.

GCAC allocates over $30,000 each year for grant awards to promote community arts development in Garrett County. Current recipients of grant funding include: the Dove Center, Garrett Choral Society, Garrett Community College Art Gallery, Garett County Community Action Committee, Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, Garrett County Health Department, Greater Oakland Business Association, Hammers & Strings, Our Town Theatre, Puzzley Run Folklife Center, Southern Garrett Band Boosters, Spruce Forest Artisan Village, St. Mark's Lutheran Church, and the Garrett Community Concert Band. Recipient organizations present approximately 150 public arts programs annually for the benefit of Garrett County residents and visitors.

Additional information, including eligibility and program requirements, along with grant guidelines and application forms, is available at the Gallery, 206 E. Alder Street, Oakland or by calling the Garrett County Arts Council at 301-334-6580.

Storytelling Class Set At Senior Center

Local resident Dr. Gail Herman will teach a one-hour storytelling class over three consecutive Wednesdays, beginning at 1 p.m. March 6 at the Mary Browning Senior Center. The senior center is located at 104 East Center Street, Oakland.

Participants will receive instruction and practice in how to read slowly with expression and different voices; how to create simple stories without a book; and how to paraphrase parts of stories that are too long. By the time the sessions are completed, participants should have improved their communication skills and their ability to hold the interest of an audience.

"If you are volunteer, have grandchildren or other children in your life, if you teach Sunday school or vacation Bible school, or just like telling stories and would like to learn some skills, this class is for you," a spokesperson said.

Herman performs stories throughout Maryland and many other states. She has written several books on storytelling, and authored an article on the topic that was published in a recent issue of Better Homes and Gardens. She is an instructor at Garrett Community College, and coordinates the annual Autumn Glory Tall Tale Festival, as well as the local installments of the nationwide Tellebration.

The cost is $10 for the three classes. For more information or to register, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 137.

Teen Book Club Sets Discussion Of WWII Novel

The Ruth Enlow Library Teen Book Club has slated a discussion of Soldier X, Don Wulffson's young adult novel based on the true experiences of a World War II German soldier, for 2 p.m. Saturday, March 2, in the Oakland library. The Teen Book Club is for students age 12 and older, and persons may call the Oakland library at 301-334-3996 or stop by to reserve a copy of the book.

Soldier X, the March selection, is a 226-page fictionalized chronicle of a young German boy's involvement in the second major war of the 20th century. "World War II is raging, and 16-year-old Erik Brandt sits on a train traveling east — one of the hundreds of thousands of German boys being sent to the killing fields of the Eastern Front. Few men are left to fight, so boys are now being thrown into Hitler's war.

As the book jacket explains, "though trained as an interpreter, not a soldier, Erik soon finds himself on the front lines, struggling not to surrender to his fear as other soldiers die all around him. It seems to Erik that the only way to survive is to kill. But what choice is there?

"Based on a true story of a German war survivor, Soldier X is a thoughtful and compelling novel that takes readers inside the mind of a boy who must fight and possibly die for a war he doesn't believe in."

The Teen Book Club is funded in part by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library. Participants meet every six weeks to share their thoughts and opinions on popular young adult novels. The Oakland library also sponsors book clubs for adults and for students age 9-11. For more information, persons may call the library or visit its web site at www.r elib.net.

Looking ahead, on Saturday, April 6, the Teen Book Club will discuss Beast by Donna Jo Napoli.

July 30, 1919 - Jan. 7, 2002

We would like to express our deepest thanks to everyone who sent flowers and food following the passing of Harry White.

We would like to send a special thank you to all the workers at Hospice for their care, VFW for the wonderful military service at the grave site, and the White Church congregation for the dinner after the funeral.

Also, to Harry's caregiver who took care of him without any hesitation. We could have never done it without you and will always remember how special you are. Words could not express how much you were appreciated.

The Family of Harry E. White

A Guide To Planning Your Wedding

Tips Offered For Choosing The Right Wedding Party

Now that you've announced your engagement, it's time to start thinking about who will be in your wedding party. This is a decision not to take lightly - these people will be standing up for you in front of friends, family and possibly members of the clergy.

According to Ultimate Wedding.com, the first choices to make are your bridesmaids and groomsmen. Think about your closest friends and family members. The people you spend your time with and share your special occasions with are the ones you want to be with you on your wedding day. A general rule of thumb is to have one attendant per 50 invited guests. This number doesn't have to be exact - you could have as few as two attendants or as many as twelve each!

When choosing the Best Man and Maid/Matron of Honor, select those people who are most reliable because they will have many functions to perform. The Best Man will be responsible for handing final payments to the catering hall, DJ, photographer and others. The Maid of Honor will help the bride dress, hold her train and plan the bridal shower.

The groomsmen will act as ushers to seat your guests. They should arrive early to accommodate any early birds. It's a good idea to ask people from both sides of the family so that the ushers know where the guests should be seated - on the bride's side or the groom's.

Those who are not in the wedding party can perform other important roles. You may need scripture verses to be read, candle lighters, a soloist or a pianist. Most people would be honored to help out.

It may be a good idea to have your wedding party get to know each other before your wedding arrives. If everyone lives nearby, host a "getting to know you" cocktail party so everyone can mingle before the big day. It will help to soothe nerves and break the ice.

Honeymoon Planning Is Very Important, Too

For many couples, planning a honeymoon is just as important as planning the wedding itself. Regardless of where you plan to go on your honeymoon, there are some things you should do and some new ideas of which you need to be aware in order to make it the kind of experience you want it to be.

First, you must decide on a budget. If money is not an issue for you, bon voyage! However, if you're like most couples getting married, you're already paying for more than you anticipated. Establish a budget and use it as a guide. You may also want to consider using a honeymoon bridal registry like the free one provided by TheHoneymoon.com. Honeymoon registries allow wedding guests to contribute toward specific elements of your honeymoon. Things like shore excursions, parasailing, spa services and tours all make great wedding gifts. These are becoming more popular as couples getting married nowadays often have many of the basic household necessities that comprise a

Preparing The Bridal Registry Can Be A Snap

The guests you invite to your wedding have it so easy. While you're making phone calls to reception halls, caterers, florists and musicians, running from one appointment to the next for fittings, photographers, videographers and entertainers, your guests barely have to lift a finger other than to mail back their response cards, write the date on their calendars and check to see where you've registered for gifts.

That's the beauty of a gift registry: guests simply choose a gift that falls within their price range and their work is done.

As a bride- or groom-to-be, however, choosing the items to include on a registry can be quite an ordeal. Often, newlyweds don't realize all the household items they'll need until they really need them. With so many different models on the market, even choosing an appliance as basic as a toaster can be confusing. Then, there are the luxury items - like bread makers, ice-cream machines and pasta makers. And this only is the kitchen!

To help make the task a little easier for the bride- and groom-to-be, following is a checklist of cooking tools, from basic necessities to beyond, that every kitchen should have.

Marrying Again? Celebrate Repeat Marriages In Style

New resources provide a wealth of information for couples ready to take a second trip down the aisle.

Here comes the bride ... the groom, and their children from the previous marriage. The fact of the matter is, close to 50 percent of all marriages today involve someone tying the knot for at least a second time. Blended families are far more commonplace than ever before and second marriages are now often treated with the same enthusiasm as the first.

While it's easy to find plenty of information available for first-time newlyweds, it can be a little trickier to find resources for couples who are heading down the aisle for another try. That's why MetLife Consumer Education Center has developed a brochure called, "Getting Remarried" as a helpful companion to their brochure for first-time newlyweds, "Getting Married." Produced in conjunction with the International Association of Marriage and Family counselors, those taking the plunge for a second time can learn a wealth of information about getting married, or re-married, as the case may be.

• The first important issue a couple should consider before remarriage is finances. Many believe that discussing money can put a damper on romance. However, studies indicate that money-related issues have a way of destroying marriages. Unlike first-time newlyweds, people who remarry are usually more established and bring diverse assets to the union. For a stronger, happier relationship, partners in first- and second-time marriages need to be open and honest with their assets, debts and attitudes toward money before deciding to marry.

• Children are another topic of discussion that should be addressed immediately. After the wedding, you and your new spouse may enjoy bliss, but things often do not go as smoothly for children involved in this new union – particularly if the remarriage follows a divorce. Roles, issues of authority and expectations need to be clearly and realistically discussed to help bring the new family together.

• As with any first-time marriage, you may be considering a ceremony and reception to celebrate your new commitment to become husband and wife. While women who are remarrying usually do not wear as elaborate a dress as they did for their first marriage, there are still plenty of styles from which to choose. Consult bridal magazines for the options available.

• Budgeting is also a major concern. More and more couples are paying for their own weddings. Discuss with your future spouse the amount you are able to spend on all of the festivities and stick to your budget. Don't forget that the little things really have a way of adding up.

For more information on remarriage or first-time weddings, request a free copy of "Getting Married" and "Getting Remarried" by calling (800) 638-5433. Made available as a public service, these brochures are part of MetLife Consumer Education Center's Life Advice® program, created to help people better manage their lives.

Tips Help Couples Ease Their Trip Down The Aisle

He popped the question, and she said yes. Maybe he got down on his knees, maybe he didn't. As familiar or traditional as the simple little question, "Will you marry me?" may be, nothing can take away from the one-of-a-kind story of how they fell in love or the look in her eyes when he asked - but this isn't the time to be idling in the moment.

The engagement must be announced, the news spread. Informing family, friends and co-workers is what makes the engagement feel official. And more importantly, it is what gets the wedding planning in motion, beginning with the question, "When?"

Choosing a wedding date, one that allows the bride- and groom-to-be an ample amount of time to prepare, is a must. How much time a couple needs will vary with the size and style of wedding they choose. If planning a traditional wedding, the couple should give themselves at least nine months to a year to prepare for it.

The next step lies in selecting just the right place to exchange vows and with whom to share the experience. This will help the couple determine the size and style of their wedding. If taking a traditional approach, the couple will want to select their honor attendants - bridesmaids for the bride, groomsmen for the groom. Additionally, the two can begin compiling a guest list.

As they compile the guest list, the couple should consider their gift registry. It's best to register for gifts at more than one store, in more than one price range. This allows guests more flexibility in choosing gifts.

Next, the couple must decide on the wedding professionals - the musicians, photographers, videographer, florist and caterer. A visit with the officiant should be arranged as well, in the event that any pre-wedding requirements need to be fulfilled.

Once the ceremony and reception sites have been booked and the necessary decisions made, the couple should consider their honeymoon. Consulting a travel agent always is a good idea. In doing so, the couple may receive discounts and other unique benefits or travel packages by making it known that they'll be newlyweds.

After the reservations have been made, the couple at last can begin focusing on themselves. In order to look as dazzling on their wedding day as smiling figurines atop a wedding cake, the bride- and groom-to-be will need to decide on their wedding apparel. If wedding attendants are involved, the bride will want to keep her bridesmaids in mind - the color and style of dresses they'd feel most comfortable wearing.

A successful wedding takes time and careful organization. To be safe, the bride- and groom-to-be should purchase a wedding planner. This way, they won't run the risk of forgetting the little things, like bands - not the kind that play music, but the kind they'll be wearing on their fingers for the rest of their lives.

Home Sweet Home: Easy Relocation Tips

Congratulations - you and your spouse are moving into your first home together as newlyweds. Whether that means a house with a white picket fence or an urban condo on a tree-lined city street, the process of moving - even with help from professional movers – can be overwhelming.

By following a few helpful moving tips, you can make the load a little lighter and lessen the chances of letting your excitement about a new home get lost within the shuffle. Following are some tips to help you get started:

• Make a list of addresses and phone numbers of utility companies, newspapers, mag-azines and any other publications to which you subscribe. You will need to inform them about your move. Then, familiarize yourself with the new area. Locate the nearest pharmacy and bank; check for branch stores or offices and make sure your new information is in their database.

• Get a free change-of-address kit from the post office. For extra flair when informing friends of your move, send specially designed change-of-address cards (available at card shops) or create your own and personalize them using rubber stamps or stickers.

• Make sure you have plenty of boxes on hand. First, pack the things you don't use or need right away, and move them in early. Anything you can take care of ahead of time will make the moving day easier. Remember to label the outside of the boxes so you know what is inside each one.

• Consolidate as much as you can. Wrap fragile items in towels, linen, tissue or thick layers of newspaper. Use smaller boxes for heavy items like books, and larger boxes for lighter items.

• Before you start unpacking, make the bed. Moving can take days, but this way, you're guaranteed a good night's rest, no matter where you leave off in your unpacking. And, you'll be better rested for the next day's labors.

There is something unique about each bride— shouldn't they feel the same way about their flowers?
The site of the wedding deserves to be a special place. A traditional church wedding, a lavish hotel or country club, or an outdoor garden wedding—flowers are second in importance, only to the dress.
A bride with a pared-down wedding dress may choose to carry a simple flower like a couple Cala Lilies, or Birds of Paradise. Someone who gets married in a very classic style will go with a nosegay which is still the most popular.
Every bride is beautiful on her wedding day. Flowers are called upon to weave a magical spell, they can't overshadow the bride's beauty, but must compliment her wedding, and reflect her personal taste, and of course be romantic. They want designs to set them apart from other brides. When it comes to fresh ideas, FTD always delivers.
Church decorations are becoming more creative, using such items as wicker baskets, grapevine, terra cotta pots, fresh fruits and greens. It's our job to make it a day she'll remember forever.

Tips Offered For Planning Your Dream Wedding Gown

Whether you're planning an intimate gathering for your very closest family and friends or a gala fit for royalty, you'll probably plan for months to achieve memories that will last forever. One of the most important parts of wedding planning is choosing your bridal gown. You've probably daydreamed about what you will wear, now it's just a matter of finding the ideal gown. Here are some tips to make the selection process easier:

• Do your research - Make a list of the things you're looking for, including dress silhouette, neck, length, fabric, sleeves and embellishments.

• Don't judge gowns by their "hanger" appearance – The dress will take it's shape while it is on your body and will look completely different from the way it did on the hanger.

• Do try on a variety of styles Perhaps you ruled out strapless gowns before heading to the store. Try one on anyway, it could actually turn out to be your dream dress.

• Don't be "size-conscious" – Wedding gowns are cut smaller than your usual size. You'll probably have to try on a larger size which will be tailored to your body.

• Do consult bridal magazines for ideas and designers - For example, this lovely oyster silk satin gown from Alvina Valenta features a modified sweetheart satin bodice, sheer yolk and long sleeves. Hand embroidered detail enhances the neckline and cuffs. A soft scoop waist and full gathered skirt are the gown's other notable features. This style retails for about $2,900.

Part of the fun of wedding planning is shopping for a beautiful wedding gown, like this one from Alvina Valenta, and all of the accoutrements that will make you look dazzling.

Bride, Bridesmaids Look Great As They Walk Down The Aisle

Searching for that perfect gown, a bride-to-be is faced with an array of difficult decisions. Should she choose satin or lace? Will she have a train? A veil? Or, will a simple headpiece suit her best? And this is just the beginning.

There also are the bridesmaids to consider. Rarely does one dress style flatter everyone. All too often, a bride-to-be chooses one uniform look for all of her attendants, leaving the bridesmaids to grin and bear it. As a result, they end up paying a lot for a dress that they only will wear once, before it gets pushed to the back of the closet, forever out of sight.

A well-dressed bridal party is not difficult to achieve, provided that everyone keeps an open mind. While most brides-to-be have vague notions of what dress styles will be most flattering to their figures, it helps to have a professional, objective opinion. The most significant decisions are made in the dressing room and, more often than not, the gown style a bride finds most pleasing rarely is the original style she had in mind.

When selecting gown styles that best suit the bridal party, it is important to consider the following factors.

* Shape - Typical dress shapes include the ball gown (natural waist with a voluminous skirt); basque (natural waist with a V-shaped front); bustier (strapless with sculpted bust line); empire (high waist that falls just under the bust line with a slender or A-line skirt); princess or A-line (falls along the outline of the body into a flared skirt); and sheath (narrow, fitted style shaped at the waist). While the bride may prefer a ball gown for herself, the bridesmaids' preferences might differ over A-line vs. sheath. It is perfectly acceptable to mix-and-match, but if a bride wants a uniform look, varying the necklines offers

Design Your One-Of-A-Kind Gown For That Special Day

Some brides have always had an idea of how they would like to look on their wedding day, while others wait until they've received their engagement ring before browsing through the first of many bridal magazines. No matter where you fall in the spectrum, the wedding gown is an important decision that should be considered at least one year before your wedding date, partially because the gown has the potential to dictate the tone and scope of your wedding celebration.

Brides often search high and low for the perfect gown, scouting bridal boutiques and catalogs for the ultimate look. While there are literally hundreds of dresses in all shapes, sizes and price ranges, for some this search can become overwhelming and it can be difficult to find exactly the dress you have in mind for your wedding. One option a bride may consider is having her gown custom-made.

You can save a considerable amount of money if there is a talented dressmaker in the family who could make the gown for you – an ultimate wedding gift, according the experts at Fabric.com. Or, by consulting a local fabric store or dry cleaner you can often receive a referral for a reputable dressmaker in your area.

There are many other benefits to having a gown custom-made besides the cost. You can design the style, choose the fabric and embellishments for your gown and really show off a one-of-a-kind look. Also, you can marry themes of several dresses seen in magazines. Perhaps you prefer one dress but would like to add sleeves or change the train - anything is possible when you're calling the shots.

Because there are so many types of fabrics, trims, buttons and lace to choose from, it's best to consult a company where you can easily browse for what you need all in one location. One site that offers many of these items is www.fabric.com. They specialize in providing quality fabrics at wholesale prices to the public. From bridal satin to mother of pearl buttons, they have so many things that can make a wedding party beautiful at a fraction of the retail cost of most bridal shops. They will send swatches of the different bridal fabrics, and they have an incredible "No questions asked" return policy.

Here are some other tips for creating a custom-made dress:

• Do visit bridal shops to see what silhouette style - A-line, princess, drop waist, empire - fits your frame so you'll have an accurate idea.

• Make sure you interview several seamstresses so that you'll be working with the one who will best meet your needs. Get a contract in writing for the work that will be administered.

• Visit a fabric shop to actually feel different fabrics which will help you choose the right one for the gown.

• Purchase the undergarments and shoes you will wear on your wedding day so that the seamstress can accurately tailor the dress to the right size.

• Enjoy the process of designing a gown that will be truly unique.

Equip Your Musicians With The Right Information

Music. It can make or break even the best celebration. If the right songs are not played or the sound system is too loud you may end up with a crowd full of annoyed guests.

Yet, another important concern for brides- and grooms-to-be is whether the bandleader or DJ they've chosen can effectively keep the reception moving at a comfortable pace, and involve guests fully with the festivities. In order to do so easily, be sure your entertainment provider is informed of pertinent information for the reception prior to stepping out on the dance floor. Create a list of important information he or she will need to have handy. Here's what you can include:

Your Wedding Party

- New married name of couple
- Parents' names
- Names of the bridal party as they will walk in (bridesmaid/groomsman).
- Names of the Maid of Honor and Best Man. (Flower girl/ringbearer)
- Names of anyone making toasts and when these toast will occur.

Dances and Traditions

- Your wedding song
- Father/daughter song
- Mother/son song
- Spotlight dance (second wedding song)
- Cake cutting song
- Whether you will be doing a bouquet and garter belt toss.
- Any special dedication songs.
- Any special audience participation songs, like "The Electric Slide," "The Macarena."
- Any songs you prefer not to be played like those which might offend elder guests.

Remember, however, your band or DJ is a professional and will have a good idea what to play. Do not provide a complete playlist, which only adds more work for you and can take away from the surprises and excitement of the day.

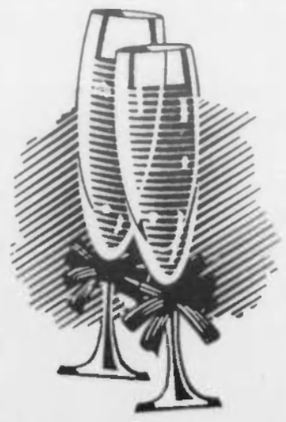
Tips For Giving The Perfect Toast



(MS) - Wedding toasts are a very personal way to celebrate the good fortune and future happiness of the bride and groom. Traditionally, the best man offers the first toast to the newly married couple either at the start of the reception after the wedding party is seated or after the cake is cut. Oftentimes, the best man writes and edits this important toast numerous times until it sounds "perfect."

To help those who will be making a toast to the beaming newlyweds, Freixenet, the world's largest producer of sparkling wines, offers tips for making the perfect toast.

Seven secrets to a great toast

1. Don't be long-winded.
2. Stand to give a toast; remain seated to receive one.
3. Prepare ahead of time - know what you are going to say.
4. Mention those you are toasting by name, your relationship to them and a thought about their good fortune.
5. Add witty anecdotes wherever possible.
6. Speak slowly and loudly enough for all guests to hear.
7. Don't forget to cap off the toast with a hearty "Cheers!"

Who toasts whom?

Generally the best man acts as the toastmaster, and prepares a list of the order in which each person will make a toast. There is an established protocol which the couple may or may not choose to follow.

At the rehearsal dinner:

* The best man toasts the bride.
* The bride toasts the groom.
* The groom toasts the bride's mother.
* The bride's father may toast the groom's parents.

At the reception:

* The best man toasts the bride and groom.
* The groom toasts the bride and her family.
* The two fathers toast the bride and groom.
* The bride and groom toast each other.

Make Sure You Hire The Perfect Videographer For Your Wedding

Nothing captures the memories of your wedding day more completely than a professional quality video. From recording the small intimate details to being able to relive the entire day over and over, many couples opt for the video as a complement to their photo package.

Just like a specific photographic style, a videographer will have a technique all his or her own. Therefore, when choosing a videographer, find one who will highlight the events that are the most important to you. You'll want service that is professional, creative and artistic. Here are some questions to ask your prospective videographer to conclude if he or she is the one for you, courtesy of FrugalBride.com, Canada's first frugal bride Web site.

Important Questions

- What type of lighting will you use?
- How will you be dressed at the wedding?
- Do you have sample videos I can see?
- How long have you been in business?
- What packages do you offer?
- Do you use professional quality equipment, accessories and supplies?
- How many cameras do you use?
- Do you have back-up equipment comparable in quality to your main gear?
- Do you use wireless microphones?
- Do you offer non-linear digital editing?
- Do you copy-protect or scramble the videotape?
- What are your guarantees and liabilities?
- Do you have a written contract?
- Are you unobtrusive?
- Will the shoot interfere with the proceedings in any way?
- How much do you charge for additional hours beyond the agreed contract?
- Do you work with the photographer to ensure mutual cooperation?
- Are you there throughout the entire reception?
- Will you go to a location (like the beach or a park) without additional charge?
- How much are additional copies of the wedding tapes?
- Do you have references who I can call?

Look Great

a less subtle, yet still flattering alternative.

* Neckline - If the bride is firm about what dress shape she wants her bridesmaids to wear, the best place to improvise is in the neckline. Necklines range from high and close-to-the-neck to low and off-the-shoulder. Other types include the boat or bateau (follows the curve of the collarbone, high in front and back, wide at the sides); jewel (collarless, rounded neckline that hugs the base of the throat, just above the collarbone); square; and sweetheart (shaped like the top of a heart).
* Sleeves - Sleeves pose another opportunity for variety in dress style. Sleeves can be cap (very short and fitted, covering shoulders and very tops of arms); fitted (slim sleeves that taper as they reach the wrist); three-quarter (cover three-quarters of the arm, stopping on the forearm, just below the elbow); puff (gathered into a gentle puff near the shoulders); or not there at all (sleeveless or spaghetti straps).

As for which dress for which figure, knowing everyone's best (and less-than-best) features is essential. Petite figures look nicest in empire, sheath, and princess or A-line dress shapes that give the illusion of elongated lines, drawing the eye upward. Collars and sleeves should be proportionate to arms, therefore small and delicate.

Full figures look best in a princess shape with an open neckline, like sweetheart or jewel, and three-quarter sleeves that conceal the arms. A basque shape or a dropped V waist is slimming for full hips. An empire shape (lifted waistline) flatters thick waists.

Honeymoon

traditional gift registry.

After deciding on a budget, figure out where you would like to go. If you and your spouse-to-be want the same type of honeymoon experience, no problem. However, if one of you wants adventure and the other wants to relax in the sun, you need to compromise. There are destinations that can satisfy you both; you just need to do some research. Of course, it is also important that your destination fits your budget.

Once you have a destination in mind, decide whether you want an all-inclusive package or whether you would prefer to be on your own a little more. For those with tight budgets, an all-inclusive honeymoon has the advantage of one all-inclusive package price. This includes most activities at both all-inclusive resorts and on cruises. However, there are usually things that are not included for which you will need to pay. Again, these make great gift items for your honeymoon registry. If the idea of an all-inclusive honeymoon with multiple destinations excites you, then a cruise may be the dream honeymoon for you.

If you wish to be on your own to take in more of the surrounding area and culture, then you have a lot of options at your disposal. Do you want a big hotel, or a small boutique hotel with history and character? If you like to experience the world through your taste buds, you'll want a variety of gastronomical adventures. In other words, if you don't want to be confined to a preset menu of activities and dining experiences, then you may be better off creating your own experience.

Of course, the honeymoon takes on a whole new meaning when you decide to do a "destination wedding." These are becoming very popular as more couples decide to forego the average $20,000 wedding price tag in addition to the honeymoon expense. These are especially popular with second marriages. It's easier to get married in some countries than others, so check with a reliable information source first.

Your final step is booking and paying for this trip. Many honeymoon suppliers offer specials for early booking, which may or may not include airfare. Many packages that include airfare can offer significant savings because these suppliers buy airline seats in bulk at a discount and then package hotel and sometimes car rental to give you significant value. Usually these packages need to be purchased from a travel agent or from businesses like The Honeymoon .com, which combine travel agent services, the convenience of the Internet, honeymoon registry, personal wedding Web pages, and honeymoon information all at your fingertips.

REC CENTER NOW OPEN — The grand opening and ribbon-cutting ceremony for Lakewood Community Recreation Center was held last Saturday. The facility, located along Rock Lodge Road near Deep Creek Lake, includes an indoor swimming pool and two outdoor tennis courts. Stephanie Stephana, owner of S&S Management, will be managing the facility. Lakewood Community Recreation Center will be open daily to the public from noon until 8 p.m. In addition, water aerobic classes are being formed, and pool party reservations are being accepted. Pool membership and a daily walk-in rate of $6 for adults and $4 for children under 12 years are available. Garrett County residents receive discounts. Stephena said that the center's $30,000 renovation took nearly 4 months to complete. The pool temperature is maintained between 82 and 84 degrees. Pictured above, left to right, in the front row are George Pitcher, board of directors member; Kevin Harris, son of Ken Harris of Harris Pools; A.J. Stephena, son of Brad and Stephanie Stephens; and Archie Reid, board of directors member. In the back row are Justin Furr, lifeguard/pool operator; Harris; Brad Stephens, S&S Management; Stephanie Stephens, lifeguard/pool operator/manager; and Lisa Beckman, lifeguard/pool operator. Not present for the photo was Josh Rush of Rush Services. For further information, persons may call 301-387-3660.

Born March 15, 1929, in the Cove, she was a daughter of the late John and Samantha (Wright) Hetrick. She was preceded in death by four sisters, two brothers, and one grandson.

She was a member of Zion Lutheran Church. She was a retired seamstress, having been employed at Flushing Shirt Factory, Grantsville.

She is survived by her husband of 54 years, Raymond Frederick Bowser, whom she married Nov. 27, 1947; one son, Dale R. Bowser, Gloucester Point, Va.; three daughters, Mary E. Walsh, Shirley M. Sivits, and Louise E. Younkin, all of Accident; one brother, Bruce Hetrick, Frostburg; eight grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Newman Funeral Home, Accident (McHenry) today, Thursday, Feb. 21, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. A service will be conducted on Friday at 11 a.m. at Zion Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Dr. Wilfred Karsten officiating. Friends may call at the church one hour prior to the service.

Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to either Zion Lutheran Church or Northern Garrett Rescue Squad.

Students Of The Month Named At Northern High

NHS NAMES STUDENTS OF THE MONTH — Students of the Month for December were recently named at Northern High School. Pictured, in the front, from the left, are adviser Michelle Herman, Natalie Ganoe, Scott Pusateri, and Carol Miller of M&T Bank. In the back are Steffanie Kahl, Annie Winter, and Rachel Bruch. Katie Garlitz was not present for the photo. See story for more details.

Northern High School recently announced the Students of the Month of December. Each month one student from each grade is selected for this award based on excellence in academics, athletics, and extracurriculars, and for displaying a positive attitude. The Students of the Month are Steffanie Kahl, Natalie Ganoe, Katie Garlitz, Rachel Bruch, Annie Winter, and Scott Pusateri.

Steffanie Kahl, daughter of Melvin Kahl, is a band aide and has participated in the Drama Club in tenth and eleventh grades and the Calculus Club this year. She has been accepted into Who's Who and has fared well in her category in the Mountain Top Science Expo of 2000. She lives in McHenry.

Natalie Ganoe, daughter of Daniel and Rosemarie Ganoe, is a resident of Frostburg (Garrett County), and attends the Mt. Zion Methodist Church. She is a member of the yearbook staff and Yearbook Club, is a teacher's assistant, and takes part in the Career Employability program.

Katie Garlitz, also a resident of Frostburg (Garrett County), is the daughter of Joyce and Terry Garlitz. She has lettered in band and is a member of the marching and concert bands, as well as the pep band. She also plays the french horn and clarinet in her spare time.

Rachel Bruch is a member of the varsity soccer and tennis teams. She is also the historian and a representative of the student council, secretary of the Girls' Varsity Club, and is a member of the National Honor Society. In soccer, she was named Best Defensive Player in 2000 and Most Coachable in 1999, and received an honorable mention on the all area team in 2001.

Bruch has also been named a Maryland Distinguished Scholar. She helps with the blind skier program and the Special Olympics, and will be attending the National Young Leaders Conference in Washington later this year. She is the daughter of Larry Bruch and Robin Storms, Grantsville.

Annie May Winter is the daughter of Chris and Else Winter, Accident. She is a member of the marching and concert bands, is the personal relations representative of student council, co-chair of the Student of the Month committee, co-editor of the school newspaper as well as reporter, co-editor of the Husky Notes, and treasurer of her class.

Winter also acts as president of the Best Buddies organization for Northern and is a member of the prom committee for 2003. She is currently employed at the Old Flour Shoppe, Accident, and took part in the Snowflake Chase. She was named to the Distinguished Honor Roll, was a Student of the Month in 2001, and Student of the Year in 2001.

Scott Pusateri resides in Accident and is the son of Jenny McNally and Richard Pusateri and the stepson of Richard Pullen. He has taken part in both junior varsity and varsity soccer, belongs to the track team, and is an active skier. He participates in the Best Buddies program as a peer buddy and has volunteered as a blind skier guide.

Pusateri has earned Distinguished Honor Roll status and the Woodman of the World Award, among other academic honors.

This program is supported by M&T Bank and Railey Realty.

Editor's Note: The Students of the Month in last week's issue were actually the winners for the month of November. We regret the error.

The center, in conjunction with Somerset Technology Center's Family Education Program, will begin holding sign language classes with Instructor Kerri Ferguson, who is a senior at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, majoring in Education of persons with hearing loss.

The classes will be held every Monday in March, starting March 4, from 10 to 11 a.m. The evening class will be held every Friday, beginning March 1, from 6 to 7 p.m.

The classes are free, but space will be limited. Interested persons need to call the center at 814-662-2721 to register or for additional information.

SENIOR CENTER

A Valentine's Day party was held for the seniors on Thursday, Feb. 14. Robert Ickes was crowned King of Hearts, and Minnie Bittinger was crowned Queen of Hearts. The door prize for the party was won by Anna Sturtz.

SALISBURY VFD AND AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION

An "all-you-can-eat" roast beef dinner will be held this Sunday, Feb. 24, from 11 to 2 p.m. at the Salisbury (Pa.) fire hall. The cost is $6 for adults, $3 for children under 12, and free for children under 5. Takeouts will be available.

Oakland Update

by Asa McCain

by Mayor Asa McCain

- Third Street Bridge Update — Last week the engineering firm was on sight, surveying and collecting the data necessary to design the bridge. Once the design is completed and accepted by the town and the county, it needs to go through the state review process, which includes agencies like the Maryland Historical Trust. We've already had preliminary discussions to try to expedite their part of the project.
- Our Main Street program is in the process of strengthening its membership in its Economic Restructuring and Promotions committees. There are many exciting things about to happen in town, and they sure could use your help to ensure their success. If you're interested in joining a committee and really making a difference in your community, call our Main Street program manager Glenn Tolbert at 301-334-9431, extension 153.
- The town has adopted a tree protection and tree maintenance ordinance. We could also use some additional members on a committee that helps administer this project. Anyone interested can call me at town hall at 301-334-2691.
- The town election is set for Monday, March 11. For details see the ad in this newspaper.
- Since we've had such a mild winter we hope that people are remembering that there is a beautiful four-mile walking path right here in town. A good place to start your stroll is next to the town parking lot where the trail leads over our locally built bridge.
- We hired two new police officers. Richard Skipper and Shawn Durst have been in the Western Maryland Police Academy in Hagerstown since January. They'll graduate June 21. They have both been doing extremely well. Their addition to our police force will allow us to have more thorough coverage throughout the town.

CHEVY WE'LL BE THERE

A MAJOR SLOWDOWN was the tactic the Petersburg Vikings tried against the area's top-ranked Southern boys' varsity on Tuesday in the Rams' final home game of the season, and for the first quarter the strategy worked, as there were but two baskets recorded, one by each team, in the entire period. But the Rams ultimately broke the Viking freeze and went on to record a convincing 50-23 victory. It was the 16th straight win for Coach Tom Bosley and his squad, and their 19th of the season. The scoring leaders against Petersburg (8-12) were Chad Panther, pictured at left putting up an easy lay-up, and Dennis Tressler, going for two in the photo at right. The Rams, seeded second in the 1A West Region standings, drew a bye in the first round of the playoffs and will face the winner of the Smithsburg-Boonsboro game at home next Tuesday. Photos by John McEwen.

Rams Crush Tornados, Vikes In Preparation For Playoffs

There is no better way to get ready for the playoffs than to win the final two games of the regular season in convincing fashion, which is what the area's top-rated Southern High School varsity boys' basketball team did this past week. A 62-40 victory over visiting Keyser on Friday and a 50-23 win Tuesday night over Petersburg, also at home, not only provides momentum for this week's West Region 1A playoffs, but also stretched the Rams' win streak to 16 games and upped their overall record to 19-3.

Coach Tom Bosley and his squad are the second-seeded team in the West Region, with South Hagerstown seeded first. The Rams were awarded a bye in the first round of the regional tourney and will host the winner of this Saturday's Boonsboro-Smithsburg game next Tuesday.

Ricky Reams and Matt Stephens stepped to the front against Keyser on Friday, as they each netted 15 points to pace the Ram offense. Nine of Reams' points were recorded in the first quarter, which ended with the Rams on top, 18-7.

The second quarter was about even, and the Rams held a 32-19 advantage at halftime. Southern then dominated the third period with a 16-5 scoring splurge to take a commanding 48-24 lead into the final quarter. Stephens scored half of the Rams' third-quarter points.

Reams also recorded five assists and five steals, Chad Panther finished with 12 points and five assists, and Bryson Meyers and Dennis Tressler each pulled down seven rebounds.

Three-point goals - None. Total fouls - Petersburg 15, Southern 12. Fouled out - Weese (Petersburg).

Petersburg	2	6	9	23
Southern	2	16	27	50

Pacing the Golden Tornados (8-12) with 10 points was Rusty Clay.

The Southern junior varsity edged the Keyser jayvees in the preliminary game, 59-55, with Anthony Ablonczy netting a game-high 21 points, Corey Tressler connecting for 15, and Cory Bosley adding 12. Keyser was led by Nick Landes with 17 points.

Tuesday's game between the Ram varsity and Petersburg was an odd encounter, as the Vikings decided that the only chance they had against the top-ranked Rams was to use slow-down tactics. The effort worked well in the first quarter, as each team scored a grand total of two points.

The Rams opened things up more offensively in the second quarter, but maintained their stingy defense, and were on top by 10 — 16-6 — by halftime. They stretched their advantage to 27-9 by the end of the third quarter, and then scored 14 of their 23 points in the fourth quarter on 17 attempts from the foul line.

Chad Panther and Dennis Tressler led Southern in scoring with 14 and 12 points, respectively, with Panther netting 10 of his total in the second quarter. Ten of Tressler's 12 points were scored via a 10-for-10 effort at the charity stripe.

Panther hit 100 percent of his attempts from the floor (6-for-6) and also recorded six steals and five rebounds. Four of his steals were in the second quarter.

Tressler grabbed a team-high six rebounds, and D.R. Parsons just missed double figures with nine points.

As a team the Rams hit 58 percent of their field goal attempts (15-for-26).

Recording four points apiece for the Vikings, who managed to hit just eight of 32 shots from the floor (25 percent), were Todd Heare, Brad Weese, Brian Keplinger, and Calvin Bensenhaver. The Vikings dropped to 9-12 with the loss.

Corey Tressler led the Southern junior varsity to a 33-27 victory in the preliminary game, as he finished with 12 points. Graham Porter hit a game-high 14 points for the Petersburg jayvees.

If the Rams are victorious in their quarterfinal playoff game next Tuesday, they will then meet either Northern, Hancock, or Westmar in the 1A West Region semifinals next Thursday evening. The regional championship game will be played Saturday, March 2.

Huskies Hope To Change Course After Losses To Beall, Hancock

The Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team wrapped up its regular season this week with a 68-55 loss to Beall Friday and a 75-69 loss to Hancock Tuesday. The action gives NHS a 6-16 record on the year heading into the opening round of the Maryland Class 1A West Region Tournament at 7 p.m. Saturday evening at Westmar, which finished at 7-13. (See below.)

Friday's match-up with Beall was a game of two different halves, as NHS and Beall battled through a tight first stanza before the visiting Mounties took control in the second half. The Huskies held a 16-14 lead after one quarter of play, and the score was knotted at 31-all at the half — still anybody's game. Beall went on a 22-12 third-quarter run that gave the Mounties a 53-43 lead as the fourth quarter opened. The visitors held Northern to a 12-point tally in the final stanza as well.

NHS center Jensen Long turned in a superb performance in the losing effort, notching a double-double of 21 points and 10 rebounds. Forward Josh Swandol, another senior, contributed 10 points, and sophomore Rico Alston continued to show his growing prowess under the boards by snagging 10 rebounds. Beall's Ryan Harper led all scorers with 25 points.

The Northern junior varsity squad fell in its contest, but details were not available.

BEALL (68)
Chris McCormick 1 2-2 4, Greg Russ 1 0-0 2, Joel Greig 4 0-0 11, Ryan Harper 10 4-5 25, Jared Kline 4 3-7 11, Mahlon Harper 6 1-2 15. Totals 26 10-16 68.

NORTHERN (55)
Jensen Long 9 3-7 21, Josh Swandol 4 2-2 10, Aaron Mitchell 3 1-2 8, Jason Rice 3 2-2 7, Andrew Frantz 1 0-0 2, Rico Alston 1 2-5 4. Totals 21 10-18 55.

Three-point goals - Beall 6 (Greig 3, R. Harper, M. Harper 2), Northern 3 (Rice 2, Mitchell). Total fouls - Beall 17, Northern 18. Fouled out - None.

Beall	14	31	53	68

NORTHERN (69)
Jensen Long 9 1-2 19, Josh Swandol 3 3-6 9, Aaron Mitchell 9 2-2 22, Andrew Frantz 1 0-0 2, Jason Rice 4 0-0 12, Landon Southerly 1 1-2 3, Jeremy King 1 0-0 2. Totals 22 6 7-12 69.

HANCOCK (75)
Jeremy Newton 0 4-6 4, Chris Robar 5 2-2 17, Aaron Demory 1 0-0 2, Chris Wills 5 6-8 18, John Puffenberger 4 0-1 9, Brandon Fling 9 7-11 25. Totals 16 8 19-28 75.

Three-point goals - Northern 6 (Mitchell 2, Rice 4), Hancock 8 (Robar 5, Wills 2, Puffenberger 1). Total fouls - Northern 20, Hancock 14. Fouled out - Long, Swandol (N).

Hancock	25	41	53	75

The Huskies were forced to play catch-up Tuesday after falling behind early at Hancock, and almost pulled out a win. Hancock ran up 25 points in the first quarter to NHS's 17, and the Panthers were up 41-34 at the half; however, an inspired Northern squad exploded in the third stanza with a 22-12 tally that put NHS on top 56-53 as the final period got under way. It was all Hancock in the fourth stanza though, as the Panthers went on a 22-13 run of their own to take the win.

Mitchell had a big night, scoring 22 points on nine field goals, two from three-point range, and hitting both of his foul shots. Long nearly duplicated that effort with by sinking nine field goals and one of two free throws for 19 points, and Rice hit four three-pointers on his way to 12 points. Swandol muscled his way to 15 rebounds and nine points. Brandon Fling paced Hancock with 25 points.

The NHS jayvees won their game, but details were not reported.

Playoffs Ahead

The Huskies are slated to visit Westmar in Saturday's opening round match-up of the West Region Tournament. The two teams split their regular season series with one win apiece. Should Northern win Saturday's contest, the Huskies would host third seed Hancock in a Tuesday evening quarterfinal game, with the winner of that contest advancing to Thursday's semifinal round. The tourney brackets put the second seeded Southern Rams (should they advance beyond Tuesday's quarterfinal) on track to be the opponent in that contest.

All Northern High boys' and girls' post-season games are scheduled for live radio broadcast on 104.5 WKHJ-FM.

Wisp Ski Club Hosting First Children's Event

Officers of the Wisp Ski Club are calling on all skiers and snowboarders to participate in the club's first children's event, set for this Saturday, Feb. 23, at 5:30 p.m.

Paige Quigley and Anne Meyr are hosting the event, which will include a mountain scavenger hunt, gate running, and a relay race. Free pizza, chips, and soft drinks will be available. Club members may participate free, and non-members may participate for a $2 registration fee.

There will also be a meeting of the club officers at 3:30 p.m. to finalize plans for the Winter Blast. A regular membership meeting will follow immediately.

Lakers Top Cards In Season Finale, Rockville In Tourney

An 88-71 Maryland JUCO victory over a good CCBC Catonsville team on Saturday in their final regular-season game gave the home-standing Garrett Community College men's basketball team plenty of momentum to then dispose of visiting Montgomery Rockville CC, 124-80, in an opening round of the Maryland JUCO Tournament.

The Lakers, whose record is now 21-6 overall, will continue their quest for a conference title this Friday at 3 p.m. when they take on the winner of the Catonsville/Baltimore City contest at Frederick.

The Catonsville Cardinals came to McHenry on Saturday with a solid 17-7 overall record and a 12-3 mark in JUCO games, but the Lakers took the lead early in the game and never looked back. Duke Cooper recorded a triple-double for the evening by hitting 11 points, grabbing 12 of the Lakers' 44 rebounds, and dishing out a dozen assists.

Kortaa Hall paced Garrett's scoring effort with 21 points, while Jontae Harrington was right behind with 19. Sam Brown had 11 points, as did Cooper, and Darren Stackhouse chipped in with 10.

The Lakers were on top by a 37-26 spread at halftime.

"We started the game with good intensity and we maintained it, which is what we will have to do in every one of our tournament games if we want to keep playing," stated Laker coach Dennis Gibson. "This was a great way to end our regular season."

Pacing the Cardinals with a game-high 25 points was Akeem Scott. Charles Scott also reached double figures with 17 points, as did Jermaine Sawyer in rebounds with a game-high 15.

Six Lakers finished in double scoring figures in Tuesday's tournament romp over Montgomery Rockville, with Hall leading the way with 28 points, a total which included 24 points on eight buckets from three-point range.

Garrett was deadly from long range and finished with a total of 19 three-pointers. Harrington, Darren Stackhouse, and Brown each recorded 16 points, while Andrew Wass and Darvus Gray each connected for 14. Cooper, who leads the conference in assists, had 16 of them, and also pulled down a team-high eight rebounds. Wass hit four three-pointers.

The Lakers, who held a lopsided 62-39 halftime lead, finished with a 54-50 edge in rebounds.

Jouan Ruzic of Rockville finished right behind Hall in scoring with 27 points and grabbed a game-high 10 rebounds, while Tunde Fadahunsi and Jamal Schools also reached double figures with 16 and 12 points, respectively. Schools was also credited with four assists.

"Everything was clicking for us," Coach Gibson said. "Hopefully we can keep our momentum going."

Fouled out - Ojo (Montgomery-Rockville).

Lakers Down Cecil; Defeat Baltimore In JUCO Play-In

The Garrett Community College Lakers continued their recent surge his week, as GCC defeated Cecil Saturday 76-66 behind a sterling 31-point performance by Preston County native Mindy Miller, then opened the Maryland JUCO Women's Basketball Tournament with a 67-52 play-in win over Baltimore City Tuesday night in McHenry. (See separate story for details on the JUCO Tournament, which opens tomorrow night at GCC.)

Miller, a freshman forward who played for the Preston High Knights last season, put on a show at Cecil Saturday as she sank four three-pointers en route to her 31 points. In all, she connected on 10 field goal attempts and netted a perfect seven-for-seven tally from the foul line. She also recorded four steals.

Fellow Laker Angel Kendal also turned in a fine effort in support of her classmate by hitting six field goals, two from three-point range, and four free throws for 18 points. Crystal Kimble had 12 points and Donna Lyles yanked down 11 rebounds. Leslie Stretch led Cecil with 21 points. GCC held a 37-32 lead at the half.

Tuesday's JUCO play-in battle with Baltimore featured a superbly balanced Garrett effort on offense. Guards Kendal and Christi Edgell recorded 16 points each from the backcourt, connecting on four and two three-point goals, respectively. Miller hit a trio of records of the participants also listed: Eighth seed Essex (5-7) vs. top seed Hagerstown (10-2), at 2 p.m.; fifth seed Harford (8-4) vs. fourth seed Prince George's (8-4), at 4 p.m.; third seed Rockville (9-2) vs. sixth seed Catonsville (7-5) at 6 p.m.; and second seed Frederick (10-2) vs. seventh seed Garrett (5-7) at 8 p.m.

The tournament will continue Saturday with semi-final action that will pit the winner of Hagerstown/Essex vs. the winner of Harford/Prince George's at 6 p.m. The evening's second game will pit the winner of Rockville/Catonsville vs. the winner Frederick/GCC at 8 p.m. The tournament championship contest is slated for Sunday at 2 p.m.

For further information on the JUCO Women's Tournament, persons may contact GCC athletic director Ann Wellham at 301-387-3052 or via e-mail at awellham@gcc.cc.md.us.

GCC To Host Women's JUCO Hoops Tourney

The 2002 Maryland Junior College (JUCO) Women's Basketball Tournament is set for this weekend, Friday through Sunday, at Garrett Community College. Admission to each round of the JUCO tourney is $5 for adults and $2 for students who present an ID.

The GCC women's team gained a berth in the tournament with the Lakers' 67-52 triumph over Baltimore Tuesday during a play-in contest. Four other JUCO Tournament play-in games took place the same evening at other sites in the state, as Essex edged Cecil 74-70; Harford beat Takoma Park 74-54; Prince George's downed Anne Arundel 53-70; and Catonsville walloped Allegany 59-28.

With the play-in slate completed, the JUCO Tournament gets under way tomorrow, with Garrett hosting each of the contests. Opening-round quarterfinal action is scheduled as follows, with accompanying tourney seed rankings and conference regular season three-pointers on her way to a 12-point tally. Lyles just missed a double-double as she scored 10 points and grabbed nine rebounds, and Kendal snagged six steals. Baltimore's Shanique Skinner led all scorers with 21 points. GCC held a 32-27 halftime advantage.

SHS Freshmen Win Consolation In Beall Tourney

The freshman boys' basketball team of Southern High School defeated host Beall, 51-45, in the Beall Freshman Tournament on Friday, but was then whipped by Fort Hill, 79-49, on Saturday.

In the win over Beall, Aaron Louden netted 18 points to pace the Rams, while teammates Brad Reese and Bucky Murphy each finished with 13.

The Beall freshmen were led by Scott Tadesco and Dan DeWitt with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Reese and Louden were the scoring leaders for Southern in the loss to Fort Hill, recording 18 and 15 points, respectively, while the freshmen Sentinels were led by Antwon Kyler with 28 points and Blake Raley with 16.

Petersburg won the tournament, topping the Frankfort freshmen in the championship game, 57-52. Other teams participating were Keyser, Allegany, and Hancock.

Reese and Louden were both named to the all-tournament team.

Recreational League Game Results Noted

Recreational Basketball League teams sponsored by Quality Machine, Markwood Citgo, and Monumental Insurance were all winners in games played Sunday evening.

Quality Machine got 19 points from Greg Inglese and 16 from Stan Eggleston to lead their team to a 63-58 win over Patterson Boat Company. Mike Fazenbaker netted a game-high 22 points for Patterson Boat.

Markwood Citgo recorded a 62-50 victory over Mettiki Coal Company, with Scott Shahan and Paul Lewis hitting 22 and 16 points, respectively, for the winners. Mike Saturday had 18 points for Mettiki.

A 36-point performance by Billy Braithwaite highlighted an 87-75 win by Monumental Insurance over Garrett Mine Supply. Also reaching double figures for Monumental was Walt Ward with 14 points. Jonathan Price poured in 31 points for Garrett Mine.

Games slated for this Sunday, Feb. 24, will pit Mettiki against Garrett Mine at 6 p.m., Monumental Insurance vs. Quality Machine at 7 p.m., and Patterson Boat against Markwood Citgo at 8 p.m.

NHS Downs Hancock, Falls To BW, Westmar; Panther Rematch Ahead

The Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team started its recent slate off with a win at Hancock before dropping contests to Bishop Walsh and Westmar. The Huskies' regular season has come to a close at a 7-14 overall record, and a 2-8 WMIL mark, as NHS heads into tomorrow night's homecourt Class 1A West Region playoff tourney opener, a 7 p.m. rematch with Hancock's Panthers.

The Huskies came away with a nine-point win after their Monday, Feb. 11, visit to Hancock. The forward tandem of Amanda Frantz and Bridget Frazee paced NHS with 16 and 13 points, respectively. Junior guard Heather Lander contributed eight points. Further details were not available.

Last Thursday's (Feb. 14) homecourt loss to a streaking Bishop Walsh unit came as Frantz recorded another 16-point performance on seven field goals and two successful free throws in as many attempts. Frazee contributed eight points on four field goals while hauling down 14 rebounds. The Spartans' Karen Knight paced all scorers with 29 points.

The BW visitors had jumped out to a 16-8 first quarter advantage on their way to doubling the Huskies' tally again at the intermission with a 30-15 halftime lead. The determined NHS squad closed the gap to a 39-28 margin by the end of the third quarter on the way to the 10-point loss. The game marked the Spartans' ninth consecutive victory.

Northern's junior varsity team dropped a 32-18 contest, despite a game-high 10-point performance by the Huskies' Kayla Kamp. Bishop Walsh's Karen James had nine points.

Last night at Westmar, the Huskies jumped out to an 11-7 first quarter lead, but the Wildcats clawed back into the thick of things to take a 20-17 halftime advantage. It was still a tight battle as the fourth quarter got under way with the hosts holding a slim 29-27 edge, but Westmar outscored NHS 14-8 over the final eight minutes.

Top-Seeded Ram Girls Debut In Playoffs Monday

The undefeated Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team has earned a first-round bye in the Class 1A West Region playoffs, and will open in quarterfinal action Monday evening at 7 p.m. against the winner of tomorrow night's Hancock-Northern playoff opener at NHS.

Should the Huskies win that match-up, Southern would host Northern in their meeting; however, if Hancock were to triumph, the Panthers would earn the homecourt advantage against the Rams. The winner of Monday night's quarterfinal contest will advance to the Region semifinal Wednesday night at Fort Hill High School, where the opponent will be the winner of Monday night's South Hagerstown-Allegany quarterfinal.

All of the Southern High post-season appearances, both girls' and boys', will be broadcast live on 92.3-FM The Train.

SCBL SHOWDOWN TOURNEY SET FOR SATURDAY — You don't have to be in the NBA to have excellent shooting form, as the Service Club Basketball League demonstrates every weekend in Oakland. Shown above, Nick Gregg (#23) of the SCBL's Elks goes up for a picture-perfect short jumper after driving past Lions defenders Sean McCreedy (#41) and Jason Wakefield (far right), as Evan Lantz (#35), Brett DeWitt (#21), Ryan DeWitt (#42), and Eric Blamble (behind Lantz) jostle for rebounding position. The SCBL's annual "Saturday Championship Showdown" is set to get under way at 9 a.m. this Saturday, Feb. 23, at Southern High School. Following the final 11:30 p.m. game, a pizza party and post-season awards ceremony will take place in the school cafeteria. For further information, persons may contact their team coach or Dave Bender at 301-334-9447. All local fans interested in seeing some Rams of the future are welcome to attend the contests.

Service Club Hoops League Tourney Slated

The Service Club Basketball League will host its ninth annual "Saturday Championship Showdown" this Saturday, Feb. 23, at Southern High School, featuring boys' and girls' youth league play.

The tournament schedule is as follows: 9 a.m. — Junior Division (fifth and sixth grade boys) consolation game; 9:30 a.m. — Junior Division championship game; 10 a.m. — Girls' Division consolation game; 10:30 a.m. — Girls' Division championship game; 11 a.m. — Senior Division (seventh and eighth grade boys) consolation game; 11:30 a.m. — Senior Division championship game. The games will take place in the main and auxiliary gymnasiums at Southern High.

A league pizza party will take place in the SHS cafeteria following the final game. The gathering will include a champions' recognition ceremony, the announcement of all-star selections, and the annual SCBL highlight show. Team and individual photographs will be distributed at the pizza party.

For further information, persons may contact their team coach or Dave Bender at 301-334-9447.

Frazee paced the Huskies' effort with 10 points, tying her for game-high honors, and added eight rebounds. Westmar's Marcie Sloan and Jessica Marsh each scored 10 points as well.

Northern's JV won a 40-39 thriller as Tiffany Yoder scored a dozen points for the Huskies. Megan Patton led all scorers with 16 Wildcat points.

Regionals Ahead

The Huskies are set to host Hancock in tomorrow's opening game of the West Region playoffs. Although the squads amassed nearly identical regular season records, Northern took both games of the head-to-head season series. Should their dominance of the Panthers prevail again, the Huskies would advance to Monday evening's quarterfinal round with a visit to Oakland to challenge the unbeaten Southern Rams.

Each of Northern High's girls' and boys' post-season games will be broadcast live on 104.5 WKHJ-FM.

Northern Alumna Captains WMC Basketball Squad

Grantsville native Brooke Brenneman, a 1998 graduate of Northern High School and current team captain of the Western Maryland College (Westminster) women's basketball squad, has led the Green Terror into WMC's first appearance in the Centennial Conference conference title game. WMC won a 58-57 thriller over Muhlenberg (Pa.) last night in the conference's opening round to advance to Saturday's homecourt championship contest against Swarthmore (Pa.).

Brenneman helped spark the WMC Green Terror to a 19-6 regular season mark this year. The 5-10 senior forward was the squad's third-highest scorer and rebounder this campaign, and runner-up for highest assist tally. Brenneman led the Green Terror in field goal percentage last season, hitting 46.5 percent of her shots.

Brenneman scored a team-high 20 points, her most of the year, during the Green Terror's 81-60 regular season finale triumph over Washington College Saturday. She also pulled down eight rebounds despite seeing limited playing time of just 23 minutes.

That victory set up a Monday night homecourt tiebreaker contest with Johns Hopkins (also 19-6), which Western Maryland won in a 70-68 thriller. Brenneman scored seven points and hauled down a dozen rebounds, despite being matched up against a player nearly four inches taller than herself.

Last night the Green Terror won another nail-biter, besting Muhlenberg by just one point in a game that went down to the wire. WMC hit a free throw to go up by two points with 1:40 to go, then Muhlenberg hit a foul shot with 16 seconds on the clock to pull within one, but the Green Terror prevailed for the 58-57 win. Brenneman scored eight points and grabbed nine rebounds. The performance boosted her career statistics to 550 points and 372 rebounds.

Off the court, Brenneman is majoring in marine biology and has been named to the WMC dean's list twice.

The former NHS standout earned Northern's Most Valuable Player award as she helped pace the Huskies to the 1997 Maryland Class 1A West Region championship and the state title game of that year, which Northern lost to Francis Scott Key High.

Brenneman is the daughter of Donna and Lynn Brenneman.

Northern High Cheerleaders Win Atlantic City Competition

The Maryland state champion Northern High School Cheer Team finished first in the Saturday's East Coast Cheer Championships, which took place in Atlantic City, N.J. The Husky squad put together a "flawless" cheer routine to earn the competition's overall first-place ranking, head Coach Lisa Carr said.

"Our cheerleaders showed outstanding spirit and every stunt was performed with 100 percent accuracy," stated Carr. "It was the best routine the team has ever performed, and the girls did it with outstanding teamwork. They overcame a horrible warmup to put together a beautiful performance for the judges."

Seven states — Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, New Jersey, New York, and Rhode Island — were represented at the Atlantic City competition. High school varsity and junior varsity cheer teams, all star squads, dance teams, and individuals took part in the event.

The first-place finish gained the NHS Cheer Team a berth in the next level of national competition in an upcoming California event. However, Coach Carr said the cheerleaders decided against taking part in that event because of a severe knee injury to one of the team's members and the exorbitant travel costs that would have been involved.

A photo of the Northern cheerleaders with their East Coast championship trophy should be available for next week's issue of The Republican.

Bowl For Kids' Sake Seeking More Sponsors

While many corporate sponsors have pledged to support the 2002 Big Brothers Big Sisters' Bowl for Kids' Sake, others are still being sought, according to JoAnn Fletcher, local BBBS coordinator. The Garrett County Bowl for Kids' Sake will be held at Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland on Saturday, March 23.

Corporate sponsors who become Silver Sponsors by making donations of $300 or more are given the opportunity to enroll a bowling team to compete for a traveling trophy, T-shirts, and dinner for the top scoring team. Gold Sponsors ($500 donation) receive the same as the Silver Sponsors, but may enter two bowling teams. If one of the two teams has the highest team score, both teams get treated to dinner. The Platinum Sponsors ($1,000 donation) can enter three bowling teams and all three teams receive the dinner if one of the three teams is the highest scoring team. Posters exhibiting the business or organization name are displayed at Par-Matt as part of the advertising package given to sponsors.

For information or to sign up as a corporate sponsor or pledge-raising bowlers for Bowl for Kids' Sake, persons may contact Big Brothers Big Sisters at 301-334-3591 or 800-400-0735.

AYSO Offering Coaching Clinics

The American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO) is offering age-specific soccer coaching courses. The course for coaches of under-8 youth will be held on Saturday, March 2, beginning at 8:30 a.m. The under-10 course will follow at 1 p.m.

The under-6 class will be held Friday, March 8, beginning at 7 p.m.

A Coaches Safe Haven course will begin at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, March 9. The Safe Haven course is the only nationally recognized course that provides maximum protection under the federal volunteer protection act.

The under-12 course will follow the Safe Haven course at 11 a.m.

All individuals interested in coaching or assisting are encouraged to attend. For persons not involved with AYSO Region #861, a small fee will be charged to cover the cost of the materials. All the classes will be held at Springs Mennonite Church, Springs, Pa. For additional information, persons may contact Lynn Lais at 301-895-3310 or 301-895-5932.

Huskies Second, Rams Fourth In Bi-County Wrestling Event

The wrestling team of Northern High School captured second place in the annual Bi-County Tournament on Saturday at Fort Hill High School, while Southern High School finished fourth in the six-team event.

The Huskies, who racked up five individual championships, amassed 179 team points to finish second only to Beall with 193 points. Fort Hill was third with 126.5 points, followed by Southern with 115, Westmar with 36, and Allegany with 19. The Rams had three individual champions.

Winning personal titles for the Huskies with pins in their final bouts were Pete Stein in the 125-pound division, Dan Ganoe at 135 pounds, Jordan Brenneman at 152 pounds, and Trey Brenneman, 275 pounds. Darric Kamp won the 145-pound division championship with a decision victory.

Beall, which won the team championship, had only two individual champions, but earned enough points with seven runners-up and three third-place finishers.

Earning titles for Southern were Justin Gregory in the 119-pound class, freshman Scott Wildesen at 130 pounds, and Chris Hayhurst io the 140-pound division. All three won by decision.

Garnering runner-up trophies for Northern were Lee Yoder in the 171-pound class, and for Southern, Joe Ashby in the 125-pound division.

The Huskies also had four third-place finishers: Kris Knox (160) and Mitchell Guard (140), who each won their consolation matches via pins, Michael Wolf (130) on a decision, and Michael Pickrel (112) by forfeit.

Jason Weeks (145) won his consolation bout by pin for the Rams, while Riff Browning (171) and Anthony Oliverio (275) also earned third places with decisions.

Joe Williams (135) and Geoff Tressler (160) were fourth-place finishers for Southern, as was Eric Garlitz (119) for Northern.

Other champions in the tournament were Eric Stowell (103) of Westmar, Roy Payne (112) of Fort Hill, Nick Durst (160) and Zach Sloan (171) of Beall, and Clay Miller (189) of Allegany.

REGIONAL SEEDINGS

Members of the Northern and Southern wrestling teams will compete next in the 1A/2A West Region Tournament, which will be hosted this Friday and Saturday by Fort Hill High School in Cumberland. The top four finishers in the regional event will then advance to the state tournament.

The Northern Huskies have eight wrestlers who have qualified for the regional tourney, plus one alternate, while the Southern Rams have six qualifiers and one alternate.

Huskies who are seeded at the top of their respective weight classes are Darric Kamp in the 145-pound division and Trey Brenneman in the 275-pound division.

Southern's Chris Hayhurst is seeded second in the 140-pound division, while Pete Stein and Jordan Brenneman of Northern are seeded third in the 125- and 152-pound divisions, respectively.

Seeded fourth in the 160-pound weight class is Kris Knox of Northern, Southern freshman Scott Wildesen is fifth in the 130-pound division, and seeded sixth are Northern's Mitchell Guard (140 pounds) and Dan Ganoe (135 pounds), and Southern's Jason Weeks (145 pounds).

Joe Ashby of Southern is seeded seventh in the 125-pound division, and seeded eighth are Justin Gregory (119) and Anthony Oliverio (275) of Southern, and Lee Yoder (171) of Northern.

Alternates include Eric Garlitz of Northern (119 pounds) and Riff Browning of Southern (171 pounds).

Other schools that will be represented in the regional tourney are Beall with 12 qualifiers, Walkersville, Francis Scott Key, Fort Hill, North Hagerstown, Middletown, Williamsport, Catoctin, South Hagerstown, Smithsburg, Westmar, Brunswick, Boonsboro, and Allegany.

Wrestling will get under way at 6 p.m. on Friday and resume Saturday at 10 a.m.

Arsenal Plays At Frostburg And Bridgeport

At the recent Frostburg State University Girls' Soccer Tournament, the Arsenal U-18 girls finished second behind a select team from Hagerstown.

In the first game against the Hagerstown team, Arsenal won 3-1 on goals by Laura Bonser, Megan Burner, and Jenny Hickman. Alasha Rush made 10 saves in the net. In the second match, Arsenal defeated Allegeny #1, 2-1. Erin Rhodes and Hickman placed the ball in the back of the net for Arsenal, while Rush gathered 18 saves. Game three saw Arsenal shut out Allegeny #2, 3-0, on goals by Rush (2) and Chelsea Remley, while Kailee Craig made four saves. In the championship match, Arsenal fell to Hagerstown, 2-0. Rush made 10 saves, but Arsenal couldn't overcome the deficit and came away with second place.

In last week's Bridgeport Soccer Tournament, Arsenal teams did very well, with many teams making it into the semi-final rounds of play, while the U-12 girls played for the championship.

In the U-12 boys' division, Arsenal White lost its first match, 2-1. Alec Holloway, on an assist by Mike Rosecky, scored the lone goal for Arsenal. Royce Warnick made five stops in the net. In the second match, Arsenal came away with a 0-0 draw. Warnick again collected five saves. In game three, Arsenal had to play its "sister" team and came away with a 4-2 victory to send it into the semi-finals. Goals were scored by Holloway (2), Rosecky, and Warnick. Assists were recorded by Holloway and Alan Gnegy. Warnick made four stops in goal. In the semi-finals match Arsenal lost to the Hotshots team of Charleston, W.Va., by a 0-2 score. Warnick cleared the net five times in the match.

The younger Arsenal Green team in the U-12 division struggled and dropped both games. Mike Kozier made 12 saves minding the net. In game three against their "sister" team, they came alive and, though they were defeated, played well and lost by the 4-2 margin in the quarter-final match. A.J. Storck scored once and assisted on the second goal by Tanner Polce. Chris Coddington made eight saves in goal.

In the U-12 girls' division, Arsenal Green played for the championship, losing the game in the third overtime after goalkeepers were removed from play. In the preliminary rounds, Arsenal Green lost to WV United, 1-0, and tied Hotshots from Charleston, 0-0. They rebounded and defeated RVSC in the semi-final match, 1-0. Morgan Anderson placed the ball in the back of the net for Arsenal. In the final match, which went into triple overtime, Arsenal eventually fell by a 2-1 margin and came away as runners-up for the age division. Brittney Scheffel scored for Arsenal. Julianna Sheets gathered 30 saves in the goal throughout the day.

Arsenal White lost its two matches by 1-0 scores. Clare Buckel gathered 13 saves in the net in the first game, and Anderson had 16 in the second.

In the U-14 boys' division, playing shorthanded due to illnesses, the boys lost their games. Goals were scored by James Naylor, Cody Brack, and Brett Dugan, with Naylor also recording an assist. Brent Carnell (22 saves), Logan Craig (16 saves), and James Mullenax (five saves) shared the goalkeeping duties.

The U-14 girls' division saw Arsenal play strongly, but was also shorthanded and came away without a victory. Corey Lewis scored the lone goal for Arsenal and Jessica Petrella and Hannah Storey minded the net for the two teams.

Playing shorthanded throughout the day, the U-16 and U-18 boys' teams struggled and were unable to notch a win. Goals were scored by Riff Browning (2) and Tray Rives. Sean Buckle received credit for an assist. Ben Friend (27 saves) and Bobby Bonser (26 saves) carried the goalkeeping responsibilities.

In the U-18 girls' division, Arsenal lost its first match, 2-1, to Soccer Vision Academy. Laura Bonser scored for Arsenal and Alison Ulino collected nine saves. In the second contest, Arsenal defeated Voltage from Bridgeport, 4-1. Among those scoring goals were Chelsea Remley, Bonser, and Laura Hollingsworth. Bonser also recorded an assist. In the quarter-final match, Arsenal, in double overtime, lost 2-1 to Traxxion, another Bridgeport team. Alasha Rush managed nine saves and Ulino scored for the club.

In the U-16 division, Arsenal fielded two teams. Arsenal White won its opener, 1-0, against Preston County. Emily Bowman scored and Rush had 10 saves. The second match saw Arsenal defeat Parkersburg, 3-0, on goals by Melissa Rohrbaugh, Erin Rhodes, and Vanessa Logan. Rush made eight stops in the net. In the semi-final match, Arsenal lost to Parkersburg, 3-0, while Rush collected nine saves.

The Arsenal Green team lost its opener to a local team, 2-1. Jasmine Scheffel scored, assisted by Shan Hollingsworth. Kailee Craig made 10 saves. In the second match against Preston County, Arsenal won, 2-0. Hollingsworth scored on an assist by Scheffel, and Scheffel scored unassisted. Craig stopped 11 in the net. In the quarter-final match, Arsenal was defeated in double overtime 2-1 by Parkersburg. Hollingsworth scored for Arsenal, assisted by Sara Anderson. Craig stopped five in the net.

Arsenal will continue its indoor tournament season this weekend in Morgantown's Soccer-In-Schools Tournament.

THE REPUBLICAN

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

Ever wonder what a Maryland Natural Resources policeman does after retirement? Well, Oakland resident John Williams retired from the DNR, but didn't retire from his commitment to protecting wildlife through enforcement of the Maryland game and fish laws. John does this by heading up Wildlife Conservation Enforcement Fund Inc., a nonprofit organization that has been awarded 501(c)(3) status. To neophytes at tax law interpretation, that means that any contributions we make are tax deductible.

The organization's mission is to raise funds to purchase equipment that will make the active police officers' efforts more effective and their daily routine safer. The kinds of things their fund-raising does or will make possible are acquisition of deer decoys to be used for apprehension of poachers, acquisition of cell phones for officers' field use, night vision equipment, roof racks, ATVs, etc.

The idea for such a fund grew from John's experiences in the field, where he worked without many things that would have boosted his effectiveness. And, the fiscal realities are that there aren't dollars in the current state budget for procuring many of these aids, and projections are that these funds won't be budgeted for the foreseeable future.

John's typical retired week includes 30-plus hours contacting manufacturers, organizations, and individual sportsmen regarding sponsorship of and contributions to WCEF. WCEF goals include expanding their influence, fund-raising, and acquisitions statewide (to date most of the effort and action has been right here in western Maryland), expand the board of directors and advisory board, and establish an annual fund-raising event that would draw from all of Maryland.

Participation is one positive way that law-abiding sportsmen and women can help propagate their sport and help stop illegal poaching of fish and game.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of WCEF or donating dollars or equipment to be used by the Natural Resources Police may contact John at 888-231-5925 or by e-mail at jlwilliams@gcnetmail.net.

EXPERTS SAY TAKE DROUGHT SERIOUSLY

This information comes from the Ag department at Penn State University, but applies to Garrett County as well. As the drought of 2001-2002 worsens, a water resources extension specialist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences worries that people are not taking a critical situation seriously.

Typically, groundwater recharge slows or stops from May to September when growing plants take up most available water. So groundwater does not recharge in summer. Groundwater usually does not recharge in winter because the ground is frozen, preventing precipitation from soaking in.

"Of course, late-winter snows would ease the situation," Swistock says. "Snow melts slowly and recharges the groundwater. There's hope, because in recent years, February and March have been our biggest snow months. But if we don't have a wet spring, we are going to be in trouble."

He offers the following water-saving ideas:

- Replacing an old toilet with a new 1.6 gallon-per-flush model could save a typical household from 7,900 to 21,700 gallons of water per year.
- Placing a plastic jug filled with water or small rocks in older toilet tanks can cut down on the amount of water needed for each flush and save more than 1,000 gallons per year.
- Repairing dripping faucets and leaking toilets (flapper valves are usually the cause) can save more than 10 gallons of water per person per day. A faucet dripping at one drop per second wastes 2,700 gallons per year.
- Wash clothes and dishes only when you have a full load. When replacing an older machine, consider high-efficiency models, which use an average of 30 percent less water and 40 percent to 50 percent less energy, saving about nine gallons per washing machine cycle and 7.5 gallons per dishwasher cycle.
- Installing a water-efficient showerhead can save one to 7.5 gallons per minute. Taking a quick shower can save an average of 20 gallons of water.

Hanline Named Dove Center Exc. Director

Heather Hanline has been named the Dove Center's new executive director by the board of directors of the domestic violence victims' service organization. The selection was based on Hanliae's vast experience working with children, adolescents, and adults for the last eight years with four different programs, according to a Dove Center spokesperson.

Hanline joined the Dove Center staff in 1998 as a child counseling specialist, and provided individual and group counseling and case management to child victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, and/or sexual abuse. She also provided psycho-educational support for parents of those children.

In July 2001 Hauline was named program coordinator, and provided oversight with policy and procedure writing, staff supervision, public speaking, and fundraising activities. She assumed the interim director's position in October 2001. In concert with the board of directors, she is working to ensure proper agency management, strategic planning, and grant writing.

She serves on various community boards such as the Teen Pregnancy Prevention Coalition, the Family Violence Coalition, Garrett Works Advisory Council, and the Healthy Families Advisory Council, and represents the Dove Center at the county commissioners' monthly meeting of department heads.

A Southern High School alumna, Hanline earned an associate's degree in psychology at Garrett Community College, and a bachelor's degree in psychology at Frostburg State University. She undertook her graduate studies at FSU while working full-time, first at Garrett County Lighthouse, then Shawnee Hills Rehabilitation Unit. She earned her master's degree in counseling psychology in May 1998. She has also worked as an on-call crisis counselor for Garrett County Memorial Hospital in addition to her duties at the Dove Center.

Hanline lives in Oakland with her husband Patrick and their two sons, Zachary and Brandon.

The Dove Center provides services for victims of domestic abuse, sexual assault, and date rape, as well as children from violent homes, child victims of sexual abuse, and adults molested as children. The facility also offers a 24-hour Helpline, referral to appropriate resources, temporary shelter, crisis and individual counseling, advocacy, accompaniment to legal and agency appointments, support and educational groups, and a speakers bureau, plus it operates the county's Abuse Intervention Program and provides service through four outreach offices.

For further information on the services of the Dove Center, persons may call 301-334-9000 or 1-800-656-4673. All contacts are completely confidential.

shirt, a complimentary Pizzeria Uno lunch, and a group color photo. Participants must wear bathing suits, as well as shoes and surf mocs as they dunk into the freezing Deep Creek Lake water during one of the coldest times of the year in western Maryland. Prizes will be awarded to the dunkers and law enforcement officials raising the most money, as well as an award being given for the best costume. The day will also feature food, music, and giveaways.

The event is coordinated by the Maryland State Police and local law enforcement agencies, and will benefit the athletes of Garrett County and Allegany County, part of a network of 10,000 Special Olympic athletes across the state who compete throughout the year.

"Thanks to the care and concern of hundreds of brave participants, we had incredible success at last year's Deep Creek Dunk," said Colonel David B. Mitchell, superintendent of the Maryland State Police and founder and chairman of the Winter Water Series. "Again this year, we hope to exceed our expectations by providing a chilling opportunity for you to have a great time while impacting the lives of more than 10,000 children and adults who train and compete in Special Olympics Maryland."

amount of his own money, said that if there is any profit from the book sales it will go to the historical society, and possibly be used for publishing future books. He hopes to be able to compile similar books on the Great Depression, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War, again consisting of interviews of local persons who are willing to share their experiences in those crises.

Contributions to the current book, titled Garrett County at Home and at War, came from students in all grade levels at Southern and all subject areas, including social studies, English, business, marketing, art, music, journalism, and electronics and computer science for technical support. In addition to the stories of the people who lived during the World War II era, the book also contains student art, cartoons from the era, numerous WWII photographs, and articles from The Republican newspaper. The cover is a painting of the Oakland B&O railroad station by local artist Charles "Chip" Evans.

The estimated cost of a copy of the book is $30, but that number could drop to around $22 if there are enough pre-publishing sales to warrant having 1,000 copies printed.

"I am confident that we will easily sell 500 copies," Novak said. "I think it will be a valuable historical resource book, and should be of interest to every person in the county. Nearly everyone has had at least one relative who was or is a veteran of World War II, or who was in some other way involved in that era.

"However, I only have a few weeks to get a commitment, so I am asking for people to contact me within the next week or so," he said, "because I would hate to see over three years of work by so many people go down the drain."

Novak can be reached by telephone at 301-334-3413; by e-mail at mattnovak@genetmail.net; or be regular mail at 2821 Shady Dell Road, Oakland, MD 21550.

Novak said that an unproofed copy of the book is available for perusal at the Garrett County Historical Society museum in downtown Oakland. The museum is open Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Another part of the project has been two student-veterans dinners held at Proctor Kildow Post 71 of the American Legion in Oakland. Over 150 persons attended the first dinner in 2000, and 175 attended a similar dinner last year. They were held to honor all veterans and to recognize the participation of both students and veterans in the book project. The students also created a display at the local Wal-Mart during the Autumn Glory Festival.

Bear Bill

"A lot of my colleagues are from places where people don't want bears killed, because they don't understand bears and don't have to live with them. I guess this is a step, a tool, but you won't know you are shooting the right bear unless the DNR comes out ahead of time and puts a tag on it."

If HB 10 is passed by the General Assembly and signed by Governor Parris Glendening, the law would go into effect on June 1. The DNR would then create specific regulations to implement the legislation, and the permits could be issued by this fall.

Committee chairman Del. John Hurson said there was no provision in the bill addressing the legality of a landowner selling the permit to someone who wants to shoot a bear.

Sunday Hunting Bill

The House Environmental Matters Committee also approved HB 9, which would expand the deer firearms hunt by one Sunday and six other days other than Sunday, by a narrow 12-10 vote.. The bill was specifically amended to propose that the first Sunday of firearms season, which falls during the weekend following Thanksgiving, be opened for deer hunting. The bill had originally proposed that three Sundays be opened for hunting.

The six additional days other than Sunday could be added at any point. "They could be added to the front of the firearms season or to the back of the season, or even in January," committee chairman Hurson said. "They aren't required to be consecutive."

Discussion on both bills will continue on the House floor.

Also slated next week is a hearing for Senate Bill 310. The legislation, sponsored by District 1 Senator John Hafer, would provide more funding for local community colleges. The Senate Budget and Taxation Committee will conduct the hearing on Wednesday, Feb. 27, at 1:30 p.m. in the West Miller Senate Building.

The legislation requests that Garrett Community College and Allegany College of Maryland receive additional unrestricted grants of a specified amount." It also asks that "specified unrestricted grant" funding increase at the same rate for community colleges as it does for four-year public institutions, according to the Assembly's web site.

Commissioner Fred Holliday is planning to attend the hearing to lend his support for the legislation.

The bill was drafted by GCC president Dr. Steve Herman and ACM president Dr. Don Alexander in an attempt to compensate for funding inequities to their colleges, due to an unforeseen glitch in a funding formula introduced five years ago.

Edwards, Delegate Kevin Kelly, and Speaker Casper Taylor introduced the same bill, HB 179, in the House. The House Appropriations Committee held its hearing on the legislation on Jan. 30.

Farmer Returning To Mountaintop 2002 Conference

Living for Christ Conferences has announced that space is still available for its 16th annual get-away weekend conference, Mountaintop 2002, to be held March 1-3 at Lakeview Scanticon Resort in Morgantown, W.Va.

Richard Allen Farmer, pianist and vocalist, will appear in concert at the Saturday evening "Festival in Celebration of the Sovereignty of God" with Peculiar People, a drama team starring Charlie and Ruth Jones.

Dr. Farmer is dean of the chapel at Taylor University in Upland, Ind. Prior to this appointment, he resided in Dallas, Texas, and was in full-time ministry as a Bible expositor and concert artist. He formerly served as pastor of Bethany Baptist Church in Pittsburgh and dean of the chapel at Gordon College in Wenham, Mass.

In addition to the concert, Dr. Farmer will present a break-out seminar, "Time Management 101," at which he will discuss practical tips for maximizing one's time. He will also lead the musical worship on Sunday morning of the event.

The featured speaker for this conference is Jerry Bridges, who has been on staff with the Navigators

Miss Haddock, Mr. Hensley United In September Event

Jessica Keri Haddock and Brian Christopher Hensley were united in marriage on Sept. 22, 2001, in a double ring ceremony on the grounds of the Silver Spring estate in Milford, Pa., which is owned by the bride's family. The Rev. David Repenning officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Kenneth and Arlene Haddock of Parkton, and the groom is the son of Larry and Virginia Hensley of Grantsville.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a strapless, floor-length gown of off-white silk organza beaded with pearls at the top and on the train. She carried a bouquet of white roses and hydrangeas. Serving as matron of honor was Danielle Stevenson, friend of the bride. The bridesmaids were Amy Sherman, cousin of the bride, and Bryn Carey and Elizabeth Landskroener, friends of the bride. They carried bouquets of mauve roses and hydrangeas.

Serving as best man was Matthew Hensley, brother of the groom. The groomsmen were John Hughes and John Hershberger, friends of the groom, and Joel Haddock, brother of the bride.

The reception, which included a dinner and dance, was held at Silver Spring. The couple honeymooned in New England, and now reside in Fallston.

The bride is a graduate of Parkton High School and is pursuing a master's degree in publication design at the University of Maryland at Baltimore County. She works for Parent's Choice as a webmaster. The groom is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and earned a master's degree in business administration from the University of Maryland at Baltimore County. He intends to enter the Ph.D. program at the University of Maryland this fall. The couple are the founders of H2X Multimedia Inc.

Ms. Huse To Wed Mr. Wilson

Ralph Roger Shupp, Greensburg, Pa., and Loretta Darlene Kee, Mtn. Lake Park, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter Tamala Christine Huse of Swanton to James Randy Wilson. The prospective groom is the son of Riley Matthew Wilson of Swanton and the late Charlotte Ann Wilson.

The wedding is slated for Saturday, June 15, at 1 p.m. at the Mount Zion Methodist Church in Swanton. Though invitations will be sent, all family and friends are invited to attend.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Four couples applied for their marriage licenses this week, according to David Martin, clerk of Garrett County Circuit Court.

Joseph Peter Russo II, 31, and Shawna Renay Parker, 29, both of Glen Burnie.

Lash Rocky Larue Lloyd Jr., 24, and Tereka Marie Tasker, 20, both of Deer Park.

Charles William Franks Sr., 35, and Diane Lynn Baily, 28, both of Uniontown, Pa.

Robert Lee Mallow Sr., 57, Dryfork, W.Va., and Denneatta Jean Lewis, 39, Elkins, W.Va.

Junkins, Spragg Wedding Slated

Mr. and Mrs. Steven M. Junkins, Keyser, W.Va., recently announced the engagement and upcoming wedding of their daughter Chanda Marie to Roger Spragg II.

The bride-to-be is a 1996 graduate of Union High School and a 2001 graduate of Fairmont State College with a bachelor's degree in health science. She is currently employed by Genesis ElderCare in the administration program.

Miss Junkins is the granddaughter of Pete and Nancy Hoffman, Oakland, and Bud and Shelby Junkins, Mt. Storm, W.Va.

The prospective groom is the son of Roger and Shirley Spragg, Hundred, W.Va. He is a 1992 graduate of Hundred High School, and a 1996 graduate of Fairmont State College, with a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice. He is also a graduate of the 48th Cadet Class, West Virginia State Police Academy. He is currently employed by the Wetzel County Sheriff's Department as a deputy sheriff.

A wedding has been planned for April 20. Invitations have been sent.

RETURN TO NEVER LAND

Rated G - Running Time: 1:12 - Released 2/15/02

Now that Walt Disney Pictures has begun in earnest to produce full-length sequels to its previous cartoon features (e.g., The Rescuers Down Under, Toy Story 2, and now Return To Neverland), one wonders how many future projects of this type are on the drawing board. Are we soon going to see Beauty And The Beast 2: These Kids Are Monsters, or Snow White And The Irreconcilable Differences? How about Sleeping Beauty: The Sominex Addiction? The possibilities are staggering.

Directed by Robin Budd and Donovan Cook, Return To Neverland is not only a continuation of Disney's 1953 cartoon Peter Pan, but it seems to emulate its innocence, simplicity, and production values in every way. Starting with a vintage cartoon short called Pluto's Fledgling, which was produced 5 years before the original Pan, the film plays out in a slim 72 minutes, resurrecting nearly all the characters from the original interpretation of J.M. Barrie's classic (minus the Indians), with little digital animation, no clever 21st-century references, and no major Hollywood star voices. There is a subtle little twist, though. Written by Temple Mathews and Carter Crocker, this version does not simply recount adventurous tales of snot-nosed pranksters and swashbuckling pirates, it centers around faith. Including the story of Tinkerbell's near-fatal episode caused by a lack of belief in fairies (a portion of the original story left out of the '53 film), this movie serves as a thinly veiled allegory on the importance of belief in something that cannot be seen. Personally, I think it's just Disney execs trying to smooth things over with the Christian Coalition.

The story begins with Peter's old pal Wendy (voiced by rugrat Kath Soucie), who has returned to London, grown up, and had children of her own. England is in the middle of World War II, and when her husband is sent off to battle, she counts on her daughter Jane (Harriet Owen) to take care of her and little brother Danny (Andrew McDonough). Although Wendy has kept alive the tradition of Pan-related storytelling, pre-teen Jane is a stubborn skeptic, discarding her mother's tales as "childish nonsense." Soon, however, she falls asleep and is awakened by the huge clipper ship of Captain Hook (Corey Burton), hovering over her house. Thinking Jane is Wendy, he kidnaps her in a final attempt to eradicate Peter Pan. Soon Jane finds herself in Never Land, on the very island of her mother's stories, which is still populated by the same old lost boys in their animal-themed PJ's (they must really smell by now) and still run in spirited adolescent fashion by Peter Pan (Blayne Weaver), who doesn't look a day over 12. Desiring only to go home, Jane learns from Peter that the only thing that will allow her to fly back to her family in London is a well-measured combination of "faith, trust, and pixie dust."

This film looks like it was produced in 1954, shelved for 48 years, and repackaged for a 2002 audience. Apart from a modern-sounding ballad called "I'll Try" by Jonatha Brooke, it retains the look and feel of a film produced while The Big Cheese was still running the show. This may be a good or a bad thing: against today's production standards it suffers, but the old familiar characters are all remarkably the same, both in rendering and the present cast's vocal impersonations of the original actors. In terms of characterization, things in Never Land haven't changed much, either. Hook (now pursued by a giant octopus instead of a crocodile) is still accompanied by his bumbling first mate, Smee (Jeff Bennett), and Pan is still flying around slicing holes through his expensive sails. Oh, yeah, and while Tinkerbell has kept her knockout figure, she's still having trouble with PMS. ★★★

HART'S WAR

Rated R - Running Time: 2:05 - Released 2/15/02

What would you get if you made Hogan's Heroes into a dramatic feature film? You might get something like Hart's War, a thoughtful study into the goings on in an American POW camp during World War II. However, while Gregory Hoblit's film doesn't paint the U.S. military prisoner's experience as quite the yuk-fest it was in the TV show, it does sanitize the violence considerably and portray the German captors as being quite sympathetic, even friendly, toward their American detainees. This is because the film's story, penned by Billy Ray and Terry George, based on the novel by John Katzenbach, is concerned more with the issue of racism among the U.S. prisoners than the treatment they endured from their captors. While the subject of cruelty or torture in Nazi prison camps may be a side issue to this film's main plot, there may be some former POWs out there who will take exception to its sympathetic portrayal of the "enemy."

That said, the story is suitably gritty and intense, with director Hoblit (Frequency) achieving at least the authenticity, if not the integrity, of a Schindler's List with his Czech-produced film. It also allows Bruce Willis another chance to play a tough-as-nails antihero, something he does with identical effectiveness, not to mention identical characterization, in each such role he is given (Die Hard, Armageddon, The Siege, etc.). These are the roles he plays in between the more interesting ones (12 Monkeys, The Sixth Sense, Bandits). Meanwhile, Colin Farrell does admirably the job of playing the title role when the title role is not the star of the picture. He's there mainly to act as a foil to Willis's overblown heroics.

The story begins with Lieutenant Thomas W. Hart (Farrell), a senator's son with a cushy assignment far from the fighting at V Corps H.Q. in Belgium. When Hart is sent to drive another officer through hostile territory, their jeep is attacked and the other man killed. Next thing he knows, he's being transported to a POW camp in Augsburg, Germany, where he meets hardened veteran Col. William A. McNamara (Willis) and his men. Just as Hart is beginning to cozy up to his newfound roomies, some new prisoners arrive, among them two Negro officers from the all-black Tuskeegee flying brigade, Lt. Lamar Archer (Vicellous Reon Shannon) and Lt. Lincoln Scott (Terrence Dashon Howard).

Though the African Americans outrank most of the other men, they are treated with disrespect by everyone except Hart. Soon Lt. Archer is set up by particularly nasty racist Staff Sgt. Vic Bedford (Cole Hauser, Farrell's partner in crime [and I mean that] from American Outlaws). Hiding a weapon beneath Archer's bunk, Bedford frames him for an offense which results in his execution. Lt. Scott vows revenge, and the next thing you know, Bedford is dead, with Scott cast as the prime suspect—even though he says he didn't do it. Now Hart, who has only had 2 years of Yale law school, is assigned by Col. McNamara to defend Scott in a military court-martial, held right there in the prison with the German guards and commandant (Marcel Iures) attending. Though McNamara is presiding over the trial, he seems blatantly biased against the black lieutenant, but we soon learn that the whole trial is not as is appears.

Willis, Farrell, and Howard are all perfectly fine in this movie, but it is Iures's performance as Col. Werner Visser, this prison's Klink, that intrigues me the most. At once charming, educated, and aware of the obvious discrepancies of the situation, Iures seems to be more good guy than the good guys. Is this intentional on director Hoblit's part? Ich weiß das nicht. ★★★★

SUPER TROOPERS

Rated R - Running Time: 1:43 - Released 2/15/02

Although Jay Chandrasekhar's Super Troopers is little more than another teen-aimed, boys-will-be-boys comedy, there is something to be said for a good writing team. The film's 5 stars and co-writers, who go by the group name "Broken Lizard" (director Chandrasekhar, Kevin Heffernan, Steve Lemme, Paul Soter, and Erik Stolhanske), seem to think with one mind, and they work together onscreen like 5 college buddies who get together every Friday night (and in fact, they reportedly all graduated together from Colgate University). Their collective effort comes off with the kind of sick, twisted, but often hilarious character-driven results one sees in Kevin Smith's Jersey Films. Having only produced one previous film so far (1996's Puddle Cruiser, which was never given wide release but seen at some college campuses), the team shows great promise in the guilty pleasure category.

The small town of Spurbury, Vermont, is in budget trouble. The governor is forced to make cutbacks, so she has announced the imminent dissolution of the local state police highway patrol facility, unless by some miracle their commander, Capt. John O'Hagan (Brian Cox), can prove their worth. But this isn't an easy task, since they seem to be a bunch of fun-loving good-old-boys who get more enjoyment out of messing with motorists' minds than upholding the law. Their ranking officer is Lt. "Thorny" Ramathorn (Chandrasekhar), who is currently training rookie Cpl. "Rabbit" Roto (Stolhanske) to chug maple syrup at the local diner. Then there are Womack (Lemme) and Foster (Soter), long-time partners who like to harass stoners on the highway and bet on how many times they can say "meow" during a routine speeding stop. Finally, there is the team's whipping boy, overweight Cpl. Rodney Farva (Heffernan), whose recent probation for beating up a school bus full of disrespectful elementary students is only the latest of a long line of suspensions that keep him off the road most of the time.

Besides the fact that these guys regularly break the rules for the sheer fun of it, they are in constant competition with the similarly thick-headed and ineffective local Spurbury police force, run by the unforgiving Chief Grady (Daniel von Bargen), who wants nothing more than to see the Highway Patrol shut down, as it will increase his budget. On his force is the comely female officer, Ursula Hanson (Marisa Coughlan), nicknamed "Charlie's Angel," who is the object of most of the aforementioned men's fantasies, but who is trying to build respect for her efforts as a serious officer.

When a drug bust is made and a murder discovered, the two organizations jockey for position, resulting in a kind of jurisdiction war. But when Ursula and Foster become romantically involved, she helps him uncover some otherwise unknown information so that he and his friends may impress the governor with their investigative skills. As it turns out, however, she is only using Foster to expose her own boss in a much larger scandal.

This is one of those films that makes movie critics embarassed to admit they liked it without first smoking a joint. Like South Park or the American Pie films, it provides the kind of guilty laughs that can only be achieved through a marriage of intelligent writing skills and a sick sense of humor. But one cannot deny the chemistry of these guys, whose ability to deliver their wacked-out dialogue matches their ability to write it. We'll be looking for other Broken Lizard films in the future, but remind me to smoke a joint next time. ★★★½

Legion Auxiliary President Slates Maryland Visit

Westernport's American Legion Victory Post #55 will host a luncheon to welcome national American Legion Auxiliary president Sherry McLaughlin of Vinton, Iowa, on Saturday, March 2, from 1:30 to 3 p.m. The American Legion Auxiliary has nearly 1 million members nationwide, and 27,000 members in Maryland.

McLaughlin was elected the 81st president of the organization at its National Convention in San Antonio, Texas, in August. Since joining the organization in 1956, she has served as unit, county, district, and Iowa state president. She served 17 years as a counselor at Iowa Girls State, and she organized the first Junior Conference in 1971 and the Iowa Junior Camp in 1986.

On the national level, McLaughlin has been chairman of the Auxiliary Emergency Fund, Poppy, Constitution and Bylaws, Junior Activities, Public Relations, Americanism, National Security, Children and Youth, and Veterans Affairs and Rehabilitation committees.

In addition to her Auxiliary responsibilities, McLaughlin volunteers at the Iowa Veterans Home and the Iowa Braille, Vinton-Shellsburg and Union schools. She also is a court-appointed special advocate, a literacy tutor, and confirmation teacher at her Lutheran Church. She was awarded the Iowa Governor's Volunteer of the Year Award in 1999 and 2000.

The American Legion Auxiliary raises over $14 million every year and reinvests those funds in Veterans Administration medical centers and community programs. The organization supports veterans in hospitals, nursing homes, and the community, awards scholarships to young persons, and sponsors the annual national Veterans Creative Arts Festival. It also devotes thousands of hours each year to crime prevention programming by providing instruction for children, the elderly, and the general public on safety, crime prevention, and protection within the community.

Candlelight Vigil Saiutes Domestic Violence Victims

The Maryland Network Against Domestic Violence held its 14th annual memorial service on Monday, Feb. 11, in Annapolis. The solemn candlelight vigil was a tribute to the 68 women, men and children who died in the state as a result of domestic violence from July 1, 2000, to June 20, 2001.

"Domestic violence affects the lives of women, men, and children in many more ways than most of us realize," stated Peggy Nelson of the Garrett County Family Violence Coalition. Nelson noted that elected officials, community leaders, and survivors were on hand for the service to remind the gathering that many Maryland families experience acts of terrorism at home every day.

The Maryland Network reported that of the 68 victims killed, 31 were female adult victims, 16 were male adult victims, 13 were children, and 8 were suicide victims who killed themselves after committing murder in a domestic violence-related incident. Thirteen of the victims were under 18 years of age, 20 between 22 and 40, and 32 were over the age of 41. The victims were killed by guns, knives, strangulation, blunt instruments, drowning, starvation, fire, asphyxiation, physical force, and vehicular homicide.

"Domestic violence is a disturbingly pervasive problem in our society," Nelson said. "Statistics have shown, time and again, that the problem is widespread, cutting across all geographical, economic, religious, ethnic, racial, gender, age, and relationship boundaries. Baltimore City and Baltimore County had more persons killed than any other jurisdiction in Maryland.

"Victims need and deserve protection. There are several new pieces of legislation before our state representatives that will provide victims of domestic violence an opportunity to secure immediate protection from their tormentors and provide the courts and law enforcement officials with an important tool by which to assure the earliest intervention possible. Fortunately there were no deaths in Garrett and Allegany counties. But domestic violence is an everyday occurrence right here."

The Garrett County Family Violence Coalition hosts monthly meetings of representatives of 21 local agencies and organizations who gather to discuss the issues and concerns regarding domestic violence. For further information about the Coalition, persons may contact Nelson at 301-533-3033

GCC Slates P.E. Class For Seniors

The cost of this course is $20 for Maryland seniors. For more information, persons may call Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304 or the Continuing Education Office at 301-387-3069.

On Dean's List

The University of Wisconsion-Madison recently announced that an Oakland resident has been named to the fall 2001 dean's list. Lauren Whitney Newcomb, a senior, is enrolled in the university's College of Agricultural and Life Sciences. She is the daughter of Gary and Beth Newcomb, Oakland, and a 1997 graduate of Southern High School.

When do we Pray?

When do you pray? Do you pray daily, twice a day, or perhaps like many of us... only when all else fails? Do you fall into bed at night so tired that you don't remember closing your eyes before the alarm rudely awakes you to the same hectic routine? Maybe prayer is put into that file loaded with all our good intentions... marked "later". Not only do we need to get to work on that "later" file, prayer should be a frequent occurrence in our daily routine.

The Bible tells us to "pray without ceasing" (1 Thessalonians 5:17)... not three or four times a week like exercising our bodies or every month or two like fertilizing the garden... but continually! Sound impossible? Here's how! As you attend God's house each week, you will learn how prayer is essential to your daily life... how prayer can become as automatic as breathing. If you can't change your pace, you can change the way you face it. Worship this week.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

MISPLACED PITY
February 24, 2002

Background Scripture: Jonah 3 through 4.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 113..

If you read the story of Jonah and don't laugh a little along the way, you're missing the point. Jonah is laughable, because we can see ourselves in him: petulant, sulking and ready to pick up his marbles and go home. In him we can laugh at ourselves and that can be healing if it helps us to see how childish adults can act in God's sight.

Finally, Jonah surrenders and agrees to carry out God's plan: Let's at least give Jonah credit for recognizing the inevitable—some of us can't even do that. Going a day's journey into this vast city, he cried: "Yet forty days and Nineveh shall be overthrown" (3:4). This part Jonah relished. He liked pronouncing doom and gloom. Some are never happier than when prophesying God's judgment——on others!

We also need to give some credit to the king of Nineveh. We know very little about him, but we are told that he was fast to catch on. "Nineveh shall be overthrown"? Well then, "...let them cry mightily to God; yea, let everyone turn from his evil way..." (3:7,8). The king is a pragmatist: "Who knows, God may yet repent and turn from his fierce anger, so that we perish not?" (3:9). What the heck, it's worth a try!

Pragmatism

Now, you may call him an opportunist, turning over a new leaf only to avoid destruction. But at least it is better than one who responds to dire warnings with indifference or hostility. Some refuse to change even when common sense says that nothing else will save them. Changing your ways just to escapee destruction may not be the purest of spiritual motives, but it is better than no change at all. Whether the king was sincere or not, "When God saw...how they turned from their evil way, God repented of the evil...and he did not do it" (3:9).

So God is pleased with this change and the people are ecstatic. There is only one unhappy soul: Jonah: "...it displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry. And he prayed to the Lord and said, '...is this not what I said when I was yet in my country?... for I knew that thou art a gracious God and merciful..." (4:2). Jonah was furious because God acted like God.

But, before we chuckle at Jonah's childishness, should we not ask whether we, too, do not become unhappy because God acts like God, forgiving whom we condemn?

More Childish Than Ever

Then Jonah becomes even more childish: "Therefore now, O Lord, take my life from me,... for it is better for me to die than to live" (4:3). If God won't do it Jonah's way, he'd rather die. That will show God! "Do you do well to be angry?" God asks, but there is no response from Jonah, who goes to the east of the city where he may wait to see what will happen to it. Jonah still hoped for the worst!

If I had been God, I would have lowered the boom on Jonah. But God, not being me, deals somewhat tenderly and playfully with him. First, he causes a plant to shade Jonah. The next day, however, he sends a worm to attack the plant and it withers, plus a hot sun and sultry east wind that beats upon Jonah, whose only response is petulance: "It is better for me to die than to live" (4:9) Jonah can pout with the best of them!

God is certainly patient with this blockhead. (as I hope he is patient with the blockhead who writes these words). "Do you do well to be angry for the plant?" You bet! says Jonah. Way beyond the point where I would have exploded, God says: "You pity the plant for which you did no labor, nor did you make it grow.. And should I not pity Nineveh that great city, in which there are more than a hundred and twenty thousand persons who do not know their right hand from their left...?" (4:11)

The problem is not that Jonah pitied the plant, but that he did not pity the people of Nineveh who were like cattle, without understanding. But then there was Jonah, who did understand the mercy of God, but couldn't bring himself to share it with others.

Gallstone Risk May Increase With Estrogen Therapy

Gallstones are collections of calcium or cholesterol crystals in the gallbladder or bile ducts. In the U.S., 20% of the elderly have gallstones - although most persons are never aware of their presence. Symptoms may include nausea, colic, and pain that comes and goes. If infection and bile duct obstruction occur, fever, chills, and jaundice may be experienced.

According to a study reported in Annals of Internal Medicine, women who take estrogen may be more prone to have gallstones than women who do not receive estrogen therapy. Increased gallstone risk is thought to occur because of a change in the composition of bile caused by estrogen. The chance of developing painful stones from estrogen was not great. However, study results indicate that women taking oral hormone replacement therapy (HRT) were 30% to 40% more likely to need gallbladder surgery.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION DONATES TO PEER HELPERS

Bobby Petrocelli is scheduled to come to Southern High School on April 18. One of the top motivational speakers in America, Bobby uses his personal story to inspire and motivate audiences by telling how one decision can change one's life forever. The Southern High School Alumni Association presented the SHS Peer Helpers with a check for $1,000 to help pay for the cost of having Mr. Petrocelli speak to the students of Southern High School.

SHS CHRISTIAN CLUB

SHS Christian Club prayer meetings are held every morning from 8 to 8:20 a.m. in Room #2133. Everyone is welcome to stop by or drop off prayer requests.

ADVERTISERS NEEDED FOR ACORN SPECIAL EDITION

The school newspaper, the Acorn, is helping Southern celebrate 50 years of success with a special 50th anniversary edition, featuring the sports, history, remodeling, and pivotal people since the class of 1951. If you or your business would like to advertise in this historic issue, please contact Heather Savage at 301-334-9447 or e-mail for information to acorn@ga.k12.md.us.

PARENTS CAN HELP WITH AFTER-PROM

The next After-Prom planning meeting will be tonight, Feb. 21, at 6:30 p.m. in Mrs. Bender's room. Meetings last approximately one hour. We need parents to help select a theme, organize decoration ideas, and address fund-raising letters. Please consider coming out to help with this effort. Our tradition won't be able to continue without the help of parents interested in providing a safe prom night for their kids. The date of the prom this year is April 27. So much help is needed to get the after-prom event off the ground. Anyone with questions may contact Lisa Bender at the school.

2002 YEARBOOKS ON SALE

Any individual or business wishing to order a 2002 yearbook should contact Erin White at Southern High School. The cost is $52, which includes tax. The deadline to order and pay for a book is April 15.

CHARACTER TRAIT POSTER CONTEST

The Ounce of Prevention Committee is sponsoring a "Character Trait" poster contest, which is now under way and will conclude March 14. Students need to choose from a list of character traits and create a poster on that theme. Cash prizes will be awarded to the winning posters, which will be displayed around the school. For further information, students should see Ms. Gibson, Mrs. Gangler, or Mrs. Kuhn.

PARENTS OF SENIORS

Remember that your congratulations ads for the Highlander Yearbook are due by March 15. That's only three weeks away! Dig out a stunning snapshot of your favorite senior and secure your spot in the yearbook today.

MORE SCHOLARSHIP DEADLINES

Sam Walton Community Scholarship Program, deadline February 28 — Scholarship applications are only available at the local Wal-Mart store at the Service Desk. One $1,000 scholarship will be awarded to a Garrett County senior planning to pursue a post-secondary education.

Westvaco Scholarship, deadline March 1 — Westvaco's Luke Mill is providing a total of 35 tuition scholarships to sons and daughters of Luke Mill employees who plan to attend either Garrett Community College, Allegany College of Maryland, Frostburg State University, or Potomac State College. Scholarships equal $800 per year per student.

Jack and Dorothy Smouse Scholarship, deadline March 22 — A $2,000 scholarship will be awarded to two Southern Garrett High School seniors who are on track to graduate. The seniors must be planning to pursue post-secondary education or training in a trade, preferably in a health-care related area. Priority will be given to students who are completing the Allied Health course requirements, but students planning to pursue any career in the health field are encouraged to apply. The application includes an essay written by the student describing financial need and including a statement about why he/she is deserving of this award, indicating school and community involvement, volunteer and work experience.

Dr. Kenneth Mann Scholarship, deadline April 19 — A $500 scholarship will be awarded by the Maryland Association of Elementary School Principals to a Maryland high school senior who plans to pursue a career in elementary teacher education. Criteria for selection includes: demonstration of financial need; submission of a letter of interest; a written statement about student's beliefs and commitment toward educating all students; recommendation from a faculty member and a person outside of school who would verify applicant's commitment to teacher education; scholastic achievement; and agreement to complete education in a Maryland college or university. Applications are available in the Guidance Office, but can also be obtained by logging onto www.wcboe.k12.md.us. Click on School Zone, Elementary K-5, Paramount Elementary, and then on Ken Mann Scholarship Information.). Applications must be submitted to Guidance.

Maryland Creative Problem Solvers Scholarship, deadline March 15 — A $1,000 scholarship will be awarded to a Maryland high school senior who has participated in the Odyssey of the Mind or Destination ImagiNation. The University of Maryland-Baltimore County will match the scholarship if the recipient is accepted by and attends UMBC. Applicants should submit the following information: 1) student name, address, and phone number; 2) name, address, and phone number of high school; 3) GPA and grade scale used by school; 4) outline of his/her creative problem-solving history; 5) college plans, and 6) an essay on what OM and/or DI has meant to him/her. Letters of recommendation from one of the applicant's OM or DI coaches and from a high school faculty member should accompany the application. Applications should be submitted to: Rick Feutz, Maryland Creative Problem Solvers Inc., P.O. Box 216, Worton, MD 21678.

Joseph Fox Jr. Memorial Scholarship, deadline March 26 — The State of Maryland International Reading Association Council will award three $1,000 scholarships to graduating seniors in Maryland high schools. Recipients of this scholarship must attend an accredited educational institution of their choice and pursue a degree in reading/or a reading-related field and a teaching career. Selection criteria includes: verification of graduation from high school; acceptance and enrollment as a full-time undergraduate student at an accredited college or university; pursuit of a major in education; documentation and verification of current or previous community service in education-related activities; two letters of recommendation; a cumulative GPA of 3.0; and a written statement describing qualifications.

CITE Scholarship, postmark deadline April 12 — Scholarships will be awarded to black, African-American students in the amount of $2,000 per year for four years. Eligible applicants must meet the following criteria: be a black, African-American United States citizen; 2) be a high school senior; 3) have a GPA of 3.0 or higher; 4) be accepted at an accredited college/university, and provide proof of enrollment; and 5) must be recommended by their local CITE Affiliate (Consortium of Information and Telecommunications Executives, Verizon Corporation).

USA Funds Access to Education Scholarship, deadline April 15 — Seniors planning to pursue a post-secondary education will be awarded $1,500 scholarships, renewable on an annual basis. Eligible applicants must demonstrate financial need. Approximately 50 percent of the recipients will be a member of an ethnic minority group or have a physical disability. Selection of recipients will be based on financial need, past academic performance, leadership, participation in school and community activities, work experience, career and educational aspirations and goals, and future potential. Additional information and applications can be obtained by logging onto www.usafunds.org.

Garrett County Education Association, postmark deadline May 11 — The GCEA will be awarding two $250 scholarships this year to high school seniors at Northern and Southern Garrett high schools who plan to major in education this fall at an accredited college or university. Selection criteria includes: evidence of commitment to the teaching professions as demonstrated through a personal essay, letters of recommendation, and a record of life experiences; a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5; and a personal interview.

TRIBBEY RECEIVES AWARD — Eric Tribbey, director of Cardio Pulmonary/Mobil Medical Services at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, recently received a service award plaque during a reception held in Columbia from the Md./D.C. Society for Respiratory Care. He was also recognized for serving on the 2001 "Conference by the Sea" state symposium and for serving as treasurer for the society during the year. Tribbey has maintained a professional, active membership with the American Association of Respiratory Care for more than 30 years. He is shown above receiving his plaque from Irene Henson, past president of the M.D./D.C. Society for Respiratory Care.

Local Students Inducted Into Honor Society

The Department of Social Work at Frostburg State University has announced the fall 2001 initiates of the Epsilon Zeta Chapter of Phi Alpha, the national Social Work Honor Society. Among the 10 new members are Garrett County residents Kathy Beals, Grantsville; Jessica Cooper, Accident; and Lois Swartzentruber, Oakland.

Pam Kyle, current Phi Alpha member, and faculty advisor Dr. Kathleen Powell assisted with the initiation service as part of the department's graduate pinning ceremony. Dr. Joseph Hoffman, associate dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and Jodie Smith Ellsworth, MSW, FSU social work alumna, Phi Alpha member and therapist with the Maryland Salem Children's Trust, addressed those gathered to celebrate the occasion.

To be eligible for membership in Phi Alpha, a student must have been accepted into the social work program, achieved an overall grade point average of 3.0, and have a 3.25 grade point average in required social work courses.

Phi Alpha was established in 1960 through the efforts of undergraduate social work students at Michigan State University. Formed to provide a closer bond among students of social work and promote humanitarian goals and ideals, Phi Alpha fosters high standards of education for social workers and invites into membership those who have attained excellence in scholarship and achievement in social work. Today there are over 110 chapters in existence.

The Epsilon Zeta Chapter at Frostburg State University was established in 1995 to coincide with the professional accreditation of the undergraduate Social Work Program by the Council on Social Work Education. Since then, 60 FSU students have been inducted into the chapter.

SHAMROCKS AND SWEETS TO RAISE MONEY FOR HABITAT HOUSES — Garrett County Habitat for Humanity will hold its annual silent auction fund-raiser, "Shamrocks and Sweets," on Saturday, March 16, at 7 p.m. at the Will O' the Wisp Four Seasons restaurant in Deep Creek Lake. In the past, this event has been held in February as "Sparkles and Sweets." According to Jeanne Blasher, executive director for the local Habitat affiliate, another change this year will be a wide assortment of appetizers and finger foods in addition to a variety of desserts. The evening will include a silent auction and door prizes consisting of arts and crafts, local services, fine dining, and vacation getaways, as well as a sampling of food, desserts, and pastries, all donated by area individuals and businesses. Music will be provided by Susan Walabrod and Richard Kusy. Serving as master of ceremonies will be Dr. Kenneth Mankamyer, local chiropractor and Habitat board member. "Funds received from this event will be used to help at least two families build homes that will allow them to leave the substandard housing they now occupy," said Blasher. "This is an exciting event, and a very worthwhile cause." Tickets for the event are $10 and may be purchased at the door. Will O' the Wisp is offering a $25 dinner special for two with the purchase of two tickets for the Habitat auction. For more information, persons may call the Habitat office, located in the Garrett County Community Action building, at 301-334-9431, ext. 113. Pictured above are more than 60 items donated to the auction for this year's event.

International Festival Set At Frostburg State

The Frostburg State University Center for International Education and the Cooperative Grant Program of NAFSA: Association of International Educators will sponsor the first International Festival beginning Monday, Feb. 25, on the FSU campus.

Chesapeake Dining Hall, in conjunction with Sodexho-Marriott, will inaugurate the events by offering international foods from various world regions Feb. 25 through 28. FSU international students will be on hand in the dining hall to introduce each new dish.

Professor Christopher Bailey, University of Northumbria at Newcastle, UK, will visit Frostburg on Tuesday, Feb. 26, and Wednesday, Feb. 27. During his tour, Bailey will meet with students interested in study at Newcastle.

FSU students and faculty will prepare and share foods from around the world at the International Dinner, slated for Tuesday, Feb. 26, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Frostburg Community Center, Water Street. All are welcome to attend this event.

An International Expo set for Wednesday, Feb. 27, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Lane University Center, will feature displays and information about FSU's International Studies program, study abroad programs, and international student groups and their representative regions. Bhuchung Tsering, director of the International Campaign for Tibet, will speak that evening at 7:30 p.m. in the FSU Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre. Tsering, a Tibetan refugee, will talk about present day Tibet and the ICT's efforts to aid the Tibetan people in regaining their sovereignty.

The Mystical Arts of Tibet will present two performances of traditional dance and music on Sunday, March 3, at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall. This event is co-sponsored with the FSU Cultural Events Series.

Dr. Daniel Garcia, Instituto Universidad de Sevilla, Spain, will meet Wednesday, March 13, with students and faculty interested in learning about his institution's study abroad programs. This meeting is set for 4 p.m. in Lane University Center Room 203/4.

Two April events include a "Mind, Consciousness and Zen" workshop, Friday and Saturday, April 5 and 6, in the FSU Cordts Physical Education Center Leake Room. Co-sponsored with Dr. Paul LaChance, FSU Department of English, this event will feature instruction on sitting meditation by a Zen master. "Israel and Palestine: Will There Ever Be Peace?" is the topic of a discussion to be presented with co-sponsors Campus Ministry and others on Wednesday, April 10, at 7:30 p.m. in Lane University Center Room 201.

For more information on these events, persons may contact the Center for International Education, 301-687-4714.

Masons To Meet

Oakland Lodge #192, Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons, will meet Tuesday, Feb. 26, at 7:30 p.m. at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Lodge at First and Liberty streets, Oakland. The Fellowcraft Degree will be conferred. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. All Master Masons are welcome and encouraged to attend.

Presentation On Eating Disorders Slated At GCC

In observance of Eating Disorders Awareness Week, Suzanne Tomb, LCSW-C, will present "Listen to Your Body: Put an End to Yo-Yo Dieting and Body Dissatisfaction" on Thursday, Feb. 28, at 7 p.m. at Garrett Community College in Room 315 of the Continuing Education building. The event will focus on dieting, body image, and eating disorders.

"Rampant dieting is taking a toll on health and happiness in our society," said Tomb. "Americans spend more than $40 billion a year on dieting and diet-related products. Numerous studies link chronic dieting with depression, low self-esteem, and increased stress." Dieting can also lead to an eating disorder, she added.

Tomb will address these issues, as well as any other dieting issues that interest participants. The event is free and open to the public. For more information, persons may call Tomb at 301-334-9999.

NOTICE TO
Allegheny Power Customers with Rights-of-Way Across their Property

Allegheny Power has contracted to maintain portions of its rights-of-way with an aerial saw consisting of fifteen 24-inch rotary blades powered by a motor and suspended on a vertical boom beneath a helicopter. This maintenance method allows for the quick, safe, and efficient trimming of trees along our transmission lines. The aerial saw will be in operation from March 6 through March 16 on the following lines in Garrett County, Maryland.

Garrett County
(Snowy Creek-Oakland Line)
Starting at Oakland Substation and heading west, this subtransmission line crosses State Route 39 west of Oakland. The line then continues westerly, crossing the Youghiogheny River and State Route 39 again near Hutton, Md., before entering Preston County, W.Va.

Garrett County
(Oakland-Gorman-William Line)
Starting at Oakland Substation and heading east, this subtransmission line crosses State Route 219 south of Oakland, Pleasant Valley Road, and Smouse Road. The line then turns sharply to the south crossing near Doctor Tolson Road, Landon's Dam Road, and King Wildeson Road. The line continues south, crossing State Route 560 and Le Moyne King Road. The line then taps off to the southwest to Gorman Substation. Continuing south, the line crosses the Potomac River into Grant County, W.Va., east of Gormania.

(Westernport-Mastellar Line)
Beginning at Westernport Substation, this subtransmission line heads north along State Route 36 before turning to the west and crossing State Route 36 near Moran Manor Health Care Center. The line then turns southwesterly, crossing Westernport Road north of Bloomington. The line continues southwesterly crossing State Route 135 and the Potomac River at Bloomington, Md., then into Mastellar Substation.

For more information about Allegheny Power's Aerial Saw Program, call 1-800-255-3443.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• The next time you say, "I'll be there in a jiffy," remember that a jiffy is an actual unit of time — 1/100th of a second.

• President George Washington grew marijuana at Mount Vernon.

• In 1627, California was published on a map as an island. Some cartographers didn't get around to correcting the mistake for more than 150 years.

• If you are like the average American, you will eat more than 26 pounds of cheese this year.

• Have you ever put a porcupine into a bathtub? Probably not, but if you had, you'd know that porcupines float.

• Add to Ambrose Bierce's collection of definitions: Conservative, n. A statesman who is enamored of existing evils, as distinguished from the liberal, who wishes to replace them with others.

• If you would like to sail out to the site of the wreck of the Titanic and take a sub down to view the remains, you can. Of course, it will cost you about $35,000. And that doesn't include the airfare to the boat's departure point.

• The next time someone asks you if you want some gorilla sweat, remember that it's a drink containing sugar, hot water, butter and tequila.

• It's been rumored that the famous painter Rembrandt was an egomaniac. There may be some basis for that view; he did, after all, leave 60 self-portraits.

• Do you suffer from brontophobia? No, it's not a fear of dinosaurs. Brontophobics are afraid of thunderstorms.

• Astrologers advise that Feb. 27 of this year is a propitious time for dental care.

Q. I have a campaign token that was circulated during the election of Abraham Lincoln in 1864. The likeness of Lincoln is on one side of the token, and Andrew Jackson is on the reverse. I would like to find out more about political memorabilia and, perhaps, the value of my token.—Alice, San Antonio

A. Tokens were, indeed, circulated during many of America's earliest political campaigns. The popular pin-back button replaced tokens during the William McKinley campaign of 1896.

Although many of the pin-back buttons are fairly common, there are exceptions. For example, buttons issued during the James Cox presidential campaign of 1920 are extremely rare and can cost several thousand dollars each. Franklin Roosevelt was the vice presidential candidate on the Cox ticket.

Recent eBay auction results have included a Henry Clay token from 1844 ($50); a Lincoln ribbon with Brady image ($3,700); and a Richard Nixon coffee mug from 1968 ($30).

The American Political Items Collectors Association is a non-profit group for enthusiasts and can help you establish a value for your Lincoln token. Its address is P.O. Box 340339, San Antonio, TX 78234.

Q. I have several metal charge plates that were used in some of the larger department stores during the 1950s. Do they have any value? — Steve, Columbus, Ohio

A. You might want to contact the American Credit Card Collectors Society, P.O. Box 2465, Midland, MI 48640.

Gifts That Aren't Appreciated

Q. My mother has a 3-year-old mixed Shi-tzu/poodle. He is very spoiled and loves to go with her everywhere. The problem is that when she leaves him (it doesn't matter what house he's left at) he leaves a large, smelly "present." I can see this is in defiance, but what can we do? Please reply; I'm desperate.

A. Your first move should be to erase the word "defiance" from your vocabulary. Yes, your mother's dog (let's call him "Fluffy") is getting upset when he's left behind, but he's not being angry or defiant or petulant. The term here is "separation anxiety," and many pets suffer from it.

For several reasons — which, unfortunately, I don't have room to detail — Fluffy is very attached to your mother. And your mom, being a kind and loving person, keeps the dog close by at all times, especially when Fluffy seems upset. She brings him along on most of her errands, as well as to your house, where she occasionally leaves him while she runs out.

The length of time she is gone doesn't matter. When your mother leaves Fluffy behind, he becomes very anxious. Like many anxious pets, he engages in destructive behavior — in this case, soiling. Some pets prefer to chew up their owners' shoes or destroy the living room.

Yelling at Fluffy, rubbing his nose in his own mess, or confining him will not stop the behavior. His anxiety has to be addressed.

Fluffy needs independence training, possibly combined with an anti-anxiety drug. The veterinarian is the first step in the process; he or she can give Fluffy a full evaluation and provide details on how to help your mom's dog cope with periods of separation. An obedience trainer can put together a regimen that gradually increases a dog's ability to be left alone.

If your mother follows the vet's (or trainer's) program faithfully, Fluffy will improve immensely. And your carpet will look much, much better.

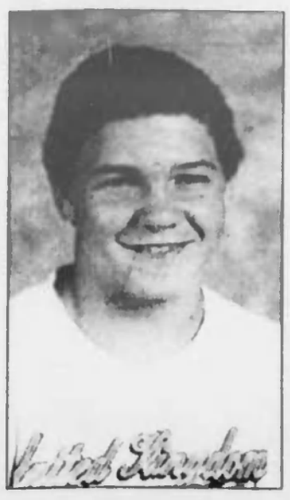
Student Named Ambassador; To Visit Australia



David Goldsborough Jr., an eighth grade student at Southern Middle School, was recently selected by People to People to be a student ambassador in its delegation to Australia this summer. The delegation will include students from Maryland and Pennsylvania.

People to People was founded in 1956 by President Dwight Eisenhower, who believed that if people could come together in peace and friendship, so eventually would countries. Each student ambassador is selected on the basis of recommendations that include school references and personal interviews with members of a screening committee. Once students are accepted into the program, they prepare for their overseas experience by attending orientation meetings and studying background material on the countries and organizations they will visit.

As student ambassadors, the group of approximately 30 students will spend 21 days in Australia studying its government, economy, and culture. Home visits with host families are also part of the program. Host families include their American guests in their everyday activities, enabling the ambassadors to gain a first-hand understanding of how people live and work in other cultures. Other activities include meetings at embassies and ministries, discussions with industry and trade officials, site visits to international organizations, and meetings with youth clubs. The student ambassadors will also visit major historical sites and see performances of ethnic music and dance.

Goldsborough, 14, is also a Life Scout in Boy Scouts of America Troop 31, sponsored by the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, and is a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church. He is the son of David Sr. and Elizabeth Goldsborough of Mtn. Lake Park.

Free Assistance With Filing Tax Forms Continues

Free preparation of individual federal and state income tax returns is continuing at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland on Tuesdays and Thursdays, noon to 4 p.m. and Wednesdays from 5 to 7 p.m. Over 100 federal and 100 state returns have already been prepared, with many submitted for electronic filing and early receipt of refunds.

All services are free and provided by IRS certified volunteers. The Mary Browning Center is located at 104 East Center Street. No appointment is required, and taxpayers may have their returns completed while they wait or leave them for processing and pickup during the next tax preparation day. Taxpayers are asked to bring their last year's returns with them.

The program is organized by AARP, under contract with the IRS, and sponsored by Garrett County Community Action.

Careless Smoking Lead Cause Of Fire Fatalities

Fifteen persons died in Maryland during 2001 as a result of careless smoking, according to data released by State Fire Marshal William E. Barnard. This total represents a decrease in deaths from careless smoking from 18 in the year 2000 and 17 during 1999. Overall, 94 persons died from fire in 2001, compared to 67 in 2000 and 91 persons during 1999. Thirty-three persons died in fires during 2001 where the exact cause of the fire either remains under investigation or the cause of fire is undetermined.

As in previous years, smoke inhalation and asphyxiation were the predominant cause of death from fire in 2001. Fifty-eight persons died from smoke inhalation/asphyxia, compared to 19 persons dying from burns. Eleven persons died from a combination of burns and smoke inhalation, while the cause of death of six persons was either found to be from other causes or undetermined. During both 2000 and 1999, the percentage of death by smoke inhalation/asphyxiation similarly exceeded 50 percent of the yearly total.

Of the 94 fire deaths during 2001, 35 persons over the age of 54 and 11 children under the age of 5 perished. These totals represent nationwide data which indicate those most at risk from fire death are very young children and senior citizens. Additionally, there were 59 male fire death victims, compared to 35 female fire death victims during 2001. As with years 2000 and 1999, the number of males dying from fire is close to or slightly above 60 percent of the annual total.

A similar comparison can be made when considering where persons died from fire. Death from fire in residential properties far exceeds other occupancies, and fire death in single-family homes represents almost 63 percent of Maryland's 2001 total. Fifty-nine persons died in home fires, while 18 fire deaths occurred in apartments. One person died from fire in 2001 in a mobile home fire; therefore, a total of 78 of the 94 deaths occurred in residential property. During 2000, 54 of 67 deaths, and during 1999, 73 of 91 deaths occurred in the same types of residential property.

Of the deaths from fire in structures during 2001, almost 74 percent occurred where smoke alarms either were not present, present and did not operate, present and its function was unable to be determined, or damage to the structure made it unable to determine if a smoke alarm was present. This total closely represents data from 2000, as well as from 1999.

The area of fire origin that resulted in the largest number of fire fatalities during 2001 was the living room. Twenty persons died from fires starting in the living room during 2001, compared to 15 persons in 2000 and 28 in 1999. Kitchen fires and bedroom fires in 2001 followed, with 19 deaths and 18 deaths, respectively.

Twenty-three persons died from fire in Baltimore City during the year 2001, compared to 26 in 2000 and 20 during 1999. Twenty-one persons died in Baltimore County during 2001, compared to six during 2000 and 18 during 1999. Prince George's County had 13 fire deaths during 2001, four in 2000, and nine in 1999. Eleven persons died in Montgomery County in 2001, with five persons in 2000 and four in 1999.

Barnard said that the number of fire fatalities and where they occurred during 2001 illustrates the importance of protecting homes with smoke alarms and developing home escape plans. According to the fire marshal, these two simple steps can dramatically reduce the chance of dying in a fire — installing and maintaining smoke alarms, plus having a well rehearsed plan.

For more information on fire deaths in Maryland during the year 2001 or other fire safety information, persons may contact the Office of the State Fire Marshal at 1-800-325-3124.

Sarbanes Pushes To Name Rt. 40 All-American

Senator Paul S. Sarbanes (D-Md.) has spearheaded a bipartisan letter to Transportation Secretary Norman Mineta strongly supporting the designation of the National Road as an "All-American Road." This historic transportation corridor consists primarily of U.S. Route 40, and stretches from Maryland to Illinois. The letter was signed by 12 United States senators, representing the states of Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, as well as 16 members of the House of Representatives through whose congressional districts the road runs.

Originally called the Cumberland Road, the National Road was the first federally planned and funded highway in the United States. In 1806, President Thomas Jefferson signed legislation to build the nation's first interstate, linking the eastern seaboard with the western frontier. The highway that became the National Road carried people, mail, and goods, speeding development and communication across the growing nation.

"Much of the history of our country and our communities was built around the construction of a 'national road,' and there has never been a better time to preserve and enhance the route as a means of attracting visitors and maintaining the high quality of life associated with the 'National Pike' towns," the congressional letter to Secretary Mineta stated. "The designation of the Historic National Road as a six-state All-American Road will bring with it the recognition that this important community resource deserves."

The "All-American Roads" designation was established as part of the National Scenic Byways Program by the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 (ISTEA). The National Scenic Byways Program aims to help motorists locate the most scenic and historically significant roads, while increasing tourism, stimulating the local economy, and protecting the distinctive assets within these corridors.

Local Residents Nominated To "Green Bag"

Governor Parris Glendening last week submitted the names of five Garrett County residents as part of his "Green Bag" appointments to the General Assembly, continuing an annual rite that began in Maryland more than 50 years ago and a tradition that dates back to 17th century England.

Duane Yoder, executive director of Garrett County Community Action, was nominated to the Joseph Fund Board. Vaughn R. Miller, mine manager for Vindex Energy Corp., was nominated to the Land Reclamation Committee. Coal mine manager Timothy B. Schwinabart was nominated to the Land Reclamation Committee. Retired Swanton resident Jay N. Cross was nominated to the Md. Veterans Home Commission. Larry D. Brenneman, owner of Brenneman Well Drilling, was nominated to the State Board of Well Drillers.

In all, 245 names were submitted for approval to serve on state and county boards, commissions, task forces, and boards of election. The list represents the bulk of the governor's yearly appointments that require Senate approval. Women and minorities each make up 40 percent of this year's appointments, according to the governor's press office.

"These men and women represent every branch of our state's diverse family tree," said Glendening. "This is a testament to our commitment to making Maryland a more fair, just, and inclusive state. These appointees will bring their collective experience, wisdom, and dedication to serve their state and their communities. Their public service is not for their own benefit, but for the benefit of all Marylanders. We are proud of their dedication and thankful for their commitment."

The historic "Green Bag" procedure of submitting gubernatorial appointees for confirmation is part of a tradition begun in the English House of Commons. The ceremony was revived sporadically in Maryland during the 1800s and then resurfaced in Annapolis in 1951. In 1983, a handcrafted green leather pouch embossed with the state seal became the governor's "official" green bag, lending authenticity to what has become a cherished Maryland custom.

Geocachers Use Space-Age Technology To Find Earthbound "Buried Treasure"

N 39° 38.384 W 079° 17.208 — By trekking to these exact coordinates, this hand-held Global Positioning System (GPS) unit has led a geocacher deep into a local state forest to locate a cache hidden beneath a large pine tree. Bringing to mind the tricorder Star Trek's Mr. Spock carried on planetary expeditions, a GPS unit can get a geocacher "there and back again," as Bilbo Baggins would put it. A quality GPS unit can cost just over $100, and GPS units are available at sports shops and on the Internet. A guide to purchasing a GPS unit for geocaching purposes is available on the www.geocaching.com web site. Geocaching's web site also details how to play the sport, its history, and locations of more than 12,000 active caches spread over 104 countries around the globe. "People are just starting to think about and devise new games using GPS," Washington state resident Jeremy Irish, who founded the geocaching web site, told an interviewer. "When the world is your gameboard, the possibilities are endless."

by David Foster

Our nation's ever-insatiable appetite for the latest in high-technology gizmos and games has been blamed in part for the ever-growing waistlines of Americans, who are spending more and more leisure hours in front of computer screens, rather than getting outdoors for exercise and active recreation. However, "geocaching," a new "sport" practiced by some Garrett County residents and others around the world, has married the high-tech craze to the more physical pursuits of hiking and outdoor exploration.

Geocaching (pronounced "geo-cashing") stretches both minds and muscles in an entertaining adventure game for thousands of users of hand-held Global Positioning System (GPS) units. The word geocaching combines "geo" for geography and "caching" for the process of hiding a "cache," which, in hiking terminology, is a hiding place that conceals provisions in the woods for future use. With the aid of their GPS units, geocachers locate a given set of specific longitude and latitude coordinates to find a cache site containing items hidden by another geocacher.

"Geocaching has all the ingredients of a great pastime," remarked Bruce Taliaferro, vice principal at Northern High School, as he bounced along a dirt road in his four-wheel drive sedan. The geocaching aficionado was taking this novice on a cache hunt deep into a local state forest. An arrow on his GPS unit's display pointed us to the site, and the distance display, which had read over five miles as we began our sojourn, clicked over to display the distance in shrinking increments of feet as we drew closer to the site. Soon we abandoned the car and took up the search on foot in a stand of thick pine trees.

"Challenge, excitement, and mystery combine to make this high-tech scavenger hunt grab the attention of people in all walks of life," Taliaferro said as the GPS unit continued to lead us to our quarry, much like a coon dog's super-sensitive snout homing in on its prey. The high-tech sniffer can lead a geocacher to a cache from a starting point just a few, or well over 1,000, miles away.

This new high-tech treasure hunt game has its roots high above the earth in the U.S. space program. For years, orbiting satellites have been using radio frequencies to broadcast signals to mission controllers on earth, giving pinpoint coordinates of their locations 24 hours a day. They can also guide geocachers to one of the more 12,000 geocaches currently located in over 100 countries throughout the world. Currently there are over 200 caches hidden within a 100-mile radius of Garrett County.

"The government couldn't possibly have known what genie was let out of the bottle when it removed the "select availability" feature from the GPS satellite signals two years ago," said Taliaferro, who often shares his outings with his wife Vicki Teets, another avid geocacher. "Those scrambled satellite signals allowed the military and a very few other secure users to precisely locate a spot on the Earth to within a few feet. Since they've been unscrambled, anyone with a GPS unit could do the same thing, and the sport of geocaching was born."

Geocachers like Taliaferro pour over lists of caches posted on the sport's official web site at www.geocaching.com. By entering the exact longitude and latitude coordinates of a cache's location into the battery-powered GPS unit, a geocacher can "talk" to orbiting satellites and triangulate with up to 12 of them at once to produce a visual display of the exact locations of both the cache and the geocacher who is trying to find it. The geocacher then plots a course to find the "buried treasure" — a cache. Clues both stated and hidden within the web site's description of a specific cache location add to the challenge and the fun.

What's being sought with the ultimate in scientific technology is a rather primitive prize, by comparison. A cache is usually a medium-sized plastic container containing a logbook and an assortment of "prizes" — water bottles, pins, band-aids, batteries, insect repellent, plastic worms, mousetraps, even disposable cameras. Items not included, by common practice, are food (which may tempt wild animals to dig into the stash), alcohol, cigarettes, and anything else unsafe or illegal.

The general rule is that a cache finder makes an entry in the logbook, and if something is taken, leave something else in return; however, few geocachers are there for the prizes — the sense of adventure and connection with others through space-age technology are keys to the sport. Only a few geocachers know each other personally; most communicate through geocaching.com using nicknames such as "Kidcache," "Geoscouter," "Quest Master," and "Lewis and Clark."

As for as your intrepid reporter's introductory geocaching journey, after more than a few wrong turns and twists as I worked to find my "geocaching legs," Taliaferro and I located our cache right where the original geocacher had planted it — N 39° 38.384 W 079° 17.208 — not your average walk in the woods.

Now it's your turn...happy hunting!

Spay, Neuter Month Set By Humane Society

The Garrett County Humane Society and Garrett County Animal Shelter are joining forces again to fight pet overpopulation. For the second year, they have designated March as Spay/Neuter Awareness Month. Gary Mullich, director of General Services, and Candy Virts, shelter assistant and Humane Society member, recently met with the county commissioners to describe the details of the month-long program.

"An open house will be held on Friday, March 1, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the shelter to kick off the program," said Virts. She added that free spay/neuter information, animal adoptions, and refreshments will be available at the open house. Donations for the program will also be accepted during the event.

During March, persons may contact the Humane Society or animal shelter to receive a certificate for $25 off a spay or neuter for their cats or dogs. Additionally, any animal adopted out of the shelter during the month will also receive a $25 certificate toward a sterilization. Three local veterinary clinics — Casselman, Countryside, and Pineview — are showing their support for the program by offering an additional $10 off the cost of the procedures for shelter animals adopted during March, according to Virts.

Depending upon the weight of an animal, spaying and neutering costs can range from $60 to $100, according to Virts. Last year, more than 3,000 individuals and businesses contributed to the certificates, resulting in 127 public and shelter animals being sterilized, she said.

"This is a worthwhile venture," Mullich said, adding he was pleased that his department could participate in the program. Persons who would also like to contribute to the program may call the Humane Society at 301-746-5725 or the shelter at 301-334-3553. The animal shelter is located at 152 Oakland Sang Run Road, past the Oakland Golf Club.

Garrett AVS Students Trade N.Y. Ice For Everglades Sun

by Joan B. Crawford

Garrett Community College's January expedition and Back Country Living course for students in the Adventure Sports Program was more than a change of scenery for the participants. Instead of a winter camping experience and ice climbing in the Adirondacks of New York state, the group traveled south for a paddling expedition by canoe through the Florida Everglades.

The group of three instructors and nine students left Garrett County on January 3, towing their tents and camping gear, all of their food, and six canoes. They just missed the winter storm that was bearing down on the Middle Atlantic states and drove straight through until they reached Everglades National Park. For the first two nights the group camped at the Everglades Outward Bound Center, where a park ranger spoke with them about the natural history of the region, career opportunities with the park service, and "leave no trace" camping.

From that location the students planned the expedition, setting their goals and using charts and tide tables to plan the course that would take them from the Gulf of Mexico 118 miles up rivers, through the Everglades and the Wilderness Waterway, to a place called Flamingo, their end destination. Along the way they would stop at places called Pavilion Island, Pelican Bay, Hog Key and Camp Lonesome Mound. Each canoe held two paddlers, 200 pounds of water, and many pounds of camping gear, food, and cooking equipment. Everyone and everything moved by water.

Steve Tomb, GCC associate professor of adventure sports, who first had the idea of the Everglades expedition, came away convinced that they would go back again, possibly every other year.

"The Everglades are one of the most unique wilderness areas in the world," Tomb said. "It is a place of magic where you get into the rhythm of the tides, the sunrise and sunset. We had to paddle out with the tide so the water would be deep enough for our loaded canoes, and [so] we would not be paddling against the current in the narrow rivers and channels."

Tomb felt that the expedition gave students a great opportunity to apply the leadership skills they had learned. "From the student's perspective, this was a major endeavor to plan all the food and the logistics, and then to execute an expedition like this and manage all the risks that come with such an expedition. Longer expeditions enable students to develop the judgment they will need when hired in our industry."

ADVENTURE SPORTS STUDENTS "SURVIVE" THE EVERGLADES — These Garrett Community College adventure sports students traveled to Everglades National Park last month as part of the Back Country Living course. Charting their own course, the students paddled canoes over 100 miles through the southern Florida natural wonder, carrying all they needed in the way of camping gear, food, and cooking equipment. The expedition will be recounted during a Tuesday, April 30, GCC Adventure Sports colloquium. The presentation will be open to the public, and further details will be published in the week preceding the event. The group is shown perched on a sand bar waiting to ride the rising tide back to shore. (No word yet on who was voted off the island — other than the photographer, obviously.)

Other instructors who accompanied the group were Dr. Robert Kauffman, head of the Recreation program at Frostburg State University, and Rosa Verdeja, former instructor with Outward Bound. Kauffman kept a photo record of the expedition, which he has made into a Power Point presentation that includes reactions of the students to the expedition.

Comments by the students indicate that they enjoyed the expedition and found the most unique experience to be the wildlife they saw and the phosphorescent plankton that "looked like fireflies" while they were paddling at night. They will also remember getting the canoes stuck in the mud.

Gatan Waddell, an adventure sports student from Baden, Pa., found the expedition to be a "fantastic experience" and remembers the day they had to push the canoes through the mud for a quarter of a mile. "We were not able to reach the island where we hoped to camp," he stated, "because the tide was low. So we used the boards from the bottom of the canoes to build a platform on top of the canoes, and we camped there two nights."

"Waddell was impressed with the diversity of the Everglades and the wildlife he saw there, especially the "incredible birds." He brought back photos of alligators, a diamondback rattler, a wild boar, heron, spoonbills, ibis, and egrets. The group also saw dolphins swimming alongside their canoes.

To Waddell and the other students, four of whom were women, the expedition was a learning experience. "Everyone got along well, and worked together," Waddell said. "We rotated partners in the canoes so we paddled with different partners. Even the food we ate was good." From the flour, sugar, fresh vegetables and pasta the group had packed, they made tortilla wraps, pancakes, pizza, macaroni and cheese, baked a cake in a Dutch oven, and even had fresh fish for a dinner.

Other students who participated in the Everglades expedition were Kellee Gomola, Jessica Lyons, Jen Hyde, Chris Bern, John Massey, John Bray, Clint Casey, and Rachelle Thorn.

Because the first expedition to the Everglades was a success, Tomb is tentatively planning to offer this January term experience every two years, alternating with an Adirondacks ice climbing expedition. Students will then have the option of cold weather camping or paddling a canoe through the Everglades.

A presentation on the expedition is being planned for an adventure sports colloquium set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 30, at the college. The program will be open to the public, and more details will be announced as they are finalized.

Tougher Drunken-Driving Laws Being Pushed By Lawmakers

by Tim Keefe
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Legislators must pass aggressive laws this session to help reduce a growing number of drunken-driving fatalities in the state and avoid losing federal funding for state highways, government leaders said at a news conference Tuesday.

Bills to prohibit open containers of alcohol in cars, increase penalties for repeat and excessively drunken drivers, and encourage roadside breath tests are necessary to reduce drunken-driving fatalities in Maryland, Lt. Gov. Kathleen Kennedy Townsend said.

"We won't let [drunken driving] stand," Townsend said. "We're saying today that we're going to toughen our laws...and we're going to make sure that those laws are going to be enforced."

The state could also lose nearly $15 million in federal funding for the state's highways next year if the open-container and repeat-offender laws fail, Townsend said. Federal statutes require states to have certain repeat intoxicated driver and open-container alcohol laws in place or risk having a portion of their federal highway construction funds redirected into other state safety activities each year. Maryland laws do not address these issues, and the federal government could require the state to spend 3 percent of federal roads money, nearly $15 million, on safety programs rather than construction, if the bills are rejected.

The measures come one year after Maryland passed two significant drunken-driving laws, lowering the blood-alcohol content for drunken driving from .10 to .08 and permitting prosecutors to advise courts when defendants refuse to take a breath test. A bill targeting repeat offenders would increase penalties from two days in jail or 80 hours of community service to five days in jail or 30 days of community service and impose a one-year license suspension.

A second bill would prohibit open containers of alcohol in "readily accessible" passenger areas of vehicles.

Twenty-seven states and the District of Columbia comply with federal statutes regarding repeat-offender laws, while 34 states and the District comply with open-container laws.

A third bill would impose stricter penalties on excessively drunken drivers with a blood-alcohol content of .15 or higher. The "super drunk" bill would suspend a driver's license for at least 60 days for first-time offenders and double it for subsequent offenses. The measure also would impose a "zero tolerance" sanction on subsequent offenders, meaning they can be prosecuted if their blood-alcohol content is above 0.0 on a traffic stop. State law does not now distinguish between .08 and higher.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration reported 65 percent of all alcohol-related traffic deaths involve drivers with .15 or higher blood-alcohol content, said Delegate Mark K. Shriver, D-Montgomery, the bill's chief sponsor.

"Clearly, if you are a repeat offender and you're a super drunk," Shriver said, "the penalties ought to be super high."

Shriver's bill would also impose stiffer sanctions on suspected drunken drivers who refuse to take a blood-alcohol content test, suspending their license for one year. About 30 percent of drivers asked to take a blood-alcohol test do not, preferring to challenge police in court, Shriver said.

"[Blood alcohol content] tests are the best evidence that we have in prosecuting drunk drivers," he said. "We're closing a major loophole here."

Col. David B. Mitchell of the Maryland State Police agreed.

"People aren't taking [the test]," Mitchell said. "They'd rather take their chances against a trooper or a police officer or a deputy in testimony than a BAC test."

All three bills are scheduled to go before the House Judiciary Committee next Wednesday, while companion bills in the Senate will go before the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee on March 5.

NHS After-Prom Meeting Slated

Parents of Northern High School students are urged to attend a meeting to make plans for the 2002 after-prom events. The meeting will be held Wednesday, March 13, at 6:30 p.m. in Room 115 at the school. Persons desiring more information may telephone Debbie Workman at 301-746-8717.

Class Of '57 Meeting Slated

The Class Reunion Planning Committee for the Southern High School Class of 1957 will meet in the Garrett County Extension Office Meeting Room, Mtn. Lake Park, on Tuesday, March 5, at 7 p.m. Anyone interested in helping is invited to attend. For more information, persons may call 301-334-2619.

4-H Club News

SNOWY CREEK
Will Gallagher, reporter

The Snowy Creek 4-1 Club held its monthly meeting recently as 26 members were present along with club leader, Wanda Guard. Roll call was taken as each member named his or her favorite animal.

Club president Jennifer Lowdermilk led a discussion of several new topics, including the Adopt-A-Highway project, and the Overlook, Float, and Booth committees. The members decided on a YMCA swimming and skating trip for February's club activity, and that a field trip to a sugar maple camp and a bowling outing would be the activities for March. Guest speaker Judy Sines presented a program titled "Why You Should Not Smoke."

The next meeting of the Snowy Creek 4-H Club is scheduled for Thursday, March 14, at the Guards' farm.

On Dean's List

Angela M. Sincell has been named to the dean's list of Towson University, Towson, for the fall semester of 2001.

To be eligible for the dean's list at Towson, students must attain a quality point average of 3.5 or higher on a 4.0 scale, with a course load of at least 12 credits.

Sincell, a sophomore at Towson, is a 2000 graduate of Southern Garrett High School. She is the daughter of Ben and Beverly Sincell, Oakland.

Garrett's Small Business Center Slates Classes

The Small Business Development Center at Garrett Community College has slated three classes for next month that will address a variety of topics pertaining to improving a small business's record keeping, customer service, and public image. Each class will be composed of three sessions that will meet weekday evenings as scheduled.

"Requirements for the Small Business" is set for 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Mondays, March 4-18. The instructor is Jerry Corley, a retired business instructor.

Participants will discuss a variety of topics, including the legal, tax, and records requirements for operating a small business; how to select appropriate legal forms; insurance needs and options; and how to manage the flow of paperwork.

"Telephone Training Part I" will take place from 6:30 to 9 p.m. over two Mondays and one Wednesday, March 4-11. The instructor for this class is Joan Johnson, who has a bachelor of science degree in business and management.

"Exceptional telephone skills are a fundamental part of building customer satisfaction and loyalty," said Johnson. The course will present strategies for developing a positive image during phone calls; how to manage holds, transfers and multiple calls; how to take thorough messages; how to deal with persistent callers; and how to build a rapport with callers.

"Promoting a Professional Image for the Owner/Manager" is set for 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Thursdays, March 7-21. Corley will instruct this class as well.

"Make a favorable impression each time through your words, body language, and appearance," Corley said in describing the course. "Become more effective in a business setting by developing effective communication skills; defining your own professional image; understanding office protocol; using the telephone and electronic communication effectively; and fostering attitudes of success."

RELAY FOR LIFE TEAM CAPTAIN MEETING SET -- The fourth annual Garrett County Relay for Life is fast approaching, and a one-hour meeting to introduce the Relay experience to new team members and team captains who will be participating for the first time is slated for 6:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 25, in Room 305 of the Continuing Education building at Garrett Community College. This meeting is open to anyone considering forming a team, or anyone interested in finding out more about the Relay For Life. Among the first-time entrants this year is the "Proudfoot Patrol," representing Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy. The team's theme is Proudfoot Patrol — Stomping Out Cancer, and the group will walk in honor of breast cancer survivor and team member Arveta Savage. The busy Patrol intends to raise Relay funds through a wide variety of activities, such as foot painting, babysitting, sales of food items including footlong hot dogs and shoestring licorice, a car wash, an antique car show, raffles, and Tupperware sales. Shown in the front row, from left, are Don Savage, Jackie and Atlee Wise, Katharine Drennan, Eileen Mouyard, and Anne and Riley Drennan. In the middle row are team captain Jackie Hawk, Arveta Savage, Jo Cvetnick, and Kayla Cathell, and in the back row are Carrie Yommer, Bridget Miller, Carl Cathell, and Gregg Savage. For more information on the Relay, or the upcoming meeting, persons may call Linda Fike at 301-387-3049.

Rhodes To Speak At Alzheimer's Support Group

Lance Rhodes, R.Ph., director of pharmacy at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, will be the featured speaker at this month's Alzheimer's Caregiver Support Group.

Pre-kindergarten Registration Information

Beginning March 1, 2002 , and ending May 1, 2002, the Garrett County Board of Education will be accepting applications for its Extended Elementary Education Program or Pre-kindergarten. To be eligible for this program a child must be four years of age on or before December 31, 2002. [Please be aware that the Maryland State Board of Education is expected to change the enrollment period for pre-kindergarten to children born between January 1, 1998, and November 30, 1998. This action is expected in April or May 2002. If approved, then all children born in December 1998 would be ineligible for enrollment in the pre-kindergarten program this year. Parents will be notified in writing if the State Board of Education enacts this anticipated change in the existing enrollment criterion.]

There is a two-step application process:

1. Interested parents should obtain a copy of the Notification of Interest for Pre-kindergarten Program documents. (These documents can be obtained from the nearest elementary school or from the Office of Pupil Services at the Board of Education office in Oakland.) The first document explains the enrollment and selection process for the pre-kindergarten program. The second document is an information sheet. This information sheet should be completed and forwarded to the Office of Pupil Services, Garrett County Board of Education, 40 South 2nd Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. The form can also be taken to the closest elementary school.

2. Upon receipt of the Notification of Interest for Pre-kindergarten Program information sheet, the parents will be given or sent a second set of documents. This second set includes a parent letter, a photocopy of the Board of Education's guidelines for determining the eligibility and selection of pre-kindergarten students, and a Garrett County Pre-kindergarten Program Questionnaire. This questionnaire will need to be completed and returned as soon as possible to the Office of Pupil Services. The information provided by parents on this questionnaire will be used to determine which children are enrolled in the pre-kindergarten program. The Office of Pupil Services will date and log in all questionnaires.

Any questions about this enrollment process should be directed to Ms. Liz Lowla, administrative secretary, Office of Pupil Services, at 301-334-8939.

Oakland To Hold Municipal Election In March

The mayor and three council members will be chosen in the municipal election to be held Monday, March 11. The polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Terms expire for Asa McCain, mayor, and David Beard, Margaret Jamison, and Mary Lou Stemple, all councilpersons.

Others currently serving the council are Harvey J. Moyer, Willard Ringer, and Chris Todd.

The last day to file for office is Friday, March 1, at 4 p.m.

Any resident of Oakland over the age of 18 may register to vote for the election during regular office hours until 4:30 p.m. on Friday, March 1. The town of Oakland maintains a separate register of voters; however, persons registered at the Garrett County Board of Elections after Jan. 1, 1990, aud are a resident of Oakland, are automatically qualified to vote in the upcoming election.

The deadline for obtaining absentee ballots is Monday, March 4, at 4 p.m.

New Bake Shop Opens, Benefits Meals On Wheels

Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging is undertaking a new endeavor — a part-time bake shop, located in the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland. The grand opening of "Loving Spoonful Bake Shoppe" is scheduled for Monday, March 4, from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. The shop will be open to the public every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. All proceeds from the sale of baked goods will support the Meals-on-Wheels program, helping to ensure the continuation of five days per week service in future years.

"This was the brainstorm of senior center kitchen personnel — Sheila Ford, manager, and Marguerite 'Marge' Holland, kitchen aide," said Adina Brode, director. "Marge is a wonderful baker and often bakes special items to sell to CAC staff in the building or for occasional bake sales. She and Sheila thought making the delicious baked goods available to the public would be a great way to raise funds for the Meals-on-Wheels program."

The items to be sold will be made with only fresh ingredients, and no preservatives will be used, according to Brode. Available baked goods will include white or wheat bread, sticky buns, cinnamon rolls, coffee cakes, nut breads, pumpkin rolls, and fruit and cream pies. Specialties of the day will include items such as foccacio bread, quiche, Boston cream pie, and more. With a little advance notice, the bake shop will also try to accommodate special orders, when possible, for events such as business meetings.

"We're delighted to be able to offer this to the community. It has been a long time since a bakery was located in town," Brode said. "I am especially thrilled with the initiative demonstrated by these two employees. Watch for our ad in an upcoming edition of the paper."

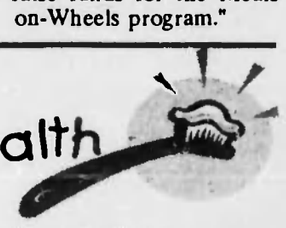
Children's Dental Health Month



Submitted by Cynthia Bowman, R.D.H.

The way children care for their bodies today will have an impact on their health far into the new century. The good news for parents is that preventive dental care has dramatically improved the oral health of American children. It's now possible for many children to reach adulthood without ever experiencing tooth decay.

February is National Children's Dental Health Month, and the Allegany/Garrett Dental Society has these tips for parents and caregivers:

- Take your child to see the dentist regularly, beginning by the child's first birthday.
- Put only water in a child's naptime or bedtime bottle.
- Start brushing as soon as the child's first tooth appears.
- Begin flossing when two teeth begin to touch.
- Brush and floss your child's teeth daily until the child can be taught to do this alone.
- Make certain your child gets the fluoride needed for decay-resistant teeth. Ask your dentist how this should be done.
- Ask your dentist about dental sealants, a thin protective barrier that shields the chewing surface of back teeth against tooth decay.

Good oral health practices should begin in infancy and continue throughout adult life. In your child's early years, you must provide this care. Later you will need to instruct, monitor, and motivate your child to help maintain good oral health habits.

Attitudes and habits established at an early age are critical in maintaining good oral health throughout life.

• The pop tab collection at Northern High School is still being held and will continue throughout the year. If persons in the community who would like to donate, the tabs would be appreciated. Tabs can be sent to the high school, care of Mrs. Barb Law.

• For Seniors: The local Wal-Mart store is sponsoring a Sam Walton Community Scholarship Program for graduating seniors. For information and an application, interested students/parents may pick up an application at the Wal-Mart service desk. No applications will be given to the high school or made available on-line.

• The University of Maryland, College Park, is offering a one-week program this summer for 10th and 11th grade females interested in exploring careers in engineering. The math and science teachers have information about the program. Anyone interested may pick up an application in the Counseling Center. The application deadline in April 12.

• Special Olympics are coming soon. The Maryland Special Olympic games will be held on Feb. 24-26 at the Wisp Mountain Resort. Students are needed to help with all events, beginning Sunday evening, all day Monday and Tuesday; and Monday evening. A personal day must be taken to help on Monday and Tuesday. This is a great service-learning opportunity and a great way to help others. You do not need to be a skier to participate. Skiers and non-skiers are needed for these events. Applications are available on Thursday, Feb. 7, in Room 200. These must be filled out and returned before participating. There is an orientation meeting for anyone who plans to help on Saturday, Feb. 23, from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Wisp. Students will receive service hours for attending this meeting. Anyone with questions should see Mrs. Law in Room 200.

• Congratulations to the December Students of the Month. The representative are Scott Pusateri, freshman; Annie Winter, sophomore; Katie Garlitz and Natalie Ganoe, juniors; and Rachel Bruch and Stephanie Kahl, seniors.

• Students received their report cards last month, and so did the high school. The Maryland State Department of Education sent the high school its annual report on how Northern is performing as a school. This report card evaluates the school in regard to student performance on the Maryland functional tests, student attendance, drop-out rate, program completion of graduates, and the post graduation decisions of the students. The report indicated that in all areas of functional testing and attendance, Northern performs at either satisfactory or excellent standards.

HEAD START KIDS ENJOY "CORNY" ACTIVITY — The Head Start Home Base program enjoyed a visit to the Cove Run Corn Maze last fall. Pictured above are some of the children enrolled in the Home Base program, their mothers, and, at far right, Amy Jones, facilitator of the Home Base program. To enroll in the Home Base program, children must meet all Head Start criteria and be available for weekly home visits, plus bi-weekly socializing activities with the other Home Base families. For more information about Garrett County Community Action and the Head Start Home Base program, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 107, or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 126.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Rodney and Marci Glotfelty had some of their friends visit them over the weekend. Visiting were Mary and Ross Conway from Ohio and Joe and Mary Glorosis from Baltimore.

My brother Barry from Frederick was up for the weekend, and he was thrilled to see the blizzard and some snow in Garrett County, which Frederick is lacking. Of course, he had to go cross-country skiing on Sunday morning since he was inspired by the Olympics and with the beautiful back country right at our back door. We have everything within a couple hours of skiing — the forest trees all covered with snow, especially the hemlocks, and the stream with big rocks covered by pillows of snow, and a few steep downhill runs and, of course, some good climbs and a beautiful ice-covered beaver dam.

Unfortunately, about a half-mile out, he hit a hole on a downhill run and took a really nasty fall. At about 11:30 Barry came staggering in the living room and fell on the floor. Somehow he made it back on foot to my house. He was unable to sit up, and everyone was scared he had broken his back. After Marci and Rodney checked him out, it was decided not to move him and to call 911. No sooner than the call was made when Pete Buckel, Larry Nesline, Paul Yoder, and some other members of the Bittinger Fire Department arrived and placed him on a back board. The fire department is usually the first to respond to an accident, as they are usually the closest trained personnel around.

The Northern Rescue Squad then responded and transported him to Garrett County Memorial Hospital ER. He was one of a mob of other skiers suffering injuries who were waiting to be seen. Barry was very frustrated that he was unable to be sitting at Rodney's watching the Duke-Maryland basketball game. One of the family taped the game for him so he was able to view it later. He was x-rayed and found to have a badly strained back, but no broken bones. He was able to see the closing minutes of the game in the waiting room.

Calling 911 caused a huge fuss. Someone passing by saw the fire department rescue truck and reported that there was a fire at the Sussman house, which caused the rumors to fly. The only fire I know that was around Bittinger was on birthday cakes.

It turned out to be a great game, with Maryland Terps dominating the game. Everyone was ecstatic over the score. Carol and Scott Bass were able to be present for the game at College Park, and were very excited about being there for the big win. Carol said the noise was so loud that their ears rang the whole way home, and said the mob scene on the floor following the game was something to see, but it was too crazy to go down and join in.

Barry was able to return to Frostburg that night but was followed by his cousin, Mike Englar, to make sure he arrived safely. He returned to his home in Frederick Monday and was still in a great deal of pain.

It seems as if Philadelphia is a popular destination for Bittinger people. Two weeks ago Maddy Whittemore and Erin Beiler put on a show as members of a training team demonstration prior to the Sport Aerobics Competition in Philadelphia. They are members of the Little Ones Squad from Brenda's Body Shop. They both are cute as they can be, with Maddy a strawberry blonde and Erin a brunette. Maybe they both will grow up as gymnastic stars and represent Bittinger at a future Summer Olympics.

Matthew Bass joined Zack Beitzel at a basketball game of the '76ers in Philadelphia over the weekend.

I don't believe any place is better than Bittinger for the shut-ins, especially if you ask Lottie Brenneman. Linda Buckel gave me a list of visitors, but it may be incomplete. So if we miss anyone, sorry about that.

Visiting were Kathryn Bowser, Jean Shrider, Margie Brenneman, Beulah Moon, Audrey Brenneman, Bob and Maxine Legeer, Mary Brenneman Frye, Mary Lou Smith, Harry Brenneman, Naomi Youngblood, Sharon Rounds, and quilter friends from Grantsville, Min Bittinger and Pat Adams. The Decons Guild of Emmanuel Lutheran Church met at Lottie's house Sunday evening. Lottie is now able to use her walker some of the time. Lottie will be alone for awhile since her daughter Lois is heading down to North Carolina.

This week Linda Buckel will fly to Chicago for the national meeting of presidents of the ELCA Church Women. She will be busy with three days of training sessions and meetings before returning home Saturday.

The long delayed meeting of the Bittinger 4-H Club will finally be held this Tuesday. Finally the members will do their speeches. The weather is warm and decent today, to my girls' disgust. They can see the days of school delays or closed for the day are almost clearly over for this year. I am always happy when they get a day off from school because it means I can spend a whole day with them. But I think it was great that Bittinger had some real winter, which was short and not so severe. This was one of the few places that have had snow cover for a very long time this winter. I am glad that our climate is pretty normal, and the snow will recharge our ground water supply.

If you want a visual picture of what drew Barry out to ski you can stop by the Art Council Gallery on Alder Street in Oakland, because I recently sent in a watercolor of a scene of winter in the hemlock wood with the stream. It is a good representation of winter scenery of any place in Garrett County.

Pastor Pat Pittsnogle will be on vacation from February 21 to February 27. In the event of a pastoral emergency, please call Floyd Baker at 245-4063. Mrs. Margie Lauver, first year seminarian at Gettysburg and a member of St Mark's, Oakland, will be our guest preacher this Sunday.

Lea Stanton spent the weekend home from college with her parents, Sam and Cindy Stanton.

Word has been received this week of the death of Carvel Wiley Bostion, Baltimore, who died last weekend. Funeral services are being held this Thursday. Carvel was the daughter of Lucy Glotfelty Wiley and Harrison Wiley, who were former residents of Bittinger.

AURORA/EGLON

LENTEN SERVICES

Union District Lenten services will be at the Aurora United Methodist Church on Feb. 27. The public is welcome to attend this ecumenical pre-Easter series. On March 6, Mt. Grove Church of the Brethren will be the location, with Charles Burrell, and March 13, the service will be at Brookside Church of the Brethren, with the Rev. Charles Teets bringing the message. All times are at 7:30 p.m.

Those wishing to participate in the drama or sunrise choir are reminded that drama practice is on Thursday evening at 7 p.m., and choir practice is at 7 p.m. on Friday evening, both at Maple Spring Church.

EGLON 4-H

The Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club opened its Feb. 11 meeting with devotions led by the executive committee: Sara Lewis, Craig Rembold, and Ashley Bachtel. The pledges were led by Katelyn Harsh, and Debbie Collins read the secretary's report. Roll call was answered by members naming a favorite candy. The club voted to reimburse $1 per member to the Preston County 4-H Foundation to offset insurance costs. Leader Linda Lewis asked if anyone wanted to add or change projects.

Kari Harsh presented a talk on "Plant Nutrition and Fertilizer." Debbie Collins gave a talk on "How to Make Leaf Press." "The Expense of Fishing" was the topic for a talk by Craig Rembold, and he also demonstrated "The Different Types of Casting."

The county IFYE program will feature David Hartley, IFYE representative to Denmark, on March 21. County 4-H Day is to be April 13, and the club needs three members to participate. Visual presentations and public speaking are the areas of competition. Resumés of members' 4-H work and interests enable them to be eligible for programs such as National 4-H Congress, and any member 14 and older can complete and submit one. The poster/photo contest in Preston County was judged on Feb. 6.

A game of penny toss, in which members had to flip pennies into a bowl placed in the center of the table, followed the meeting. The next meeting will be March 11 at the Eglon Memorial Building, with the Safety Committee in charge of a program on "Hunter Safety."

Tracy Teets, reporter.

UNION SENIORS

The Valentine theme was carried through the Feb. 14 meeting of the Union District seniors at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. It was announced that a "55 Alive" driving course will be available, and those present could register for it. Don McMillen, Democratic candidate for county commissioner, was present to state his views.

Using the theme of "Love," Martha Bolyard presented the devotions and concluded them with quotes from 6-year-olds concerning their ideas of love.

Wilda Blamble gave a report that the local Relay for Life will be held at Kingwood June 14-15, with a different location selected for the event. A communication received announced that there are no monies available at this time to make Cathedral State Park trails accessible to the handicapped.

The Union seniors will host the April meeting of Preston County seniors. The next countywide meeting will be a St. Patrick's party on March 13 at the Terra Alta senior location. The county is sponsoring a bus to the Sight and Sound Theater for a presentation of Daniel on April 23 and 24.

In preparation for the April meeting, the local seniors will be decorating eggs as favors. Each member attending the Valentine meeting was given a Valentine potholder made by the vice president. Union seniors will meet again on March 7 at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building beginning with the covered dish lunch at noon.

PERSONAL MENTION

"Bud" Lipscomb of Aurora underwent hip replacement surgery in Morgantown on Feb. 12, and was transferred this week to Garrett County Memorial Hospital's sub-acute unit to continue his rehabilitation.

Relatives and friends at Aurora were notified of the Feb. 13 death of Lenora Schrock, who died at the Oakland home of her sister, Mildred Meyer. Lenora was a daughter of the late Scott and Eula Schrock and had taught school both in Preston and Garrett counties prior to her retirement.

Effie Wolfe of Pine View Apartments, Thomas, was a patient last week in Garrett Memorial Hospital. She came Friday to the home of her niece and spouse, Ruby and Troy Judy, Eglon, to continue her recuperation.

Rachel Biser has been a patient at Garrett Memorial Hospital, where she had been admitted from a personal care home near Accident.

Edith Biser, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Rachel Biser, is reportedly quite ill and a patient in Ruby Memorial Hospital as a result of complications during chemo treatments.

Don and Neva Frantz of Eglon were visiting last week in Dover, Del., with their daughter-in-law, Heather Frantz, and grandson Wyatt.

Bill and Linda Lantz of Aurora made a weekend visit to Louisville, Ky., where the National Farm Machinery Show concluded on Saturday, Feb. 16. They were accompanied from Beckley by Linda's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Teets.

Charles Layman of Talahassee, Fla., was a weekend visitor with his parents, Sheridan and Nina Layman, Aurora.

Wilma Knapp was brought Friday to the home of her daughter and spouse, Alice and Jim Bolyard, Amboy. She had spent the past three weeks at Cortland Acres Nursing Home, where her husband, Floyd Knapp, remains a patient. On Tuesday morning she fell and was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Doris Stemple returned Monday to her home at Aurora after being a patient the past week in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Mary, Shawn, and Craig Rembold spent the holiday weekend in Pittsburgh visiting with the boys' grandmother, Eileen Rembold.

Weekend visitor with Wade and Mary Harsh, Eglon, was their son, Tim Harsh of Wilmington, Del.

Mary Lou Miller of Frankin, N.Y., visited last week with her parents, David and Wilma Mae Teets, Horse Shoe Run, and returned to her home on Sunday.

Helen Callis, 63, Oakland, died Feb. 12 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She is survived by Bonnie Harsh, Betty Bolyard, and Melvin Cullers, all local siblings, as well as her other siblings, Janet Barr, Petersburg, Marian Moreland, Lanham, Md., Roger Cullers, Scherr, and Harry Cullers, Reading, Mass. Also surviving is her husband, James L. Callis of Oakland; a daughter, Rita Lambka of Kitzmiller; and two sons, Dr. Stewart J. Callis and Robert G. Callis, both Oakland. Mrs. Callis, the daughter of the late Gorman M. and Edna Davis Cullers, succumbed to cancer. Services were held at the Stewart Funeral Home, and burial was in Maysville Cemetery.

Gary Yost, 47, Terra Alta, died at Preston Memorial Hospital on Feb. 16, 2002. He is survived by his wife, Connie (Mayne) Watkins, and several children, one of them being Chris Yost of Eglon.

Leads Sought In Recent Terra Alta Burglary

The Terra Alta, W.Va., Police Department is requesting the public's assistance as it investigates a recent break-in at an Aurora Avenue residence. Stolen during the burglary were several rifles and rifle scopes, a handgun, a police scanner, a pair of two-way radios, and an album containing sports cards.

Persons with information regarding the incident are asked to contact the Terra Alta Police Department at 304-789-6664 or the Preston County Communications Center at 304-329-0135.

Burlington Home Raising Money For New Chapel

Construction of a new campus chapel will soon begin on the Children's Home Campus in Burlington. A groundbreaking ceremony was held last August, and the building's concrete foundation was poured in the fall of last year. Construction of the chapel's framework will begin in the spring of this year.

The vision for the chapel began with the youthful residents of the Burlington Campus. They attend Sunday school and worship services at churches in Burlington and nearby communities, but they began to express a desire to have "a church of our own — a sacred place where we can go every day for prayer, vespers, fellowship, and spiritual life activities." Their vision led to discussions with administration advisory groups and with the Burlington board of trustees. With the understanding that the campus residents would continue their participation in local churches, the decision was made to pursue their dream.

Fund-raising efforts to date include a "Buy a Brick" campaign, plus the publishing and sale of writings by campus youth in the form of a book titled Through Our Eyes. The book's entire $10 per copy sale price will be donated to the chapel building fund.

Burlington United Methodist Family Services recently began a drive to raise the additional monies needed to fund the chapel's construction costs. The "quiet" portion of the campaign began in the fall of 2001, and more than $20,000 of the building's estimated $85,000 cost has already been raised. With the start of construction only a few months away, Burlington has begun a strategic plan to raise funds for the project's completion.

Fund-raising packets are being sent to churches in the Potomac Highlands, Little Kanawha, MonValley, Northern, and Wesleyan districts. Each packet will contain a letter describing the chapel project; an 11" by 17" artist's rendering of the chapel; information brochures on the "Buy a Brick" campaign; a sample copy of Through Our Eyes; and order forms. Additional fund-raising activities and events are being planned for late spring and early summer.

For information on ordering the children's book, or to request a brick brochure, persons may contact Sharon Boal at the BUMFS Foundation Office by phone, 304-788-1953, or by e-mail: sharon@bumfs.org. Contributions may be sent to: Burlington United Methodist Family Services Inc., Foundation Office, 145 Southern Drive, Keyser, WV 26726.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Army Reserve Pvt. Jennifer M. Smith has graduated from the petroleum supply specialist advanced individual training course at Fort Lee, Petersburg, Va.

The student received instruction in receipt, storage, issue, shipping, and distribution of petroleum, oil, and lubricant products used by the Army. The course included training in petroleum and water accounting, operating equipment associated with fuels and water distribution, and fueling and defueling operations and procedures on vehicles, aircraft, and stationary equipment.

She is the daughter of Shanna L. Hipley and Keith W. Blackmer, Mount Storm.

Corinth Church Slates Gospel Music Benefit

The Singing Bluebirds, a gospel music group composed of several Preston County schoolbus drivers, will perform a benefit concert at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 1, at Corinth United Methodist Church. A free-will offering taken during the evening will go toward a famine relief charitable fund.

The Corinth UM Church is located along Route 7 in Corinth. For further information, persons may call Kelly Wotring at 304-789-6019 or Gloria Uphole at 301-334-1457.

Kindergarten Registration Set At Union Complex

Union Complex has scheduled registration for this fall's kindergarten students for Friday, March 1. This registration will be conducted between 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Parents of children in the Union Complex Attendance Area who will be eligible for kindergarten this fall should arrange to bring their child to the school to register.

Children who will be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1, 2002, are to be enrolled in kindergarten classes which will start in September.

Children entering school for the first time should have the following immunizations.

1. At least three doses of trivalent oral polio vaccine, one of which must have been administered after the fourth birthday.

2. At least three doses of combined diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis (DPT) vaccine, one of which must have been administered after the fourth birthday.

3. Two doses of rubella vaccine and two doses of measles vaccine or two doses of the combined MMR (measles, mumps, rubella) vaccine.

Immunizations will be given at the school. Persons can also have them administered at the health department, or by the child's health care provider.

School law requires that all children entering school for the first time be screened for vision, hearing, speech, and language problems. This will be done at registration by a Grant County health nurse and school speech therapist Elaine Toth.

Parents should bring their child's birth certificate, Social Security card, and immunization record with them.

AMVETS Post 37 To Hold Indoor Flea Market

AMVETS Mountaineer Post 37, Terra Alta, W.Va., will be holding an indoor flea market in their social hall to "break the winter blahs."

The scheduled dates are Saturday, Feb. 23, from 9 a.m until 6 p.m. and Sunday, Feb. 24, from 1 to 5 p.m. In case of snow, the dates will be Saturday, March 2, 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., and Sunday, March 3, 1 to 5 p.m.

Cost for vendors is $5 per space in advance or $7 at the door. Food and refreshment will also be on sale. Donations of items for sale by the post should be taken to the post home Tuesday and Friday from 1 until 5 p.m. or Thursday from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. or 1 to 5 p.m.

All proceeds from the sale will benefit the AMVETS Community Building Renovation Fund. Persons with questions or wanting to reserve a space may contact the commander at 304-789-7900.

Edwards Presents Ag Bill To Gen. Assembly, Again

District 1-A Delegate George Edwards has again asked the Maryland General Assembly to remove the restriction prohibiting the Maryland Land Preservation Foundation from requiring that natural gas companies give up mineral rights on farm land before farmers can join the foundation. The bill failed to pass last year due to the governor's veto.

Last week the House Appropriations Committee held a public hearing on House Bill 567 in Annapolis. Fred Holliday, Garrett County commissioner, and John Nelson, director of Planing and Zoning, testified at the hearing in an attempt to persuade legislators to support the bill.

"We want to support more agricultural property in the county," said Holliday. "It's important for us to show support for local bills like this." More than 20 county farmers are interested in joining the foundation, but cannot, due to the mineral rights restrictions, he said.

Garrett and Allegany counties have more natural resources, such as coal and natural gas, than other parts of the state, and, therefore, farmers in this area are at a disadvantage if they wish to join the foundation.

"Everything went well," said Nelson about the hearing. The governor's support, however, is still vital to the bill's passage. Edwards is continually working with the Governor's Office to convince Governor Glendening of the bill's importance.

Glendening's lack of support of the bill is no surprise to Commissioner Ernie Gregg. "I've thought all along that the Governor's Office just doesn't understand," he said.

Also introduced to the General Assembly this year is the Farm Product and Research Protection Act, sponsored by Edwards and 28 other delegates. The House Judiciary Committee will hold a hearing on HB 1012 next Thursday, Feb. 28, at 1 p.m. in Room 120 of the Lowe House Office Building.

The legislation requests that "certain criminal and civil penalties for the willful and malicious damage or destruction of an agricultural operation or product be established, according to the General Assembly's web site. If the bill passes, persons found guilty of destroying agricultural property or products could face imprisonment of up to one year and/or fines up to $5,000.

Crop Insurance Deadline Nears; Millions At Stake

Millions in risk protection dollars are at stake as Maryland growers of 11 sprina-planted crops face a March 15 deadline for signing up for insurance policies, or for making any changes to existing policies. Farmers who sign up or make changes to existing crop insurance policies by the deadline will benefit from federally subsidized insurance premiums.

"This is an important opportunity for farmers to re-evaluate crop insurance," said Maryland Agriculture Secretary Hagner R. Mister. "We have suffered from drought in recent years and the current forecast isn't too encouraging. Buying crop insurance now will ease concerns about planting this spring and help with premium costs."

Maryland environmental authorities recently issued a "drought warning" earlier than ever, urging people to conserve water voluntarily so that mandatory measures might be avoided. The current record-low water table and stream flow levels as well as the shortfall of rain and snow needed to recharge the soil and aquifers are cause for concern among farmers.

Maryland is one of 15 states where crop insurance participation is low. To help increase understanding of new crop insurance provisions, the Maryland Department of Agriculture, with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, has been holding workshops throughout the state.

Last year, which was a good year for crops in most parts of the state, Maryland farmers paid out $2.3 million in premiums and collected $2.7 million in indemnities. In 1997, a drought year in Maryland, farmers got back more than $4 million in help. That was before the dramatic increase in subsidies for crop insurance premiums enacted by Congress in 2000.

The 11 crops sharing the March 15 deadline are: canning beans, corn, processing sweet corn, fresh market sweet corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, fresh market tomatoes, Maryland tobacco, oats, green peas, and processing tomatoes.

Four different types of crop insurance policies are available. Which crops are insurable and which kinds of policies are available vary county to county. To learn about their options, or to sign up for crop insurance, farmers will need to talk to one of 70 private crop insurance agents before March 15.

A list of crop insurance agents is available from local USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) offices or through the agent locator on the Risk Management Agency web site www.rma.usda.gov. County Extension staff can also locate an agent.

Egg Production Numbers Released

Maryland laying flocks produced 84 million eggs during December 2001, of which 79 million were table eggs and 5 million were hatching eggs. The average rate of lay was 79.3%.

The average number of layers on hand durina December 2001 was 3,418,000. On January 1, 2002, 7.0% of the layers in Maryland were being molted, but 25.5% of all layers had been through a molt. U.S. egg production totaled 7.40 billion during December 2001, up 2 percent from last year.

Milk Production Statistics Noted

Maryland dairy operators produced 320 million pounds of milk during the October-December quarter, down 1 percent from the same quarter a year earlier. There were 81,000 head, 1,000 fewer than a year earlier. Yield per cow at 4,481 pounds increased 65 pounds, from a year earlier.

The quarterly production of milk for the U.S. was 40.8 billion pounds, 0.2 percent above the October-December period last year. The average number of milk cows in the U.S. during the October-December quarter was 9.10 million head, 113,000 head less than the same period last year.

Ag News At A Glance

Nutrient Management Workshops

The Maryland Department of Agriculture has announced that it will hold three two-day workshops on Writing Nutrient Management Plans at locations in Prince George's County (March 18 and 20), western Maryland (March 27 and 28, and the Eastern Shore (April 8 and 9). The workshops are designed for individuals who are not accustomed to writing nutrient management plans. Participants will be trained on the use of nutrient recommendation software. To register, persons should contact Mike Webster at 410-841-5959.

SSCC Meeting Set For March 21

The State Soil Conservation Committee has announced that its next meeting will be held Thursday, March 21, at 9:30 a.m. at the Maryland Department of Agriculture's headquarters building, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis. The meeting is open to the public and will focus on soil conservation and water quality program implementation and policy development.

Established in 1938, the State Soil Conservation Committee coordinates the activities of Maryland's 24 soil conservation districts, while advising the secretary of agriculture on matters relating to soil and water conservation. For more information, persons may call Louise Lawrence, executive secretary, at 410-841-5863.

Vendors Needed for Farmers' Markets

Maryland's expanding network of farmers' markets has created a demand for more producers, according to Tony Evans of the Maryland Department of Agriculture. Openings now exist for fruit and vegetable growers in many of the more than 65 farmers' markets located throughout the state. For details, persons may contact Evans at 1-800-492-5590.

Annual Report Available

The Maryland Agricultural Water Quality Cost-Share Program (MACS) has published its 2001 annual report to the citizens of Maryland. Titled "Pulling Together," the report highlights the various best management practices that the program funds in order to help farmers protect water quality, preserve wildlife habitat, and comply with a growing number of federal and state environmental requirements.

According to the report, Maryland farmers completed more than 3,400 conservation projects on their farms during Fiscal Year 2001 with $8.6 million in assistance from MACS. These practices are helping to prevent some 29,000 tons of soil annually and 2,000 tons of manure daily from impacting Maryland waterways.

For a copy of the report, persons may contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture at 410-841-5864 or e-mail Rona Flagle at flaglerg@mda.state.md.us.

Grain Producers Elect New Officers

The board of directors for the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board (MGPUB) and the Maryland Grain Producers Association (MGPA) have elected their officers for the upcoming year.

Taking the helm for the MGPUB is Michael Clark as president. Clark farms with his family in Howard County. James Saathoff of Caroline County now holds the office of vice president. Both Clark and Saathoff are new to their elected positions. The treasurer is Jamie Jamison of Montgomery County, and the secretary is Byron Grossnickle of Frederick County. Both were re-elected.

The officers elected for the MGPA are Donnie Tennyson of St. Mary's County as president; Michael Nelson of Carroll County, vice president; Drew Stabler of Montgomery County, treasurer; and Byron Grossnickle of Frederick County, secretary. Only Nelson is new to his elected position.

Both boards share 12 members, two from each of six regions across the state. These members provide the board with a better understanding of the different issues affecting their region and offer continuity between the two organizations as they work together to support the betterment of the Maryland grain industry. Other members serving on each board represent the University of Maryland, the Maryland Department of Agriculture and supporting agricultural businesses.

For more information, persons may contact Celeste Pyper at 410-819-0414.

Compiled by the Maryland Agricultural Awareness Alliance, a coalition of federal, state, and local agricultural agencies and commodity groups dedicated to educating Marylanders on agricultural issues.

Farmers Urged To Participate In Ag Survey

Maryland farmers will have the opportunity to "let their voice be heard" by participating in the 2001 agricultural economic survey. This survey, titled the 2001 Agricultural Resource Management Study, provides vital statistics about the economic condition of production agriculture.

As Maryland's number one industry, agriculture contributes almost $18 billion to the state's economy and over 410,000 workers. This survey will help provide a current picture of agricultural production and give farmers a strong voice for their financial future.

Producers chosen to participate in the survey will be visited by an interviewer to complete the report at the farm operator's convenience. Results will be published in a series of reports on the current farm financial situation. A free copy of these reports can be obtained on the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service web site at www.usda.gov/nass/md or by calling 1-800 675-0295.

SURVEY BENEFITS

- Farmers and their organizations need reliable data showing the current economic conditions on farms to have a strong voice for financial future.
- Survey results help determine disaster relief and direct payment funding.
- Without these facts, credit providers have very limited information
- Survey results provide a financial benchmark for the Farm Services Agency and other organizations. Federal programs, legislation, and impact studies would struggle under great uncertainty without these facts.

GCSD Offering Resource-Oriented Scholarships

The Garrett Soil Conservation District (GSCD) is funding two college scholarships for area students, according to George Bishoff, chairman of the district's board of supervisors. Worth $1,000 each, the scholarships are designed to assist students in pursuing an agricultural or natural resource related degree.

"There is a need for young professionals entering our field to have a natural resources or agricultural background," Bishoff said. "We hope that the Soil Conservation District scholarship program will help area students, who can bring some practical experience to their education."

This scholarship is a one-time award to be presented to graduating high school seniors or graduates with the following qualifications:

- Must nave a high school grade point average of 3.0 or better.
- Must major in an agricultural or natural resources related field.
- Previous winners not eligible.
- Must be a resident of Garrett County and graduating, or was a resident of Garrett County at the time of graduation from one either Northern High, Southern High, or Beall High schools.
- Must be entering freshman year of college as a full-time student.

Completed applications, accompanied by a one-page essay, must be submitted to the GSCD office by Monday, April 1. The recipients will selected by the GCSD board of supervisors by Wednesday, May 15. The scholarships are funded in large part by a donation of a Garrett County 4-H FFA livestock market animal purchased by Mettiki Coal Corporation.

Persons may contact one of the high schools' guidance counselors, or the soil conservation district office at 301-334-6951, for more information and/or application forms.

Attention Beef Producers!

Have you ever visited the Wye Research and Educational Center, Queenstown on the Eastern Shore? In conjunction with the preparation of the teleconferencing of the famous Wye Angus Sale at the Garrett Community College we have planned a trip to the Wye to view the animals that will be sold on April 6, 2002. The tour will be on Saturday, March 16, 2002. We have arranged with Shaffer Tour Bus Company to depart from Oakland at 6 a.m. with stops at Northern High School, Frostburg and Flintstone. The cost of the trip that includes lunch is $12 per person (that's a deal). Reservations are due by Friday, March 1, 2002 by calling the Garrett Extension Office at 301-334-6960 or the Allegany Extension Office at 301-724-3320. Folks from neighboring West Virginia and Pennsylvania are invited.

Oakland Man Wins Plumbing, ABC Contests

Robbie Johnson, Oakland, has won the Cumberland Valley Chapter Associated Builders and Contractors (ABC) skills competition, which was held recently in Hagerstown. An employee of Heilig's Plumbing and Electrical company, Johnson was the overall winner of the skills competition, besting 32 other competitors, and he also took first place in the plumbing category.

Johnson is in his fourth year of apprenticeship training with the Cumberland Valley Chapter ABC, and will graduate in August as a journeyman level plumber. He competed against other third- and fourth-year ABC students, and achieved the highest scores in both the written and practical (hands-on) sections of the contest.

In winning the Cumberland Valley Chapter ABC competition, Johnson qualified for this week's ABC National Skills Olympics competition, which is taking place at the ABC national convention this week in New Orleans. The local chapter sent Johnson and his wife to the event, where he is competing against 80 other chapter winners for the ABC national title.

Associated Builders and Contractors is a national association representing more than 23,000 merit shop construction and construction-related firms in 81 chapters across the United States.

There are currently two ABC classes taking place locally, a plumbing class taught by Rob Heilig and an electrical class taught by Dick Morris. Persons interested in further information may contact the Cumberland Valley Chapter ABC at 301-739-1190.

KITZMILLER STUDENTS HONORED FOR PATRIOTISM — Students of Kim Shaffer's fourth grade class at Kitzmiller School was recently honored with the "Guardsman Award," signed by a 3-star general in recognition of patriotic service to the National Guard. The class and their parents visited and toured the Oakland Armory. Dressed in uniforms from the various military branches, they performed several songs to honor the soldiers of the 243rd and 121st Engineer Force West. They also baked and decorated heart-shaped sugar cookies and gingerbread Army men to give to the soldiers along with hand-made valentines. The class has also been involved in other activities, including writing sympathy letters to students at a New York City school, making flags and writing poems for police officers and firefighters of NYC and Shanksville, Pa., and performing patriotic tunes for the elderly citizens at the senior citizen center in Kitzmiller. "Through all these activities, the students have learned a love of their country and helping others," said Shaffer. "These students have shown maturity and understanding of others' feelings and emotional needs beyond their nine years." One of the fourth graders said, "I have never felt prouder to be an American, and a supporter of our military." Pictured above are the fourth graders with Engineer Force West soldiers. In the front, from the left, are Destiny Cook, Jeremy Tichinel, Jason Tichinel, Lacey McRobie, Kaith Pennington, Beckie Reckert, Heidi Walch, Lisa Kifer, Kayla Evans, Paul Tichnell, Beth Beaman, Meghan Brady, Cory Stierheer, Danielle Denne, Lawrence Armstrong, Brittany Scott and her sister Rachel, and Shaffer. Pictured below Commander Lt. Joseph D. Shaffer, holding his daughter, Kaitlin Rose Shaffer, presents the class with the award.

COVE

The North Star 4-H Club held its monthly meeting Tuesday, Feb. 12, at the Accident fire hall. Richard McCrobie was the guest speaker. He spoke on Livestock Quality Assurance. There were 16 members present. Annamay Broadwater was elected vice president to replace Cassie Adkins, who moved to Pennsylvania. A Fourth of July committee was formed. Darlene Schmidt and Karen Broadwater will lead the committee, with Annamay and Robert Broadwater, Angela and Jennifer LaMastus, Rachel Schmidt, John Cosner, Kara Savage, and Kevin Haenftling assisting. There will be a rescheduled bylaws committee meeting at Darlene Schmidt's home on Saturday, March 9, at noon. Kelley Marsh led a rabbit workshop at the Accident fire hall on Tuesday. There was also a fund-raising committee meeting at 6:30 that same evening.

Mrs. Myrtle Hanft was among those attending the Valentine party and meeting of the Garrett County Horsemen's Association on Saturday evening at Grantsville. The St. Patrick's Day party and meeting will be on Saturday, March 16, at 7 p.m. at the Goodwill Home.

Recent visitors of Mrs. Myrtle Hanft have been Mr. and Mrs. William Fike, Ruffs Dale, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Higson and Elmer Hanft, Cumberland, and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hanft and daughters, Addison.

Mrs. Myrtle Hanft was a Thursday supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hanft, Addison, Pa., and accompanied them to the girls' basketball game at Turkeyfoot High School that evening. She accompanied them to the game at Salisbury on Monday evening. Kristen Hanft is a member of the Turkeyfoot team.

Megan, Dustin, Breanna, Hillery, and Kenneth Short, children of Stephen and Melrose Short, Decatur, Texas, were baptized on Sunday, Feb. 3. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hanft are the godparents of Kenneth.

Visitors of John, Darlene, and Rachel Schmidt on Saturday were Bryan, Anita, and Tessa Gardner, and Brett Stanton.

Saturday visitors of Mrs. Joyce Paugh, daughter Melissa, and Mrs. Josephine Upold were Mr. and Mrs. Don Upole and Matthew Jones, Oakland. Mrs. Joyce Paugh and Melissa Paugh attended the Valentine dinner on Thursday evening at the Lakeside Assembly Church.

A Sunday evening visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Deniker was John Deniker, Lonaconing. Mr. and Mrs. Owen Bach, Accident, were Friday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Deniker.

Mrs. Alfreda Friend, Mrs. Sadie Marie Fint, Aurora, W.Va., Mr. and Mrs. Scott Bittinger and daughter Stephanie, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Brian Anderson and children Samantha and Michael, Arthurdale, W.Va., were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson for dinner. Josh and Jeremy Robinson were weekend visitors of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson. Josh then returned to his studies at Penn State University, and Jeremy returned to his studies at Towson University. A visitor of Mrs. Friend for a few days during the week was Elmer Hanft. Mrs. Friend was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson. Other dinner guests of the Robinsons were Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, LaVale.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett McClintock were Sunday visitors of Nancy Reichenbecher at the Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where she recently had knee surgery and is recuperating.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonder and children were Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mast, Grantsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve McClintock and daughter Mercedes were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Broadwater and Malcomb Broadwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Markel Maust were weekend visitors of Lois Maust, Columbus, Ohio. The Mausts and other family members surprised Lois with a birthday celebration on Saturday at the home of Jay and Beth Knutzen. Rachel and Matthew Knutzen, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Knutzen, also surprised Lois with a plaque and by "adopting" her as their aunt. Lois's birthday is February 5.

Mrs. Ruby Bittinger and Mrs. Kathy Patton and children were Monday shoppers in Cumberland.

Mrs. Gary Long was a Friday evening visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Summy and children, Grantsville.

Named To Board Of Salem Trust

Gary Durr, dean of continuing education at Allegany College of Maryland, was recently elected to a three-year term with the Maryland Salem Children's Trust board of directors. Durr is a resident of Cumberland.

A former high school teacher and guidance counselor, Durr has been on the staff of ACM since 1977 and was named to his current position in 1988. He has served on the Adjunct Graduate Faculty at Frostburg State University and on numerous community and church boards, and is a former executive director of Tri-State Youth for Christ.

As a peer helper training consultant, Durr designed and implemented a week-long program for ACM students, and has presented seminars to businesses, agencies, and professional groups. He is an alumnus of Frostburg State University, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in secondary education and a master's degree in education, guidance, and counseling.

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust is a licensed Christian child care organization located in Garrett County near Avilton. The organization provides a home and MSDE-approved educational services to children who are unable to live at home. For more information, persons may call 301-689-8176, ext. 206.

HICKORY

Garrett County Schools' Environmental Education Center

by Joseph L. Winters, Coordinator

This school year we are recognizing classes as "Hickory's Finest" based on the following criteria: pre-trip preparation, appreciation and respect for nature, dressing for weather conditions, listening skills, attentiveness, appropriate manners, working with partners/teams, inquiring minds, and fun to be around.

As of February 14, 2002, these classes have been recognized: Friendsville Elementary, fourth grade overnight (Donna Deal, Jarrod Hauser); and Grantsville Elementary, fourth grade (Ruby Thompson).

SCHEDULE OF CLASS VISITS

These classes are scheduled from February 12 through March 12: Accident, fourth grade (Donna Hinebaugh); Accident, second grade (Lori Otto); Broad Ford, fourth grade (Sandy Rodeheaver); Broad Ford, fifth grade (Terri Perando); Dennett Road, fourth grade (Linda Goodrich); Grantsville, fifth grade (Ralph Miller); Grantsville, fifth grade (Ruth Wilhelm); Yough Glades, second grade (Amy Harvey); Yough Glades, second grade (Pam Lucas), Broad Ford, second grade (Suzanne Wilburn); Yough Glades, fourth grade (Glenda Newcomb); Broad Ford, fourth grade (Diana Thomas); Route 40, second grade (Theresa Warn); Friendsville, second grade (Judy Livengood); Crellin, second grade (Carla Swearman); Friendsville, fifth grade (Sandy Schofield); Yough Glades, first grade (Deborah Piper); Accident, fifth grade (Angie Rush); and Yough Glades, third grade (Patty Shreve).

IN A NUT SHELL

It is interesting to note that of the three rock groups — igneous, sedimentary, and metamorphic — only sedimentary rocks are found in Garrett County. Basically, sedimentary rocks cover about three-quarters of the earth's surface. Most sedimentary rocks form in layers; many contain fossils. Common representatives in Garrett County are shale, sandstone, limestone, conglomerates, and coal (bituminous/soft).

Students in grades 4 and 5 are scheduled for rock and mineral keying and identification sessions at Hickory.

FSU Honored For Community Service Programs

Frostburg State University has been honored as a national model for civic and community service programs by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) as part of its Public Engagement Project. FSU was one of only six institutions selected nationally as a high performer in public engagement activities from a possible 400 AASCU colleges and universities.

"It was an honor to be chosen. We always enjoy sharing the impact our national service, service-learning, and student volunteerism programs have in our community," said Cherie Krug, director of FSU's Center for Volunteerism and National Programs/AmeriCorps.

As part of its Public Engagement Project, AASCU hired the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems (NCHEMS) of Boulder, Colo., to determine the best practices of pubic engagement among member institutions. Consultants at NCHEMS considered such factors as the use of applied research for regional development, financial and other support for faculty and staff engaged in facilitating service-learning activities, interdisciplinary course offerings related to community service, and strong institutional support.

"The data will be used to describe a prototype institution for public engagement and will be included in a final report to the Kellogg Foundation," said Maurice Williams, MSCU's program manager for public engagement and economic outreach. "Public engagement has long been a core value of MSCU institutions.... We have considerable resources to contribute to the economic, social, and cultural development of our regions. In addition, our connections through partnerships are powerful vehicles to enact our mission to teaching, research and outreach for faculty and students with the real world, and to bring knowledge in service to society."

Paula R. Schild, a research assistant from NCHEMS, performed site visits to FSU, Arizona State University West, Kennesaw State University, Indiana University—Purdue University Indianapolis, Northern Kentucky University, and the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs.

At FSU, Schild was impressed by FSU president Dr. Catherine Gira's personal commitment to community service.

"Support from the top is so important," she said. "She made it happen by facilitating the necessary bureaucratic policies and procedures."

Schild also noted the enthusiasm and engagement of the university community as a whole in creating, maintaining, and expanding service-learning activities at FSU. She cited the Allen HallSTARS! learning community experience as a model, with its problem-based, multidisciplinary approach to service learning, as well as FSU's AmeriCorps, Center for Volunteerism, and the new Volunteer Center located at the County United Way offices in Cumberland.

For more information about FSU's service-learning activities, persons may contact Cherie Krug at 301-687-3224 or ckrug@frostburg.edu.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on community development and housing needs, and to offer citizens the opportunity to review an application which the Board of Commissioners proposes to submit to the State on or before the deadline for the same. The hearing will be held at the Commissioners' hearing room in the Garrett County Courthouse on March 5, 2002, at 9:10 a.m.

CDBG funding through the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development for the Garrett County Microenterprise program and CDBG funds from the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development for the Community Legacy Program will be considered.

The Maryland Community Development Block Grant Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development, and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's Program is administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development, in close cooperation with the Department of Business and Economic Development.

The Maryland Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet one of the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended:

(1) give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD;

(2) aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight;

(3) meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

CHARLES A. BROWN
Plaintiff
Vs.
Defendant

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION
(Rule 2-122)

Upon Plaintiff's Affidavit of Attempt to locate the Defendant, it is hereby ORDERED this 12th day of February 2002 that the Clerk of Court direct publication of notice of this suit at least once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper in general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, advising said Defendant, Nancy L. Brown, to file her response to Plaintiff's Complaint for Absolute Divorce by thirty days from the last date of publication of said notice.

Circuit Court for Garrett County Case No. C-02-7152. Charles A. Brown, 6364 Bittinger Rd., Swanton, Md. 21561, 301-245-4730, vs. Nancy L. Brown.

James L. Sherbin
Judge

COMPLAINT FOR ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

I, Charles A. Brown, representing myself, state that:

The Defendant and I were married on May 25, 1972, in Tupper Lake, Franklin County, New York, in a civil ceremony.

I have lived in Maryland since May 1992.

My spouse and I are the parents of the following child: Ryan C. Brown, born March 22, 1975.

I know of the following related cases concerning the child or parties (such as domestic violence, paternity, divorce, custody, visitation or juvenile court cases): Court, Garrett, 944ORESA, Back Support; filed 1996. I paid all and case closed.

I am not seeking alimony because no need.

My grounds for an absolute divorce are: Two-Year Separation - From on or about August 13, 1982, my spouse and I have lived separate and apart from each other in separate residences, without interruptions, without sexual intercourse, for more than two years and there is no reasonable expectation that we will reconcile. Voluntary Separation - From on or about August 13, 1982, my spouse and I by mutual and voluntary agreement have lived separate and apart from one another in separate residences, without interruption, without sexual intercourse, for more than 12 months with the express purpose and intent of ending our marriage, and there is no reasonable expectation that we will reconcile.

FOR THESE REASONS, I request: An Absolute Divorce. Any other appropriate relief.

The property will be sold in "As is" condition, subject to any existing building violations, etc., and also subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any. Neither the trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representation or warranties, either expressed or implied, with respect to the property including without limitation, description, use, recorded or unrecorded leases or other occupancy agreements, if any, operating and management agreements, physical conditions or to the environmental conditions of the subject property.

A Statement of Mortgage Debt has been filed in the foreclosure case in the approximate amount of $39,000.00.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Cash or certified check deposit in the amount of $6,000.00 will be required of the purchaser (other than the above-named Holder) at the time and place of sale, balance in cash, immediately within thirty (30) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County, time being of the essence, and to bear interest at the rate of 10% per annum from date of sale to date of settlement. In the event the above-named Holder purchases the property at the sale as the high bidder thereat, no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of the interest. If the purchaser defaults, in addition to all other remedies including but not limited to attorney fees, the Substituted Trustees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. Taxes, water rent and ground rent, if any, to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of deposit.

ASSIGNEES' SALE
THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON BEING KNOWN AS
623 E. HIGH STREET
OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD 21550

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a Mortgage from Lena L. Keiser, dated November 5, 1998, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber No. 755, folio 879 and duly assigned for the purpose of foreclosure, default having occurred in said Mortgage, the undersigned Assignees will offer for sale at public auction

AT THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, AT THE COURTHOUSE DOOR, OAKLAND, ON MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 2002 AT 1:00 O'CLOCK P.M.

ALL THAT PROPERTY DESCRIBED as follows:

All that certain property situated in Oakland in the County of Garrett, and State of Maryland and being described in a deed dated 7/24/93 and recorded 7/26/93, among the Land Records of the County and State set forth above, and referenced as follow: 608/742. Being more fully described as follows: Parcel 787, Block 7, Oakland, Map 111.

The property is improved by a dwelling and is in fee-simple.

Terms of Sale: The Assignees reserve the unqualified right to withdraw the premises at any time before sale. If any dispute arises among the bidders, the Assignees shall have the sole and final discretion either to determine the successful bidder or to reoffer and resell the premises.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, and encumbrances of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty as to the description of the Improvements. The Assignees do not guarantee or covenant to deliver or in any way obtain possession of the premises for any purchaser.

A deposit of $6,500 in cash, certified check or some other form of exchange acceptable to the Assignees, will be required from the purchaser at the time of sale. The balance of the purchase price, together with interest on such balance at the rate of 9.99% per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement, must be paid in cash at settlement which shall be held within ten (10) days following final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, unless said period is extended by the Assignees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest.

All state and local ad valorem real estate taxes, other public charges, regular and special assessments and the like shall be adjusted to the date of the foreclosure sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. Ground rent, if any, shall also be adjusted to date of sale. The purchaser shall pay all state and local transfer taxes, including the Agricultural Transfer Tax, if any, recordation taxes and fees, title examination costs, attorneys' fees, conveyancing fees, notary fees and all other incidental settlement costs.

If the purchaser defaults, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to them, the Assignees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the premises at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. If the Assignees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. The purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss for the property immediately after the sale.

1. One set of the Construction Documents, which includes one copy of specifications and one copy of drawings and any addenda or subsequently issued data during the bidding, upon payment of $150 deposit, plus any mailing charges via separate check. Deposit is completely refundable if Construction Documents are returned to the GCBOE Purchasing Office, postpaid, in satisfactory condition, within ten (10) calendar days after bid opening.

Qualified General Contractors and Subcontractors who obtain plans and specifications, but do not submit bids will forfeit their deposit unless the documents are returned in good condition within 1 week before bid due date.

2. Additional copies of the Contract Documents, Specifications and Drawings are available upon payment of $150 per set, non-refundable.

3. Individual drawings and specification sections may be purchased from the Architect at the following rates: $3.00 per drawing sheet and 35¢ per double sided page, plus mailing cost. The purchaser assumes all responsibility for coordinating information contained on all documents whether purchased, or not purchased, and for the selection of the any purchased documents.

The Owner may make investigations deemed necessary to determine the ability of the bidder to perform the work, and prospective bidders shall be required to furnish to the Architect evidence of performance of similar projects of this magnitude and complication and all such information and data for this purpose as may be requested. The Owner reserves the right to reject any bid if the evidence submitted by or investigation of such bidder fails to satisfy the Owner that such bidder is properly qualified to carry out the obligation of the Contract and to complete the work contemplated therein.

Bid security by surety bond or certified check in the amount of 5% of the base bid will be required to accompany bids.

Bona fide General Bidders must be licensed by the State of Maryland and be pre-qualified by the Garrett County Board of Education.

A pre-bid meeting will be held at the project site, Hickory Environmental Center, on Tuesday, 26 February 2002, at 10:00 a.m.; all general contractors are encouraged to attend. Consultants will also be available to answer any questions concerning job details. General Contractors and major subcontractors must be prequalified by the Garrett County Board of Education to bid the project.

Request for substitutions for products specified shall be provided 10 days before bid dated and comply with Section 01600 Product Requirements of the Specifications.

Performance and Payment bonds shall be in accordance with AIA Document A201, Article 11.5 in the amount of 100% of the total Base Bid cost.

Minority Business Requirements: The Contractor or Supplier who provides materials, supplies, equipment, and/or service for this project shall attempt to achieve a minimum of twenty-five percent (25%) of the total dollar value, directly or indirectly, from minority business enterprises if the value is $500,000.00 or more. Failure to provide the Minority Business Enterprise Affirmative Action Certification and the Schedule of Participation by Minority Business Enterprises and/or the Request for Exception (if necessary) shall result in the Bid being determined non-responsive.

The Board of Education of Garrett County reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive irregularity in the bids and in the bidding.

South 43 degrees 49 minutes East, 60 feet to a stake in the northwest margin of the county road; thence with the northwest margin of the county road, South 46 degrees 11 minutes West, 10 feet to a stake; said stake being the third corner of the 4,920 square foot parcel that was conveyed by Carolyn B. Alley and husband and Irene B. Sincell single, to Charles C. Reckard and wife by deed dated July 19, 1950, and recorded in Liber No. 160, folio 566, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland; thence with the second line, reversed, of said 4,920 square foot parcel, with the line of Charles C. Reckard, North 43 degrees 49 minutes West, 60 feet to an iron pipe, it being the second corner of said 4,920 square foot parcel, in the line of Pennsylvania Electric Company; thence with the line of said Company, North 46 degrees, 11 minutes East, 10 feet to the beginning, containing 600 square feet, more or less.

4. Beginning at a stake standing in the northern margin of Whittaker Lane, said beginning stake being the beginning corner of the 0.74 of an acre parcel of land conveyed as Parcel No.. 1 in a deed to Orris DeBerry and Anne Marie DeBerry, his wife, and Helen B. Carlson from Irene B. Sincell dated July 27, 1956, and recorded in Liber No. 197, folio 324, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland; and running thence with part of the first line of said 0. 74 of an acre parcel and the northern margin of Whittaker Lane, South 59 degrees 49 minutes West, 101.37 feet to a stake; thence North 44 degrees 35 minutes West 65 feet to a stake, it being the third corner of the 0.35 of an acre parcel conveyed to Nicholas and Barbara Piegari by deed from Irene Sincell dated August 7, 1956, and recorded in Liber No. 201, folio 125, one of said Land Records and also the fifth corner of said 0.74 of an acre parcel; thence with the second line reversed of said 0.35 of an acre parcel and the fifth line of said 0.74 of an acre parcel, North 36 degrees 06 minutes East, 100 feet to a stake; thence with the sixth line of said 0.74 of an acre parcel, South 44 degrees, 35 minutes East, 106. 5 feet to the beginning, containing 0.19 of an acre, more or less.

Being the same as was conveyed to Dennis O. McCurdy and Julia S. McCurdy, husband and wife, by deed dated May 17, 1978, and recorded in Liber No. 389, folio 77, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Subject to a Deed Of Trust to Owen M. Taylor and Joan G. Gelman, Trustees for the benefit of State National Bank of Maryland, dated May 23, 1978, and recorded on October 20, 1992, in Liber 388, at Folio 444, covering Parcels 1, 2 and 3, the terms of which will be announced at the time of sale.

Said property is improved by a detached dwelling on lakefront lot.

The property will be sold subject to all conditions, restrictions, easements, covenants, rights-of-way and agreements of record affecting the property, and subject to whatever an accurate survey or inspection of the property would disclose, in "AS IS" condition, without any express or implied warranty as to suitability, quality, condition or description, including any contained herein.

A deposit of $10,000.00 cash, certified or cashier's check, payable to the undersigned Trustees, shall be required at the time and place of sale. The balance of the purchase price shall bear interest at the rate of 9.625% per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement. No deposit shall be required of the noteholder where the noteholder bids on the property at sale and payment of the purchase price by the noteholder shall be made by crediting the purchase price against the foreclosure costs and expenses and the indebtedness secured by said Deed Of Trust.

Adjustment on all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments, annual front foot benefit charges and deferred connection fees and homeowner's association fees, if any, shall be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, transfer tax, recordation tax, and all other costs incident to settlement shall be paid by the purchaser.

The premises are sold subject to the right of any persons in possession of all or any part of the premises under recorded or unrecorded leases or rights of occupancy, if any. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the premises.

Compliance with the terms of sale shall be made within ten (10) days after final ratification of the sale unless said time is extended by the undersigned Trustees in their sole discretion for good cause shown, time being of the essence; otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser.

The Trustees are not liable, individually or otherwise, for any reason. If title to the property is not or cannot be transferred consistent with the terms hereof for any reason, the Trustee's liability is limited, at its sole discretion, to return any deposit, thereby rescinding the sale, and there is no other right or remedy against the Trustee at law or in equity.

SWANTON NEWS

Girl Scout Cookies

Girl Scout leader Rita Savage reported that the cookies have been received, and the Girl Scouts are now delivering them. There are extra cookies. Persons may contact a local Girl Scout or call Rita Savage at 301-387-6686 to place an order.

Senior Meals

The Valentine dinner and party were held during hot meals Tuesday, Feb. 12, at the Swanton site. Harry and Virginia Edwards were elected King and Queen of Hearts. They received recognition with a ruby red glass heart. Runners-up for King and Queen of Hearts were George Reeves and Rosemary Filsinger. They each received a jar of assorted heart candies. The Valentine favors were heart suckers filled with peanut butter made by Phyllis Friend. Jesse Skipper won the candy guess jar. Special music was provided by Ray and Carol Sweitzer. The love songs were both religious and secular, featuring some of Hank Williams' songs.

Otterbein Church

The Valentine Sweetheart ham dinner sponsored by the Committee on Outreach was held Saturday at the Swanton Community Center. There were 64 attending. After-dinner music featured Robin Beaver, a local vocalist, who sang sweetheart songs. The couples selected for the "Dating Game" were Linda and John Fleming, Audrey and Brenda Friend, and Sandy and Brian Schofield. The lady valentines chosen for the "Name a Love Song Game" were Donna Smith, Grace Lee, Lawre Virts, and Mareva Teets. "Love" bingo was played. Randy Sweitzer won the candy guess jar. Barbie Sweitzer won the door prize, a valentine bear with hearts. Each valentine attending received a red or yellow rose sucker made by Phyllis Friend. Committee chairperson Carol Sweitzer expressed appreciation for all who attended and gave a helping hand.

The UM Women met Tuesday evening, Feb. 12, at the home of president Mary June Harvey. Joan Riley was the leader. Her topic was "Abraham Lincoln — Interesting Facts."

The next UMW meeting in March will be the "Call to Prayer and Self-Denial" service to be held in the sanctuary at 10 a.m. The program leader is Mareva Teets. The speaker will be Jeretta Kuhn, a district officer of the UMW. A covered-dish luncheon will be served afterward.

PERSONALS

Helen Winters is now recuperating at home with her family after being admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Friday. She was discharged Tuesday.

Harland "Buss" Friend of Glassport, Pa., is recovering from an illness. He was able to travel to his home along Mt. Zion Road this weekend with his wife Betty.

George and Freda Rexroad were visited last week by their daughter, Rev. Barbara Rexroad of Seneca Rocks, W.Va.

Mary McKenneth from Olney was an overnight guest of Mary June Harvey on Sunday, Feb. 10.

Helen Winters' daughter and son-in-law, Barbara and Jim Sweitzer, have moved back to their home in the Swanton community from Carmel, Ind. Barbara celebrated her 50th birthday on Feb. 12 with a birthday cake and a family gathering.

Clara Ellen Coddington returned home Tuesday, Feb. 12, after visiting with her son Preston in Lanham.

Orval and Mareva Teets attended a meeting of the National Association of Retired Veteran Railroad Emplovees (N.A.R.V.R.E.), Unit 103, at the Ponderosa in LaVale on Feb. 13. Bill Lambert of the Railroad Retirement Board of Altoona, Pa., was the speaker.

Visitors of Orval and Mareva Teets this week were Pastor Meredith and Maxine Ball, Linda and John Fleming, Webster George, and Ann Riley.

Sara Sweitzer celebrated her 7th birthday this week. She had a white birthday cake with red ribbon icing at the home of her grandparents, Alvin and Marge Lee, on Wednesday, Feb. 13. Others attending were: her parents, Rodney and Barbie Sweitzer, Beth and Billy Sweitzer, Brenda, Ricky, and Tricha Lee, Harland Lee, and Carolyn and Bob Marley of Deer Park. Sara celebrated Sunday at her grandmother Glenna Sweitzer's home. Those present were her family, Uncle Lute, Debbie and Laken, Denver and Alverta, Bob and Kim, Shayna, and Mandy Sweitzer, Wanda, Chuckie, Tracie, Gunnar, and Eli Ward, and Chris Lee and friends Noel and Carissa. Sara had a "cell phone" birthday cake with rainbow swirled icing.

Fran and Stan Ford celebrated their valentine wedding anniversary by attending the valentine dinner at the Kitzmiller Community Center on Saturday. The baked-steak dinner was hosted by the Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church. Each lady valentine was presented a red or white rose. Stan won the door prize, a heart-shaped glass candy dish filled with heart-shaped candy. On Saturday morning they helped their son Ryan with his Scout fund-raiser, an "all-you-can-eat" buckwheat cake breakfast held at the Loch Lynn Restaurant. This activity will benefit the summer camp program of Troop 95.

Dave and Mary Lou Wilson were visited this weekend by their daughter, Holly Wilson of Harrisonburg, Va., and her friend, Craig Berry of Bridgewater, Va. Freda Teets, Tom, and Joni Wilson joined them for Sunday dinner.

Read. Then Recycle.

AND THE WINNER IS... Nick Cathell, Cresaptown, was the winner of a quilt, recently raffled off at Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home. Shown above on the right is Wilma Meyers, Cathell's grandmother, accepting the quilt on behalf of her grandson. Presenting the quilt is Gokdie Selders, Cuppett and Weeks resident. The quilt was made by Selders' daughters and donated to the nursing home to benefit the Residents' Activities Fund.

PACK 70 PINEWOOD DERBY KINGS — Cub Scout Pack 70 of Oakland held a Pinewood Derby at Broad Ford Elementary School recently, and 37 participants designed and built their own cars for the event. The top performers, shown from the left, were Bryan Wilkinson, first place; Austin Bolyard, second place; Shane Pack, third place; and Garratt Hoffman, first place winner in the Tiger Cub category.

THE BIBLE AS VIEWED from the pew.

What is vapor? While there are several definitions which define vapor, I prefer this one: "something unsubstantial or transitory." Or, we could say, something which is here for a few seconds and is gone basically without a trace. How does that apply to us? Take a look in the New Testament in James 4:13 & 14. "—whereas you do not know what will happen tomorrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away." Ponder that! Here for awhile and vanishes away. Read Psalm 39:5 "—certainly every man at his best state is but vapor."

Since we are here but for a few moments (waiting in line behind 10 people at the store or post office seems to rebut this) we need to get our perspectives in order, so we can better prepare for our eternal life. Are you prepared to spend eternity with Jesus? Are you sure of your place in eternity? If your life is passing and you are not sure of with whom you will spend eternity, you still have time to turn your life around, come to know Jesus as your LORD and Savior and begin to walk with Him henceforth.

If you consider the short period of time we are here, it sould cause one to turn from the worldly ways and live for Him. See John 3:16 or Romans 10:9, or John 14:6. Jesus is the only WAY.

DID SOMEBODY YELL "SHARK!" or is 34-degree water just too unpleasant for these seemingly nutty people? Surely the latter is true, but the frigid waters did not stop the 325 "dunkers" who ran into Deep Creek on Saturday and then right back out, all for a good cause. The event was, of course, the annual Deep Creek Dunk, a fund-raiser for the athletes involved in Special Olympics Maryland. The sun was shining, but the temperature outside was a mere 29 degrees at the time of the plunge, which brought in a record-breaking $69,000. The money will be used to help the Special Olympians from Garrett and Allegany counties. All entrants had to raise at least $50 to enter the dunk. Prizes were awarded to the three participants who brought in the highest amounts. Tina Wehner, Elkridge, was the top fund-raiser with $5,600. Maryland State Trooper Lucas Broadwater, Frostburg, garnered $3,600 — the most among law enforcement entrants; and Gary Young, Oakland, had the third highest amount with $1,160. The dunkers gathered at Uno Restaurant for the event, where they also enjoyed food, music, and numerous sponsor give-aways. The Maryland State Police organized the dunk, which drew a great crowd of sympathy-shivering spectators.

Senate Panel Vetoes Hafer's Bus Safety Bill

Senator John Hafer's bill requesting increased penalties for drivers who fail to stop for school vehicles received an unfavorable report from the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee. The panel voted six to five against Senate Bill 311 on Friday.

The current maximum fine for an individual failing to stop for a bus with activated flashing red lights is $270 and three points assessed against the individual. The bill requested that the maximum fine increase to $1,000 and the number of points increase to five.

The committee, which held a hearing on the bill on Feb. 7, cited two reasons for rejecting the legislation. "Number one, they didn't see the need for it statewide," Hafer said. "But it is needed here," he emphatically added, voicing his disappointment about the veto. "I was shocked."

The second reason for the rejection was the committee felt the five-point penalty was too high. Hafer again disagreed. "It would automatically force them (offenders) before an administrative law judge," he said, "and a $1,000 fine might cause them to think twice."

The senator added that judges often do not enforce the maximum penalties. The Senate committee indicated, however, that it would write a letter to the new chief judge of the District Court System to press judges to impose the maximum penalties, Hafer said.

The senator introduced

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival Announces Season Line-Up

The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) has announced its 2002 performing arts season, described by Beth Johnson, executive director, as "an eclectic series of show stopping, high-energy performances designed to appeal to all ages and tastes."

"From the imaginative choreography of Footworks to the soap box causes of historical characters in Chautauqua, this season is a blend of diverse artists and performances that is sure to excite everyone's senses," she said.

Tickets for the each program are now on sale at the GLAF office, which can be reached at 301-387-3082 Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Season passes are also available at $135 for adults and $60 for youth 18 years and younger, which are good for one ticket to every program, representing a 20% discount over the individual ticket prices, Johnson noted. Credit cards are accepted.

GLAF will kick off the season on March 22 with a program by Footworks, a dance troupe and string band. This show will take place at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett Community College. Footworks, which has performed with Riverdance, played to a sold-out audience for GLAF in 2000. Tickets are $15 for adults and $5 for youth 18 years and younger.

The Ahn Trio is next in the line-up, slated to perform on Sunday, April 28, at 4 p.m. The three sisters are all graduates of Juilliard, with Angella Ahn on violin, Lucia Ahn on piano, and Maria Ahn on cello. Two programs for high school students will also be held on April 29 and 30.

Folk musician Greg Latta will perform in a casual, coffee-house setting at the Sitzmark Room of Will O' the Wisp on Saturday, May 25, at 8 p.m. Latta, a physics professor at Frostburg State University, is well known for his radio program on WFWM (Frostburg). In addition to singing, Latta will also perform on the hammered dulcimer, guitar, Irish bouzouki, banjo, harmonica, recorder, Appalachian dulcimer, and concertina.

Ukrainian-born pianist Marina Lomazov will return to the stage Saturday, June 15, at 8 p.m. Lomazov, who holds degrees from Juilliard and Eastman School of Music, soloed with the Boston Pops in 2001 and will open for the South Carolina Symphony later this year.

A huge tent will be raised on the lawn of Garrett Community College to house the July 4th celebration with the Garrett Community Concert Band, under the direction of Jerry McGee. The band, which consists of Garrett County musicians, will present a patriotic program with an all-American repertoire. The evening will culminate with a fireworks display off nearby Marsh Mountain.

Chautauqua programs will return Friday, July 5, through Monday, July 8. Also held under the tent, these free performances will include local talent followed by the feature presentation of historical characters involved in "America on a Soap Box." Humanities scholars will portray the following historical characters: Theodore Roosevelt, Emma Goldman, Ida B. Wells-

Man Gets Fine, 60 Days For Manufacturing

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Galen Gerard Kamp, 40, Lonaconing (Garrett County), in Circuit Court last week to three years in the Department of Corrections for a charge of manufacturing marijuana. All of that sentence was suspended, except for 60 days that Kamp will serve in the Garrett County Jail. He will then be on two years of supervised probation. Sherbin also imposed a fine of $10,000.

Kamp was charged in September 2000 by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force who were participating in a marijuana eradication project with other state and federal authorities. Fifty-eight mari-

House Approves Sunday Hunting, Watered-Down Bear Kill Bills

The Maryland House of Delegates has approved wildlife control bills that would allow for a one-Sunday deer hunt and a program to kill nuisance black bears. The House Environmental Matters Committee had made substantial changed in both bills prior to submitting them for a vote of the full house.

The Sunday hunting bill, which passed by a 94-36 vote, allows for deer firearms season to be extended by one day, the Sunday following the normal Saturday opening day. The western, eastern, and southern portions of the state would be opened to the one Sunday of deer hunting. Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Howard, Montgomery, Prince George's, and parts of Frederick counties and the cities of Baltimore and Frederick would be excluded from the Sunday hunt.

Designed to cull the burgeoning deer population in Maryland, the bill also would extend the firearms season from 13 to 21 days, with the six-day balance to be added on in dates yet to be determined.

"Allowing hunting on the first Sunday of the season would make a 'significant dent' in the deer population because one-third of all deer killed during firearms season are taken on the first Saturday," said Del. John Hurson, chairman of the House Environmental Matters Committee. "Forty-four states allow Sunday hunting. We are asking for

Rural Legacy Requests Total $103.6 Million

Governor Parris N. Glendening announced last week that Maryland's nationally recognized Rural Legacy Program has received requests from local citizens, land trusts, and local governments totaling $103.6 million to preserve the most important remaining natural resource, agricultural, forest, and culturally significant lands. Each year this popular program receives requests for significantly more money than is available. This year, the governor's proposed budget includes $36.9 million in Rural Legacy funding.

"Maryland's citizens recognize that once open spaces are developed, the natural beauty, resources and character of these lands are lost forever," Glendening said. "Even in tight budget times, we have a responsibility to future generations to act with urgency to protect our most ecologically valuable land."

Locally, proposals for new areas were received for a Bear Creek Rural Legacy Area (RLA), covering a 31,000 acre watershed in the northern part of the county. Approximately half of the RLA contains some of Garrett County's most productive agricultural land. The RLA also encompasses the Bear Creek drainage basin, Deep Creek Lake, the Cove scenic overlook, the Bear Creek Fish Hatchery, and a significant amount of state and private forested lands. The Bear Creek RLA plans to preserve working farms, standing timber, viewsheds, natural habitats, and waterways.

Overall, eighteen existing areas requested additional funding, three existing areas requested expansion, and the designation of five new RLA is being requested. Requests for expanded areas are from the Coastal Bays Rural Legacy Area in Worcester County, the Mid-Maryland Rural Legacy Area in Montgomery County, and the Piney Run Rural Legacy Area in Baltimore County.

Bartlett Pleased With Congress's Support Of ARC

Congressman Roscoe G. Bartlett (Md.-6) reported his satisfaction yesterday with the unanimous House vote for a bill to reauthorize the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC).

"ARC has compiled an enviable record of leveraging taxpayers' money with innovative public and private sector partnerships that increase jobs and investment opportunities in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties," the congressman said.

The bill, S. 1206, will now go to President George Bush's desk, where he is expected to sign it into law.

"Reauthorization of the Appalachian Regional Development Act of 1965 ensures that the people and businesses of Appalachia have the necessary knowledge, skills, and access to telecommunications and technology services to compete in a knowledge-based economy," Bartlett said. "The measure also ensures that Appalachians have viable entrepreneurial opportunities and the neces-

Fire Damages Accident House

A house located along South Main Street in Accident sustained an estimated $10,000 in damages last Thursday when a burning wood pile set fire to an exterior wall of the single-story structure. Quick action by neighbors and volunteer firefighters resulted in saving the house, owned by Bonnie Kelly and occupied by William and Anita Murphy.

It was a neighbor who discovered the fire and went to alert the Murphys, while another neighbor called 911 for assistance. Mr. Murphy and a neighbor tried to extinguish the fire, and firefighters from the Accident VFD arrived just as the flames were entering the house through a window. They were able to contain the fire quickly, although the interior of the house sustained significant smoke damage.

According to Deputy State Fire Marshal Steve Wendling, fire damage to the house was limited to the exterior wall, the window,

Garrett Alumnus Puts County On Marshall Center Tour Itinerary

by Joan Crawford

Garrett Community College is scheduled to host a group of potential future world leaders this Saturday, March 2, when 77 students and 14 staff members from the George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies visit America. The group will spend time in New York City and in Washington, D.C., before coming to Garrett County for a "small town America rural experience."

The trip is being arranged by U.S. Army Lt. Col. Jack Riley, a 1980 graduate of GCC and later of Frostburg State University, who is associate dean for administration and resources at the Marshall Center in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany. Named after American Gen. George C. Marshall, whose Marshall Plan helped to rebuild Europe after World War II, the center brings together military and civilian leaders

The Republican Newspaper:

Serving Garrett County and Surrounding Communities For 125 Years

The Republican newspaper will be 125 years old on March 3, 2002. To celebrate this milestone, the editorial staff will compile a special commemorative page in each March 2002 issue. Included on the page will be reprints of vintage news stories, advertisements, and photographs, as well as an important Readers' Survey.

Please take part in our celebration and let us know what you think of our paper by filling out and mailing in the survey. It will be included in the next four issues of The Republican. Completed surveys will be entered in a drawing for gift certificates from some of our most loyal advertisers.

As always, the staff remains dedicated to accurate reporting, quality writing, and effective and appealing advertising. Our aim is to keep the area's population informed of the latest news, and to provide a forum for opinions, debates, and celebrations of all kinds. Thank you for being faithful readers of our publication. We hope to continue our work for many years to come.

STRIVING FOR GOLD — Carrie Fike, 10, is pictured above as she makes her own mark in the Maryland Winter Special Olympics, held this week at the Wisp Resort. Carrie, the daughter of David and Virginia Fike of Accident, was one of five athletes from Garrett County taking part in the games, which involved over 200 athletes from across the state. She competed in the 500-meter cross-country race and won two gold medals for her efforts. See additional photos and coverage in this section of today's issue.

THE THRILL OF VICTORY was felt by several young athletes this week who took part in the Maryland Winter Special Olympics at Wisp. The weather was nearly perfect for the games, which were opened Sunday evening with great fanfare and celebration involving a torch light parade and the entrance of all 200 athletes. Just as many people were on hand to serve as volunteers as well, including many from Garrett Community College's adventure sports program. The competitions took place Monday and Tuesday, with five Garrett Countians among the medal winners. Keith Platter, 17, of Accident, is pictured above left as he crosses the finish line in the 500 meter cross-country event. He is the son of Sharon Platter and Wayne Platter. Kristo Beller, 15, also of Accident, is shown above right as she competes in the downhill glide event. Her parents are Charla and Dan Beller. Several local athletes and volunteers are pictured below. In the front row, from left, are Liz Salisbury and Audrey Friend, both volunteers from GCC; athletes Platter and Beller; athlete Joe Sizemore, 11, Accident, son of Jeff and Karen Sizemore (pictured behind him); athlete Carrie Fike, 10, daughter of Virginia and David Fike; and athlete Roger Uber of Mtn. just one Sunday."

The bear management bill was approved by a 102-32 margin. Changed from its original intent of seeking a limited bear hunting season, the bill now describes a "management permit program." The legislation authorizes the Department of Natural Resources to issue permits to landowners — or a designee in certain situations — who can demonstrate their property has been damaged or their lives or livestock threatened. Landowners must first show they have taken reasonable preventive measures against the nuisance bear.

Landowners also may kill a nuisance bear at a nearby property not owned by them, a stipulation that was a point of contention raised by several delegates. An amendment requiring landowners to get written consent from the owner of the nearby property was rejected after debate.

Grants Available Statewide For Nonprofit Groups

Continuing its efforts to make home ownership opportunities available for all Marylanders, the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) recently announced a new program to help groups of limited income people move into home ownership by investing their "sweat equity." Grants of up to $20,000 are available to nonprofit organizations and local jurisdictions to expand home ownership opportunities through the use of self-help rehabilitation and construction.

The grants may be used to provide assistance, training, and supervision in developing a self-help home ownership project, and to provide information and education on cost savings, construction materials, and methods of owner-builder and self-help rehabilitation. The grants may not be used for the purchase of land, materials, tools, and construction equipment, or for any costs of construction.

Eligible projects consist of six or more housing units in proximity to one another that are built or rehabilitated using the self-help methods.

The Community Development Administration (CDA), an agency of DHCD, is accepting applications for Self-Help Homeownerships Technical Assistance Program (SHTAP) grants through April 19. The grants will be announced at the end of June.

The program was announced by Assistant Secretary Harry D. Sewell in a statewide letter to nonprofits and local jurisdictions. The letter is also posted on the DHCH web site, www.dhcd.state.md.us.

In its initial funding round, the maximum grant amount is $20,000 per unit, up to a maximum of $200,000 per nonprofit recipient. For fiscal year 2002, $500,000 is available statewide. Each application will be ranked and evaluated based on the ability of the applicant to carry out the project, the feasibility and cost-effectiveness of the project, and the extent to which the project participants use self-help labor.

For more information, applications, and copies of the policies for awarding funds, persons may contact Tonna Phelps at 410-514-7453 or phelps@dhcd.state.md.us.

Gov. Approves Anti-Terrorism Grant Funding

Governor Parris N. Glendening this week announced approval of a recommendation from the Executive Committee of the Maryland Terrorism Forum for the allocation of a $2.74 million federal grant to purchase protective equipment for Maryland's first responders. Garrett County's allotment is $58,530.06.

"The safety and security of all Marylanders remains a top priority, and we are taking proactive steps to protect our public safety personnel," said Glendening. "These funds will be used across the state to ensure first responders have the resources they need to react to situations quickly and effectively, while also protecting the safety of our response units."

The grant, which was requested from the U.S. Justice Department's Office of Domestic Preparedness before the September 11 attacks, will begin to meet many of the needs identified by local jurisdictions since the tragedy. The funds will be used for the purchase of protective clothing, communications equipment, detection equipment for chemical and/or biological agents, and decontamination equipment. The grant is based upon an assessment criteria established by the federal government, which received input from local jurisdictions and state departments and agencies, according to the Governor's Press Office.

Of the $2.74 million, 87 percent ($2,387,280) is allocated to the local jurisdictions, and 13 percent ($356,720) is allocated to state departments and agencies with first response missions. Of the portion allocated to the state, $82,320 will go to the Maryland Department of the Environment to reinforce the state's hazardous response units. After further review, the Maryland Terrorism Forum will determine where to allocate the remaining funds.

To determine local funding levels, each county was assessed under a formula that took into account hazardous sites located in the county, the possible threat to those sites, and the vulnerabilities of the sites. Population density around the sites and the total population of the counties were also considered. The formula was based on information provided by the local jurisdictions, which were also asked to identify their equipment needs. Using these factors, the counties were ranked and allocated funds according to need. Baltimore City was allocated the most funds at $200,724.37, with Garrett to receive the least amount at just over $58,500. Allegany County's share is $73,197.25.

Glendening established the Maryland Terrorism Forum in 1998 to prepare the state to successfully respond to acts of terrorism, especially those involving weapons of mass destruction. The forum is co-chaired by Md. Lieutenant General James F. Fretterd, the state adjutant general, and Colonel David Mitchell, superintendent of the Md. State Police, and is administered by the state Emergency Management Agency. More information about the forum can be found at www.md.domesticpreparedness.net.

The Rural Legacy Program is an effort by state and local governments, working in conjunction with private landowners and land trusts, to strategically preserve large, contiguous blocks of land across the state. Lands targeted for protection include endangered species habitat, agricultural lands, forests, stream buffers, and historic villages and battlefields. Since the Rural Legacy Program was enacted in 1998, more than $111 million has been allocated to permanently protect more than 49,000 acres across the state.

The Peabody Ragtime Ensemble from Baltimore will take the stage on July 26. The upbeat "glad rag" ensemble will present the music of Scott Joplin, George Gershwin, Eubie Blake, Fats Waller, and Jelly Roll Morton. This acoustic septet has been voted "Baltimore's Best" jazz band, Johnson said.

"Music on the Mountain" will return August 18 through 24 with the Deep Creek Symphony, under the direction of conductor David Wroe. The week will begin with a Sunday brunch chamber concert on Aug. 18, followed by an evening family concert geared toward children on Aug. 20. A jazz concert with the Kenny Werner Trio will take place on Aug. 22, and two symphony concerts, each with a different repertoire, will be given on Aug. 23 and 24. The Levine on the Mountain music camp will take place at Garrett Community College during the symphony week.

The U.S. Navy band Cruisers will return on Labor Day weekend, performing a free concert of classic rock standards on Sunday, Sept. 1, at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The band will present classic rock, rhythm and blues, and today's top 40 hits. In 2001, the Cruisers drew a record crowd of 650, Johnson noted.

The community and all GLAF 2002 volunteers will be invited to attend an ice cream social on Sunday, Sept. 15. Pianist Joseph Lowe will be the featured artist, performing a Lerner and Loewe medley as well as Rodgers and Hammerstein music. This program will be presented in cooperation with Music at Penn Alps, where Lowe will perform a different program on Sept. 14.

WWII BOOKS ARE SELLING - As of yesterday over 130 confirmed orders for the book Garrett County At Home and At War: An Oral History of World War II had been received by Matt Novak, director of the three-plus year project that has culminated in 320 pages that are ready to be sent to a publisher. The book, which contains the stories of approximately 100 local World War II veterans and family members, photographs, and articles from The Republican newspaper from that era, will not be published unless Novak can confirm orders for at least 350 copies. If he reaches his goal, the Garrett County Historical Society will provide the upfront funding needed to have the book published. Novak, pictured above left, stressed that those persons who at some point told him that they were interested in buying a copy should call or e-mail him to confirm that commitment. He can be reached at 301-334-3413, by e-mail at mattnovak@gcnetmail.net, or by regular mail at 2621 Shady Dell Road, Oakland, MD 21550. Students of Southern High School played a major role in the production of the book, conducting most of the interviews of local veterans. "Just since last week's announcement in The Republican about the book, we have received calls and e-mails from as far away as Kentucky," stated Marianne Unger, senior student editor, pictured above center. "But we need at least 200 more to reach our goal." Also pictured is Mandy King, assistant student editor, pictured right, who added, "It would be a shame if all of our work and these personal stories of Garrett County veterans and their families at home during this most important era in our history were never published." The cost of the book is estimated at $30, but that price could be reduced if enough copies are sold. Those interested are asked to contact Novak as soon as possible.

In its 53rd year of touring, the National Players will present Tartuffe by Moliere on Friday, Oct. 18. "Tartuffe is a comedy in which a hypocrite attempts to destroy the domestic happiness of a citizen who, charmed by his apparent piety, has received him as a guest," Johnson said.

The National Players will also perform Shakespeare's As You Like It for high school and middle school students on Oct. 17 and 18.

GLAF will complete its 2002 season by featuring local artists at a celebration of pipes (organ and bagpipes) and brass (instruments), under the leadership of Jerry McGee. "Pipes, Brass, and More Pipes" will be held Saturday, Nov. 9.

The 2002 season sponsors for Garrett Lakes Arts Festival are the Sprenger-Lang Foundation, Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, and Deep Creek Mountain Resort, with funding in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. For tickets or further information, persons may call the GLAF office at 301-387-3082 or check the web site at www.artsandentertainment.org.

Local Resident Wins Miss Teen Allegany Contest

Jessie Railey, 16, a sophomore at Northern High School, was crowned Miss Teen Allegany Garrett County 2002 during a scholarship program held recently at Allegany College of Maryland.

Fifteen contestants from Allegany and Garrett county competed in interview, talent, evening-wear, and sportswear categories for the Teen program.

Railey won the Teen Talent Award for her sport aerobic routine, and sold the most tickets for the Teen program.

This was Railey's first pagent. She said she wanted to practice for sportaeorbic routine in front of a large audience and didn't invision winning.

More than $2,800 in cash scholarships and savings bonds were awarded. Kimberly Grimm Weimer, Miss Maryland 1990, was the Maryland State Board field director for the event.

Railey and Angela Ellsworth, Miss Allegany County 2002, will represent the Miss America Program and the Miss Allegany Garrett County and Miss Teen Allegany County programs throughout the community during their year of service through personal appearances where they will promote their specific platforms. Both young women will compete in the state programs to be held in Hagerstown in June.

Runners-up for the Teen program were Britney Grabenstein, first runner-up; Rachael Peterson, second runner-up; Nikki Bailey, third runner-up; and Rebecca Graham, fourth runner-up.

Railey was crowned by Miss Teen Maryland, Heather Molnar. The reigning Miss Maryland, Kelly Glorioso, was also in attendance.

Also competing for the teen crown was Kenzie Craig, 13, an eighth grade student at Southern Middle School. She sang for her talent competition. She is the daughter of Mark and Randee Craig, Deer Park.

Railey is the daughter of Jimmy and Nancy Railey, McHenry.

RAILEY RECEIVES CROWN — Jessie Railey was recently crowned Miss Teen Allegany Garrett County 2002. She will represent the program through appearances during the next year. See story for more details.

GIRL SCOUTS DONATE COOKIES — Throughout the cookie sale season, girls from Girl Scout Troop 5004 have been raising funds to donate cookies to their charity of choice. This year they chose to support the Grant-A-Wish Foundation, which sponsors vacations for families of children with life-threatening illnesses and the Ronald McDonald House in Morgantown, W.Va., which provides a "home away from home" for families with children in the hospital. People purchasing cookies from the troop have the option of donating their boxes to these charities. The girls are pictured above making their delivery of 72 boxes to the Garrett County Goodwill Ambassadors for Grant-A-Wish, Brandi Thomas and Lori Malcolm. They will be traveling to the Ronald McDonald House in March to deliver 72 more boxes and pop tabs they have collected. The girls will be selling cookies at Arrowhead Market Friday evening, March 1, and Saturday, from 9 a.m until 2 p.m. In the back row, from the left, are Thomas, Rosemary Rosser, Corinne Weaver, Rebecca Wilkes, Emily Huxford, Kristen Yant, Alysha Horner, Claire Wilkinson, Nicole Walch, and Malcolm. In the middle row are Elizabeth Huxford, troop leader; and Jordan Body, Karisa Weissgerber, Jillian Yant, Hannah Newcomb, Rachel Gorley, Hannah Lynn, and Emily Rosser. In the front are Mary Rosser and Melissa Walch, troop leaders.

Thanks for 125 Years...

A significant anniversary for us here at The Republican newspaper offices will be observed in a few days, as our publication will be 125 years old this Sunday, March 3. It was on Saturday, March 3, 1877, that editor James A. Hayden, a decorated veteran of the Civil War, published the first issue of The Republican. Since that day there have been approximately 6,500 issues published, with nary a week missed in those 125 years. The Republican has grown to become one of the largest weekly newspapers in the state of Maryland.

While we are certainly proud of our newspaper, in terms of quality as well as longevity and an unbroken 125-year record, there are three groups of people to whom we wish to express our appreciation. Without any one of these groups, our newspaper would cease to exist.

First and foremost, we thank the scores of dedicated employees of Sincell Publishing Company, past and present, who have committed the time, the talents, and the energy needed to produce each and every issue of The Republican. It is rewarding work, but it is also quite stressful much of the time. Indeed, at times the task can be overwhelming.

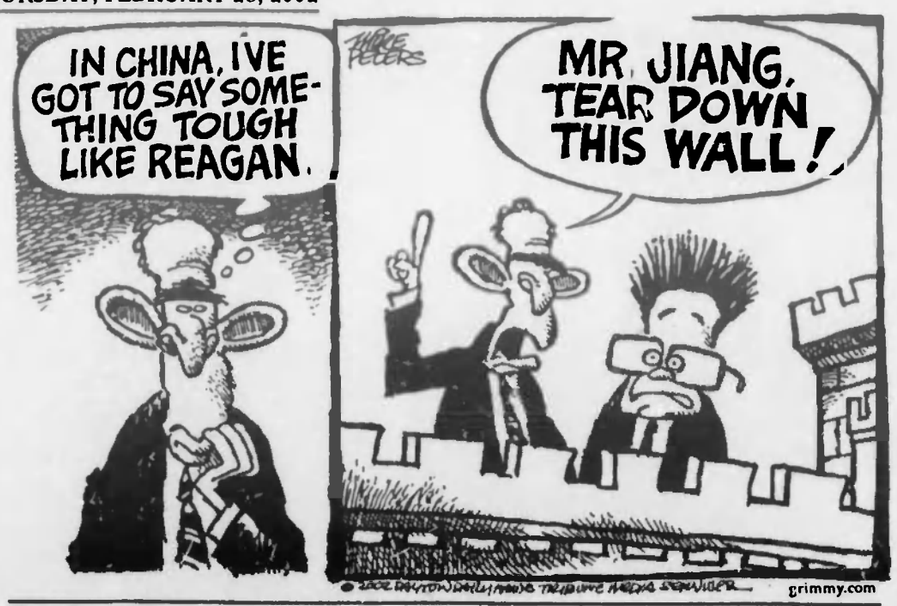
Secondly, we send a huge thanks to our hundreds of faithful advertisers who purchase space in our newspaper each week. The 50 cents per copy that we charge would not cover even 10% of the expenses of our operation, which include an annual payroll of over a half-million dollars, plus hundreds of thousands more in supplies and equipment. We are pleased to be able to provide to our advertisers a weekly outlet that reaches approximately 35,000 readers, each of whom is a potential buyer of their products.

Thirdly, we extend great appreciation to those aforementioned faithful readers, probably numbering in the millions over the past 125 years, who read these pages each and every week. It is our pleasure to help keep our citizens, and all others who have an interest in our community, informed of what is happening in Garrett County, the immediate surrounding area, and the state of Maryland.

As part of our celebration, we will be placing a survey in The Republican throughout the month of Maren to provide an opportunity for our readers to let us know what they like, and what they do not like, about our newspaper, as well as suggestions for additional features. Quality is of the utmost importance to us, so we look forward to considering any and all ideas that are received.

We have tentative plans for an open house as well, the details of which will be forthcoming.

Thanks again.



TYLER'S MUMMY FRIEND

by Beth L. Bowers

Listening to what a child sees through his imagination is wonderful, but scary in the same moment. I experienced just that a few days ago when my 3-year-old introduced me to his "mummy" friend. At first I was enthralled by how much he could tell me about this new friend, then I got a little unnerved, maybe because this friend was a mummy.

"It's a nice mummy," Tyler said. "Not the mean kind like in Scooby Doo." Well at least we figured out the origin of the mummy. We learned what the mummy liked to eat, read, and play. He knew every detail of this mummy's life.

Not only were we floored by his imagination, but by all of these details from the child who didn't start talking till he was almost 3. It is so great to finally hear his voice. We never thought he had a problem with speaking, we figured he just didn't want to speak. We discovered when his brother was born that being stubborn was his problem. As soon as Tyler realized he had some competition he started talking.

Now, just like everyone said, he has started talking and won't stop. We spent a long evening with the mummy. It really is interesting to sit back and watch him interact with the mummy.

He fixed the mummy dinner and sat him at the table. Later I heard him open the bathroom door and start cheering. He came running out to drag me in the bathroom so I could see that the mummy "had gone potty." Talk about excitement. Anyone with small children knows that bathroom discussions are cause of great excitement, especially with the potty training nearly mastered.

He pretends to give the mummy a hug and holds out his hand so he can walk the mummy upstairs to bed. I don't think I had imaginary friends. After watching Tyler with his 2-year-old mummy friend, I sort of wish I did.

In the morning he didn't talk much about the mummy on the way to my parents' house. I thought maybe the mummy fascination was yesterday's news. But as soon as he walked through the door, Mom said, "Look Tyler, I fed the other mummies their breakfast and they are waiting to play with you." So here we go again. As I left to go to work, I heard Mom and Tyler discussing the fun he and the mummies would have.

Retelling this story at work, I was surprised with how many people told similar stories of either their own personal imaginary friends or ones their children had. So I realized even if it is a mummy, it is still an awfully good way to be creative and imaginative.

I think Tyler's creative imagination has helped him with his delayed speech also. I have been quite impressed by the progress he has made. It is a learning experience for all of us. Having to come up with adequate answers to the endless questions of "Why" has been a challenge. But when the end of the day comes and I am tired from a full day of work, plus the full-time job of being a mother, my 7-month-old will give me a huge toothless smile and squeal with delight at the sight of just about anything and the 3-year-old will say, "I love you, Momma." I realize my life couldn't get much better.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to all the people who put their shopping carts in the parking lot instead of in the designated area for them. Don't these people realize that automobiles get damaged from run-away carts? All it takes is two minutes or less to put the cart away. I have seen carts left, and a wind comes and pushes these carts into someone's car.

So please, respect other people and put your cart away when you are done with it. Wal-Mart or any other store is not responsible for the damage done to a car that has been hit by a cart, but the owner of the car is. Please put your cart away when you are finished with it.

Thank you,
Sandy Tasker

To the Editor:

The students, faculty, and parents of Accident Elementary School are all saddened by the recent death of Mr. Ed Hill. Mr. Hill was a kind and caring man who visited the school often, volunteering his time to read to the children. He shared his love of books and inspired the importance of reading. Although I never met Mr. Hill, I heard much about him from my children. My daughter is very sad and we are talking a lot to help her grieve. Her third-grade class wrote letters to Mr. Hill's family. Morgan shared her letter with me and it brought a tear to my eye and touched my heart.

Dear Mr. Hill's Family,

We're very sad to hear that Mr. Hill died this morning. I'm sure that everybody will remember him as our loving adopted grandfather. I'll never forget the way that he always encouraged us to keep trying even when the going got tough. Also I'll never forget him reading my favorite book, The Little Wooden Horse. Maybe since he cannot read to us, you could. I'm sure it runs in the family. And one thing that I know of is that I will never forget him. Also I hope that you guys will never forget how much we loved him and his books. Also we should all remember he's in a better place. I'll really miss Mr. Hill.

Love,
Morgan Brosnihan

Mr. Hill may never know the impact of his school visits, but he touched the lives of many, and I know the children and faculty at Accident Elementary School will remember him fondly. Thank you, Mr. Hill. You will be truly missed.

Brenda and Morgan Brosnihan

To the Editor:

It's budget time again in Garrett County, and all county groups are making the case for the full funding of their requests, so it's time for us to get in line. I want to speak for the full funding of the budget for the Ruth Enlow Library. This year's request asks for additional funding for a computer technician's position, a moderate pay increase for library staff, and an additional sum of money to purchase books. The budget is fair, it is unpadded, and it will go a long way toward making up for past library deficits. We ask that all Garrett County citizens who care about the library contact the county commissioners to urge the full funding of the library budget.

In an area attuned to the needs of tourists, we must remember that the Ruth Enlow Library is another of Garrett County's prime resources for both its citizens and our visitors. Whatever the season or the weather, all branches of the library are in use by our county's children and adults. And in addition to our residents, our visitors come, take out library cards, and enjoy the wealth of reading materials and videos we maintain for all. The Ruth Enlow Library is the back-up plan for many vacationing families when the weather doesn't allow their first choice of activity. We need to make sure that we have on hand those resources that we and they require for education, for growth, and for recreation.

Please support the library budget.

Sincerely,
Marilyn M. Moors
President, Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library

To the Editor:

Not too long ago, my curiosity got the best of me and I decided to stop in the Maryland Employment Services office to see how things are going at the Simon Pearce Glass Company. I asked Lloyd Day how many people from the county are currently employed there. "All but 10 are from the county," he replied. "Well how many total employees?" I asked. "Twenty-three," he replied. I did the numbers. I did them again. I thought I made a mistake. Thirteen people from Garrett County are now employed at the facility (193,000 sq. ft.) that once had, what, over 1,000 employees?!

I thought back to the meetings that I had with Jim Hinebaugh and the commissioners wherein I expressed my opinion that the deal that they were making didn't look too good to me. Well, not for the people in the county anyway. I questioned the lack of guarantees or commitments from the recipient of the $3 million plus grant/loan package that was engineered by these political wizards that we have working for us.

Then I did some more math — $3,000,000.00 divided by 13 equals $230,769.23 per employee. Well heck, anything to bring good-paying jobs to the county right? Well, it depends on your point of view. If you consider 13 jobs at an average hourly wage of $7.00/hr. a good deal, you must either be a county commissioner or from another planet.

It wouldn't be very nice of me to say to all of the people who thought I was wrong for opposing this deal that I told you so; so I won't. Thinking about things like this and broken promises about countywide zoning and all of the other stuff that they do only makes my head hurt so I am going to elevate my thinking and watch a tape of the Three Stooges.

THE SLOW DEMISE OF THE MAIL

"Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." Those words, long associated with the mail service in the United States, were written by the Greek historian Herodotus in 430 B.C.

The human need for communication is as old as civilization. Mail, or the post, is as old as empire. Herodotus was describing the pony express of the Persian Empire. The more far-flung the empire, the greater need for the mail.

It is a long time since the mail could be carried in a single saddle bag. In 1639 colonial Massachusetts had one postmaster-postman. In 1901 there were 76,945 post offices throughout the country. Today there are fewer than half that number.

The history of the mail is, in many ways, the history of technology. The technology that signals the death of the mail is the Internet. That death is hastened by terror and the fear of terror.

Last autumn the Brentwood Post Office became a household word for awhile. That is the post office that serves the U.S. Capitol. It is the post office where postal workers came into contact with anthrax from which they died.

I now have my own Brentwood Post Office story, not a tragic story and not about anthrax itself, rather about the response to the fear of anthrax. We have heard on the news about various steps to make the mail safe, not only for postal workers in Washington, D.C., and for Congress, but for everyone.

The U.S. Postal Service has bought and set up irradiation equipment that will kill anthrax and other bacteria. Logically enough, the Brentwood Post Office is one of the first places where such equipment has been installed. On January 30, I sent some material to an institution that is served by the Brentwood Post Office. My packet needed to arrive in timely fashion. Several days had elapsed when I telephoned the institution to make sure my material had arrived. It had not. I checked with them the next day. The packet still had not arrived.

"Are you having trouble with your mail?" I asked. "Yes, we are," came the reply. "In fact, sometimes mail arrives eight weeks after it was sent. When it does arrive it is often yellow and brittle from irradiation." That is the same process, by the way, that we are told will one day make our food supply safe.

I won't bore you with the details of the hours upon hours of work I then undertook to compensate for not knowing when my packet would arrive. Had I known about the problem with the mail, I would have hand delivered my material in the first place and been time ahead.

When I had recounted this story to a friend, he told me one of his own. He had lived in Washington until four years ago. In the fall he received a notice for federal jury duty in Washington, D.C. He replied in timely fashion. Months passed, and he received another notice saying that they had not received their mail on a regular basis for some time, and did not expect to do so in the foreseeable future, and would he please use an alternative means of communication to reply to them.

In the meantime, e-mail whizzes back and forth at a dizzying rate.

As technology made mail increasingly easy, not to mention cheaper, to send, now technology is making the mail a cultural artifact.

Some say that e-mail is just another form of mail. Both are forms of communication, and as such they are similar.

There are other aspects of mail which e-mail does not, and cannot, possess. Cyberspace is virtual reality. That is to say, it is like reality, but it isn't really real. Mail reinforces the nature of place and time, while e-mail is the communication of anyplace and no place of anytime and no-time.

The post office of my childhood is where I met my neighbors and my congressman. The post office was an anchor for community. It helped us know not only where we were, but also who we were. Cyberspace is a non-place where even intimates seem somewhat like strangers.

Until September 11 I was prepared to fight the good fight for the mail as it has been, more or less, since 430 B.C. I still feel some hybrid of thrill and coziness when I go to the end of my lane and find a real letter in the mail box. That is an experience I cherish all the more, because I know that each letter received is one more toward the last.

Thus one more lovely thing passes from among us.

To the Editor:

I love The Republican's editorials, the letters to the editor, the "View From My Window" by Jeffrey Wilson, and Mary McEwen's "Out On A Tangent" Disney hiatus! I really learn from it all and from some I have grand laughter. I appreciate that very much.

As many people know, I had been quite ill for some time. I am now fine and I want to thank one and all for the kindnesses to me. I can't praise some stand-out agencies and people enough; the Friendsville Family Medical Center, Garrett Co. Home Health, Friendsville Pharmacy, Mountain Top Mental Health Associates, Northern Rescue Squad, Friendsville Postal crew, the Md. State Police, and many friends and neighbors have been exceptional. I am deeply grateful.

I wanted to express my concern regarding the mental health status of our country. When I hear over and over about the Yates trial (the young mother who drowned her five young children), I am appalled at the ignorance of mental illness in our country. When I read and know of all the problems of the mentally ill's lack of proper psychiatric care in Garrett County, I am thunderstruck at the lack of enlightenment concerning the mentally ill. The lack of real certified psychiatric care overwhelms me. How long can we live with this discrimination against the real diagnosed mentally ill? the seriously mentally ill?

Jesus, when he walked on this earth, did not reject the mentally ill. How can the citizens claim to be so Christian and not recognize the injustice to human beings, who through no fault of their own are so ill?

This is one way our foreign enemies are correct in their judgment of us. We do discriminate, and it doesn't appear to bother many people here.

If Mary S. McEwen's recent article had included interviews of some of us on this issue (mental illness care issue), she could have shed some light on the real causes of some of our practical problems here; but the lack of enlightenment, involvement, and commitment is the monumental problem here! Can we hope for a change in the county and state officials without legal action? I have been told "no" for many years!

Think about it please.
This is my opinion.

Thanking you,
Mrs. Louise V. Harvey

Sled Dog Teams To Give Demos At Winterblast

This weekend's Winterblast celebration at the Wisp Resort will include two free public demonstrations highlighting canine versatility and usefulness. The demonstrations will both be presented on Saturday.

Members of the Three Rivers Area Search and Rescue (TRASAR) organization and their dogs will give a demonstration at 10 a.m. to illustrate various kinds of rescue operations used in snow-covered wilderness terrains.

Then at 3 p.m., representatives of the Pennsylvania Sled Dog Club will be on hand to introduce the public to the sports of sled dog running and "skijoring," a sport in which a person cross-country skis while harnessed to a team of dogs.

Both of these events are being sponsored by Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety (PAWS), one of many non-profit organizations participating in the Winterblast festivities.

"We want the public to see some of the benefits that can come from people developing a strong, positive bond with their animals," a PAWS spokesperson said.

TRASAR is based in Fairmont, W.Va. In addition to dog handlers, the group is made up of mounted (horseback) searchers, walkers, scuba divers, EMTs, paramedics, fire fighters, and law enforcement officers. They serve, but are not limited to, the West Virginia counties of Marion, Monongalia, Harrison, Preston, Taylor, and Barbour. The organization's presentation at the Winterblast will include a tracking demonstration, and the handlers will also work with air-scenting dogs. Pam Bennett, current president of TRASAR, will be the dog handler giving the demonstration.

Bennett handles her dogs primarily as air-scenting land and water cadaver dogs. One of her dogs is currently undergoing disaster training, the PAWS spokesperson noted. Pam, a resident of Grafton, W.Va., is also a member of the Northern Ohio Valley Area Search and Rescue organization (NOVASAR).

MUSHING INTO WINTERBLAST — Don Ulrich of the Pennsylvania Sled Dog Club, pictured above with his sled and dog team, will present a demonstration of the sport on Saturday, March 2, at 3 p.m., as part of the Winterblast celebration at the Wisp. A demonstration of search and rescue dog work will be given at 10 a.m. by the Three Rivers Area Search and Rescue organization. Both demonstrations are being organized and sponsored by Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety (PAWS), one of the many non-profit organizations helping with the Winterblast festivities. A PAWS booth will be located under the Winterblast "big top" from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m Saturday. Winterblast guests are invited to stop by and, for a donation, have their faces painted, pick up some bags of trail mix, or get some homemade treats and toys for their favorite dog or cat. PAWS members will be on hand to answer questions as well as provide literature about their new organization and various animal topics.

The Pennsylvania Sled Dog Club was founded in 1971 with the purpose "to conduct sled dog races and to promote the safe and humane racing, driving, and training of sled dogs," the spokesperson said. Today the club has over 150 members from Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Delaware, Virginia, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maryland, New Jersey, and Alaska.

The sled dog club hosts a number of sled dog events annually, including weight pulls, snow races, rig runs, and training sessions, in addition to its regular meetings and club gatherings. Skijoring is also gaining in popularity among club members, the spokesperson said. The Pennsylvania Sled Dog Club has been a member and strong supporter of the International Sled Dog Racing Association for over 20 years, and club events are run under ISDRA rules.

Don Ulrich, current vice president of the Pennsylvania mushing group, will be presenting much of Saturday's sledding demo. He and his wife have been involved with the Pennsylvania Sled Dog Club since 1996 when they moved from Virginia Beach to the Hershey, Pa., area. While in Virginia Beach, they were members of the Hampton Roads Siberian Husky Association and were involved in many sled dog events.

Letters

in the Garrett Community College auditorium to learn more about these and other legislative issues.

The first bill of extreme interest is House Bill 1060 that is sponsored by a Montgomery County Delegate Dana Dembrow. The bill is a cleverly designed and worded bill that changes part of the Annotated Code of Maryland for the purpose of placing timber harvesting on the lowest priority of activity that can take place on public land and even indirectly establishes a priority of activity when foresters provide advice to private landowners.

It is a bad bill and suggests that the management protocols that have been applied on the state forests for nearly 100 years haven't worked, when in fact they have worked. Nothing is wrong with the way our state forests are being managed, and they don't need "fixed" by bills such as HB 1060. The bill has not yet been scheduled for a hearing, but we expect it to be heard sometime in the next couple of weeks.

There is another bill being sponsored in part by Delegate George Edwards (HB 617) and Senator Hafer (SB 552) titled "Natural Resources-Wildlands-Savage Ravines and South Savage." These companion bills would create about 4,000 more acres of wildlands in Savage River State Forest.

Historically, Delegate Edwards and Senator Hafer have opposed the creation of wildlands on public land in Garrett County (as has the entire Western Maryland Delegation). In fact, several years ago when wildland proposals were considered by the legislature, Delegate Edwards was the leading opponent of that effort that was ultimately defeated. We are perplexed and wonder out loud what has happened to change their position? We hope that their decisions are not detrimental to the overall status of the state forest system.

MFA is going to oppose these wildland bills because we historically have done so on the basis that such designations effectively preclude management and do not allow for changing objectives to meet changing needs of the forest. Wildlands have been misrepresented as the only way to protect Maryland's forests and promote diversity.

The wildlands process represents a return to outmoded management ideas and practices which favored "locking up" lands in order to preserve them for the future. This policy ignores two realities: (1) Forests are dynamic systems and (2) it is impossible, even by excluding people, to remove the influence of human actions—past and future.

MFA believes that the best way for the state to manage its public lands is to set goals for each property and to manage for those goals. The process that results in 10 year plans and annual work plans by scientific knowledge and public participation is rigid enough to protect sensitive and unique areas, but flexible enough to adapt management prescriptions to specific sites and to newly discovered scientific knowledge. MFA supports this existing process as fair and reasonable and one that has provided the protection, enhancement, and management of the multiple benefits of the state forests for nearly 100 years. Since 1976, the mission of the Maryland Forests Association is "to promote the maintenance of a healthy and productive forest land base, so as to enhance the economic, environmental, and social well-being of all who live in the State." We are a nonprofit citizen's organization made up of forest landowners, foresters, and other resource professionals, recreation and hunt clubs, loggers, and other businesses in the forest products industry.

If you have any further questions about these bills, our position on these bills, or the substance of this legislation, please do not hesitate to visit our web site at http://mdforests.org or contact our VP for Governmental Affairs Jim Mallow at sweetacres@chesapeake.net or me, Executive Director Karin Miller, at the MFA office at 301-895-5369 or mfa@hereintown.net.

Attend the Senator Hafer and Delegate Edwards annual mid-legislative session public meeting at 10 a.m. this Saturday, March 2, in the Garrett Community College auditorium and ask the questions that need to be asked.

YOUNG DUNKER STEVENS RECOGNIZED — Bethany Stevens, a 10-year-old from Oakland, was recognized at Saturday's Deep Creek Dunk for being possibly the youngest "dunker" to participate in the Winter Water Series. The local dunk was the third and final plunge in the series, following the St. Mary's Splash at Point Lookout Park and the Polar Bear Plunge at Sandy Point State Park. Bethany, the daughter of Richard and Angela Stevens, plunged all three times. She is pictured above as she is cited for her feat.

the legislation following the Dec. 5 accident in which 10-year-old Melvin Beachy was fatally struck by a motorist who failed to stop for flashing bus lights. The accident occurred near Gortner. Bus drivers, residents, and Garrett County Board of Education officials had voiced their concerns to Hafer over the increasing number of motorists passing school buses.

Delegates George Edwards, Kevin Kelly, and Speaker Casper Taylor have sponsored the same bill — HB 276 — in the House. The House Commerce and Government Matters Committee held a hearing Feb. 12 on the bill. The House panel has yet to vote on the bill. But given its unfavorable reception in the Senate, Hafer said he feels "it will be killed in the House as well."

The GC Humane Society: Animal Advocate For Nearly 18 Years

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE that the 155-pound Rottweiler pictured above — "Corey Bear Cub Friend" — weighed only two pounds at 2 1/2 months of age, when he was rescued from a "puppy mill" by the Garrett County Humane Society almost seven years ago. Corey was so malnourished, dehydrated, anemic, infested with hook worms, and suffering from a cracked pelvis and rickets, he was expected to live only 12 hours. The gentle giant is just one of countless animals that the society has rescued since 1984. See story for details. The photo at the beginning of the story is Corey at 4 months of age.

by Renee Shreve

"The prevention of cruelty to animals" — the creed of the Garrett County Humane Society Inc. — sounds like a simple premise. In reality, however, it takes a great deal of hard work, money, time, and even courage to protect all types of animals. Nonetheless, members of the society have been helping countless animals for nearly 18. In fact, the group is now such a vital part of the county that it is hard to imagine that before 1984, Garrett had no humane society.

Prior to that year, two members of the Allegany Animal Welfare Society — Donna Squires and Martha McComas — had to travel to Garrett — regardless of the weather and expense, to investigate abuse cases. After one particularly bad winter, however, Squires and McComas finally declared to Friendsville resident and fellow society member Bernadine Friend that Garrett County needed its own humane society.

So Friend, her daughter Sherry, Nancy Helbig, and Joanna Sisler "got their heads together," as Friend describes it, to organize a group of animal lovers. After about a year of tedious research, hard work, and good advice from Squires, McComas, and attorney James Braskey, the Garrett County Humane Society Inc. was officially formed on October 19, 1984.

"The society was off and running and still is," said Friend, the group's executive director. The organization currently has 15 full-time, voting members and many associate members who assist the group, as well as numerous other supporters.

Over the years, volunteers have logged thousands of miles on their vehicles, traveling the county looking for abused animals. The members do a countywide "sweep" several times a year with local police officers. During their sweep, they especially look for animals that are tied by the neck.

"Most of these animals live and die, never having a chance to run and play," said Friend. According to the Humane Society of the United States, continuous tethering can cause "immense psychological damage" to animals, especially to dogs. "An otherwise friendly and docile dog, when kept continuously chained, becomes neurotic, unhappy, anxious, and often very aggressive," according to the U.S. society.

Finding abused animals, however, is only part of the battle. Once members determine that animals are abused, they inform the owners they are breaking the law and present them with a copy of Article 27 of the Annotated Law of Maryland. The law defines, among other things, cruelty, mistreatment, and neglect, as well as the consequences of those offenses.

"Most of the time you can reason with them (offenders)," said Friend. "A lot of people say, 'I didn't know there was law or a Humane Society.'" If the owners are receptive, the society will work closely with owners to help them take better care of their animals.

However, if reasoning does not produce positive results, members may legally remove an animal from its owner, which can be dangerous. "I've been cursed at, threatened with a shotgun, and told I'd have my brains blown out, but I would do anything for an animal," said Friend, a not-so-retiring retired school teacher.

The members also appear in court and provide evidence for the state's attorney to prosecute animal abusers. Friend added that local police officers work "diligently" with the society, helping members rescue animals and providing police protection.

Once animals are rescued, foster owners care for them until permanent homes can be found. Abandoned, sick, and injured animals are also cared for in the homes. There are currently five Humane Society foster homes in the county. The society pays for all the animals' food, medical care, and, if needed, outside housing and fencing. Persons wishing to adopt the animals are thoroughly screened and required to sign an agreement to provide sustenance, shelter, and medical care. They must also agree to return animals if they no longer want them. Sometimes, however, permanent homes cannot be found, and members adopt the animals themselves.

Friend has quite a menagerie of rescued pets, which includes cats, dogs, horses, geese, and ducks. One of her particular favorites, however, is Corey — a Rottweiler. Rescued from a "puppy mill," the "rotty" weighed only two pounds when he was 2 1/2 months old. So dehydrated, malnourished, anemic due to fleas, infested with hook worms, and suffering from a cracked pelvis and crooked bones due to borderline rickets, Corey was expected to live only 12 more hours after his rescue.

But with excellent medical care and a loving home, the dog not only survived, he thrived. The 6 1/2-year-old rotty now weighs 155 pounds (see photo). "Corey's the love of my life," said Friend. "And he loves everybody; he'll lick you to death!"

Medical costs for rescued animals, however, can quickly add up. Corey's bill was $115. If an animal is sick, an office call alone may be $65, with an X-ray costing yet another $65. Friend is currently facing a $75 vet bill for a dog and a $44 bill for a cat, and those bills are just for two animals. When one adds up the medical expenses, as well as food, for all the pets being cared for by the society, the final tally can be daunting. "Vet bills are not cheap," said the executive director, "and we're in debt all the time."

The bulk of the society's funds comes from donations and fund-raisers. One of the group's biggest fund-raising events is its "Christmas in July." This year, the event will be held on July 13 at the Garrett County fairgrounds. A silent auction, pet talent show, and dog-sled demonstration are some of the scheduled activities. The group also spends numerous hours conducting various raffles, soliciting requests for donations, and holding its annual garage sale, slated for the last part of May.

Additionally, the Garrett County commissioners have given $2,500 to the humane society since fiscal year 2000; that money, however, is only allocated for the spay/neuter program. "The program provides help with the spaying and neutering of pets for people who cannot afford to do so," said Friend. According to the Doris Day Animal League, "failure to spay and neuter animals results in millions of strays, untold suffering, pound killings, and cruel testing."

To fight pet overpopulation, the society and the Garrett County Animal Shelter have slated March as Spay/Neuter Awareness Month. During the month, persons may contact the society or shelter to receive a certificate for $25 off a spay or neuter for their cats or dogs. Additionally, any animal adopted out of the shelter will also be accompanied with $25-off certificate. Some local veterinarian clinics will also contribute $10 off a sterilization procedure for an animal adopted out of the shelter during March.

Friend is quick to acknowledge the kindness and skill of the animal shelter staff — Candy Virtz, Bonnie Zimmerman, and Tammy Upole. "They're the best we've ever had," said Friend. "I can sleep at night knowing that the animals are being taken care of."

The society has accomplished much in nearly 18 years — thousands of animals have been rescued and hundreds of residents have been educated about their pets — but more work needs to be done. When asked what the society's long-term goals are, Friend emphatically stated, "To have a no-kill shelter." She explained that, despite the loving care the animals receive at the shelter, the cold, hard fact is, there is only so much room there. If a pet is not adopted after a certain time at the shelter, it has to be euthanized. The Humane Society only euthanizes animals to put them out of their misery, said Friend.

But what is the solution? "Get all the cats and dogs in the county spayed or neutered," she said with such conviction that one gets the impression that the society just might achieve that simple-sounding, but obviously daunting task. After all, "the prevention of the cruelty of animals" sounded like a simple, yet intimidating premise in 1984, and look what the organization has accomplished so far.

AAL SUPPORTS NORTH STAR 4-H — The Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 5821 recently presented a check to North Star 4-H. The club sold candy bars as a fund-raiser, and AAL matched $200 of the $311 raised. The 4-H joined AAL in 2001 for ongoing community service, including Join Hands Day, the spaghetti fund-raiser for Ryan Savage, and Project Bundle-Up. North Star will help AAL again this year. Pictured above, in the front row, from the left, are North Star members Duane Rice, Misty Paugh, and Kevin Haenftling, and AAL president Larry Foley. In the second row are Angela LaMastus, Kara Savage, Melanie King, Rachel Schmidt, Diamond Spiker, Jennifer LaMastus, John Coaner, and Danita Paugh. In the back row are Jerry Coaner, Tonya Broadwater, Cassie Adkins, Annamay Broadwater, and Helaina LaMastus.

BMG Architects Office Joins Lakin & Moats

Burrey Moser Gehr Architects LLC (BMG) and Lakin & Moats Architects Inc. have joined offices and will now be known as BMGM Architects LLC.

The firms have completed local projects such as the Southern High School gym and lobby renovations, the Northern High School gym complex addition, and the Savage River Lodge.

Currently the company is working on projects at the Garrett County Courthouse, the Hickory Environmental Center planetarium, and the Rt. 40 Elementary School.

The Humane Society meets on the second Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the state police barrack in McHenry. New members are always welcomed and needed. For more information about the organization or the spay/neuter program, persons may call Friend at 301-746-5725.

Firm principals are Darryl W. Moser, AIA, Michael L. Gehr, AIA, and David Moats, AIA, with Eleanor V. Lakin, RA.

The main office for BMGM Architects is along Oak Ridge Drive in Hagerstown. The phone number there is 301-797-9520. The business also hosts a web site at www.bmgmarchitects.com.

ReNEW Grantsville's Library
ReNEW Grantsville's Library Committee
PO Box 237
Grantsville, MD 21536

Dear Readers of The Republican Newspaper:

We need your help, and if you can do it before April 15 whatever monies you can pledge or give to the Grantsville Library Building Fund will be doubled! The Garrett County Commissioners will match every dollar that the Grantsville's Library Committee receives in cash or pledges through April 15, 2002*! If you give $500 it becomes $ 1,000, $250 becomes $500,$100 becomes $200, and $50 becomes $100. These additional gifts could add up quickly because of the match!

We hope that you can help correct a critical information access need in northern Garrett County! Read the comments of the Grantsville and Route 40 elementary school children's letters to Governor Glendening. The children's letters best sum up why a new library is needed:

"When I go to the library and work for several hours I need to use the bathroom and there isn't a bathroom."

"It is not fair my handicapped friend can not use the library because they can't get their wheelchair between the shelves."

"We need some new books--I have read all of the (children's) books that are there."
"I do not have a PC at home and they (librarians) let us work only 20 minutes on the one PC that the Grantsville Library has and there is never enough time."

The greater Grantsville community deserves better and together we can do it!

To date the greater Grantsville community has contributed much toward the first phase of this project, a building fund for a new state-of-the-art library for Grantsville (and northern Garrett County). Currently, we are more than halfway in raising $925,000 to fund the building project, including buying books, PCs, and other vital information that is needed and will be used by the public.

Community funds pledged or contributed	$190,000
U.S. Federal Government Grant (VA-HUD Bill)	$300,000
Garrett County Commissioners (current pledge)	$175,000 *
State of Maryland	No pledge to date
Total Funds Pledged or Contributed	$665,000

*Total raised by Committee minus $15,000 already contributed by the G C. Commissioners for the new Grantsville Library architectural design work.

The Grantsville Library Building Project needs to raise an additional $260,000 to build and provide funds for the first phase of information stocking. We do not want to lose the $300,000 of federal grant funds, as public building projects require full funding before actual construction work can proceed. The federal grant funds must be spent within parameters or the grant funds will be forfeited. Will you please help the Committee to raise additional monies?

Would you, your company, or your group consider pledging or providing additional gifts of money? Please do so soon. You will be glad that you did!

Delegate Edwards and Senator Hafer are trying to get $200,000 in funding from the state of Maryland. One hundred fifty-seven elementary school children from Grantsville and Route 40 elementary schools wrote Governor Glendening requesting monies. The Governor's letters of rejection stated that the state believes that funding library construction is a local financial matter. This is an uphill struggle that we can win.

Can you help the children and all who use the Grantsville Public Library? Remember when you write your check to the "Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County" to put in the memo line "Grantsville Building Fund." Thank you for your consideration in helping to raise monies for this critical community project.

Sincerely,
Sheila Miller, Chairperson Gary Ruddell, Honorary Fund Raiser

PS: The residents of greater Grantsville have given a lot. We are closing in on being able to break ground and to provide a state-of-the-art library for greater Grantsville. We need your help to do so. Donations should be sent to: Grantsville Library, PO Box 237, Grantsville. MD 21536

Movie Gives Glimpse Of Vietnam Battle That Claimed Area Soldier

by David Foster

"The small bloody hole in the ground that was Captain Bob Edwards' Charlie Company command post was crowded with men. Sergeant Herman R. Hostuttler, 25, from Terra Alta, West Virgima, lay crumpled in the red dirt, dead from an AK-47 round through his throat . . . . Captain Edwards had a bullet hole in his left shoulder and armpit, and was slumped in a contorted sitting position, unable to move and losing blood. He was holding his radio handset to his ear with his one good arm. A North Vietnamese machine gunner atop a huge termite hill no more than 30 feet away had them all in his sights . . . "

— first lines from We Were Soldiers Once...And Young by Lt. Gen. Harold G. Moore and Joseph L. Galloway describing the Battle of Ia Drang, Nov. 1965

"The Ia Drang operation, 'Silver Bayonet,' demonstrated for the first time the effectiveness of pitching large units into action by helicopter, and it also proved that B-52s, designed for strategic bombing, could be deployed to give tactical support to ground forces. Though more than 300 Americans died in the battle, the engagement cost the Communists nearly 2,000 men, and the favorable ratio of casualties prompted General Westmoreland to assert that his search-and-destroy missions could gradually grind down the enemy—on condition that he be given the battalions to do the job."

— from Vietnam—A History by Stanley Karnow

"Though more than 300 Americans died in the battle...the favorable ratio of casualties . . . "

That terse textbook summary of four days in November 1965 coldly encapsulates the sacrifice of over 300 American fathers, husbands, brothers, and sons who were killed in combat at Ia Drang. More than 300 families lost their loved ones in that jungle valley, a loss of the magnitude of a Sept. 11 event to each of those families, but their grief was little assuaged by many fellow Americans over following years who either ignored or argued about the "politics" of those sacrifices rather than recognizing those who shouldered the burdens of war.

Terra Alta's Herman Russell Hostuttler was one of those sacrifices. His was the first death of the Vietnam War to be reported in the pages of this newspaper, and he was the first West Virginian to die in combat in the war. The Battle of Ia Drang, which claimed his life, was detailed in the 1992 bestseller We Were Young Once . . . And Soldiers, and has been made into a feature motion picture, We Were Soldiers, which is set for nationwide release tomorrow. "We knew what Vietnam was like and how we looked and acted and talked and smelled," Moore and Galloway wrote 10 years ago. "No one in America did. Hollywood got it wrong every damn time, whetting twisted political knives on the bones of our dead brothers." As Moore said in a recent Esquire magazine interview, "One of our main goals was to show that in any battle anywhere, men fight and die primarily for each other."

Hostuttler's life story is told in Not To Be Forgotten: Prestonians Who Died in Vietnam, written by Preston County native Dorothy Bonafield Snyder and published last year. That book, along with an interview this week with Hostuttler's sister Phyllis, serves as a basis for much of what follows. Purchasing information for Snyder's book appears at the end of this account.

Hostuttler was born in 1940 in Jacksonburg, W.Va., and later moved to Terra Alta with his mother and stepfather when his stepfather got a job at the Hopemout Hospital. He enlisted in the Army on Aug. 12, 1958. After four years, and assignments that included tours of duty in Iceland and the Panama Canal Zone, Hostuttler returned to Terra Alta and married Mabel Teter Johnson, a neighbor of his when both were young, on Nov. 24, 1962. Shortly after the wedding the couple moved to Fort Benning, Ga., where Hostuttler was a squad leader, and they lived on post, where they reportedly enjoyed the military life.

"Russell liked the military," said Phyllis Shaffer, using her family's preferred middle name for her younger brother during an interview in her Garrett County home. "When he'd come home on leave, he'd always come and see me because he loved my kids, Terry and Mary, and he always had gifts for them. One time he brought home a little soldier's outfit for Terry; we had to cut the sleeves and legs to make it fit, but Terry was very proud of it and wore it all the time.

"Russell and I were the closest of all us kids, only three years apart, and we were closest to each other too," said Shaffer. "My first husband had mistreated me while Russell was in the military, and when Russell heard about it he sent me a letter saying next time he was home he'd look him up and settle the matter. I'm glad that didn't happen — Russell was a very strong young man. He was funny, though, and used to take me out to the Terra Alta VFW and buy me just one beer, which would make me a little silly because I didn't drink. Then he'd laugh and tease me something terrible," Shaffer said with a giggle.

"I do remember all the good times we shared — fishing, or just going swimming," fellow soldier and close friend Walter Niemeyer told Snyder. "Herman was a man that was well-liked by everyone that came in contact with him, a real good soldier at all times. I am sure the Army is as proud of him as we were as his buddies."

Hostuttler's commitment to the military can be seen in his decision of the summer of 1965, when the 1st Battalion, 7th Cavalry of the 1st Cavalry Division received orders to ship out to Vietnam. Although within two months of completing his Army enlistment, Hostuttler declined the chance to leave the service for civilian life, telling brother-in-law Floyd Teter, "I must re-enlist so that I can go with the men that I have trained." That decision took him away from his wife and put him on a troop ship bound for South Vietnam, where he arrived in early September. A few weeks later he and his fellow 7th Cavalry soldiers took up reconnaissance patrols in the Ia Drang Valley, deep within the country's central-western mountain jungles. "Russell wrote from Vietnam asking me to send him Kool-Aid packets, M&Ms, and chewing gum," Phyllis stated.

A tragic accident on Nov. 4 led to another decision that may have changed the course of Hostuttler's life, which was to come to an end in less than two weeks. A mid-air collision of two Army helicopters killed Sgt. Roy Hitt, communications sergeant for Charlie Company commander Capt. Bob Edwards, mentioned in the opening paragraph of this article. "As a result, Edwards needed a replacement communications sergeant in a hurry," Snyder wrote. "Sergeant Herman Hostuttler came to Edwards and volunteered to fill that very critical position."

As Edwards himself told Snyder, "The communications sergeant was responsible for a small group of men in the company headquarters who manned the radios and telephone systems that kept the company in touch with its subordinate units (platoons) and with its higher headquarters (battalion). They were also responsible for keeping the equipment assigned to the section in working order. I cannot begin to convey to you how absolutely essential it is for a company commander to be able to communicate both up and down the chain. Only the trustworthiest men were selected to serve in this group. When Sergeant Hostuttler volunteered, I accepted because I knew him as a dependable, professional NCO who could be trusted to do what was required in any situation."

Late in the morning of Nov. 14 American helicopters began landing in the Ia Drang Valley at Landing Zone X-Ray, bringing in the first waves of other company's troops that would come to fight in battle over the next four days. Shortly after 1 p.m. the first helicopter carrying Charlie Company's lead elements arrived, and as Hostuttler was Captain Edwards' communications sergeant it is likely he was in that first Charlie Company helo. Within an hour the Americans were engaged in a full-fledged battle with a large force of combat-tested North Vietnamese Army regular soldiers that outnumbered them 7 to 1.

Hostuttler was killed on Monday, Nov. 15.

The fighting that continued for the next four days, as well as the friendships of the soldiers that both preceded it and endure to this day, is told onscreen in We Were Soldiers.

Forty-two of the approximately 130 men of Charlie Company were killed in the Battle of Ia Drang. The bodies of those 42 dead American soldiers were flown out of the Ia Drang Valley together on a large Chinook helicopter. The dead left as a unit, just as they had arrived — as comrades. They remain listed together, along with the 263 other American soldiers who died at Ia Drang, on wall Panel E-3 of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C.

"That was the hardest day of my life, when the telegram came that Russell had been killed," his sister Phyllis recalled. "The telegram came in through Gregg's Pharmacy of Terra Alta late at night. It was hand-delivered to my mom, who didn't have a phone or a car, at our family's place near Rodamer in Preston County. She sent two of my brothers to my home, a 10-mile walk, to tell me, and they got to my house around three in the morning.

"I got in my car and drove over to the Teters' place, where Russell's wife Mabel was up from Fort Benning to visit her family. I knocked on the door, and even though it was very early in the morning, Mabel's folks answered it, and I could see Mabel standing at the top of the staircase inside the house. When she saw me it was if she had read my mind — Without me saying a word, she broke down on the steps and started screaming and sobbing. It was a horrible thing to see."

The casualties of war don't fall only on the battlefield, Shaffer made clear as she continued. "My mother was never the same, and Mabel would have bad dreams about Russell from then on, and suffered terrible headaches over and over. It was terrible. When Mabel died, she had made provisions to donate her heart to her ill sister, who was able to have a longer life because of her. As for me, for five or six years afterward, whenever I'd see a young man with dark curly hair and his type of build, in a flash I'd think — 'Russell's back!' But then the fellow would turn around and I'd realize it wasn't Russell. The package of goodies he asked me to send him came back to me unopened the following March. It was all torn up, and looked like it had been through heck. I told the mailman 'I wish they'd never sent that back.'

"I've thought a lot about whether or not it was all worth it, and you just can't come up with an answer; you just never know. One thing that has helped took place not too long ago, the first time I saw the 'Virtual Wall' web site for Vietnam veterans. One of my kids had found it, and I sitting in front of the computer looking at Russell's picture, and my 7-year-old granddaughter, McKenzie Wotring (who calls me 'Ga-Ga'), was looking over my shoulder, and she said out of the blue 'Look Ga-Ga, that's my uncle Russell. He died to keep us free.' That really meant something to me."

"There's one way in which my brother never left," said Russell's sister, who nearly four decades after his death still carries his service ring with her as part of her keychain. "I still love my brother and always will."

A footnote: Not To Be Forgotten: Prestonians Who Died In Vietnam, by Dorothy Bonafield Snyder, is on sale at the Calico Cat in Kingwood, the Arthurdale Heritage Center in Arthurdale, and Main's Pharmacy in Masontown for $20 plus 6 percent tax. It can also be ordered directly from Snyder at 9 Douglas Ct., Dover, DE 19901, for $23.32, which includes tax and shipping cost.

The Young Dead Soldiers
by Archibald MacLeish

The young dead soldiers do not speak.
Nevertheless, they are heard in the still houses:
who has not heard them?
They have a silence that speaks for them at night and when the clock counts.
They say: We were young. We have died. Remember us.
They say: We have done what we could but until it is finished it is not done.
They say: We have given our lives but until it is finished no one can know what our lives gave.
They say: Our deaths are not ours; they are yours;
they will mean what you make them.
They say: Whether our lives and our deaths were for peace and a new hope or for nothing we cannot say; it is you who must say this.
They say: We leave you our deaths.
Give them their meaning.
We were young, they say. We have died.
Remember us.

HERMAN AND MABEL HOSTUTTLER are shown above after their 1962 wedding in Terra Alta. Herman, known to family and friends as Russell, was killed three years later in Vietnam; Mabel had severe headaches from then on, and died of a brain aneurysm in 1990 at the age of 49. Herman Hostuttler's tombstone is pictured below in the Terra Alta Cemetery, where the first West Virginian killed in the Vietnam War lies next to his wife. The battle that took his life is the subject of a feature motion picture, which premiers tomorrow in theaters across the nation.

CROSSROADS

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:34 - Released 2/15/02

When teenage girls become international pop stars, they are inundated with attention, both good and bad. The good kind is 50,000 fans chanting "We love you, Britney!" at a concert, or getting a brand new candy-apple red sportscar for your 16th birthday. The bad kind is 45-year-old stalkers, fake naked pictures of you showing up on the Internet, and movie producers. For Britney Spears, who just turned 20 in December, it was the latter. Spears is the latest in a long line of young performers who have been convinced by greedy, soulless Hollywood execs that because they are famous, they should make movies. Who cares if you can't act? You're famous! Milk it for all it's worth! There's money to be made!

As would be appropriate for someone who is apparently thought to personify what it is to be a 21st-century American girl, Spears stars in her first feature film, a predictably fluffy, estrogen-powered movie-of-the-week called Crossroads about three high school girlfriends who travel across country to find themselves, with a hunky older guy at the wheel. Written by Shonda Rhimes, directed by Tamra Davis, Crossroads exudes teen cute, with sprinkles of scantily clad T&A (but not enough to score an R rating), a little romance, and some heartsick conflict thrown in for drama, but is designed mainly to showcase Spears's annoying, Whitney-Houston-esque singing style, her perky personality, and her killer bod.

Spears plays Lucy, the valedictorian of her Georgia high school, whose relationship with her former best friends, punky and pregnant Mimi (Taryn Manning) and fashion-conscious Kit (Zoe Saldana), has deteriorated badly by the night of their graduation. After some discussion about how they're not friends anymore, Mimi announces that she's planning a trip to L.A. to audition for a record company, and inexplicably invites the others to come along. At first they refuse, but Kit's desire to see her fiancé in California and Lucy's wish to meet her long-absent mom in Arizona change their minds. Lucy leaves a note for her loving, overprotective, personality-challenged dad (Dan Aykroyd) and packs her things.

As it turns out, Mimi has arranged transport with a twenty-something rock guitarist and ex-con named Ben (Anson Mount), who may or may not have "killed a guy." They all pack into his 1973 Skylark convertible (you always have to have a vintage convertible for a cross-country road trip—you want to have wind, sand, and bugs hitting you in the face for seven days) and set out with no plans, very little money, and plenty of luggage.

The events that take place are too predictable to mention, including plenty of all-girl singalongs to the worst songs recorded by N-SYNC, Shania Twain, and Sheryl Crow, with one good one ("I Love Rock n' Roll," by Joan Jett and the Blackhearts). The acting is strictly sophomoric, with the possible exception of the nearly 30-year-old Mount, who's so thrilled to be surrounded by hot young legal babes, he doesn't care. Spears's technique indicates she's a graduate of the Brady Bunch Acting Academy, and Manning speaks as though her tongue is numb. The film is shot like something you'd see on the Spice channel; camera angles are frequently designed to include someone's bare midriff in the foreground. Still, regardless of its faults, this film will no doubt do well at the box office. After all, there are plenty of young girls out there who want to be Britney, and plenty of young boys who want to see her in her panties. ★★

JOHN Q

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:58 - Released 2/15/02

Actor-turned-director Nick Cassavetes (She's So Lovely) joins forces with TV writer James Kearns (Jake and the Fatman) to produce a sincere but manipulative tear-jerker about a good man who cracks under the pressure of society. Boy, have I been there. Starring in this well-meaning weeper is Denzel Washington, the original "good man," scaling back his criminal instincts from last October's Training Day until we feel him as one of us, a desperate slob who, when his young son needs an expensive operation that his insurance company won't pay for, is forced to take the law into his own hands. Also present, and overqualified, are Robert Duvall and James Woods, who are both so underused one wonders why the producers shelled out the bucks for them. Maybe it was just the omnidirectional system-bashing message they were eager to get behind. Not content to merely extoll the virtues of standing up for oneself, the film vilifies hospitals, HMOs, police, and the media in a self-righteous treatise on the plight of the working class hero.

Washington is Chicago millworker John Q. Archibald, whose recent reduction to 20 hours per week has him searching for a second job to pay the bills. He and his wife Denise (Kimberly Elise) eke out a living with their young son Mike (Daniel E. Smith), but when he collapses during a Little League baseball game, they rush him to the hospital and find that he is suffering from a long undiagnosed heart illness, and needs a new heart immediately. While cardiologist Dr. Turner (Woods) recommends immediate action, hospital director Rebecca Payne (Anne Heche) is not so eager, since John's insurance carrier does not cover this kind of surgery. With the self-serving iciness that is apparently the primary job qualification for hospital directors, Ms. Payne informs John that if he can't come up with the $75,000 down payment, Mike's name won't even be placed on the recipient list.

John tries desperately to raise the money, doing everything from selling his car to accepting the offerings collected by his church, but when Mike's condition worsens and Denise is informed that the boy is about to be discharged, John decides he must take desperate measures. He pulls a gun and takes the entire emergency room hostage, including several patients and nurses, and the good doctor, too, claiming that he will start shooting if his son isn't given the operation. Soon the hospital is swarmed with law enforcement officials and news media, including crafty Lieutenant Grimes (Duvall), patronizing Police Chief Monro (Ray Liotta), and ambitious newsman Tuck Lampley (Paul Johansson), whose characterization is so trite he looks on the entire situation as a golden opportunity for wealth, actually uttering the words, "This is my white Bronco."

This film reminds me of 1997's Mad City, which had John Travolta taking a bunch of school kids and a museum director at gunpoint to save his job. The difference is that this film actually seems to encourage this sort of vigilante justice, portraying John as an unqualified hero whose desperate methods eventually pay off. Besides the film's pro-vigilante bent, there are numerous instances of emotionally overblown pandering, moments when director Cassavetes may as well have flashed the words "cry now" on the screen.

But of course, then you have the actors. Washington, Woods, and Duvall are so capable, they almost save this schlock-fest from itself. Their technique covers a multitude of sins, and Cassavetes knows that. Good for him. Bad for us. ★★★½

DRAGONFLY

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:43 - Released 2/22/02

Kevin Costner seems to be attracted to crappy movies like a dragonfly to a pond. Although he has had his share of successes, e.g., Dances With Wolves, JFK, and Thirteen Days, he has also been responsible, or at least partly responsible, for the likes of Waterworld, The Postman, and For Love Of The Game. What is annoyingly common in practically all his films is his identical characterization as a good guy whom no one understands, and that irritating fake-crying he always does. There's plenty of that in Tom Shadyac's Dragonfly, a supernatural romantic thriller written by Brandon Camp, David Seltzer, and Mike Thompson. Shadyac, who directed comedies like The Nutty Professor and Liar Liar before switching to sappy drama with Patch Adams, did not learn that he should stick with his long suit. This film, while a well-intentioned investigation into the power of faith and the possibility of life after death, is so fraught with maudlin dialogue and ridiculous lapses of reason it successfully hamstrings its own power to reach the audience.

Costner is Chicago emergency room doctor Joe Darrow, whose pregnant wife, oncologist and Red Cross volunteer Emily, was tragically killed in a bus accident in Venezuela. Unable to deal with the loss, but unable to call on faith because he's an atheist, Joe throws himself back into his work, but soon begins to have strange experiences that imply Emily is trying to contact him from beyond. He hears voices. Kids who have near-death experiences tell him that she said hello from the other side, and compulsively draw crooked crosses whose meaning are unclear. And he keeps seeing dragonflies, which were her favorite insect. Or something.

Thinking he's going crazy, he tells his neighbor (Kathy Bates), his colleague (Ron Rifkin), and his boss (Joe Morton), who all tell him, "You're going crazy." But the one person who believes him is Sister Madeline (Linda Hunt), a nun who thinks it is possible to communicate during the process of dying, and that Emily is sending him a message through the patients. "There are a thousand steps between full consciousness and death," she says, "and belief gets you there." Or something.

So Joe gets on a plane and flies to Venezuela, where he finds out something not only incredible, not only wonderful, but downright unlikely.

Besides the mawkish dialogue and insufferable scenery chewing, which director Shadyac seems to encourage from not only Costner but all his actors, this film suffers from a palpable sense of Hollywood symbol overkill. It's almost like someone came up with the "crooked cross" idea and decided to make a film around it. The symbol is cute, but its significance is idiotic. Not to mention that Costner's character is one of those heroes he plays so often, able to figure out obscure hints, jump off huge waterfalls, and leap tall buildings in a single bound. Gad—does anybody have a really big fly swatter? ★★

In other Circuit Court news, Judge Fred A. Thayer (retired) sentenced Frostburg resident Andrew Ray Gardea, 20, last week to three years in the county jail for a violation of his probation. Thayer then suspended one of those years and ordered Gardea to be placed back on probation for one year upon his release from jail.

Gardea was originally convicted of second-degree burglary in June 2000 and was sentenced to five years in the Department of Corrections, with three years suspended. After serving the remaining two years,

Gardea was placed on supervised criminal conviction for driving under the influence, consuming alcohol, and failing to pay his supervision fee. Gardea appeared in Circuit Court and admitted to his violations, according to Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney.

Rams Advance To Region Final Against Smithsburg

Southern High School's girls' varsity basketball team continued to dominate the court this week in the wake of being named area champions, as they reeled off an easy 83-41 Class 1A West Region playoff win over Northern in Oakland on Monday and then topped Allegany at Fort Hill High School in a regional semifinal last night, 57-48.

The undefeated Rams (24-0) will make their bid for the regional crown tomorrow night against second-seeded Smithsburg (21-3) this Friday at Fort Hill, with tipoff set for 7 p.m. A win over Smithsburg would send Southern back to the state tournament, set for March 8-9 at University of Maryland Baltimore County, where the Rams hope to take a title that barely eluded them last year.

Guard Ashley Liller shredded the nets for 32 points against Northern on Monday by hitting nine field goals, two of which came from three-point range, and all 12 of her free throw attempts. The standout performance netted the senior the highest scoring tally for a single season in SHS girls' history at 522 points, surpassing Jenny Hillen's 1985 mark of 515. Liller missed tying her personal career high for a single game by just one point, and grabbed eight rebounds as well.

Sophomore guard Robbin Gregg also provided a strong performance, scoring 17 points and dishing out seven assists, and classmate Becca Flanagan recorded a double-double of 14 points and 10 rebounds from her forward slot. Senior forward Jennifer Bosley led the Ram defensive effort by breaking the Husky press with speed and quick passes.

NHS senior forward Bridget Frazee closed out her high school hoops career by leading her team in scoring for the second consecutive game, sinking nine field goals and a free throw on her way to 19 points. Jolene Brenneman contributed nine points.

NORTHERN (41)
Bridget Frazee 9 1-2 19, Jolene Brenneman 4 1-2 9, Amanda Frantz 2 0-1 4, Lyndsi Butler 1 0-0 3, Molly Wolf 1 0-2 2, Lakin Welmer 2 0-0 4. Totals 19 2 7 41.

SOUTHERN (83)
Justine Pagenhardt 3 2-2 8, Jennifer Bosley 3 0-3 6, Robbin Gregg 5 7-10 17, Becca Flanagan 7 0-1 14, Ashley Liller 9 12-14 32, Nina Stoner 1 0-0 2, Melissa Flanagan 2 0-0 4. Totals 30 21-28 83.

Three-point goals - Northern 1 (Butler), Southern 2 (Liller 2). Total fouls - Northern 20, Southern 11. Fouled out - none.

RAMS END HUSKIES' SEASON - The undefeated Southern High School girls' varsity put an end to the 2001-02 season of their county rivals, the Northern Huskies, and in the process took another step toward a regional and state championship by rolling over the Huskies in a Class 1A West Region quarterfinal, 83-41, on Monday in Oakland. Bringing the ball downcourt in the photo above is Southern sophomore Justine Pagenhardt, as Northern defenders Lyndsi Butler (#34) and Karie Kamp (#14) converge. Also in the photo at far right is Southern's Becca Flanagan (#20). Going up for two of her 17 points in the photo at right is another sophomore, Robbin Gregg, who also dished out seven assists. Northern defenders in the photo include Heather Lander (#4) and Amanda Frantz (#20). Flanagan, who finished with 14 points and 10 rebounds, is also in the photo. Senior Ashley Liller ripped the nets for 32 points to set a new school scoring record. The Rams, coached by Don Stemple, also defeated Allegany last night to advance to the West Region championship game, which will be played this Friday against Smithsburg. Photos by John McEwen.

"We hadn't played in a good while [two weeks], and we were concerned about that," SHS coach Don Stemple commented. "I told the girls that if we don't do anything else, let's make sure we come out intense. We got on them right away and got a good lead, and when we got the second team into the contest our reserves played well also."

The Rams took control of the contest early by exploding for a 21-7 first quarter lead en route to a 45-13 halftime advantage. The final period opened with SHS up by a commanding 68-28. The triumph was marked by near flawless play, as the Rams committed just 11 fouls and turned the ball over only 10 times.

The Allegany Campers were successful in slowing the Rams down early in last night's semifinal contest, and trailed by just one basket, 6-4, at the end of the first quarter. But the Rams were able to pick up the pace in the second stanza, and scored the first eight points of that period to make it 14-4. They were also ahead by 10 at the end of the second quarter, 25-15.

Southern led by as many as 15 (34-19) in the third quarter, and took a 34-21 advantage into the final eight minutes. The Campers did make a run in the fourth quarter, but could get no closer than six points.

Liller again paced the Rams' scoring with 17 points, while Justine Pagenhardt netted 12 and Flanagan contributed 11 points and a team-high 10 rebounds. Liller also dished out five assists, and Robbin Gregg chipped in with nine points and six assists.

Leading the Campers (10-14) offensively was Shannae Proud with 16 points. Casey Wilson finished with 16 and Jessica Smith added nine.

SOUTHERN (57)
Justine Pagenhardt 6 0-0 12, Jennifer Bosley 3 0-0 6, Robbin Gregg 3 2-3 9, Becca Flanagan 3 5-6 11, Ashley Liller 5 6-8 17, Mandi Stahl 0 2-2 2. Total 20 15-19 57.

NHS Downs Hancock In Region Tourney Debut; Routed By SHS

The girls' varsity basketball squad of Northern High School opened the Class 1A West Region Tournament in style with a 48-44 homecourt win over Hancock in Friday's opening round, but then succumbed to a Southern onslaught in a second-round 83-41 loss in Oakland Tuesday. (See separate story for NHS/SHS account.)

Northern led the Panthers from start to finish, taking narrow 7-6 and 20-17 first-quarter and halftime leads, respectively, and increasing its advantage to 31-20 by the opening of the final stanza. Hancock rallied with a 24-17 fourth quarter, but the Huskies staved off the Panther attack to hold on for the win.

Senior forward Bridget Frazee led NHS to victory in her final homecourt Igloo appearance with 16 points on six field goals and four free throws, while also grabbing a game-high 19 rebounds. Junior forward Amanda Frantz netted 15 points on five field goals and five foul shots, senior center Jolene Brenneman contributed six points and three steals, and sophomore guard Lyndsi Butler recorded six points and forced seven steals.

Hancock's Alicia Bernard netted a game-high 21 points while teammate Carrie Beaver added seven points.

Despite bidding farewell to Frazee and Brenneman, the Huskies return some fine depth for next season. Four starters will be back, including standout forward Amanda Frantz. The squad should boast some of the best height in the region, as the 5-10 Frantz will be joined by fellow 5-10 frontcourt players Weimer and Kelly Stein. Some fine junior varsity players will likely be making the transition to the varsity ranks, including current sophomores Kayla, Karie, and Carissa Kamp, and current freshmen Jeseca Gibson, Jaclyn Folk, Megan Shaffer, and Tiffany Yoder.

HANCOCK (44)

Former Husky, Ram Fare Well For FSU Bobcats

Two Garrett County student athletes helped the Frostburg State University women's track and field team to a third-place finish in the Mason-Dixon Conference Indoor Championships, held Saturday at Christopher Newport University, Newport News, Va. The event included seven teams.

Northern High School graduate Trista Smith, a sophomore at FSU, captured third place in the weight throw with a toss of 33'3.5", while Southern High alum Beth Sauder finished sixth in the 1,500-meter run with a time of 5:28.01.

Results Of Rec League Contests Are Announced

Teams sponsored by Mettiki Coal Company, Quality Machine, and Patterson Boat Company were all winners on Sunday in Recreational Basketball League action.

Mettiki defeated Garrett Mine Supply, 63-51, behind a 22-point effort by Stan Skiles. Ryan White led Garrett Mine with 13 points.

Mike Harvey netted 20 points and Oliver Jones added 15 to pace Quality Machine to a 63-56 win over Monumental Insurance Company. Donnie Nelson and Billy Braithwaite each scored 17 points to lead Monumental.

Patterson Boat earned its victory over Markwood Citgo, 67-57, with Max Hill hitting a game-high 22 points for the winners, and Mike Fazenbaker close behind with 18. Scott Shahan and Rick Selders scored 20 and 16 points, respectively, for Markwood.

Games slated for this week will pit Mettiki against Monumental at 6 p.m., Markwood vs. Garrett Mine Supply at 7 p.m., and Patterson Boat against Quality Machine at 8 p.m.

Jet Cheerleader Clinic, Try-Outs Slated March 4-8

Smiley's Edges Plaza Hobby In Mt. Top Contest

The team sponsored by Smiley's rallied to edge the Plaza Hobby squad, 80-78, in the only Mountaintop Basketball League game that was played this past Sunday.

Plaza Hobby led throughout most of the game, and were up by seven points with just two minutes to play; however, a pair of costly turnovers were turned into back-to-back buckets by Smiley's Scott Shahan and Mike Harvey to narrow the Plaza lead to three points. A missed shot by Matt Davis then gave Smiley's the last possession in regulation.

A three-pointer at the buzzer by Joe Refosco sent the game into overtime with the score knotted at 69-69. Smiley's scored the first four points of the overtime period, forcing Plaza to foul. Smiley's converted seven of 12 free throws in the three-minute OT period to ice the victory.

The winning team was led in scoring by Mike Harvey with a game-high 26 points, while Refosco netted 21, Shahan hit 13, and Jonathan Price contributed 10. Pacing five Plaza Hobby players in double figures was Jon Hegeman with 18 points, followed by Mike Fazenbaker and Jason Finch with 17 each, Jeremy Keller with 13, and Matt Davis with 12.

Games slated for this Sunday, March 3, will be played at Garrett Community College because of a conflict with gym schedules. ConDoerr will face Midas at 3 p.m., 84 Lumber will play Plaza Hobby at 4 p.m., and Skiles will meet Smiley's at 5 p.m.

ADVANCING TO THE SEMIFINALS of the Class 1A West Region high school boys' basketball tournament are the Southern High Rams, who defeated visiting Boonsboro Tuesday night in a quarterfinal round. Sharing scoring honors for the Rams with Dennis Tressler was senior guard Chad Panther, pictured above left in the midst of a textbook jump shot. They each finished with 14 points. Also identifiable in the photo (from left) are Southern's Bryson Meyers (#40), J.B. Murphy (#25), and D.R. Parsons (#22). Tressler is pictured at right putting up a shot, while Parsons positions himself for a potential rebound. The Rams, who have won their last 17 consecutive games, will continue their quest for their first state title this evening when they meet Hancock in a West Region semifinal, to be played at Allegany High School in Cumberland. Photos by John McEwen.

Rams Top Boonsboro To Reach Region Semifinals

A quest for the first state basketball championship in the history of the school remained alive and well this week for the Southern High School boys' varsity and Coach Tom Bosley, as the Rams recorded their 20th victory with a convincing 65-42 win over Boonsboro in a quarterfinal game of the West Region tournament, played at Southern Tuesday evening.

The Rams, who have recorded their fourth straight 20-win season, their third area championship, and a record 17 consecutive games, will also be a slight favorite this evening in a semifinal clash with Hancock, to be played at Allegany High School.

After a rather slow start against Boonsboro on Tuesday, the Rams used a 20-6 scoring spurt in the second quarter to take control of the game and never look back. The Warriors (6-17) recorded the first four points of the game, and the score was knotted at 10-10 at the end of the first period.

Senior guard Chad Panther led the charge in the second quarter by scoring eight of his team's 20 points. He and Dennis Tressler shared scoring honors for the game with 14 points each.

As has been the case in a number of games this season, it was outstanding performance from the free-throw line that accounted for the margin of victory. Each team finished with 19 baskets, but the Rams converted 27 of 33 free throws (82%), while Boonsboro had only six opportunities at the line and made good on two of them.

The Rams hit 17 of 18 foul shots in the second half, including four each from Panther, Tressler, and Ricky Reams. The Rams took a commanding 44-26 advantage into the final period.

Bryson Meyers contributed nine points and a game-high nine rebounds for the Rams, while J.B. Murphy also hit nine points. Panther also dished out four assists.

Nathan Himes was the top scorer for the Warriors, as he recorded 13 points, while Lonnell Smith also reached double figures with 11.

Another achievement by Southern this season is another Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship, this year with a perfect 10-0 record in WMIL games. The Rams have won or shared the league title in four of the last five seasons. They also have an impressive four-season record of 81-16 under Coach Bosley, now in his 16th season with the Rams.

The Panthers of Hancock High School are enjoying their most successful regular season ever, and earned a spot in the semifinals by defeating Westmar, 90-81, on Tuesday. That contest featured 23 three-point goals, with Brandon Fling hitting a team-high 27 points and John Poffenberger netting 18. Fling also leads the Hagerstown area in rebounding with over a dozen per contest, and is averaging just over 20 points per outing. Chris Wills is averaging 18 ppg.

Tonight's game, then, will feature a high-powered offense facing the area's top defense (Southern), as the Rams have allowed 50 points or fewer in 12 of their last 13 games. The Rams have played Hancock just four times in the past, and won all four of those encounters. Their last meeting, which ended with a 59-41 Ram victory, was also in last year's regional semifinals, played at Allegany.

The winner of tonight's contest will meet the winner of the Beall-South Hagerstown game on Saturday evening to determine the region champion.

Huskies Chased From Region Playoffs By Wildcats, 74-46

The Northern High School boys' basketball team dropped its Class 1A Region playoff opener Friday night at Westmar by a 74-46 margin. The Huskies fell prey to a strong Wildcat defense, as NHS was not able to land a single player in the double-figure scoring column.

The hosts jumped out to a 26-14 first quarter lead, and had the contest in hand by the half as Northern was down by a 44-28 margin.

NHS's woes continued through the rest of the contest, as Westmar went up 65-37 en route to its 28-point victory.

Senior forward Josh Swandol closed out his Northern career with a team-high nine points, while sophomore Jason Rice hit two three-pointers on his way to eight points. Andrew Frantz, also a sophomore, tied for Husky runner-up scoring honors with eight points, and junior forward Aaron Mitchell and senior center Jensen Long each contributed seven points.

Westmar (9-14) got a strong team performance, as the scoring tandem of Curtis Broadwater and Bobby Alkire netted 24 and 21 points, respectively. Alkire bombed away for five three-pointers, and Broadwater hauled down 12 rebounds. Andrew Nicol handed out a game-high 15 assists, and Jason Wampler snagged 10 rebounds and seven steals.

Northern's season has drawn to a close with the Huskies recording a 6-17 mark for the year.

SHS Jayvees Fall To Lions In Final Game

The junior varsity team of Southern High School concluded a successful season last Thursday at Tucker County, despite falling to the Mountain Lions, 57-45. It was the fourth encounter between the Rams and the Lions this season, with each team garnering two victories.

Leading the Rams' scoring was freshman Cory Bosley with 14 points, while sophomore Anthony Ablonczy and Corey Tressler, also a freshman, each hit 10 points. Adam Helmick netted a game-high 15 points to pace the Mountain Lions.

The Southern jayvees, who are coached by Jim Bosley, finished with a 14-6 record.

Huskies Finish Second In Regional Wrestling Tourney

Of the 13 regional 1A/2A high school wrestling champions from the West Region (Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties), three of them are from Northern High School and one is from Southern High School. The tournament was held Friday and Saturday at Fort Hill High School in Cumberland.

The Northern Huskies captured second place as a team in the 17-team tournament with 128.5 points, while the Southern Rams finished 12th with 38 points. Williamsport won the team title with 138 points, followed by Northern, Francis Scott Key, North Hagerstown, and Beall.

The top four finishers in each weight class qualify for the Maryland State 1A/2A Championships, which will be held this weekend at Western Maryland College in Westminster. Northern will send six grapplers, while Southern had three qualifiers.

Winning individual championships for Northern were Pete Stein in the 125-pound class, Darric Kamp at 145 pounds, and Trey Brenneman in the 275-pound division. Southern's Chris Hayhurst was the regional champion in the 140-pound division.

Stein, who entered the tournament seeded third in the region with a personal record of 18-4, recorded a pin in his first match over Jim Weishaar of Francis Scott Key (14-6), topped Devin Hewitt of Williamsport (23-4) on points, 2-0, and then upset top-seeded sophomore Day Caywood of Walkersville with a 3-0 decision. Caywood entered the finals with a personal mark of 31-0.

Kamp was impressive in his path to a regional title, as he pinned all three of his opponents, including Scott Hale of Brunswick, 22-6 Tim Mulford of Walkersville, and Scott Greenwald (19-5) of North Hagerstown.

Brenneman matched Kamp's effort in the unlimited division, as he too pinned all three of his opponents. They were David Dayhoff of Allegany, Ralph Stambaugh of Francis Scott Key, and 24-9 Jim Stambaugh of Walkersville.

Earning a second place for Garrett County and the Huskies was Dan Ganoe, who worked his way into the finals of the 135-pound class by decisioning Ryan Bowers of Williamsport and 20-6 Brandon Durney of Beall. He lost on points to 29-1 Brandon Ashby of South Hagerstown in the title bout.

Earning third places for the Huskies by winning their consolation finals were Mitchell Guard in the 140-pound division and Jordan Brenneman in the 152-pound category. Guard was bumped into the consolation matches by being edged by Colin DeVore of Beall, 5-4, in his first match. He then rallied to defeat Tommy Swope of Francis Scott Key, 4-2, and then won a rematch with DeVore, 7-2, to take the third-place trophy.

Brenneman topped Jeremiah Diehl of Westmar in his first match, 9-7, was pinned by 24-4 Dustin McDonough of North Hagerstown, then got another shot at Diehl in the consolation final and recorded a lopsided 16-0 victory.

Taking a fourth place for the Huskies was Kris Knox in the 160-pound division, while Joe Ashby of Southern placed fourth in the 125-pound division.

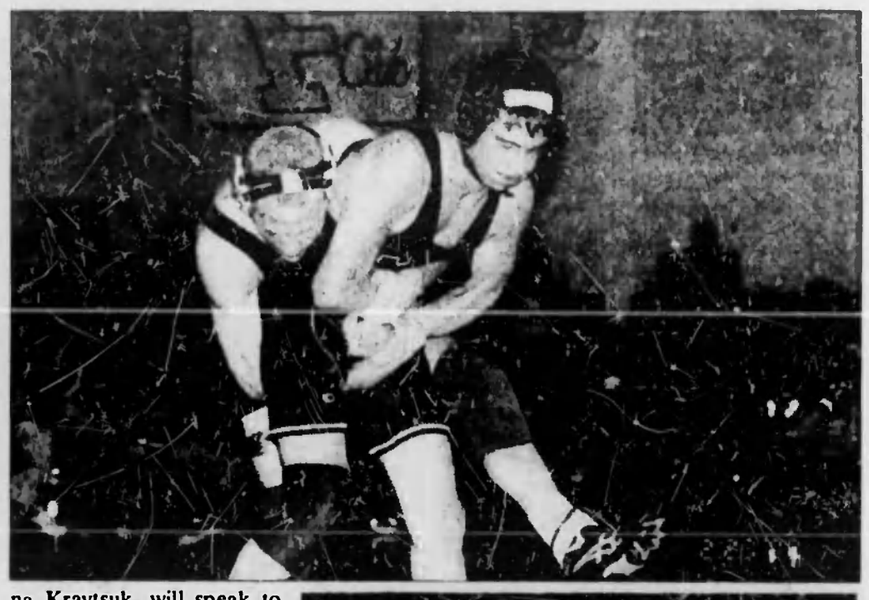
REGIONAL CHAMPIONS - Three members of the Northern High School wrestling team and one member of the Southern High team were among 13 champions in the Maryland 1A/2A West Regional Championships, held Friday and Saturday at Fort Hill High School in Cumberland. As a team the Northern Huskies placed second among 14 in the competition, while the Southern Rams finished 12th. Capturing the title in the 275-pound division was Northern's Trey Brenneman, who controls Jason Stambaugh of Walkersville in the photo above left. Brenneman, whose personal mark for this season is 27-2-0, recorded three straight pins in the regional event. Above right, Northern Husky Pete Stein works to record a tough 3-0 decision over Day Caywood of Walkersville, who was seeded first in the state in the 125-pound division and came into the tourney with a perfect 29-0 record. Stein, who was seeded third, now has a 21-4 record for this season. Below left, Darric Kamp of Northern (26-5) records his third pin of the regional tournament to win the title in the 145-pound division. He pinned Scott Greenwald of North Hagerstown to win the championship. Below right, Southern High's Chris "Mo" Hayhurst is momentarily tied up by Travis Brown of Williamsport in the finals of the 140-pound division, but then pins Brown to win the title. Hayhurst, who is 23-7 so far this season, also recorded three consecutive pins in the tourney. In the bottom photo, Dan Ganoe of Northern scores points against Brandon Ashby of Hagerstown in the finals of the 135-pound division. Ganoe was the runner-up in that division, falling to the 30-1 Ashby on points. Other top finishers/state tournament qualifiers for the Northern were Mitchell Guard (140 pounds) and Jordan Brenneman (152), who each placed third, and Kris Knox (160), who finished fourth. Joe Ashby (125) also qualified for Southern, placing fourth. Photos courtesy of Del Carpenter.



Jesse Broadwater Wins Second In Archery Tourney

Jesse Broadwater, a senior at Northern High School, recently won second place in the World Archery Festival held at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev. The tournament is touted as offering the largest prizes for an indoor archery competition.

About 1,300 people competed in the event. In Broadwater's class, which is the adult open championship, there were approximately 180 competitors. Counting "super X's," Broadwater's score was the highest overall. A super X is a smaller, dime-sized circle inside the X ring on the target. A "shoot-off" was needed, however, to determine the winner among those who had shot all X's. Broadwater and another competitor were the only two who had done so. Broadwater came in second after missing only one super X. He not only won the second-place purse, but Hoyt Bow Company also signed him up to shoot on its professional staff.

He will be competing in state competition in March. In April, Broadwater will travel to Kansas City, Mo., for the Indoor Nationals and to New Jersey for the Atlantic City Archery Classic.

The young archer has won many tournaments during his career, including seven state, five nationals, and one world competition, setting many records along the way. He is the son of Tom and Brenda Broadwater, Frostburg, who also compete and coach beginner and advanced shooters. Jesse's older brother Tommy competes as well. The Broadwaters are owners of Champion Archery Bow Shop, located along Old Frostburg Road.

WINS SECOND PLACE AT WORLD FESTIVAL — Jesse Broadwater, a senior at Northern High School, placed second in the World Archery Festival in Las Vegas, Nev. The indoor archery tournament took place Feb. 14, 15, and 16 at the Riviera Hotel and offered some of the biggest prizes available for this type of event. Broadwater, who competes in the adult open championship class, missed first place by only one super X — a dime-size circle inside the X ring on a target. He was signed by the Hoyt Bow Company to shoot on its professional staff. See story for more details.

Arsenal Teams Participate In W.Va. Tourney

Arsenal Football Associates (soccer) teams participated in the Soccer-In-Schools Tournament at the Caperton Center of West Virginia University, Morgantown, this past weekend.

Arsenal's U-16 girls' team finished with a 1-2 record, falling to Hagerstown and St. Thomas Moore of Pittsburgh, and defeating the Preston Knights, 3-0. Shar Hollingsworth, Jasmine Scheffel, and Melissa Rohrbaugh each scored a goal, while Scheffel, Hollingsworth, and Vanessa Logan each had an assist. Kailee Craig recorded 33 saves in goal for Arsenal in the three matches combined.

In the U-12 boys' division, Arsenal dropped all three matches, but scored in each. Michael Rosecky had two goals and Andrew McCreery recorded one, while Michael Kozier had an assist. Royce Warnick had 14 saves in goal for the tournament.

The Arsenal U-12 girls' team played short-handed, but was competitive in all three of its games. Morgan Anderson and Holly Logsdon shared time as goalkeepers.

The local U-14 boys dropped all of its matches. Brent Carnell had 19 saves, and Logan Craig collected 14.

The Arsenal U-18 boys finished with an 0-3-1 record, with the draw coming against Mt. Pleasant. Bryan Schwalm notched the lone goal for Arsenal off a feed by Riff Browning. Ben Friend had 13 saves and Sean Buckle had four.

A spokesperson for the club said that participation in more challenging tournaments is key to the development and progress of the Arsenal squads. "It is in tournaments of this caliber that our players can see what they can become, as it tests their current level of development," he said.

Arsenal will compete in a tournament at East Fairmont (W.Va.) High School in mid-March. The outdoor season will begin April 7.

urity issues that will face their nations in the years ahead.

Following a luncheon at the college, the visitors will hear Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic and student affairs, address them briefly about the community college movement in America and how two-year colleges can adapt their curricula to meet the needs of their community. The guests will then be divided into smaller groups based on the language they speak — English, German or Russian — for tours of the college. Two of GCC's students from Estonia who speak Russian, Marina and Tatjana Kravtsuk, will speak to the group from their perspective as international students at GCC and will also be tour guides for the Russian-speaking group.

Riley, who met with Dean Mitchell earlier this month to plan the visit, said that he finds his work at the center very gratifying as he is helping to make the world a better and more stable place and striving to achieve the goal stated in the logo of the Marshall Center — "Promoting peace through understanding."

Arriving at noon on Saturday, the group will: tour Garrett Community College and be addressed by Estonian students; visit a family dairy farm; meet with local government officials plus fire and rescue volunteers; and be served a turkey and roast beef dinner complete with apple pie at the Oakland fire hall.

THE MAKINGS OF A LAKER FAST BREAK are apparent in this photo from Garrett Community College's second-round Women's JUCO Tournament 87-55 loss to visiting Frederick Friday night. GCC forward Donna Lyles, right, has just ripped down one of her team-high 13 rebounds under the Cougars basket, and is ready to start the break rolling with a short pass to guard Kaybee Ball, herself just a pass away from beating all five Frederick defenders in the race down the floor to a Laker lay-up. Among possible targets for the second pass are forward Charlene Reaves, near background, and guard Christi Edgell, far background. Edgell (#23) is shown below to the left launching a 10-foot jumper over the outstretched hand of a Cougar defender, and guard Crystal Kimble (#22), below right, is pictured going up for a bucket in heavy traffic. Kimble and forward Mindy Miller paced the Lakers' scoring effort with 14 points each. GCC closes its regular season at 7 p.m. in McHenry tonight against Potomac State.

Cougars' Second-Half Pounce Bounces GCC From JUCO Play

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team had an upset in its sights through the first of Friday's second-round JUCO Tournament battle with heavily favored Frederick, but the Cougars roared back in the second stanza to down the Lakers 67-55.

GCC, which had stunned the visitors by jumping out to a 33-21 halftime advantage, did not relinquish its lead in the hard-fought conference playoff contest until there were less than 10 minutes left to play. Garrett was outscored over the entire second half by a 46-22 margin.

Guard Crystal Kimble and forward Mindy Miller paced the Lakers' effort with 14 points each. Both players hit a pair of three pointers during the outing, as did guard Christi Edgell, who turned in 12 points. Forward Donna Lyles ripped down 13 rebounds.

Frederick got a double-digit effort from three players as well. Heather Renner led all scorers with 18 points on six field goals, four coming from three-point range, and four free throws, while Laura Jobe added 14 points and Emily Middlekauff contributed 12 points. Middlekauff's scoring came on one field goal and a 10-for-18 performance from the foul line, with many of those free throws coming down the stretch to help her team put the game on ice.

Garrett had been forced to foul over the closing minutes as the Lakers attempted to get the ball back, and lost Kimble, Miller, Kendal, and Lyles in the process, crippling any hopes of a GCC comeback.

In other second-round games of Friday, Hagerstown beat Essex 66-60, Harford downed Prince George's 76-70, and Rockville defeated Catonsville 81-74. Saturday's semifinals saw Hagerstown take a 97-80 win from Harford, while Rockville beat Frederick 74-69. Hagerstown took Sunday's JUCO title match-up from Rockville in convincing fashion, 84-57.

Garrett's Lakers (13-14) will shoot for a .500 season tonight as Potomac State visits in the regular campaign closer. Tip-off is set for 7 p.m. The homecourt McHenry crowd will be bidding farewell to departing sophomores Kimble, Lyles, Edgell, and Donielle Gaines.

The Lakers will then await the results of Monday's seed drawings for the Women's Region XX Tournament, which will take place Friday through Sunday, March 8-10, at Frederick. The eventual Region XX champ will advance to the NJCAA Women's National Tournament, scheduled for Wednesday through Saturday, March 20-23, at Hagerstown.

IT'S NEVER TOO EARLY — Though it's only February, some local outdoors enthusiasts are donning their waders and heading into cold river rapids. Fly-fishing season may be a bit longer this year thanks to the milder winter temperatures, and both novice and avid anglers have been able to wade into the ice-free (but still cold) waters to cast a line weeks earlier than in most years. Since it is no longer a secret that Garrett County has some of the finest fly-fishing rivers in the East, which regularly yield record trout, more men and women are coming to the area each year to try their wrists at this sport. Though experienced with a fishing rod, Regina Sweitzer, left, is anxious to learn the art of fly-casting and listens to the advice of angler Don Hershfeld as he guides her on her first fly-fishing outing on the Youghiogheny River. MICKEY'S BOYS BAND was formed in 1934, sponsored by the local Baptist and United Brethren churches and directed by Harry S. Mickey, a native of Crellin who also formed a band there. The parents and friends served as band officials and provided transportation to the many functions and parades in which the band performed. A search is currently under way for trophies, prizes, and other band items that may exist so that they may be displayed in the Garrett County Historical Society Museum. Some artifacts that have been donated and are on display at the museum include the band's original bass drum (pictured below). The drum major was Norris Crites, who performed this job until he and several other members of the band left to serve in the U.S. military during World War II. Most of the original members returned to the band after the war. The band was moved to Oakland and a number of girls also joined. The photo above is of the original band, which included 47 boys. Pictured from left, front row, are: Ben Shaffer, Kenneth Teagarden, Ray Wrightaman, Dwight Gauer, director Harry Mickey, Kenneth Tichnel, and Harry Tusing. In the second row are: Fred Tichnell, Jay Bell, Richard Turney, Edward Kahl, Ralph Weeks, Daryl Bray, and Mava Speicher. In the third row are: Frank Junkins, Harry Turney, Wellington Welch, R. Creston Ford, Harry "Wimpy" Conddington, Carl Wonderly, and Bill Hahn. In the fourth row are: Rex Teagarden, Stanley Callis, Virgil Bernard, John Fitzwater II, George Coddington Jr., Harold Teagarden, and Reid Shipley. In the fifth row are: Melvin "Bus" Callis, Raymond Welch, Robert Taylor, Paul Custer, Lawrence Groves, and Ervin Liller. In the sixth row are: Willoughby "Bill" Callis, Henry "Brother" Gibson, Robert Ford, Bill Teagarden, and Robert Liller. In the seventh row are: Carl Callis, Carlton "Boob" Bittinger, Gordon Kemp, Arthur Bernard, Charlie Tusing, and Frank Custer. In the back center is Norris Crites.

Children's Book Author Will Be Speaker At FSU

As part of its Spring Author Series, the Children's Literature Centre at Frostburg State University will present author Linda Oatman High on Tuesday, March 12, at 7:30 p.m. in Tawes Hall Room 232.

Her presentation, titled "Writing to the Beat of a Different Drummer," will include her books Under New York, Winter Shoes for Shadow Horse, A Humble Life: Plain Poems, and The Last Chimney of Christmas Eve.

Noted for her poetic style, High is the author of numerous children's books. Her writings have appeared in such children's publications as Children's Digest, Hopscotch, and Highlights for Children. She frequently offers writing workshops and classes, presents a weekly radio program on Book Crazy Radio Network, and is a board member of the Highlights Foundation. Information about her books and workshops can be found on her web site www.lindaoatmanhigh.com.

For more information, persons may contact FSU's Children's Literature Centre at 301-687-4420 or visit the Web site at www.frostburg.edu/projects/clc.

Performance At FSU To Benefit The Dove Center

As part of the V-Day 2002 College Campaign, The Vagina Monologues will be presented at Frostburg State University on March 5 and 6 at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Drama Theatre, and a portion of the proceeds will benefit Garrett County's domestic abuse shelter, the Dove Center.

The Obie Award-winning play by Eve Ensler dives into the mystery, humor, pain, power, wisdom, outrage, and excitement buried in women's experience. Based on interviews with a diverse group of hundreds of women — from a Long Island antiques dealer to a Bosnian refugee — The Vagina Monologues explores questions often pondered, but seldom asked.

Called "a bona fide phenomenon" by the New York Times, the play has received acclaim throughout the world. Villard Books/Random House published The Vagina Monologues with a foreward by Gloria Steinem in February 1998. A special V-Day edition, including new sections about the College Campaign, was released in February 2001, with sold-out shows in New York featuring 70 of the most notable women of stage and screen.

V-Day is a global movement to stop violence against women and girls, with 800 benefits scheduled around the world for 2002. All proceeds from FSU's production of The Vagina Monologues will benefit the Cumberland's Family Crisis Resource Center, the Dove Center, and the Revolutionary Association of the Women of Afghanistan (RAWA). V-Day FSU 2002 is sponsored by FSU's Women's Studies program.

An information festival is scheduled at 7 p.m. before each show, and will feature the opening of the "Clothesline Project," a display featuring T-shirts bearing messages about violence against women. Attendees may also contribute to a raffle by bringing in a donation item from wish lists created by the beneficiaries. Information regarding items for the wish lists is available upon request.

Tickets for the play are $5 for students and $10 for non-students, and may be reserved by calling 301-687-7462. For more information, persons may contact Nicole Mattis at 301-687-3212.

ROTARY HELPS GLAF — The Oakland Rotary Club recently donated money to Garrett Lakes Arts Festival to help "continue the high-quality performances." Dave Roth, vice president of the Rotary, presents the check to Beth Johnson, executive director of GLAF. Johnson was a recent speaker at the Rotary club meeting. She outlined the programs for this coming season beginning with "FootWorks" on March 22.

Maryland Writers' Association Slates 2002 Conference

The Maryland Writers' Association will hold its annual writers' conference on Saturday, April 20, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Chesapeake Center for the Creative Arts, 194 Hammonds Lane, Brooklyn Park.

This year's keynote speaker will be award-winning author Nancy Kress. Author of 18 books in 13 languages, Nancy is a columnist for Writer's Digest magazine.

The annual conference gives writers the opportunity to hone their craft in sessions led by established authors, instructors, and motivational speakers. The sessions are geared to published writers as well as beginners in a wide range of subjects.

Conferees can meet one-on-one with top agents and editors at the conference. They may also take part in the Maryland Writers' Association and IstBooks.com's annual writing contest. Winners in several categories will be announced at the conference. The award recipients will see their works published as e-books or trade paperbacks by IstBooks.

Registration for the 2002 conference (which includes lunch) is $90 for MWA members, $105 for non-members, and $55 for full-time students. For more information concerning the 2002 Maryland Writers' Association Conference, or to learn more about MWA, persons may visit the web site at www.MarylandWriters.org. or call 410-975-3307.

FSU To Host Award-Winning Writer Gaines

The Frostburg State University Campus Activities Board will host a lecture by Washington Post reporter and novelist Patrice Gaines on Tuesday, March 12, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Lane University Center's Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall. Doors will open at 7:30 p.m., and admission is free.

A recipient of the National Association of Black Journalists Award, Gaines will discuss her career as an editor and her two books, Laughing in the Dark and Moments of Grace. She reveals the pain and agony she encountered and imposed on others in her life. "She gives life to issues that thousands of women have faced, but fear to discuss," stated an FSU spokesperson.

Laughing In the Dark, an autobiography, tells about Gaines's hardships while growing up. It gives insight on her transition from drug addict to successful editor/writer at the Washington Post. In Moments of Grace, Gaines attempts to empower her readers to persevere and strive to obtain the things in life that seem unobtainable. "This book was inspired by Gaines's tumultuous past of abuse and struggle. It also incorporates the experiences of others and how love, relationships, and religion play pivotal roles in the life-altering decisions that she made," the spokesperson said.

Book signings by the author will take place prior to the lecture and possibly after. The Campus Activities Board has a table set up in the Lane University Center for people to register for a chance to receive an official signed copy of Laughing In the Dark or Moments of Grace. Also, in cooperation with Main Street Books, her books may be purchased the evening of the lecture.

For more information, persons may contact the FSU CAB Office at 301-687-4151.

Philadanco! And Irish Tenors To Perform At FSU

Local persons may be able to escape the late winter doldrums at Frostburg State University when Philadanco! and Three Irish Tenors come to campus in March as part of FSU's Cultural Events Series.

The pioneering dance company, Philadanco!, otherwise known as the Philadelphia Dance Company, will appear on Saturday, March 16, and Sunday, March 17, in the Performing Arts Center's Drama Theatre. Saturday's performance is set for 8 p.m., while Sunday's performance is a matinee at 2 p.m.

Known for its adventurous style that fuses ballet, modern, and ethnic dance influences, Philadanco! emphasizes innovative works by American choreographers in dramatic programs.

According to Dance magazine, "Philadanco's dancers are a miracle of skill and energy.... [They] can represent the possibilities of human spirit through dance."

This company from the "City of Brotherly Love" has performed at many world-renowned venues, including Lincoln Center, the Kennedy Center, Jacob's Pillow, and Madison Square Garden. Other performances include collaborations with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Louis Bellson Orchestra, and the Duke Ellington Orchestra.

Ticket prices are $15 for the general public and $8 for under 17. Discounted tickets are available for FSU staff and students.

This performance is partially supported by a grant from the Pennsylvania Performing Arts on Tour, a program developed and funded by the Vira I. Heinz Endowment; the William Penn Foundation; the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts, a state agency; and the Pew Charitable Trusts. It is administered by the Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation. This tour is also supported by a grant from the Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation in partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts Regional Touring Program.

Returning to campus after their sold-out Christmas in Dublin show in fall 2000, the Three Irish Tenors will perform two shows, set for

OTT Will Host Girls' Night Out This Saturday

In celebration of Women's History Month, Our Town Theatre will sponsor its annual Girls' Night Out Coffee House this Saturday, March 2, which will include an opportunity for women to demonstrate their musical and narrative talents. The coffee house will last from 8 to 11 p.m., and the cover charge is $2 per person.

The evening will include open-mike reading, poetry, monologues, and songs by Suzanne Gilbert, Liz Gilbert, Deirdre Kildow, Patty Brenneman, Judy Bertsch, and several other participants, including women who wish to perform on the spur of the moment. Numerous other activities are planned for the evening, and refreshments will be sold.

All proceeds from the coffee house will go to the OTT building fund for a costume shop and storage area. For more information, persons may call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

DUO TO PLAY AT SHAMROCKS & SWEETS — The brother-sister duo of Allegheny will be playing their special brand of music for the Habitat for Humanity's Shamrocks & Sweets fund-raiser on Saturday, March 16, at 7 p.m. at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Richard Kusy and Susan Welabrod play a mixture of traditional acoustic music, such as old-time and blues, contemporary songs and tunes, and several original compositions. Allegheny has performed at the Chautauqua held annually in McHenry and at Spruce Forest Artisan Village during Summer Festival & Quilt Show, in addition to numerous other appearances in western Maryland and West Virginia. They also play the first Friday of each month at Melanie's Family Restaurant in Aurora, W.Va. During the fund-raiser, they will play from 7 until 10 p.m., and will be donating a portion of their playing time to Habitat. Tickets for the event are $10 per person and can be purchased at the door or by calling the Habitat office at 301-334-9431, ext. 112.

Local Student Playing Lead In Peter Pan

Although Andrew Crowe, son of Linn and John Crowe, Mtn. Lake Park, is a senior violin performance major at Taylor University, Upland, Ind., he will be performing the lead role in the musical Peter Pan over the next two weeks at the university. Performances are scheduled for this weekend and the first weekend in March.

Crowe is a 1998 graduate of Preston High School, where he participated in a number of dramatic productions. He was also a member of the Oakland-based Ecumenical Youth Ministry, in which he played leads in You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown and Runaways.

While a student at Taylor, Crowe has had the opportunity to play with three orchestras and several string ensembles which have performed for weddings, dinners, and other functions. He has been first-chair violinist and concert master in the Taylor University Orchestra.

For the production of Peter Pan, Flying Illusions by ZFX Inc. of Las Vegas is supplying the rigging and training to "fly" the members of the cast. This is the same company that provided such services for the Broadway production of the play.

Other plays at Taylor University in which Crowe has had roles are: Marvin's Room, All I Really Needed to Know I Learned in Kindergarten, and Hamlet.

As part of his requirements for graduating with a major in violin performance, Crowe will be performing his senior recital later in the spring at Taylor. He will also be presenting this recital locally on Saturday, March 30, at Our Town Theatre for friends and local music lovers. His piano accompanist will be Richard Fountain from the music department at Taylor.

Crowe spent most of his childhood in Portugal, where his parents were involved in Christian ministry. He attended national schools there until his sophomore year of high school, when he attended Black Forest Academy in Germany. He spent his junior and senior years at Preston High School in Kingwood.

Grazing Event Set To Benefit Arts Festival

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival is planning an evening of "Amazing Grazing" to benefit GLAF on Saturday, April 13, from 6 until 9:30 p.m., at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

During the evening, supporters and guests will be able to sample, or "graze" on many different foods. This year the theme is "Regional American Cooking," which will feature foods from the Southwest, New England, and the Deep South. There will also be a selection of wines, beers, margaritas, and mint juleps.

Several types of entertainment will also be offered, along with a silent auction of a variety of fine wares and services from area businesses.

All of this will be presented in an informal setting, and the price is $35 per person.

"We can all be artists in how we live our life, and Amazing Grazing is an especially artistic way to spend a few hours," said a GLAF spokesperson.

Tickets can be reserved by calling the GLAF office at 301-387-3082.

Friend's Art Selected For Exhibition

Melody Friend, an art student at Southern High School, recently had a photograph selected for the annual "Students in Service" statewide photo exhibition.

The Maryland Student Service Alliance of the Maryland State Department of Education is highlighting "Students in Service" as part of an awareness initiative to spread the news about the contributions students make to their communities through service-learning.

Each school system is asked to submit a black and white photograph of students engaged in service. The selected photos will be mounted for the photographic exhibit that will be displayed at the statewide service-learning conference and other venues.

She is the daughter of Jim and Debbie Friend, Swanton, and a student of Sonia Pratt.

FRIENDSVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Special music was presented Sunday by Jimmy Fox on the trumpet and Jane Fox on the piano. The acolytes were Raina Sines and Emily Manges.

The United Methodist Women met Tuesday, Feb. 19, with six members attending. The meeting opened with prayer and the program was titled "The Crucifixion and the Resurrection," given by Carol Frazee. Plans were made to serve the sunrise breakfast following the Easter sunrise service. They will also be serving breakfast for the Friend Association.

The youth will be taking orders for their homemade Easter candy again this year. To place an order, persons may contact Pastor Cathy at 301-746-5320.

There are children and youth activities in the church annex every Thursday from 6 to 7 p.m.

GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH

The Accident Lutheran Parish Lenten services will be held as follows: Wednesday, March 6, at St. John's in the Cove; March 13 at Zion Lutheran Church in Jennings; and March 20 at Grace Lutheran Church in Friendsville. Services will be held at 7 p.m. all three evenings.

Lenten services will also be held with the Grace Lutheran and Methodist churches combined on Thursday mornings at 11 a.m. Today's services were held at Grace Lutheran, and they will be held at the Methodist Church on March 7. Persons should bring a brown bag lunch.

Worship services at the Grace Lutheran Church are held every Sunday at 9:45 a.m. Communion is offered every third Sunday of the month.

RUSH BAPTIST CHURCH

There will be a planning meeting at the Deep Creek Baptist Church this Saturday, March 2, at 10 a.m. Topic of discussion will be the plans for the community block party to be held later this summer. Anyone interested in attending may contact the pastor.

Communion services will be held Sunday, March 3, during the morning worship. After the morning worship there will be a short VBS meeting. Anyone interested in helping with vacation Bible school is asked to stay.

The WMU will meet at the home of Jean Selby at 7 p.m. on Monday, March 4.

The Rush Baptist Church is continuing classes for new members for the next eight to 10 Sundays during Sunday school.

The youth of the church will have Youth Fun Night on Friday, March 8, beginning at 6:30 p.m. They will be making ice-cream floats. All youth and "the young at heart" are encouraged to attend.

A business meeting will follow the morning worship service on Sunday, March 10.

Two associational VBS clinics are coming up: March 14 at the Christ Memorial Church in Westernport at 7 p.m., and March 15 at the Second Baptist Church in Cumberland from 9 a.m. to noon. The puppets will practice every Wednesday evening beginning at 6:30. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Bible study and prayer meetings are held every Wednesday at 7 p.m.

FEW PEOPLE REALIZE that this Swanton house was at one time not only a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad hotel, but that it originally stood about a mile away from its present location. Carl Swaltzer, pictured, and his brother disassembled the hotel many decades ago, bundled the materials, hauled them on a road which they plowed with their own team of horses, and then reassembled the building on its present site, which at the time was owned by J.F. Friend. The structure, which contains a elegant walnut stairway, has been renovated several times. The extensions on the front and back of the building were added, as was the front porch and the present roof. The building was used as a hotel on its original site along the railroad tracks in Swanton from 1900 until about 1926.

Supper Set At Swanton Center

A buckwheat cake and sausage supper will be served at the Swanton Community Center on Saturday, March 9, beginning at 4 p.m. Pancakes will also be available. The cost for a supper is $5 for adults, $2.50 for children 6 and older, and free for those 5 and under. All proceeds are used to support the many community service projects of the center.

To Perform

7:30 p.m. on Monday, March 18, and Tuesday, March 19, in the Performing Arts Center's Pealer Recital Hall.

Ciaran Nagle of "Riverdance" fame, Anthony Norton from La Scala Milan, and Tom Cregan from Royal Covent Garden will share the stage with soprano Jacqueline Whelan, accompanying herself on Irish harp, along with seannachi (storyteller) Jimmy Kennedy and a host of Irish dancers and musicians.

The program will help the audience celebrate St. Patrick's Day, with traditional favorites like "Danny Boy," "Galway Bay," and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," along with the delicate sounds of the harp, tall tales, and lively Irish reels, jigs, and step dance.

Ticket prices are $15 for the general public and $8 for under 17. Discounted tickets are available for FSU staff and students.

Dinner theatre specials are available at the following dinner theatre partner restaurants: Fratelli's Italian Restaurant; Giuseppe's Itahan Restaurant; JB's Steak Cellar; Leone's Italian Restaurant; and Oxford House. Each special includes a uniquely designed meal with non-alcoholic beverages, tax, and gratuity. Dinner theatre specials can be purchased through the CES Box Office.

For information and ticket purchases, and for dinner-theatre times, menu selections, and reservation purchases, persons may contact the FSU CES Box Office Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 301-687-3137 or toll free at 1-866 TIXX CES. Order requests can also be faxed to 301-687-7049 or e-mailed to CES@frostburg.edu. Based on availability, tickets may also be purchased at the Performing Arts Center Box Office one hour prior to the performance. For information and ticket availability on the day of the show, persons may call 301-687-4411. All patrons must have a ticket, and all ticket sales are final.

The Cultural Events Series is supported in part by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council, an agency funded by the State of Maryland and the National Endowment for the Arts. Additional information can be obtained by visiting Frostburg State University's Cultural Events Series web site at www.frostburg.edu/events/ees.

Garrett County Chamber of Commerce UPDATE

Home of Deep Creek Lake

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce board of directors held its monthly meeting at the Visitors Center Jan. 17, presided over by chamber president Jonathan "Smiley" Kessler.

The board was given a packet of newspaper, Internet, and magazine articles about Garrett County, which have resulted from recent public relations efforts. Included were items from Blue Ridge Country; Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; Queen Anne's Record Observer; Fishing & Hunting Journal; Recreation News; The Dominion Post; The Baltimore Sun; The Daily Record; Southern Living; and The Washington Diplomat.

Chamber president Ken Wishnick told board members that Hannah Byron, head of the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, has accepted the chamber's invitation to have her executive staff spend two days in our county. They were to be here on Jan. 29-30 for a "winter visitor experience." Wishnick reported that he is working with Genesis Publishing on the development of a logo for our vacation destination. The concept is to encourage all tourism related businesses in the county to utilize this common "branding" logo to build a sense of unity to visitors, he explained, adding that it could be used on everything from ads, to Internet home pages, to store signage, and souvenir items. Wishnick showed early concept designs to the board.

Steve Green, chair of the Recreational Trails Task Force, told the board that the group is moving ahead with the development of a countywide master plan for the trail network, the first leg of which is slated to run from Deep Creek Lake State Park to Wisp Mountain Resort. The group has recommended a consultant to provide the engineering work for this initial phase. The county commissioners will review this candidate and make a final decision. The task force includes members of the Department of Natural Resources, the Office of Planning and Zoning, the State Planning Office, and the State Highway Administration. "We are also working on the section of trails that will spider web up toward Grantsville," Green noted.

Deb Clatterbuck, the chamber's marketing manager, reported that the travel show season is now under way. She and her staff attended the Fly Fishing Exposition in College Park. "The Garrett County booth was the hottest ticket there," she reported. Clatterbuck had a mounted Garrett County-caught brown trout on display and noted that it was larger than the prize-winning Alaska brown trout.

Clatterbuck also told board members that she did not "get the sense" that the public is shying away from vacationing in the wake of the Sept. 11 events. "Show attendees were planning to do the things they normally do," she said. To help track trade show results, chamber members are being offered the opportunity to send coupons along to each show at no cost. "This is a significant advertising opportunity for our local businesses," Clatterbuck added.

Board member Bill Meagher presented options for the reprinting of the county map. The board agreed that the new map should have only four small ads from major sponsors, who will each contribute $5,000.

On a recommendation of treasurer Jim Murray and Wishnick, the board tentatively approved a recommendation that First Data Merchant Services provide discount credit card processing for chamber members. Wishnick is to negotiate final terms of a contract with the vendor.

The board voted to hold the chamber's annual dinner meeting on June 6.

The following new members were approved: U.S. Cellular, Rod Barker, LaVale; Spring Creek Outfitters, owner Harold Harsh, McHenry; Genesis Publishing & Advertising, owner Kimberly Scott Carl, Towson; Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc., Susan Athey-Oxford, Oakland; Country Acres Retreat, owner Elmer Maust, Accident; Good Timber Bed & Breakfast, owners Vianne and Michael Bell, Oakland; The Lodge, owner William R. Murry, Chicago, Ill.; and I.A. Zakaluzny, MD, FACS, FRCSC, Oakland.

The next chamber board meeting was scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 21, 8 a.m., at the Visitors Center, McHenry. The meetings are open to the public.

Conservancy Acquires Over 1,100 Acres

In separate transactions that protected a total of 1,103 acres, the Nature Conservancy of Maryland/D.C. has acquired two western Maryland wetlands located on opposite sides of Meadow Mountain in Garrett County. North Cherry Creek Bog and Wolf Swamp are home to mountain peatland and red spruce forest communities, natural habitats usually found farther north in the United States, according to the Conservancy.

"Biologically, Maryland is a border state — We have many species here at the edge of their ranges," said Doug Samson, director of Conservation Science for the Nature Conservancy. "In western Maryland, because of the mountains' cooler temperatures, we get northern species more commonly found in New England and Canada, like the saw-whet owl and the larch. Out on the Eastern Shore, due to the moderating influences of the Chesapeake Bay and Atlantic Ocean, we tend to get southern species at the top of their range." The result, according to Samson, "is an unusual, and interesting, mix."

The Rock Lodge Trust sold its 1,620 acres of North Cherry Creek Bog, located just north of Deep Creek Lake, to the Nature Conservancy and Oakland-based Wood Products, a local forest landowner and hardwood lumber manufacturer. The purchase being a joint acquisition, Wood Products bought the 760 acres of higher-elevation hardwood habitat for selective timbering, while the Nature Conservancy acquired and will independently manage the remaining 860 acres of lower, more ecologically valuable mixed forest and wetland.

Nine state-rare plants and animals are known to occur at North Cherry Creek Bog, and more species are expected to be discovered at the site once additional field surveys of the property have been completed. In addition, the bog is home to foraging black bears and river otters, along with the smallest songbird found on the East Coast, the golden-crowned kinglet, whose song skirts the upper limit of human hearing. Mature stands of red spruce and hemlock provide cool shade along the edges of the open bog and the forested wetlands farther upslope. In other parts of the state, hemlocks are under attack from the woolly adelgid, a parasitic insect that was accidentally imported to the United States in the 1940s.

"I have loved Garrett County and its natural beauty since coming to Rock Lodge as a young child," said Jessie Harris, who along with co-trustee Stuart Bloch, represent the Rock Lodge Trust. "There was no way that I would have considered selling this important wetland without assurance that it would be permanently protected. We are pleased that the Nature Conservancy will preserve the sensitive wetlands while the upland woods will continue to be selectively timbered by Wood Products in a responsible manner."

John Forman, vice president of resources for Wood Products, agreed. "We have been managing the forest on the Rock Lodge Trust property for over 30 years. The fact so many of Maryland's rare, threatened, and endangered species still exist there is proof that sound forest management is compatible with habitat conservation. We are pleased that we will be able to sustain our hardwood business into the future on the upland areas, and that the bog will be in the good hands of the Nature Conservancy."

Farther north in Garrett County in the Frostburg area, 243 acres of Wolf Swamp wetland were purchased by the Nature Conservancy from the Miller family. In combination with 26 acres already owned by the Nature Conservancy at Wolf Swamp, along with the holdings of Wolf Swamp neighbor Salem Children's Trust, the acquisition creates a continuous 739-acre corridor of protected natural area for the 19 state-rare plants and animals that thrive in the wetland habitats of this site.

The newly acquired land will remain accessible to the Salem Children's Trust, which uses the trails of the property for educational programs and recreation. "The swamp is a beautiful and fun place for our students to learn about nature and the outdoors," said Salem Children's Trust director Louise Richards. "We are very happy that the Nature Conservancy was able to ensure this property will remain preserved."

Mary Ruth Miller said she and her husband Max considered the property's value to Salem Children's Trust when selling the land to the Nature Conservancy. "It has always been a source of pride for us that our land could be a place of comfort and learning for the children, and we did not want them to lose that when we sold the property. When the Conservancy made a competitive offer, we knew immediately it was the best thing to do."

Nat Williams, director of the Nature Conservancy of Maryland/D.C., commented on the spirit of partnership that made the protection of North Cherry Creek Bog and Wolf Swamp possible. "We are fortunate in this state to have landowners like Rock Lodge Trust and the Miller family, people who for decades have been responsible stewards for their lands. And this same sense of stewardship is ap-

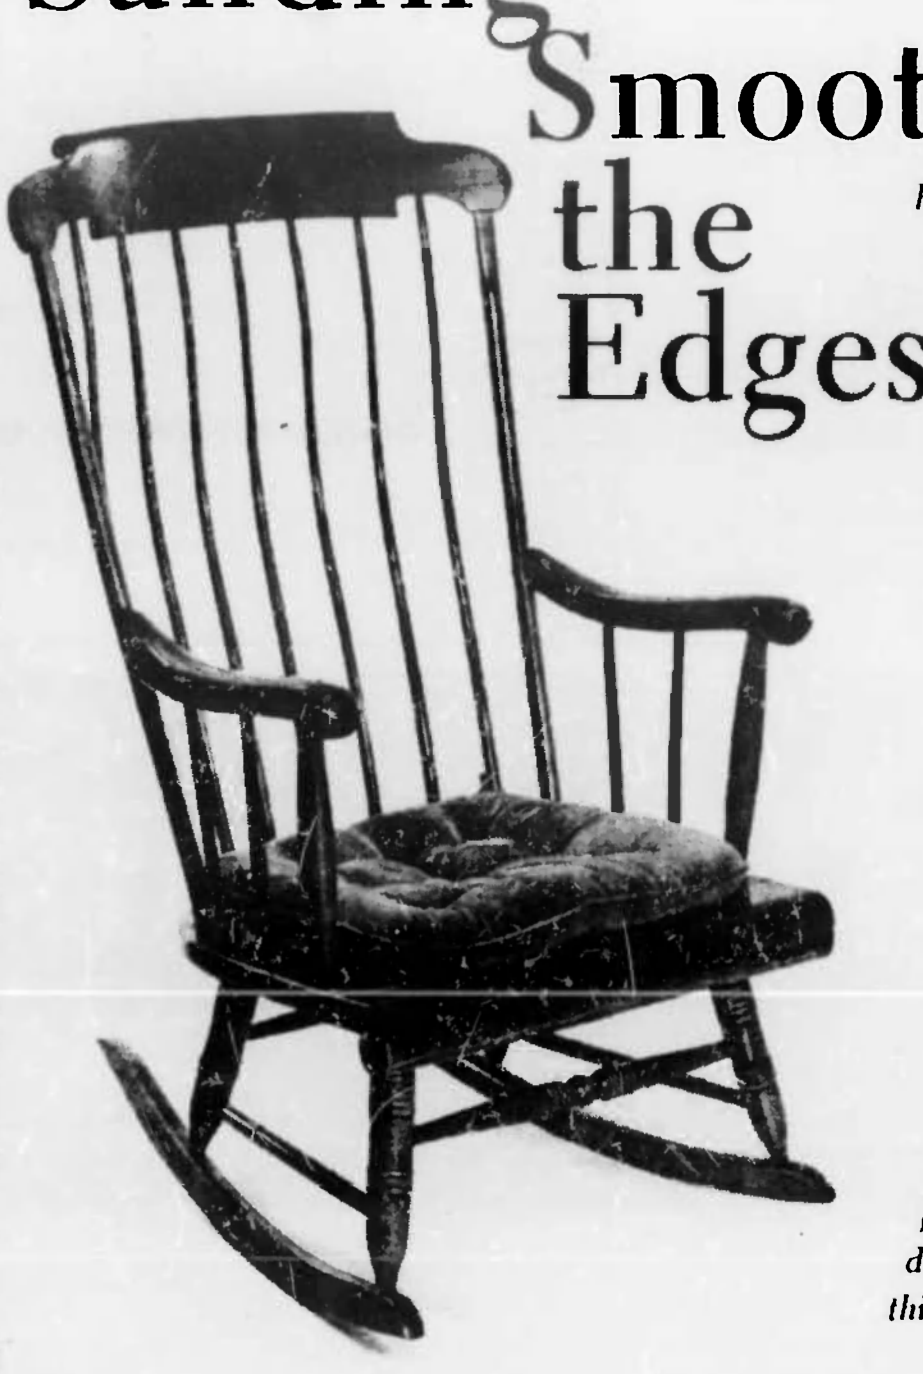
There is something exquisite about a piece of quality furniture... as smooth as marble to the touch... glowing with the sheen of a sculpted gem. Yet, each finished piece began as a tree in a forest made by the Creator. As breathtakingly regal that tree stands, God has given man the knowledge and skill to refine it into innumerable items of intense beauty. It is only through sawing down the tree, stripping the protective bark and sanding the rough wood with files and planes that the tree is crafted for further greatness.

Sanding Smooth the Edges



Sometimes harsh realities happen to those who seem to not deserve them, cutting into the heart. In our despair and human frailty, we may become angry at God, questioning His wisdom. Yet, perhaps as painful as it seems, He may be smoothing out our rough edges, preparing us for greatness. Swallowed by a massive whale, Jonah says in verse 2:7, "When my soul fainted within me, I remembered the Lord." The Lord delivered Jonah. The Lord will deliver you. Worship God this week.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE POWER

March 3, 2002

Background Scripture: Romans 1
Devotional Reading: Psalms 34:1-8

When, some twenty years after the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ, Paul wrote a letter to the church at Rome, he was at the apex of his missionary endeavor. He has traveled throughout Asia Minor preaching the gospel and establishing churches, as well as collecting a fund for the needy Christians of Jerusalem. Probably, while waiting in Corinth for an opportunity to take these funds to Jerusalem, Paul writes this epistle as a letter of introduction, for he hopes to stop in Rome on his way to making a missionary journey to Spain. This letter, Romans, would prove to be his longest, weightiest and most influential of all his epistles.

Paul realizes that the Christians in Rome, as adherents to a very minor religious movement, probably feel weak and insignificant in the midst of all the weighty trappings of Roman government and culture. Probably nowhere else in the world is power exalted and worshipped as in Rome. He knows that there must be times when Christians there are tempted to hide their faith in embarrassment and powerlessness.

Embarrassed Christians

Can you identify with that temptation? Are there times when you are embarrassed to be identified as a Christian, a follower of Jesus Christ who died on a cross in seeming failure? If you are not so tempted, it may be because the Christianity you practice is a vapid accommodation to the world in which you live. Let's face it, if we teach, preach and live the Good News of Jesus Christ, we are, more often than not, regarded as weaklings and dreamers. To teach forgiveness, to preach reconciliation and work for peace is seen by the world as the weakness of Christianity.

A young man is about to depart for a summer job in a Northwest logging camp. His home congregation is concerned for him, knowing that as a Christian in this rough, profane environment he will be subjected to intense pressures. When he returns home at the end of the summer, they want to know how his fellow workers reacted to his Christian commitment and he replied "No problem, they never suspected a thing!"

I suggest that many of us are like that young man, by the lives that we live in an unsympathetic society, no one would suspect that we are followers of Jesus Christ! Too often, we may act as if we are ashamed of the gospel. Incognito Christians are not Christians.

Gospel Dynamite

Paul, however tells the Roman Christians "For I am not ashamed of the gospel: it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who has faith..." (1:16). That which appears to the outside world as weakness is really the invincible power of God (See 1 Cor. 1:26-29, 2 Cor. 12:5, 13:4). Dynamis, the Greek word which our Bibles translate as "power" is suggestive of our words, "dynamite" and "dynamic." In the New Testament dynamis is used to designate a mighty work, a miracle performed by God's omnipotence.

So the good news of Jesus Christ is not weakness, but something dynamic, virtually dynamite, for it has the power to do what no earthly power can accomplish — salvation! No king, prime minister, president, military general, system of government, theory of economics, technology, political ideology or anything else in this world can provide us with permanent salvation—an eternal right relationship with God! But the gospel of Jesus Christ can! Everything else provides us with only a temporary rescue.

The man on the cross was and is the most powerful man who ever lived. Those who follow in his footsteps, do so, not in humiliating weakness, but in that which is the greatest power in the world. So, let us join with Paul in proclaiming "I am not ashamed of the gospel: it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who has faith..." And, may that power be in you and with you.

Medicines for Sleep-Related Problems

Requirements for sleep in healthy adults vary widely from 4 to 9 hours per night. Insomnia, a common sleep disorder, is a symptom, not a disease. With insomnia an individual has difficulty falling asleep or staying asleep. Lack of sleep during the night then may be associated with sleepiness during the day, fatigue, and memory difficulties. Signs and symptoms of age-related illnesses may increase. These include blood pressure problems, weight gain, and lack of control of diabetes.

Occasional sleeping problems often may be resolved with temporary use of over-the-counter products that contain antihistamines such as diphenhydramine or doxylamine. Any of the numerous prescription antidepressants help relieve sleep problems that are related to depression, or early morning awakening that may occur with panic attacks. Prescription benzodiazepine medicines are fast-acting and may help individuals who have trouble falling asleep. Newer medicines are becoming available which work in various ways to promote a good night's sleep. If an over-the-counter product fails to work for you, contact your physician.

TV PIPELINE

Millionaire awaits firm news of its fate

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Regis Philbin

Q: Has Who Wants to Be a Millionaire been canceled? –Sally Mazurek, Pinckney, Mich.

A: No, but ABC had not given the show a firm pickup for next fall as of this writing. In tougher time slots this season, the show hosted by Regis Philbin has suffered a double-digit dropoff in the ratings, and most of the viewers no longer watching are those young adults on whom advertisers are so single-mindedly focused these days.

Insiders say the show likely will air next season as a series of occasional specials with celebrity contestants competing for charity. Until ABC puts a deal on the table, Philbin's involvement is up in the air as well.

Q: What can you tell us about the young fellow who plays Steven in the Dell computer commercials? We love him. –P.S. Kline, Oxford, N.J.

A: I've received a mountain of mail about Ben Curtis, the 21-year-old newcomer whose goofy, gawky, yet oddly charming performance in those Dell commercials has scored a direct hit with viewers. A native of Chattanooga, Tenn., Curtis currently is studying acting at New York University and considering Hollywood prospects that have begun coming his way. The TV commercials may not give a sense of his dramatic range as an actor, but this kid clearly has charisma to burn.

Q: Will we not be getting another season of Six Feet Under on HBO? I loved this show! –H.O. Ward, Lowell, Mass.

A: You probably have seen the ads that started after you mailed your letter, but yes, the Golden Globe Award-winning drama series by American Beauty screenwriter Alan Ball returns for a second 13-episode season on HBO starting Sunday, March 3.

Q: I recently caught the old Burt Lancaster movie called The Swimmer and could swear I recognized Joan Rivers in it. Was she in other movies as well? –Arlene Benedetti via e-mail.

A: Yes. Rivers made her feature film debut in Lancaster's 1968 drama.

Other film and TV-movie credits in which she played a character other than herself include Rabbit Test (which she also wrote and directed), Spaceballs, How to Murder a Millionaire, Jackie Collins' Lady Boss, Goosed and The Intern, among others.

Q: Did Kevin Spacey play the original Willie Loomis in the old Dark Shadows serial? The name in the credits is John Hall, but I wondered if Mr. Spacey ever used that name. –Lana Brothers, Chico, Calif.

A: No, this is where basic math comes into play. When Hall first appeared as creepy Willie Loomis in 1967, Spacey was all of 8 years old. These are two different actors.

IN FOCUS

Sean Murray stars as Todd in UPN's The Random Years, premiering Tuesday, March 5.

The title refers to those post-college years when grads are trying to find good jobs and, in the case of the characters on this show, decent apartments. Considering that they live in Manhattan, that's a job in itself.

Three guys – Alex (Will Friedle), Wiseman (Joshua Ackerman) and Todd - have known each other since grade school and are now roommates. Wiseman's cousin Casey (Natalia Cigliuti) is their neighbor

WEDNESDAY

Mitzi Dolan (Frances Fisher) lives in the eerie town of Glory, where her son has returned to stir up the past in Glory Days, Wednesdays on The WB Network.

TAKING SCIENCE TO THE NEXT LEVEL — Many students who placed in the recent science fair at Northern High School will be taking their projects to the next level of competition when they participate in the regional science fair at Allegany College on March 22. At the school's fair, 160 students submitted projects for judging. The categories were behavioral and social sciences, biochemistry, botany, chemistry, computer science, earth and space science, engineering, environmental, math, medicine and health, microbiology, physics, and zoology. The students continuing on in the competition will compete against others from schools in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties. Northern has received at least half of all prizes awarded at the regional fair over the past eight years. The students pictured on this page won first, second, third, or honorable mention in their categories and will continue competition in the regional fair.

HEADED TO THE REGIONAL SCIENCE FAIR — The Northern High School students pictured on this page placed either first, second, third, or in honorable mention at the recent science fair held in the school's gym. These students will continue on in the competition when they compete in the regional science fair in March. In the front row, from the left, are Randall Frantz, Brandi Broadwater, and Erin Featherman. In the second row are Adam Sisler, Tim Glotfelty, Marybeth Hershberger, and Megan Ryan. In the third row are Andy Seibolt, Mike Moyer, and Derek Buckel.

ALSO HEADED TO THE REGIONAL FAIR ARE Tiffany Yoder and Yesha Patel. In the middle are Jordan Haisig, Kristin Hoffman, and Cortney Resh. In the back are Ben Winter, Brandi Wagner, Valene Synder, and Tessa Folk.

ADDITIONAL WINNERS ARE Jeremiah Wilt, Jamie Livengood, Ashley Boylan, Claire Sussman, and Mandy Geisler. In the back are Mitchell Guard, Chris Clever, Remington Friend, John Maxim, and Heather Lander.

MORE WINNERS INCLUDE Carissa Kamp, Heidi Hare, Sandi Beachy, and Melissa Patterson. In the back are Shaina Custer, Evan Graham, Caroline Stahl, and Delia Miller.

ALSO PLACING WERE Will Gallagher, Brian Uphold, Nick Miller, and Annie Winter. In the back are Robbie Glotfelty, Andrew Hady, Landon Southerly, and Michael Guard.

ALSO WINNING WERE Megan Zimmermann, Laura Costa, Andrea Opel, and Joanna Bissel. In the back row are Steve Rounds, Katie Buckel, and Anna Karleton.

More Marylanders Expected To Exhaust Unemployment Benefits

by Patrice Dickens
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON — The number of jobless Marylanders expected to exhaust their unemployment insurance benefits in the first six months of this year is up 59 percent over the same period last year, according to a report released recently.

The study by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities predicts that 21,000 Maryland workers run through their benefits by July, compared to 13,198 who used up their unemployment in the first six months of 2001.

Experts said that while Maryland's economy is still strong, with an overall unemployment rate of 4.1 percent in December, the center's report is an indicator that the economy is slowing down.

"This report is consistent with what we are seeing in Maryland," said Anirban Basu, senior economist at RESI, the consulting arm of Towson University. "Even though Maryland's economy is doing well compared to the national economy, it's not nearly as strong as it was two or three years ago."

A spokesman for the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation said the agency does not estimate the number of people who might use up their unemployment benefits, and he could not comment on the center's projections.

"There will be no talking of that until the time comes," said spokesman Marco Merrick.

The center released its report as Congress continues to consider legislation that would grant jobless workers another 13 weeks of benefits. Jobless workers can currently draw up to 26 weeks of unemployment insurance.

The center said that an unusually large number of people began drawing unemployment last fall, after the Sept. 11 attacks, and that many of them will likely be exhausting those benefits this spring. Nationwide, 2 million unemployed workers will exhaust their benefits in the first half of 2002, a pace of about 80,000 a week, the report said.

"But because the federal government has not provided additional weeks in this recession, the vast majority of those exhausting their regular benefits will receive no unemployment benefits to replace their lost wages unless Congress and the president take action," the report said.

It said Oregon and Washington already provide additional weeks of benefits to those who use up their regular benefits, and Wisconsin will begin providing additional weeks of benefits on March 3.

California has the largest number of workers who are expected to use up their regular benefits this spring, at 303,000.

Basu said these are tough times for many workers, given the stagnant labor market since 2000 nationally and since 2001 in Maryland. While the economy has been rebounding from the tragic events of Sept. 11, he said, "there are more difficult times ahead."

Garrett County SKIES

By Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

THE SUN — In early March, the sun shines for 11.3 hours each day, which grows to 12.6 hours in late March. March begins with 6:52 a.m. sunrises and ends with 6:04 a.m. sunrises. During March the sun's peak height rises from 43 degrees to 54 degrees (45 degrees is 1/2 of the way up from the horizon to top of sky). During March, sunsets advance from 6:10 p.m. to 6:41 p.m.

March 17 is break-even day, when day and night are equal, the sun rising and setting at 6:27. Spring officially begins on March 20 when the sun's vertical rays cross the equator, moving from south to north. On this day over most of the world, the sun rises due east and sets due west.

THE MOON — In early March, the evening moon makes a quick departure into the morning sky. The morning moon is last easily seen in the eastern dawn on the 9th. The moon returns to the western dusk on the 15th as a slender crescent. The crescent moon appears near the planet Mars on the 17th. The moon will also appear close to the planet Saturn on the 19th and to Jupiter on the 21st. The best time of the month to observe the moon's craters and mountains will be within a few days of March 21 when the moon will be about half full (like a letter "D") with the maximum amount of shadows. The moon is fullest on the evening of March 28.

THE BRIGHT PLANETS — Our five nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine more steadily than the twinkling night stars. But if a planet appears very close to the horizon or if it's windy, even the planet's light may flicker. March evenings feature the very bright planet Jupiter high in the south. To the right of Jupiter is the planet Saturn, appearing near the bright star Aldeberan (of Taurus). The planet Mars shines low in the western dusk as the month ends. The planet Mercury is at too low an angle to the sun to be seen in March.

MARCH'S BEST SIGHTS — In March, the great winter evening groups are dropping a bit lower each week in the western sky. Orion with his three-star belt is still impressive. The belt points left to Sirius, the night's brighest star. High above Sirius is the very bright planet Jupiter. The Big Dipper is impressive in the northern sky with its scoop up and handle dangling below. Late in the evening, the Dipper's handle can be extended outward to the bright golden star Arcturus.

MARCH ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES — For the first four Sundays in March the Frostburg State Planetarium will present "Sky Gazers of Ancient Asia" with free public showings at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. (There will be no Easter Sunday programs.) Also featured is a beginner's tour of the evening sky using our planetarium projector. These presentations typically last an hour. The Frostburg State Planetarium is just off the front lobby of Tawes Hall. The Cumberland Astronomy Club will meet on Friday, March 15, at the LaVale Public Library at 7:30 p.m. All interested sky gazers from the tri-state area are welcome.

Dr. Bob Doyle directs the planetarium at Frostburg State. Since the mid '70s, Doyle has been writing sky columns for beginners who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards. To ask questions or get a free brochure/map, call the FSU Planetarium at 301-687-4270 and press 4. Doyle also hosts "Skywatch," a brief program on days of the week and sky sights that airs on weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFWM, Frostburg State's radio station that transmits at 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and at 96.3 FM around Oakland. Dr. Doyle's e-mail address is rdoyle@frostburg.edu.

Brethren Church Schedules ACS Awareness Night

The Oak Park Church of the Brethren, along with the American Cancer Society, will be sponsoring a community awareness night on Thursday, March 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the church, located across from Southern High School in Oakland. The evening is designed to be an informative night and open to the public.

Topics addressed will be cancer services, prevention, and detection, along with government legislation relating to cancer topics. Informational materials will be available, as well as information on how to access services in Garrett County.

Any agencies involved in cancer services or public services that would be interested in representing themselves at this event may contact Tenna Taylor at the American Cancer Society office at 301-722-2145 or 1-888-227-9979.

On Dean's List

Marianne Peracchio was recently named to the "dean's list with distinction" for the fall 2001 semester at Grove City College, Pa. An English major, Peracchio is a 2000 graduate of Southern High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorian A. Peracchio, Oakland.

Students with grade point averages of 3.85 to 4.0 qualify for the "dean's list of presidential scholars." To qualify for the "dean's list with distinction," a student must have an average of 3.6 to 3.84. Students with averages of 3.4 to 3.59 qualify for the regular dean's list.

Founded in 1876, Grove City College is located 60 miles north of Pittsburgh. With an enrollment of 2,300 students, it is a private Christian college teaching the liberal arts, sciences, and engineering.

Contest Winners Announced By Spruce Forest

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, located near Penn Alps along the Old National Road just east of Grantsville, recently held its 3rd annual Cherries & Chill Festival. The event featured "cherry-themed" activities, celebrating the birthdays of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. One of the highlights of the event was the Cherry Desserts Contest.

Entrants brought prepared desserts to the Village Church on campus. All recipes were required to include either dried, fresh, canned, frozen, candied, or jar cherries. The winners were as follows: Best of Show, Professional Grand Champion — "Juicy Cherries" by Cindy Brenneman of C&N Candies, Meyersdale, Pa., and of Elliott House Chocolates and Gift Shop, Grantsville; Best of Show, Amateur Grand Champion — "Chunky Cherry Gelato Ice Cream with Almonds" by George Evendole, Friendsville; Best of Show Cakes — "Martha's Cherry Cheesecake" by Donna Kelley, Grantsville; Best of Show Cookies — "Cherry Sour Cream Cookies" by Kathy Schartiger, Frostburg; Best of Show Breads/Muffins — "Chewy Chubby Cherry Roll" by Janet Cavin Westernport; Best of Show Pies — "Quicky Tasty Turnovers" by Cavin.

Serving as "Celebrity Desserts Connoisseurs" were Fred Holliday, Garrett County commissioner; Dr. Robin Bissell, president of the Greater Grantsville Business Association; Delegate George Edwards; and Steve Schlosnagle, executive director of the Garrett County Arts Council. Trish Morgan, Village administrator, coordinated the contest and festival activities.

Cookbooks are available for sale in the Village office weekdays at Spruce Forest. To order a cookbook by mail, one may send a check made payable to Spruce Forest for $3 to 177 Casselman Road Grantsville, MD 21536. Persons may also call Morgan at 301-895-3332 or e-mail her at tmorgan@spruceforest.org.

Next year's Cherries & Chill Festival will be held at the Village on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 14 and 15, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Admission to the event is free.

CPR, First Aid Class Scheduled

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross has slated an infant, child, adult CPR and/or First Aid Basic Certification for 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, March 9, at the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company fire hall in McHenry. For more information, or to enroll, persons may call Mike Dew at 301-334-3810 or 1-800-361-9481.

NOTICE TO Allegheny Power Customers with Rights-of-Way Across their Property

Allegheny Power has contracted to maintain portions of its rights-of-way with an aerial saw consisting of fifteen 24-inch rotary blades powered by a motor and suspended on a vertical boom beneath a helicopter. This maintenance method allows for the quick, safe, and efficient trimming of trees along our transmission lines. The aerial saw will be in operation from March 6 through March 16 on the following lines in Garrett County, Maryland.

Garrett County
(Snowy Creek-Oakland Line)
Starting at Oakland Substation and heading west, this subtransmission line crosses State Route 39 west of Oakland. The line then continues westerly, crossing the Youghiogheny River and State Route 39 again near Hutton, Md., before entering Preston County, W Va.

Garrett County
(Oakland-Gorman-William Line)
Starting at Oakland Substation and heading east, this subtransmission line crosses State Route 219 south of Oakland, Pleasant Valley Road, and Smouse Road. The line then turns sharply to the south crossing near Doctor Tolson Road, Landon's Dam Road, and King Wildeson Road. The line continues south, crossing State Route 560 and Le Moyne King Road. The line then taps off to the southwest to Gorman Substation. Continuing south, the line crosses the Potomac River into Grant County, W.Va., east of Gormania.

Garrett County
(Westernport-Masteller Line)
Beginning at Westernport Substation, this subtransmission line heads north along State Route 36 before turning to the west and crossing State Route 36 near Moran Manor Health Care Center. The line then turns southwesterly, crossing Westernport Road north of Bloomington. The line continues southwesterly crossing State Route 135 and the Potomac River at Bloomington, Md., then into Mastellar Substation.

Q. I have several ceramic figurines that were made in occupied Japan following World War II. Do they have any value? — Charles, Jefferson City, Mo.

A. Items identified as being made in occupied Japan were manufactured between 1945 and 1952, when the occupation by Allied forces officially ended. Only a fraction of exports actually carried the occupation mark because of the understandable resentment of the Japanese.

Recent eBay auction results of occupied-Japan products have included a pair of salt and pepper shakers ($45); a small porcelain doll ($125); a clock ($50); and a six-piece dresser set ($175).

The Upside Down World of an Occupied Japan Collector is one of the better newsletters for collectors. It is published by the Occupied Japan Club, 29 Freeborn Street, Newport, RI 02840.

Q. I have several older radios including an Atwater Kent from 1931, a Walnut Emerson table model from 1935 and an Olympic, probably from the same period. How can I find out their value? — Ken, Stigler, Okla.

A. One of the better reference books is the "Collector's Guide to Antique Radios" by John Slusser, published by Collector Books and now in its fifth edition. It lists thousands of models with current market values, and it should help you determine how much the ones you have are worth.

Q. My cat coughs up a hairball at least once a week. Is this normal for most cats? Will it affect his health, and how do I stop it?

A. Hairballs are a common occurrence in almost every breed of cat. Basically, felines groom themselves regularly, and because of the structure of their tongue — tiny barbs line its surface — loose hair is often pulled from their coats and ingested. When too much hair is ingested, or when it accumulates in the stomach too quickly, the hair forms a mass that can't he passed the usual way. The next thing you know, your cat is horking up a hairball.

According to the Iams Company, longhaired breeds tend to suffer more from hairballs than other types of cats, and hairballs occur more often in spring and summer, when cats are shedding.

On average, your cat should cough up a hairball about once a month. His once-a-week attacks may be out of the ordinary.

Hairballs don't normally cause health problems, since cats usually cough them up. However, my own cat's veterinarian says there is a risk of a hair mass lodging in the small intestine and causing problems. So, minimizing the occurrence of hairballs is important.

Brush your cat regularly, using a fine- or medium-toothed comb. Use a rubber-tipped comb on shorthaired cats, and a small slicker brush on longhaired felines.

Several types of hairball relief/reduction formulas are available, both at the pet store and through your vet. These formulas come in several different packages, such as flavored gels that are squeezed from tubes, or kitty treats that disguise the medicine. Give your cat only the recommended dosage — too much can cause diarrhea; too little has no effect on the hairball situation.

Power Co. Using "Aerial Saw" To Trim Area Trees

Residents of Garrett County may hear the whirl of helicopter blades and the buzz of a saw this spring when Allegheny Power's tree-trimming program takes to the air.

The electric utility will employ helicopter contractor Aerial Solutions Inc. to maintain a portion of its rights-of-way through the use of the aerial saw. Fifteen 24-inch rotary blades are suspended on a vertical boom beneath the belly of the helicopter. The blades, which are powered by a separate motor, allow for quick, safe, and efficient trimming of trees, according to a spokesman for Allegheny Power.

"On accessible lines, traditional tree-trimming crews use bucket trucks and climb each tree individually," said Steve Bouch, forester at the utility's Cumberland Service Center. "The helicopter speeds up the trimming process dramatically, resulting in significant cost savings. Lines in remote areas that would take a climbing crew days to complete can be trimmed by the aerial saw in a few hours."

The helicopter also eliminates the need for workers to enter private property to reach rights-of-way. "We don't need to make repeated trips with heavy equipment across private property, which eliminates the possibility of damaging private lands," Bouch said.

Perhaps the most significant value to aerial trimming is safety. "A single pilot maneuvers the helicopter and boom along the right-of-way. As a result, there's no need for workers to climb as many trees near energized conductors, which reduces the numerous chances for accidents," said Bouch.

The aerial saw will be used in Garrett County for approximately two weeks, beginning March 6. The following is a list of the areas to be trimmed:

Snowy Creek-Oakland line — Starting at the Oakland substation and heading west, this subtransmission line crosses state Route 39 west of Oakland. The line then continues westerly, crossing the Youghiogheny River and state Route 39 near Hutton before entering Preston County, W.Va.

Oakland-Gorman-William line — Starting at the Oakland substation and heading east, this subtransmission line crosses U.S. Route 219 south of Oakland, Pleasant Valley Road, and Smouse Road. The line then turns sharply to the south, crossing near Doctor Tolson Road, Landon's Dam Road, and King Wildeson Road. The line continues south, crossing state Route 560 and Le Moyne King Road. The line then taps off to the southwest to the Gorman substation. Continuing south, the line crosses the Potomac River into Grant County, W.Va., east of Gormania.

Westernport-Masteller line — Beginning at the Westernport substation, this subtransmission heads north along state Route 36 before turning to the west and crossing state Route 36 near Moran Manor Health Care Center. The line then turns southwesterly, crossing Westernport Road north of Bloomington. The line continues southwesterly, crossing state Route 135 and the Potomac River at Bloomington, then into Masteller substation.

parent with our new neighbors, Wood Products and the Salem Children's Trust. At a time when wetland regulations are being weakened across the country, it is good to see that both of these important wetlands have a bright future in Garrett County."

Kevin Dodge, director of the Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology Program of Garrett Community College, welcomed the news. "I'm thrilled that, once again, the Nature Conservancy has stepped in to protect and restore more of Garrett County's natural heritage." Dodge, who has studied the vegetation of Wolf Swamp, said he and his students will be tracking saw-whet owls in North Cherry Creek Bog. "These damp, dark forests and springy bogs are remnants of habitats that once occurred up here in far greater abundance — really magical places."

Gorman VFD Sets Dinner, Notes Rescue Upgrade

The Gorman Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor an "all-you-can-eat" buckwheat cake and sausage dinner, which will include pancakes, homemade gravy, and pure maple syrup, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, March 3, at the Gorman fire hall, located along Rt. 560 (Gorman Road). Donations of $6 for adult and $3 for child and carry outs are available. Proceeds will benefit the new truck fund.

Rescue Unit 129 of the Gorman VFD, which runs on all life-threatening calls in the department's area as well as some West Virginia calls, is now a Basic Life Support (BLS) unit. The department recently purchased a new Automatic External Defibrillator (AED) for people with heart attack symptoms. The department is state certified as meeting regulations by a response unit. The rescue unit is staffed by six emergency medical technicians, six first responders, and one paramedic.

Exercise Class For Seniors Set In Grantsville

A class in "Stott Pilates Mind-Body Conditioning" will be offered at the Grantsville Senior Center beginning at 9 a.m. for six consecutive Wednesdays, April 3 through May 8.

Stott Pilates is a contemporary approach to the mind-body exercise developed in the 1920s by German athlete Joseph Pilates. The program puts an emphasis on movement quality, posture, and breathing, and is described as providing benefits of greater mind-body awareness, core stability and body balance, increased flexibility, agility and mobility, relief of pain and tension, flatter abdominals and better posture, and increased circulation. Participants are encouraged to bring an exercise pad to the class.

Course instructor Jennifer Christophel is a trained Stott Pilates instructor who teaches the program at Frostburg State University, Morgantown Dance Studio, and Kingdom Dancers Dance Studio. She is also a ballet instructor.

The class is offered through Garrett Community College Continuing Education and Training Division. For fee information and to register, persons may call Terry Beachy at 301-895-3368.

Highland Fest Proceeds To Benefit UWGC

The Highland Festival board announced this week that United Way of Garrett County will receive the proceeds from this year's "Highland Festival, Garrett County, Md."

"We are certainly delighted this committee has chosen the United Way of Garrett County," said Dave Thomas of United Way. "We are excited that more and more people are starting to realize that we have a United Way in Garrett County, trying to meet human needs." Money raised in the county stays in the county, he told members of the festival board at a recent meeting. The fund-raising event is expected to help 16 different programs.

"Our money will benefit the entire county," said Jerry Humberson, CEO of Humberson Homes Inc. and Mountain Properties and chairman of the festival board. "We're taking on a new name and a new face. The money going to United Way will benefit people countywide." Humberson Homes Inc. and Mountain Properties are presenting the festival this year on Saturday, June 1, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. The businesses took over sponsorship of the event in order to keep the festival alive as a cultural attraction and help the community.

Approved non-profit charitable organizations can earn funds by selling advance tickets to the festival. For every ticket sold, the group gets to keep $1 for its own use. Consideration is also being given to letting groups who volunteer to help at the festival have a free booth to display and sell merchandise.

The board changed the name of the event from the McHenry Highland Festival to Highland Festival, Garrett County, Md., to reflect the countywide emphasis. "We would like to see it become a sort of spring Autumn Glory type event," said Jerry McGee, pipe major of Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums. Associated activities could be held during festival week throughout the county, he explained.

The festival was created by the former Garrett County Promotion Council 15 years ago to attract more visitors to the county in the spring. The new committee wants to make the event a fun activity for local residents, as well as visitors and tourists, according to McGee. The board plans to continue many of the changes made after the festival was adopted by the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club two years ago and expand on some of them, such as the craft show and activities for children. New events are also being planned, including a car show and a goat show.

More information can be found at the web site www.highlandfest.info, sponsored by TCI Inc. Persons interested in offering suggestions, selling advance tickets, or volunteering to help may e-mail McGee at jerrymcgee@humberson.com. Anyone interested in being a sponsor for the event may call Sheila Menchaca at 301-334-5747

GED Study Group Slated

A study group will be formed at Bloomington School to help Bloomington, Swanton, and Western-port area residents earn their high school diplomas. Starting March 6, the class will meet every Wednesday from 6 until 9:15 p.m. for 12 weeks. Students will receive instruction in passing the Maryland General Educational Development (GED) exam from Becky Shook.

Persons 16 years or older and not enrolled in the public school system may take this free class. Students will pay no fees until they apply to take the high school diploma exam. The class needs at least six students, and the limit is 15 students. Persons may call Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304 to reserve their places in the class.

Agency On Aging To Host Dinner For Major Donors

In an effort to keep the community's attention focused on the needs of the Meals on Wheels program, as well as to show appreciation to the individuals and businesses who donated funds to the program, Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging will host an appreciation dinner for major donors.

The dinner will be held Friday, March 22, at 6:30 p.m. at the Grantsville Senior Center. "Because of the generosity of donors, the agency was able to restore meal delivery to five days per week to the frail homebound elderly," said Adina Brode, director. "The dinner is our way of saying 'Thank you.'"

The dinner will be prepared and served by agency staff who are volunteering their time. Most of the food has been donated by vendors, Brode said.

Individuals, organizations, and companies who donated $175 or more to the program have received an invitation to the dinner. Additionally, to show its appreciation the agency has invited state and federal representatives.

Persons are asked to call the office to RSVP.

"We hope to have a good turn-out for the dinner and are looking forward to a very enjoyable evening with good food, good conversation, and entertainment," said Brode.

Safe-Sitters Class Slated

A Safe-Sitters baby sitting class will be offered to county youth between the ages of 12 and 14 on Saturday, March 23, and Saturday, April 13.

The class is sponsored by Garrett County Community Action Committee's Community and Emergency Services, Garrett County Health Department, and Appalachian Crossroads AmeriCorps second-year members.

Students in the class will participate in three workshops concerning snacks, crafts, and safety. For additional information on registration, persons may contact Kelly DeWitt during business hours Monday through Friday at 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 119.

Presentation Set For BOE Budget

There will be a public presentation of the Garrett County Board of Education superintendent's proposed budget for fiscal year 2003 on Wednesday, March 6, at 6 p.m., in Room 314 of the Continuing Education building at Garrett Community College.

The public is invited

Slick Roadway Cited In Single-Vehicle Mishap

An Oakland woman sustained minor injuries when her car skidded off an ice-covered section of New Germany Road Friday morning, according to the Maryland State Police.

Maria Rosaura Bilboa Oyarce, 22, lost control of her 1993 Chevrolet Cavalier at approximately 10:51 a.m. when she traveled over black ice on New Germany Road north of the Monroe Run overlook. The car slid off the right side of the road, struck an embankment, and overturned. Police said that Oyarce escaped serious injury because she was wearing her seat belt and her car's airbag deployed.

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad transported Oyarce to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released. The Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department also assisted at the scene.

No charges were filed by state police.

DUI Arrest

Frank Edward Nicol Jr., 40, Ashton, was charged with driving while under the influence (DUI) after a traffic stop at 2 a.m. Friday morning along Interstate 68 near Finzel.

ROTARY STUDENT OF THE SEMESTER NAMED — Laura Hollingsworth was recently recognized by the Oakland Rotary as Southern High School's Rotary Student of the Semester for the first semester of the 2001-02 school year. Hollingsworth was invited to a Rotary luncheon meeting to speak to the members about the benefits of being a Southern High School student and her college plans. Pictured above, from the left, are Dr. Brenda E. McCartney, chair of the vocational committee; Hollingsworth; and Jeanne Gilbert, mother of Hollingsworth.

Revival Services Slated At Rocky Drean Assembly

Evangelist Rev. John Chase and his wife Brenda will lead revival services at the Rocky Drean Assembly of God, set for 10:45 a.m Sunday, March 17, with evening services continuing at 7 p.m. Sunday through Wednesday, March 20.

Chase, who has been preachmg since he was a teen, has served as a pastor in North Carolina, Michigan, and Tennessee, along with seven years as a traveling evangelist. The Chases' pastoral ministry has included building programs at their pastorates, each of which experienced significant congregational growth.

Residents of Decaturville, Tenn., the Chases have been married for 33 years and have three sons, each of whom is serving in full-time ministry as either senior, children's, or music pastors.

The Rocky Drean Assembly of God church is located along Bray School road between Mayhew Inn and Oakland Sang Run roads. For more information on the revival services, persons may call Pastor William C. Skipper at 301-387-8292.

Eastern Star Meeting Held

Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, recently met at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple. Worthy Matron Bette L. Welch and Worthy Patron David L. Hall presided.

The Worthy Matron's opening thought was "Faith." She welcomed guests Mildred Martin, Past Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Maryland; Dottie Csamer, Grand Esther of the Grand Chapter of Maryland; Lester Dempsey, Associate Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter of West Virginia; Joan Morris, Deputy Grand Lecturer and Past Matron of Martha Washington Chapter No. 10, Lonaconing; and Wilda Hile, Deputy Grand Lecturer and Past Matron of Oakland Chapter No. 67.

She greeted Joy Lou Fogle, Worthy Matron, McKinley Chapter No. 12, Cumberland; Brenda Dempsey, Worthy Matron, Walter Chapter No. 43, Davis at Thomas; and Ray Poling, Worthy Patron, Belington Chapter, No. 68, Belington, West Virginia; Judith Hall, Past Matron, McKinley Chapter No. 12, Cumberland; Ari Wagner, Past Matron, McKinley Chapter, No. 12; and Keith Morris, Past Patron, Martha Washington Chapter No. 10.

The Worthy Matron greeted the following Grand Representatives: Fogle, the state of Oregon; Joan Morris, Nevada; Richard Csamer, West Virginia; and David Hall, Missouri. She also greeted officers, members, and visitors.

She recognized her installing officers for 2001-2002 who attended the meeting by special invitation of the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron: Mildred Martin, Past Grand Matron, Installing Officer; Wagner, Past Matron, McKinley Chapter No. 12, Installing Chaplain; and Robert Paugh, Past Patron, Oakland Chapter No. 67, Installing Sentinel. Albert T. Beckman, Installing Warder, and Jeanette Beavers, Past Grand Matron of the state of West Virginia, were unable to attend the meeting.

The Worthy Matron announced that at the recent Grand Reception of the International Order of Rainbow for Girls, Laurel, the Charter of Oakland Assembly, No. 8, was reinstituted, and three new members were initiated into the Order. The Rainbow advisory board recently met at the Masonic Temple to elect a chairperson, secretary, and Mother Advisor. Charee Reckner, Past Matron, reported on the Rainbow activities to date and plans for the future.

A program in honor of the Worthy Matron, "There's a Rainbow Round the Chapter," was presented by the officers, who also presented gifts to the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron from the Oakland Chapter. The Chapter also sang "Happy Birthday" to Thelma Henshaw and Ethel Rae Snyder, who celebrated birthdays in February. Judith Hall won the prize for answering an Eastern Star question correctly, and Carole Paugh won the drawing for an Eastern Star afghan.

The Worthy Matron thanked Lillian Reckner for the musical preludes during the year and the music for the evening. She also thanked her substitutes, and Betty Foy and Reckner for the decorations and refreshments.

The Worthy Matron gave her annual report and farewell address, including numerous activities and achievements of the chapter during the past year. Her closing thought was "Thank You."

The next meeting will be held March 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, when officers for the coming year will be installed.

AURORA/EGLON

LENTEN SERVICES

The Mtn. Grove Church of the Brethren invites the public to join them at 7:30 p.m., March 6, for the Union District Lenten Services. Charles Burrell is the scheduled speaker. The pastor at Mtn. Grove is Debbie Strawser.

COLE BIRTHDAY

Lisa Cole will observe her birthday on March 13 and friends of this young shut-in are asked to help lift her spirits by sending a card to her at RR 1 Box 336, Eglon, WV 26716.

CORRECTION NOTED

Union Seniors meet the second Thursday of each month — the date of their next meeting is March 14. All are welcome to bring a covered dish and join them at noon.

SELL DEATH

Many of the younger readers of this column will not know about George Sell, but those who have attended the Aurora Schools alumni dinner may remember him coming faithfully until this past year, and then he communicated by way of letter. An obituary of this native of Aurora is as follows:

George Denzil Sell, 95, Pine Grove, W.Va., died Saturday, Jan. 26, 2002, at his home.

He was a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Pine Grove. He retired from Monongahela Power Co., with 30 years service, and was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Iva Namoia Smith Sell, in 1997; his parents, George Washington and Mary Martha (Lantz) Sell; two daughters, Vera Grace Sell and Namoia Ruth (Sell) Goddard; a son, James Willard Sell; a brother, Earnest Lester Sell; and a sister, Lacia Grace Sell Myers.

Surviving are a son, George David Sell, Pine Grove; a daughter, Shirley JoAnn (Sell) Kear, Pine Grove; five grandchildren; and numerous great- and great-great-grandchildren.

He was born April 28, 1906, at Aurora, and went to Pine Grove in 1944. After moving there, he and his wife opened an economy store and restaurant. He was active in the Civic Club, a charter member of Pine Grove Sportsmen's Club, a commander of the American Legion, and a 50-year member of both the Masons and Moose. He taught Boy Scouts, 4-H, and was an honorary member of FFA. He was a mail carrier, a WPA road superintendent at Terra Alta, and a police officer while there. In the Army, he was a combat engineer.

George farmed as a hobby, and at age 94 he wrote a book about "Old Aurora, W.Va.," the history of the town where he grew up. The book is in the Museum in Arthurdale.

Funeral services were held on Jan. 29 at the Palmer Funeral Home in Pine Grove and burial was at the Knights of Pythias Cemetery, Pine Grove.

AURORA CEOS

Ten members of the Aurora CEOS met at the Union Ambulance squad hall, on Feb. 19, with Ressie Conrad opening the meeting with devotions. She used the theme of "Love," reading from God's Words of Life for Women.

Janice Tackett presented information concerning credit for women in the lesson, "Can What You Don't Know Hurt You?" Credit should be established in one's own name, and those who wish to find out about their status will need to apply for a credit report. This may be done by calling Equifax at 1-800-685-1111, or Experian (formerly TRW) at 1-800-682-7654. There may be errors which need to be corrected, also. Negative reports are on file for seven years, and there is a way one's credit file can be repaired.

The benefit of exercise was a report by Wilda Wilt, Family Committee chair. A "Show How" day will be held April 11 from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the county Extension Office, reported by Opal Myers, chair of Market and Membership. Ressie Conrad, president, reported on action and announcements from a recent County Council meeting. The Preston County Relay for Life is to be held overnight, June 14 and 15 at the Preston High School track. Aurora CEOS are planning to have a team there. Conrad gave information concerning a mentoring program for the Mountain Challenge Academy students, and those who are interested may call Mrs. Conrad. A holiday bazaar is being planned for the county for next October. The County Council is sponsoring a Festival of Ideas by way of introducing two new crafts on alternate months during the year. The next offering is to be in April, and again, persons may call Mrs. Conrad for further information. Lesson training for April, May, and June will be March 14 at Kingwood.

Alice Penzo showed photos from both the quilt show and the Volkmar Wentzel photographic exhibit, which she was using for a display at West Virginia History Day in Charleston. She also announced that the Aurora Area Historical Society named James and Deloris Slawter as History Heroes, and they will attend the Feb. 28 WV History Day also.

Kathy Hardesty had the special feature, which was an old iron in which the heat was provided by hot coals. Opal Myers was winner of the pig-in-the-poke.

At the March meeting, Wilda Stemple will present devotions, program leader is Alice Penzo, and Dorothy Spaid is responsible for the special feature.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

A Shamrock Shake dance is planned for March 2, from 7 to 9 p.m., for all children Pre-K through the 6th grade. Pre-K through 3rd grade must have an adult staying with them. Sponsored by the PTO, the cost is $3, and refreshments are included. Sodas are available at 50 cents per can. Adults are not asked to pay admission cost.

The Book Fair is scheduled for March 18-22: hours are Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, 9 a.m. until 2 p.m., and on Wednesday evening, a parent night from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. Grandparents, too, may come and buy an Easter gift for the child they love. On Thursday and Friday, children may bring books to swap with other children. Anyone in the community wishing to donate used children's books may drop them off at the school.

The next regular PTO meeting will be at the school on March 12 at 7 p.m.

Spirit night at McDonald's, when the PTO receives a small portion of the evening's profits, is April 4.

A Snowbird Reading Challenge trip to see the Pittsburgh Pirates play, is scheduled for April 25.

Orders for the 2001-02 Aurora School yearbook are being taken. Cost is $14 each. There is a brother-sister special of two books for $25. Persons may contact Sue Shillingburg at 735-3007, or Stephanie Arnett at 735-3225 to place your order.

The annual Spring Fling date is set for May 11, and planning for the event is in progress. Those who have ideas or suggestions, wish to help, have something to donate, may contact Beth Wolfe, 735-5104; Jackie Blamble, 735-5022, or Sue Shillingburg, 735-3007.

PERSONAL MENTION

Bill Lantz of Aurora was a surgical patient last week at Ruby Memorial Hospital.

Carl Bachtel underwent foot surgery last week and is recuperating at his Horse Shoe Run home.

Roger Strawser of Eglon was injured while at work Sunday night and is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he will have surgical repair for broken bones in his leg and ankle.

Don and Elaine Roth returned last week from a Florida vacation and kept their grandsons while their daughter, Arlene Lantz of Gorman Rd. in Garrett County, had gall bladder surgery. They are now at their Horse Shoe Run home.

Area individuals who participated in the Deep Creek Dunk, held at Deep Creek Lake on Saturday to benefit the Special Olympics, were Mike Myers and daughter Hannah Myers, Richard Stevens and daughter Bethany Stevens, and Tracy Fields.

Melinda Mayne, Crystal Bolyard, and Rebecca Stemple went to Virginia Beach on Friday to bring Anna Poling to her home at Brookside, where she will spend her leave from the U.S. Navy with her family.

A soup, sandwich, and dessert dinner, followed by recreation, provided both fun and fellowship for the members of the Aurora United Methodist Church on Sunday.

Word was received that Wilma Knapp died Sunday evening, Feb. 24, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she had been a patient for the past week.

Academy Seeks Applications For 2002-03 Year

The Mountain Health Sciences and Technology Academy (HSTA) region, which serves Barbour, Preston, Taylor, and Tucker counties, is now accepting applications for eighth-grade students interested in joining the HSTA program. All students accepted into the program must live in Barbour, Preston, Tucker, or Taylor counties, and must have a 2.5 grade point average. Priority is given to those students who are African American/minority, financially disadvantaged (based on guidelines for free/reduced lunch), first-generation college students (neither parent has completed a 4-year college degree), and rural students.

Students are active in this after-school program during their 9th-12th grade school years. HSTA students who successfully complete the program will receive a tuition waiver to any state-supported college or university.

The Health Sciences and Technology Academy of West Virginia University is a 9th-12th grade math and science program which "opens doors and empowers" minority and underrepresented students in rural communities to earn a college degree. Interested parents and students may contact Beth Cappone, Mountain HSTA field site coordinator, at 1-800-345-4267, or e-mail bcappone@hsc.wvu.edu. The deadline for 2002-2003 applicants is April 1.

TERRA ALTA

The Terra Alta Public Library will again sponsor the James A. Gregg Walk-a-Thon this year. It will be held Friday, May 17, and will begin at Gregg's Pharmacy at 6 p.m. Anyone who wants to participate in this walk may contact the library at 789-2724. Hours are: Monday, 4-8 p.m., and Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Story Hours will begin April 3 at 10 a.m. All story hours are on Wednesdays at 10 a.m.

James and Robin Shepherd gave a large donation of large-print books to the library. They are on the shelf and ready to be checked out. Several are authored by Danielle Steele. This large-print area is growing, as well as the audio section. Cathy Nardi recently donated several more of these. Others donating books, periodicals, and pamphlets have been: Roberta Floyd, Suzanne Daley, Lori Cage, Patti Anderson, Bob Dodge, Rosie Wood, Wilbur Ware, Albert Ossman, Joyce Cole, Robin Clutter, and Jim McConnell.

USDA Offices Announce Preston County's EQIP

The concentrated signup period for the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) will be held from this Friday, March 1, to Friday, March 29. This is a program offered jointly by USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and the Farm Service Agency (FSA).

This year there are two separate EQIPs for Preston County. A new EQIP Priority Area has been approved for Deckers Creek Area farmers. All Preston County farms that drain into Deckers Creek or its tributaries are eligible for the priority area. Farmers throughout the rest of Preston County may still enroll in the "At-Large" program.

EQIP program provisions apply equally to the Deckers Creek Priority Area and the At-Large Area. EQIP is available to landowners, operators, and tenants. However, applicants other than landowners must provide proof of control of the land for the duration of the contract (a copy of the lease or a signed document from the landowner). Conservation practices shall not be completed prior to notice of approval from the Preston County FSA Committee. If a conservation practice has been established, such as spring development, and is currently under lifespan as a result of previous federal payments, the practice is not eligible for future payments under EQIP. The maximum payment limitation per "person," per fiscal year is $10,000. The maximum contract amount is $50,000.

Some of the practices that can be included in the 5- to 10-year contracts include livestock feeding pads, livestock water developments, animal trails and walkways, rotational grazing systems, pasture division fences, woodland fences, stream crossings, and livestock waste facilities.

Both NRCS and FSA encourage interested persons to telephone the USDA Service Center at 304-329-1923 to schedule an appointment to enroll in EQIP. This permits the office staff to get forms and aerial photographs prepared to save producers time at the counter. Appointments, however, are not required. The concentrated signup period will be held at the Kingwood USDA Service Center. The USDA Service Center is located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza.

Grants To Boost Rural Economy Are Announced

USDA Rural Development state director Marlene Elliott has announced $2,100,000 in grants available through the Department of Agriculture's Rural Business-Cooperative Service to help with business development and economic development planning.

"This is part of the Bush Administration's efforts to help strengthen the rural economy," said Elliott. "This funding will give eligible small towns the boost that they need to enhance their economic potential."

Under the Rural Business Opportunity Grant (RBOG) program, USDA's Rural Business-Cooperative Service helps public entities, nonprofit corporations and cooperatives, and federally recognized Indian tribal groups finance business development and economic development planning. The Opportunity Grant is eligible to towns with a population of 10,000 or less.

To ensure that a broad range of communities have the opportunity to benefit from the available funds, no grant will exceed $50,000, unless it is a multi-state project, for which funds may not exceed $150,000. The funds are available on a competitive basis. Any applications received will be considered for funding after June 30, 2002.

For further information, persons may visit www.rurdev.usda.gov. Entities wishing to apply for assistance should contact the Rural Development State Office serving Delaware and Maryland at 302-697-4324.

University Of Md. To Forgo Ag Field Days

Faced with changing clientele and priorities, as well as shrinking state budgets, the University of Maryland College of Agriculture and Natural Resources is re-evaluating its traditional approach to reaching and educating agricultural and non-agricultural audiences through large-scale events. As part of this re-evaluation, the college will forgo all major field day activities in 2002.

"Essentially, we're taking a sabbatical to determine how to best serve the diverse information and education needs of our clients throughout the state," said Dr. Thomas A. Fretz, dean of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

To this end, the college will convene a task force of faculty, staff, and others to examine the role of field day activities. The goal is to make recommendations that allow the college to best achieve the outreach education component of its mission within the fiscal constraints it faces, according to Fretz. Friends and clients of the college can share their ideas and suggestions by calling 301-405-2072.

Fretz said that throughout this process the college will continue to serve Maryland residents by offering highly focused open houses, twilight tours, and other issue- or audience-specific educational programs and activities at its research and education centers and local Maryland Cooperative Extension offices. "Ranging in subject from fruit production to personal finances, these efforts have been the core of the college's outreach education efforts, benefiting thousands of people from western Maryland to the Eastern Shore," Fretz concluded.

Growmaster Crop Production Workshop

The Southern States Oakland Cooperative would like to invite all interested people to attend the crop production workshop on Wednesday evening, March 6, 2002, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, Gortner. Registration and welcome will start at 6:30 p.m., with dinner being served at 7 p.m.

Crop specialist Ken Sechler, Southern States Coop. and Paul Backman, Syngenta, will be giving presentations on spring forage seed products and recommended herbicide programs. Also, attendance at this workshop will give you credits toward the Maryland license for the Maryland Private Pesticide Applicators recertification for the next three years and will give West Virginia Applicators points toward recertification.

Dinner reservations must be made by contacting Southern States at 301-334-3121.

Do You Need Maryland Private Pesticide Applicator's License?

The Maryland Department of Agriculture will be giving the Maryland Private Pesticide Applicator's Examination on Wednesday evening, March 27, 7:30 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office. This will be the last time until fall that the test will be offered in Garrett County. To obtain study manuals and make reservations for the examination call the Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

Strawberries

Strawberries are the most widely cultivated small fruit in America. They are the favorite of many for pies, jams, jellies, preserves, and for eating fresh. Because strawberries are adaptable to a greater range of soil and climatic conditions than any other fruit, they are well suited to the home garden (where supplemental watering is readily accessible).

Variety Selection

Strawberry varieties vary greatly in their adaptability to soil and climatic conditions. The varieties suggested for planting in Maryland have been selected on the basis of plant vigor, productivity, and quality of the fruit. Virus-free plants of the varieties are available and should be purchased. Varieties other than those listed may perform equally well.

Allstar bears late midseason. The berries are pinkish-red, very large and symmetrical with a sweet, mild flavor — great for table use. They are resistant to red stele and verticillium wilt and have some resistance to leaf scorch and powdery mildew.

Delite has berries that are large, long, and conic in shape. They are vigorous and produce runners freely. They are highly resistant to both red stele and verticillium wilt. Fruit flavor is mild, which makes it a good dessert berry; however, freezing ability is only fair.

Delmarvel is productive in a variety of different soil types. It is an attractive berry with good aroma and flavor. Plants have excellent disease resistance and good winter hardiness.

Earliglow is a variety noted for its superior dessert quality and disease resistance. The medium-large berries are very attractive with a glossy, deep-red color. It is one of the best for eating fresh, as a frozen product, and in jams and jellies. The plants are very vigorous and productive; however, they bloom early and are subject to frost injury.

Honeoye is one of the most highly regarded and popular varieties grown in the east. Fruit has excellent size, color, and freezing quality. Plants perform best on lighter soils and lack disease resistance.

Surecrop is mildly sub-acid and not of the highest quality for desserts. The deep-red berries are large and irregularly shaped. The plant is large, vigorous, and tolerant of drought and other environmental stresses.

Redchief is an extremely productive, high-quality dessert berry. It is medium to large in size; of uniform, deep red color; and has a firm, glossy surface. Redchief is very resistant to red stele.

Lateglow was developed for its production of fancy quality, late-season fruit and good disease resistance. Its berries are very large, symmetrical, and attractive. Its dessert quality is good for both fresh eating and freezing.

Sunrise produces extra-firm berries that run from medium to medium-large in size. They are relatively drought resistant and extremely vigorous. They have a tremendous aroma and a sub-acid flavor that makes them great for desserts and preserves.

Everbearing Strawberries

These are less vigorous and generally less productive than the regular varieties. Because of consistently low yields. Ozark Beauty is the most popular everbearing strawberry. The plant is vigorous and produces good-quality fruit. The berries are red, wedge-shaped, firm, and only slightly acid. It is a good variety for eating fresh and for freezing.

An interesting development of strawberry breeding in recent years is the production of varieties that are day-length neutral. This means that they do not respond to day length the way that conventional varieties do and can continue to produce over a longer period of time during the season. Although these varieties are sometimes listed with everbearers in catalogues, they are heavier producers and can be used satisfactorily in the home garden. Tribute is a vigorous variety with glossy, deep-green leaves; fruit is medium-sized in spring and summer, large in fall. Production and size drop in the heat of summer, but pick up in fall; this variety is best for fresh eating. Tristar also produces high-quality fruit, but is not as productive as Tribute.

Girl Scouts Slate Celebration For Group's Birthday

Girl Scouts Troop 5063 will celebrate their organization's birthday on Tuesday. March 12, 1912, is the date when the first troop of 18 girls was officially registered. The week in which March 12 falls is also known as Girl Scout Week. Today, there are more than 3 million Girl Scouts throughout the United States. There are also Girl Scouts and Girl Guides in more than 100 other countries as well.

When she was 52 years old, Juliette Gordon Low — also known as Daisy — came home from a trip to England, where she visited friends of Lord Baden-Powell, who founded the Boy Scouts. Low was eager to return home to share the news with girls in the United States. She started the Girl Scouts with a dream for girls in this country. Low wanted girls to grow strong, feel and be successful, support each other, and become accomplished at doing things girls typically did not do at that time.

For example, the first Girl Scouts played sports. In 1912, the girls wore enormous pleated gym "bloomers" to play basketball. This was during the days when it was considered shameful for "young ladies" to show their legs. The Girl Scouts had to cover themselves with overcoats that reached their ankles when they crossed the street to get to the basketball lot. Before taking off their overcoats, they pulled together huge canvas curtains strung on wires that surrounded the basketball field so no one could see their bloomered legs.

Girl Scout Troop 5063 is led by Robin Martin. Her assistants are Yvette Nutter and Bobbi Jo Briggs. The troop meets in the Broad Ford Elementary cafeteria every other Tuesday at 3:45 p.m. The girls in the troop are Evelyn McGehee — Daisy; Jaycee Harbourne — Brownie; Carolyn McGehee, Tricia Martin, Jessie Martin, Christia Nutter, Emilee Briggs, Crissy Hovatter, Christine Paugh, and Rosie Reid — Juniors; and Amber Kope, Samantha Briggs, Donna Shahan, and Ashley Wilson — Cadettes.

Girl Scout troops in Garrett County operate under the Southwestern Pennsylvania Council, located in Pittsburgh. For more information about the Girl Scouts and where they are located, persons may call Yvette Nutter at 301-334-1223. One may also visit www.girlscouts-wpa.org.

STUDENTS OF THE MONTH NAMED AT FRIENDSVILLE — Students of the Month for January were recently named at Friendsville Elementary School. In the first row, from the left, are Brienne Lowdermilk, second grade; Denny Fowler, first grade; Lee Umbel, third grade; Christe Bower, kindergarten; and Chantel Landis, fifth grade. In the second row are Russell Frazee, third grade; Ryan Burke, fifth grade; Dylan Gallagher, fifth grade; and Bradley Rodeheaver, fourth grade.

Head Start Sets Enrollment Fairs

Two enrollment fairs have been planned by Garrett County Community Action's Head Start program. The first fair is slated for 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, March 5, at Community Action, 104 E. Center Street, Oakland. The second fair will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday, March 22, at the Flowery Vale Senior Center at 204 S. Street, Accident, which is located across from the Accident Head Start facility.

For children to be eligible for Head Start they must be 3 (by Dec. 31, 2002) to 5 years old, and be from families who meet the Head Start income guidelines. Foster children are automatically eligible. Also considered automatically eligible regardless of their families' incomes are children from families receiving SSI (Social Security) or Purchase of Care, along with families who are participating in the Healthy Families Garrett County and Wheels to Work programs.

"We are taking applications for the 2002-2003 school year," said Barbara Hornyak of the Head Start program. "If parents feel they are eligible, this is when they should apply. Ten percent of the current enrollment is usually comprised of children who are not income eligible, so no one should hesitate to apply."

To make an appointment for one of the enrollment fairs, persons may call 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 107. Walk-in enrollments will be accepted as well. Individuals are asked to bring with them the child's birth certificate or registration, Social Security numbers of all family members, proof of the family income (2001 income tax return or W-2s, pay stubs for January and February 2002, or award letters, etc.) and the child's medical or insurance card and immunization record.

TRAILBLAZERS
by Travis Sines
reporter

The February 21 meeting of the Trailblazer 4-H Club was held at Yough Glades School.

Emily Cosner, president, suggested that we pick a new community service. We voted to do a canned food drive and give the food collected to the House of Hope. She also reminded us that Achievement Night is to be April 6. Cody Ferguson and Carrie Rush volunteered to do pledges at Achievement Night. Travis Sines reported on 4-H Ski Day at the Wisp.

The meeting was followed with either a speech or radio spots by each of the following members: Jennifer Cosner, Carrie Rush, Nikki Sisler, Shawn Sisler, Travis Sines, Candace Blamble, Jenna Rush, Brad Lilley, Holly Blamble, Sarah Cosner, Melinda Smith, Emily Green, Emily Cosner, Nick Rush, and Erica Green.

The next meeting of the Trailblazers Club will be held Thursday, March 21, at the Yough Glades Elementary School. Richard McCrobie from the Garrett County Extension Office will review the quality assurance for all livestock exhibitors. All livestock exhibitors must attend this meeting.

MOUTH PROTECTORS GO FAR IN PROTECTING SMILES
by Cynthia A. Bowman, R.D.H.

Do your children play football, basketball, or go mountain biking? How about racquetball, skateboarding, soccer, or volleyball? Perhaps they're in gymnastics or baseball. No matter what the sport, there's always a risk of injury.

A properly fitted mouth guard, or mouth protector, is an important piece of athletic gear. Many experts recommend that everyone (from children to adults) wear a mouth guard during any recreational activity that poses a risk of injury to the mouth. There are three types of mouth guards: the ready-made or stock mouth guard, the mouth-formed "Boil and Bite" mouth guard, and the custom-made mouth guard made by a dentist.

Although all three provide protection, they differ in the amount of protection, their comfort, and costs. A custom-made mouth guard is individually designed and made in the dental office or professional laboratory. The dentist makes an impression of the patient's teeth. Using special material, the mouth guard is made over a model of the teeth. Because of the material, and extra time and work that goes into making a custom mouth guard, this type is more likely to provide the most comfortable fit and protection. The American Dental Association and the Academy for Sports Dentistry have worked toward improving and protecting athletes' smiles.

For questions regarding your or your child's dental health, please call the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7660.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION PRELIMINARY DECISION TO GRANT CATEGORICAL EXCLUSION (CE #174)

Project Name/Number:	Crellin Water System Improvements DWRF-175-12L/WSG0712
Project Applicant:	Garrett County Sanitary District
Project Location:	Crellin/Garrett County
Project Cost/Loan/Grant:	$193,000/$133,000/$60,000

Project Description: The proposed project involves the design and construction of improvements to the Crellin Water System including water treatment plant and water line upgrades. The proposed improvements are to enhance the drinking water quality, which is currently under the influence of surface water.

The Garrett County Sanitary District has applied for financial assistance from the Maryland Department of the Environment's State Revolving Loan Fund Program for the proposed project as described above. In accordance with requirements for complying with the State Environmental Review Procedures (SERP) under COMAR 26.03.11 for such assistance, a review has been performed by the Department on the applicant's request for a Categorical Exclusion from a comprehensive environmental review under SERP. The Department has determined that the proposed project qualifies for a Categorical Exclusion pursuant to COMAR 26.03.11.04 because the project constitutes functional replacement of existing equipment or structure and new ancillary facilities that do not increase the capacity of the existing facility. This determination is based upon a careful review of the supporting documentation provided by the applicant and other documents available to the Department. In concert with this preliminary determination, the Department has also found the project to be consistent with the Maryland Economic Growth, Resource Protection, and Planning Policy in accordance with Executive Order 01.01.1992.27, and Maryland's Smart Growth and Neighborhood Conservation Policy, in accordance with Executive Order 01.01.1998.04.

As a result of the above determination, the applicant will not need to prepare and/or finalize an Environmental Information Document, and the Department is prepared to approve the applicant's request for financial assistance without further environmental review.

Comments supporting or disagreeing with the above preliminary decision may be submitted for consideration by writing to

Mr. George Keller, Environmental Program Manager
Water Quality Infrastructure Program
Water Management Administration
Maryland Department of the Environment
2500 Broening Highway
Baltimore, Maryland 21224

After evaluating any comments received, the Department will make a final decision no sooner than 20 calendar days from the date of this notice. No administrative action will be taken with respect to this proposal during this time frame.

Garrett County
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on community development and housing needs, and to offer citizens the opportunity to review an application which the Board of Commissioners proposes to submit to the State on or before the deadline for the same. The hearing will be held at the Commissioners' hearing room in the Garrett County Courthouse on March 5, 2002, at 9:10 a.m.

CDBG funding through the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development for the Garrett County Microenterprise program and CDBG funds from the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development for the Community Legacy Program will be considered.

The Maryland Community Development Block Grant Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development, and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's Program is administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development, in close cooperation with the Department of Business and Economic Development.

The Maryland Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet one of the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended:

(1) give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD;

(2) aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight;

(3) meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND
Case No. C-02-7152

CHARLES A. BROWN
Plaintiff
Vs.
Defendant

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION
(Rule 2-122)

Upon Plaintiff's Affidavit of Attempt to locate the Defendant, it is hereby ORDERED this 12th day of February 2002 that the Clerk of Court direct publication of notice of this suit at least once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper in general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, advising said Defendant, Nancy L. Brown, to file her response to Plaintiff's Complaint for Absolute Divorce by thirty days from the last date of publication of said notice.

Circuit Court for Garrett County Case No. C-02-7152. Charles A. Brown, 6364 Bittinger Rd., Swanton, Md. 21561, 301-245-4730, vs. Nancy L. Brown.

James L. Sherbin

COMPLAINT FOR ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

I, Charles A. Brown, representing myself, state that:

The Defendant and I were married on May 25, 1972, in Tupper Lake, Franklin County, New York, in a civil ceremony.

I have lived in Maryland since May 1992.

My spouse and I are the parents of the following child: Ryan C. Brown, born March 22, 1975.

I know of the following related cases concerning the child or parties (such as domestic violence, paternity, divorce, custody, visitation or juvenile court cases): Court, Garrett, 944ORESA, Back Support; filed 1996. I paid all and case closed.

I am not seeking allmony because no need.

My grounds for an absolute divorce are: Two-Year Separation - From on or about August 13, 1982, my spouse and I have lived separate and apart from each other in separate residences, without interruptions, without sexual intercourse, for more than two years and there is no reasonable expectation that we will reconcile. Voluntary Separation - From on or about August 13, 1982, my spouse and I by mutual and voluntary agreement have lived separate and apart from one another in separate residences, without interruption, without sexual intercourse, for more than 12 months with the express purpose and intent of ending our marriage, and there is no reasonable expectation that we will reconcile.

FOR THESE REASONS, I request: An Absolute Divorce. Any other appropriate relief.
